SAVE YOUR TEETH

THE TOOTH SOCKET.

You have but recently had a tooth extracted and the tooth socket feels to your tongue 'so big' that you wonder if it will ever fill up and heal over.

There is one thing in your favor here. Nature has made provision against oral injuries by ordaining that mouth tissue should heal rapidly, and to this end, she has supplied a very large supply of blood to every part.

Following upon a normal extraction, the tooth socket fills with blood which quickly clots. This blood-clot serves to keep out infection and also to provide the foundation structure from which new tissue is formed to fill the socket.

At once Nature sets to work to build cartilage tissue amongst the fibres of the soft clot which later is converted into bone by means of her little army of bone-builders, the ostero-blasts.

Simultaneously little bone-breakers, known as osteoclasts, begin to tear down the elevation of bony tissue, the alveolar process, that had been raised up around the neck of the tooth for its support, it being no longer needed.

When this levelling process has been completed, the overlying soft gum tissue readily heals, leaving, in most cases, not even a scar.

Now it occasionally happens that, owing to an anaemic condition of the patient, or resulting from a too high concentration of the styptic drug in the anesthetic solution, we have a condition known as 'dry socket,' in which there is little or no bleeding. This is highly undesirable because of the danger of infective processes entering the body tissues through this portal.

Wherefore should this condition arise, the dentist will attempt to encourage a freer hemorrhage by curettment, or failing this, to pack the socket with antiseptic gauze for a few days.

THE SULTAN'S TURRET.

"THE POET OF HUMANITY."

What has happened to me? For hours, days, something has been singing, swinging, surging through my head. It is the first line of a poem by Walt Whitman which has changed everything:

"Out of the cradle endlessly rocking . . ."

Curiously enough, I came across a literary ramble by H. M. Tomlinson—a writer who, because he is one of the foremost impressionists of the day and because of the clear, flowing beauty of his prose, ought to be more widely read—but probably never will be,—which ramble dwelt for a little while on Walt Whitman, first speaking of his relation to the forming of the modern viewpoint, and then:

"I remember once hearing a clever young English critic say that to read Whitman aloud was as bad as chewing glass. He might as well have said that about the fifteenth chapter of the First Epistle to the Corinthians. But anyhow, thereupon rose a respected and scholarly senior who had had no part in the discussion. He reached for a book and then read to the end the poem beginning, 'Out of the cradle endlessly rocking.' Nobody spoke after that. There was nothing to be said. Beauty silences us; but we are not the same after we have seen it revealed. The change is incalculable; it is not to be estimated in confessions or set words, but afterwards life is seen differently."

What is there about Whitman that we cannot shake off? I have read all sorts of things on Whitman, on the man and his poetry, but somehow they all seem so futile. We cannot help feeling, I think, that his lines are of the stuff that dreams are made on, and that life is made on; and we cannot get away from life, try as we may.

To be envied above all men is he who first discovers Whitman for himself. It is like a great awakening. I know; because it is not very long since I found myself grown big enough to recognize a bit of immortality when I see it.

And speaking of growing, I know of no writer whose presence gives the reader such a sense of his own smallness. It isn't pleasant? I don't know as to that. But I venture to say that one's stature has increased considerably by the time one comes down to such lines as these:

"Now in a moment I know what I am for, I awake,
And already a thousand singers, a thousand songs, clearer, louder, and more sorrowful than yours,
A thousand warbling echoes have started to life within me, never to die.
O you singers solitary, singing by yourself, projecting me,
O solitary me listening, never more shall I cease perpetuating you,
Never more shall I escape, never more the reverberations,
Never more the cries of unsatisfied love be absent from me,
Never again leave me to be the peaceful child I was before what there in the night,
By the sea under the yellow and sagging moon,
The messenger there aroused, the fire, the sweet hell within,
The unknown want, the destiny of me."

. . . Infinitude swings majestically in every syllable. No wonder we become conscious of our own littleness. Yet Whitman never ceased to cry the greatness and potentiality of the individual. Is it a paradox? I think the greatness and the smallness of man are so much the same thing that we can scarcely tell them apart. It is the riddle of the universe, perhaps.

We feel that there is something high, something lofty about Whitman even when he sings thus:

"All seems beautiful to me.
I can repeat over to men and women,
You have done such good to me I would do the same to you,
I will recruit for myself and you as I go.
I will scatter myself among men and women as I go,
I will toss a new gladness and roughness among them . . ."

He is the poet of true democracy; he is, as Elbert Hubbard said, "the poet of humanity." Yet he is so great, he is so good, his is such a godlike simplicity that one's wonder at him is mixed with awe.

But it is when his poetry dis-attaches itself from him and becomes a part of us that it really begins to live. A single line might so become a part of me that I could not live without it. Whitman's poetry is not art; it is nature. It is one with the dawn and the sunset. Through my single living line I am brother to the singing bird and the eternal orb; I am part of the oak and the ocean.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Number Eight.—
QUEER HAPPENINGS ON THE MOON.

It was all very queer about the Twins. They weren't Twins at all any more, but just great flat splashes on the ground like paint.

You could see their heads and faces and hands and feet and clothes, but they looked exactly like pictures someone had painted on the ground. It must have been because they fell such a distance from the giant boy's hand, that they smashed so flat.

But it hadn't hurt a bit! It felt just as though they had fallen on eiderdown pillows.

"I should say so," said Nancy. "If someone could scrape us up, maybe we could roll down a hill and get all right again."

At that minute a man rushed out from a restaurant across the street where he had been baking wheat cakes in a window. His cake turner looked as big as a snow shovel.

"Don't move and I'll fix you," he shouted. "Just a minute."

With that he deftly slid his cake turner under Nancy and scraped her up. Then he slid the cake turner under Nick and scraped him up.

"Now if you'll just roll down this hill," he remarked, "I think you'll be as fit as fiddles again. I'll turn you both up like hoops and give you a start."

Which he did.

Nancy rolled and Nick rolled, and the farther they rolled the moreround they became. At last they reached the bottom of the hill and both of them hit a fire-plug or whatever it is they have on the moon in case of fire.

That sent them spinning around on their feet, and in three minutes the Twins were back to their own forms and their own size exactly as though nothing had happened.

Both of them began to laugh. "This is a queer place all rightee," said Nick. "The funny part of it is that no matter what happens to you, nothing hurts."

"What?" said Nick.

But he could see for himself what Nancy meant. For while he looked, the woman changed ihto two women and then into three women and then into four-five, six, seven women all exactly like the first one. All with umbrellas in their right hands and baskets in their left hands.

"It must be the seven wives going to St. Ives," said Nancy. "Oh, look, look! Now there are only five—no three! Why, they've all gone but one!"

But in another minute there were seven again. And so it went—the woman turning into seven women and then back into one, like raindrops melting together.

"Everybody is doing the same thing," said Nick pointing down the street. And even the dogs and cats! For goodness sake, just look, Nancy."

Sure enough, men and women and boys and girls and cats and dogs were all turning into threes and fours and sevens and then back into ones again.

"Maybe there is something wrong with our eyes, Nick," said Nancy. "Perhaps we are just seeing things!"

"No," said the pink ticket, jumping out of Nick's pocket. "It's all true! The city of 'Any Place At All' is the oddest city on the moon. Do you wish to go or stay. I can take you away if you wish."

"We'd better ask somebody here if Inco and Flops passed this way, first," said Nick.

"Very well," said the ticket. "Suit yourself."

There are many women who are never without a frock of black satie, for they find this kind of dress so becoming and useful as to be really indispensable.

This dress is trimmed with bands of white satin, on which a border design is carried out in black silk embroidery. The collar may be worn high or opened at the throat, and the inset pleats of white satin at the skirt front allow ample width for walking.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

MISSY BLACK ANT LEARNS ABOUT HER NEIGHBORS.

When Missy Black Ant crawled out of her house one morning she happened to glance up at the little plant growing above her anthill. She was astonished to see the faded look of the blossoms.

"Are you ill?" she asked, running up a blade of grass so she could hear what the plant would have to say, "or are you dying?"

"Well, I hope it hasn't come t either," replied the wilted plant. "I guess I stayed up too late last night."

"I can't see for the life of me why folks don't go to bed at the regular time," snapped Missy Ant, who always went to bed when the sun went down. "Why, if I didn't get my proper rest I'd just wither away. Was there a party somewhere?"

"Goodness, no," replied the plant, shaking her wilted leaves so her faded yellow petals dropped to the ground. "Don't think for one second that I keep open house at night just for fun. Indeed, it's work for me every evening."

"Heigh-ho!" laughed Missy Ant. "How funny to talk of a blossom having to work. Pray tell me what keeps you busy at night? Can't you do the same work in the daytime?"

"I'm afraid not so very well," answered the plant. "You see, we Evening Primroses are a night flower. We keep open house all night. We cater mostly to the moths. Our honey tubes are so deep that Mr. Moth is about the only fellow who has a tongue long enough to reach the bottom of it. There are so many eating places open in the daytime for the bees and butterflies to patronize."

"And you never stay open in the daytime?" asked Missy Ant. "You know, I've noticed for a long time that I never but once have seen one of your blossoms open in the daytime. That was a cloudy day."

"Well, sometimes when the Moths don't take away much of my pollen I open up a few flowers during the daytime so the bees and butterflies can help out a bit. I must have my pollen distributed or I cannot blossom long. Oh, yes, in the daytime when I leave some of my blossoms open you'll find a humming bird sipping my honey. Now, as the Summer slips away you'll see me open more in the daytime than I am now. At that time of the season I most always have more seed than I can take care of, so I change my habits. Instead of opening at night I open in the daytime. Then maybe we can get better acquainted. Now I must get some rest."

And, with a slow motion, Mrs. Evening Primrose slowly closed her petals and drifted off to dreamland.

Missy Ant made it her business after that to keep the children around the anthill very quiet, so no one would disturb the Evening Primrose, for she loved her little neighbor.

LEDGER KEEPER HANGS HIMSELF

SHORT 33 CENTS.

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press).—Worry over the fact that he was unable to balance his books is said to be the motive behind the suicide of Ivan Cowan, aged 19, a ledger keeper of the Dominion Bank, who hanged himself in a vault on the bank premises on Saturday night. He had been employed by the bank for four months. Young Cowan was in difficulties with his books on Saturday noon when he left the office. The accounts would not cash up correctly. He was short 33 cents. Determined to finish the job, he returned to the bank on Saturday afternoon, but after toiling over the figures for a long time and being unable to balance the amounts accurately, he gave up the task and took his life. Young Cowan had not been in very good health for some time, and had been treated by the family physician for nervous trouble. Mrs. Cowan and her son came from Winnipeg about a year ago. His father is Herbert Cowan, a traveller.

PETES LOSE THREE IN A ROW; EPIDEMIC OF FIELDING ERRORS

Kingston Only Earn Two Counters--Remainder Were Handed to Them.

DEFENCE WAS SHAKY

Terrific Hit by Harrison Was Caught by Cherry in Right Centre.

(By F.D.C.)

An epidemic of fielding misplays was responsible for the Petes suffering their third loss in a row on Saturday afternoon when the League leading Kingston Ponies beat the home talent 7 to 5 at the James Stevenson Park in a game in which nearly all the visitors' runs were handed to them. An analysis of the play shows that Kingston earned but two counters off Jeff Hardill and Lefty Lennox who toiled on the hill top for the Petes and one of these was tainted, inasmuch as a badly misjudged fly which went for a double was the principal factor in its scoring.

The Petes defence was unusually shaky a whole flock of bad throws cropping up during the game and nearly every one of them hurt. The pitching delivered by Jeff Hardill during the first four innings and by Lennox who relieved him after the fourth because the righthander's arm was lame was good enough to have won five out of six battles and would have won Saturday's had it not been for the costly misplays made by the Petes. Hardill allowing four hits during his tenure of the rubber should have escaped with but one run against him and Lennox who yielded only five hits for the balance of the game with perfect support would have secured a shut out.

Cairns pitched steady ball for Joe Daley's crew but the Petes earned three clean runs off him which should have been enough to win in view of the way the Ponies were held in check by the home pair of pitchers. The Ponies played much smarter ball in the field than the Petes, pulling off two double plays and erring only twice. The feature play of the day was pulled off by Del Cherry, the Ponies centre fielder, in the eighth when he made a sensation catch of a terrific fly from Harrison, cutting the Petes out of one run and a great chance to sew up the game. Cherry was playing deep for Harrison, and when the big first baseman met one on the nose and boomed a mighty drive to right centre, the Ponies centre fielder started with the crack of the bat and judging the smash perfectly took the ball on the run over his shoulder It would have been an easy home run on the Kingston grounds.

Despite their terrible throwing the Petes showed much more fight than in the game with Belleville and as a result the battle was far more interesting.

The Story of the Game

Teepel walked to start the game but was out at second when Halbert bunted to Hardill. Batstone singled over second, sending Halbert to third. On a double steal Halbert scored and Batstone reached second. Rose made a low throw after taking Cherry's roller and the runner was safe. Cherry stole second. Britton walked, filling the bases. Purvis raised a sacrifice fly to Ash scoring Batstone. Thompson flied to Rose.

In the Petes half Wolfe flied to Cherry, Rose walked but was doubled out when Hall hit a bounder to Purvis.

The Ponies got another cheap run in the second. Arniel singled to right and was sacrificed to second by Cairns. He went to third while Johnston was tossing out Teepel and scored when Rose made a two base wild heave on Halbert's roller. Hardill curved the third strike over on Batstone.

Ash rolled to Halbert, Helson was thrown out by Batstone and Harrison fanned.

It took a comedy of errors to score Kingston's fourth run in the third. Cherry singled to centre. Britton fanned. Purvis hit to Helson forcing Cherry at second but Johnston trying to complete a double play threw high over first. Purvis reaching second. Hardill threw to centre field trying to pick him off that base and Wolfe recovering the ball tossed a mile over Helson's head to let the run in. Then Thompson fanned.

In the Petes half Ross struck out. Johnston drew a pass but Hardill hit into a fast double play, Britton to Halbert to Purvis.

In Kingston's fourth Arniel flied to Rose, Cairns rolled to Johnston. Teeple scratched a hit on a bad hopper through short. Hardill tossed out Halbert.

The Petes got one in their half Wolfe beat out a roller to Britton and Rose was passed. Hall was called out on strikes. Ash cracked one to centre on which Cherry took on the run, Wolfe going to third after the catch. On a double steal Wolfe scored and Rose reached second. Helson fouled to Purvis.

Lennox took over the pitching for the Petes at this stage. Batstone lined to Wolfe, Cherry flied to Wolfe, and Britton struck out.

The home talent closed the gap considerably. Harrison was hit and Rose beat out a bunt. Johnston laid down a perfect sacrifice and Lennox boosted his own game by punching a single over second, scoring Harrison and Ross. Wolfe forced Lennox at second and Rose struck out.

Still another lucky run for the Ponies in the sixth. Purvis lined to Helson. Thompson was hit and went to second while Lennox was tossing out Arniel. Wolfe badly misjudged Cairns' drive to centre and then fell, the fly going for a two base hit on which Thompson easily scored. Teepel was safe when Rose's wide throw pulled Harrison off the bag. Halbert flied to Helson.

Hall was tossed out by Britton. Ash fouled to Arniel. Helson was safe on Halbert's fumble. Cairns broke down Harrison's vicious roller to the box and threw him out.

In the seventh Batstone and Cherry were thrown out by Rose. Britton also hit to the Pete's shortstop but this time his throw pulled Harrison into the air and the runner was safe. He was caught off by Lennox however and no harm was done.

Two more unearned runs for the Ponies cropped up in the eighth. After Purvis had lined to Johnston Thompson and Arniel singled on the ground into right. Cairns hit to Johnston for what should have been the second out but the Petes' leader fumbled. Teepel's long sacrifice fly to Wolfe scored Thompson. Arniel should have been out going to third on the play but Johnston threw high. Halbert's pop single back of short sent Arneil in. Batstone was thrown out by Johnston.

The Petes got the two back in their half. Wolfe was safe on Batstone's high throw and Rose was hit. Hall singled over second filling the bases. Ash forced Hall on a roller to Halbert, Wolfe scoring. Ash stole second. Helson grounded out to Halbert, Rose scoring. Cherry tore deep into centre field and made a beautiful catch of Harrison's mammoth drive.

In the ninth Cherry led off with a single to left, and stole second as Britton fanned. Purvis also went on strikes and Thompson flied to Helson.

The Petes went out in order. Ross flied to Teepel. Heckman batted for Johnston and struck out and Jack Hall batting for Lennox flied to Thompson back of third.

SOFTBALL GAMES.

Petherick's Corners League Sees Two Good Games.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, June 5—A decidedly interesting softball game was staged Thursday evening between the Reds and Blues of the League, the former winning by the close score of 10 to 9.

The umpires were Rev. Daniel at plate and Fred Barnum on bases.

The rival pitchers the Fairman brothers, were not exactly at top form. Albert Hay and Clarence Barnum both did some dangerous hitting.

On Thursday evening, May 27th, the Whites defeated their old rivals the Khaki by an 8 to 6 score. The latter team were without their star pitchers, Rev. Daniel and Doug Ingram, and fell prey to the heavy hitting Whites who as well tunred in a good game in the field.

Georgetown University will make a determined effort to retain its team title honors in the annual Intercollegiate A.A.A.A. indoor track and field championships to be held next month in New York. The Blue and Gray will be represented by a squad of 30 of her best field and track performers.

OMEMEE ELIMINATED FROM CUP; QUAKERS WELL DESERVED WIN

Going Was Very Rough — Carmichael's Snappy Goal—McGill Evened Up Account.

SCORE WAS 2 TO 1

After a very hard encounter between the Quaker Oats and Omemee the latter were eliminated from the Phelan Soccer Charity Cup by the score of two goals to one, in one of the hardest fought games this year.

The Quakers travelled to Omemee in Cooney and Jopling's bus, and were supported by a number of fans who made the trip. The response financially was very good.

Ground very Rough.

Quakers won the toss; Omemee kicked off in an ideal day for the soccer code, there being no handicaps to prevent a brand of real cup tie tactics, which was very evident from the start. On the rough pitch along the wings many passes went astray through the uncomfortable footing. Now and again each eleven were very aggressive until the defense opened up the game through close tackling.

Carmichael's Snappy Goal.

From a long swing pass to J. Mitchell on the right, who had much of his own way, from his brother at centre, the Quakers raised a barrage of shots against Omemee goal keeper, who found it difficult to see as the scrimmage occurred a few yards out from goal. Wilson saw Carmichael lying unmarked and passing the ball back to his centre half who dribbled past two men nicely as he made progress towards goal, then within range, he lifted the sphere in below the bar far out of the reach of the custodian. Omemee did not waste much time to pay a visit to the Quakers' territory where their full backs showed a great improvement when hard pressed.

McGill Scored from Penalty.

The Tannery boys continued to press but never recorded anything of note but flag kicks in abundance seemed to be the only reward, until a hard tackle inside the dreared line terminated in Omemee's favor as the referee awarded a penalty kick against Maker for some infringement committed. The selection of marksman was trusted to McGill who make no mistake to balance up the account again. It was now a hard battle to gain the success each team desired, and the "Knight of the whistle" had more than his share of the battle to watch the players closely because of the keenness of the tussel.

Local Soccer Fans Respond To Charity

A very liberal response to charity has come from the local soccer fans who have been attending the Phelan charity soccer games during the past few weeks. In a recent match no less than sixteen dollars was handed over to the association to the already sum that has accumulated on behalf of charity in the city.

Half time: One goal each.

Burgess' Winning Goal.

The ball travelled from end to end without anything being of great importance. At last, Carmichael, who seemed to be the pivot of success for the Quakers, passed out to Burgess on the wings. Roy Black, noticing the movement, tried to offset he players' attention but the two players indulged in a sprint along the wing to the Quakers advantage and in lightning speed the little outside left beat everything in front of him to put his team ahead in one of the hardest games ever played this season.

Full time: Quakers 2, Omemee 1.

Goal scorers: Carmichael and Budgess for Quakers. McGill for Omemee.

Quakers: W. Curtis, goal; H. Curtis and S. Maker, backs; W. Logan, Carmichael and A. Maker, halves, J. Mitchell, G. Logan, A. Mitchell, Wilson and Burgess, forwards.

Referee: William Rickard.

Babe On His Way To 50 Homers

Babe Ruth would like to make 50 home runs this year and, judging by his performance yesterday, he is likely to attain his objective.

He made his seventeenth and eighteenth yesterday in the game with Boston, and in 1921 his record home run year, his eighteenth did not come until June 11.

(By Billy Evans)

Ruth has set his goal at 50 because he would like to equal or better that mark for the third time in his career.

"Making a half century of four-sackers this year would just about give me the win, place and show honors in the home-run derby for all time," is the way Babe explains it.

In 1921 Ruth set his record-breaking mark of 59 homers. The year previous he smacked out 54.

Those two marks make the win and place positions pretty safe and he figures 50 this year would hold down the show honors for some time.

In 1924 Ruth made 46 circuit drives, four more than the best mark ever made in the National League by Rogers Hornsby in 1922. However, the Babe seeks to hit the 50-mark for a third time.

Fandom, in a sense, measures the value of Babe Ruth to his club in the matter of home runs.

For a big fellow he is fast, covers lots of ground and, next to Tris Speaker, is the best left-handed throwing outfielder in the American League.

And, what is more, Ruth has team success in mind always, rather than individual glory. This year he is more inclined that way than ever.

That face surely will tend to make his effort to reach the 50-mark in home runs all the more difficult.

Instead of swinging his head off every time he comes to bat, Ruth is upsetting the opposition by occasionally laying down a perfect bunt, trying to hit through the spots opened up by the peculiar manner in which most infields play for him. And every now and then he punches at the ball in an effort to drive it just over the infield.

Ruth, in the first six weeks of play in the 1926 campaign, has kept pace with his schedule of 50 homers for the season. As a matter of fact, he was ahead of his 1921 mark for the same time, the year he made his record of 59.

Regardless of whether Ruth hits his goal of 50, if he can continue his early season form he will have had a great year and made good with a vengeance his comeback threat.

HOMER IN EIGHTH GIVES BOSTON WIN

Vangilder Pitched Most Spectacular Game of Year.

CHICAGO, June 7th.— Canadian Press. — Todd's home run drive in the 8th inning enabled Boston to defeat Chicago 4 to 3 although 11 to six hits by Ted Blankenship. Zahniser was hit hard by the White Sox, but poor base running and a triple play wrecked their chances of winning. Score.

BOWLING TOURNEY.

Bowlers From Ontario To Meet in Hamilton in July.

HAMILTON, June 5 (Canadian Press).—Bowlers from Windsor to Ottawa and Niagara Falls to North Bay are expected to take part in the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association matches on Roselawn greens in Hamilton on July 5. For many years this tournament was held at Niagara-on-the-Lake, but it was decided to make a change this year.

The $5,500 which Barney Burch of the Omaha Buffaloes paid to the New Orleans Southern League club for Fred Henry, star first baseman, is said to be the highest price ever paid by a Western League club for a ball player.

BUFFALO DEFEATS TORONTO BY A RUN

Orioles Drop Two Games to Newark—Homers a Feature.

BUFFALO, N.Y., June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—In a bitter struggle yesterday the Bisons pulled out ahead of Toronto by 4 to 3. Buffalo secured an early lead of three runs, but the Maple Leafs plugged away until they were on even terms by the end of the eighth. Faulkner hurled the ninth and was scored upon by a hit, two passes, one intentional, while Kelly's sacrifice fly to Gilhooley sent across the winning tally. Maley and Kamp pitched well, but were taken out for pinch hitters. Miller clubbed out a home run to open the eighth. Score:

MARMORA GIRLS LOSE AT DELORO

SCORE 14-11.

MARMORA, June 7—Softball was practically inaugurated at Deloro on Saturday afternoon when that thriving juvenile organization known as the Sunnyside Club fielded a team to do duty against the more experienced High School girls' team of Marmora. It being the first game for the Sunnysides, a good number were drawn to witness it. Madeline Gaffney and Norah Foster as pitcher and catcher respectively for the Deloro girls, turned in an exceptionally neat game while Gladys Williams and Berenice McComb for the the School were also in good form. Feeling ran high in the home team when they acquired a lead of 3-1 on the first innings. Faulty fielding on their part gave the visitors five runs in the second venture. Fortune frowned on the Deloro girls for four innings. At the end of the fifth the score read Marmora 7, Deloro 3. In the sixth a run a piece was registered. In the seventh after Marmora failing to add to their lead, the unexpected happened. The Marmora fielders seemed all at once to be stage struck and seven runs were conceded the Sunnysides bringing them ahead by two runs. Marmora scored once in the eighth, Deloro going out in order. By registering once in the ninth, Marmora drew level and then excitement became intense. Deloro, placing three more runs to their credit, won an interesting if changeable game by 14 to 11. G. Williams and E. Rice for the losers were in good form with the bat. Dorothy Haaeke and Eleanor Reynolds, outfielders for Deloro, each brought off a meritorious catch.

Score by innings:
Marmora ....151 101 011—11
Deloro ... .300 001 703—14

The teams:

Marmora—G. Williams, p; B. McCombe, c; M. Bedore, 1b; H. Cronkright, 2b; E. Meehan, 3b; C. Simmons, ss; M. Rogers, lf; E. Rice, cf; D. Lawrence, rf; A. Archer, sub.

Deloro—Madeline Gaffney, p; N. Foster, c; J. Reynolds, 1b; R. Mantle 2b; D. Gray, 3b; L. Gray, ss; E. Mantle, lf; D. Haacke, cf; E. Reynolds, rf; E. Gaffney, subs.

Following the game, tea was served to both teams on the Public School lawn.

The Sunnysides in all probability will play Cordova and Rockdale at Cordova on the 19th.

The French open golf championship and the American open championship will be conducted on the same dates next July, the French title tournament being staged at St. Cloud and the American event at Columbus, O.

HORNSBY

BY ROGERS HORNSBY.

Fielding averages mean little or nothing to me as far as percentages are concerned but much in relation to chances actually handled. I prefer to forget the error column.

In a great many cases you will find that the infielder who makes plenty of errors is usually a great team player. Such a player goes after everything without any regard as to his average.

Try for every ball. Often a player is able to successfully complete a play that he didn't believe he had a chance to make when the ball was hit.

Players who try for every ball, players for whom no chance is too difficult to attempt, are the style players who win pennants. They often make many seemingly impossible plays that win ball games simply because they made the try.

One should never let the making of an error in any way affect his confidence. Forget about the errors a second after you make them. The damage done can't be erased by worry. The thing to do is to try all the harder on the next ball hit in your direction, hoping that by perfectly executing the play you may be able to wipe out damage of the previous slip.

It has been my experience that a player who is a good hunter and can drag the ball is the most troublesome for a second baseman, particularly if he is a left-hander.

On such batters it is necessary to come in fast, often making the play with one hand and the throw underhand from a stooping position. You can't give such players much space, it being impossible to play deep on them no matter how hard they can hit the ball. If you do they make you look foolish by bunting.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO

JOHN DUNCAN DUNN—VALUE OF PUTT.

Every good tournament player will tell you how much he depends upon putting. Francis Ouimet, to quote only one of the younger generation, has often remarked upon how much he owed his good scores to only requiring one putt on the green, how his 70 or 72 might easily have been an 88 or 90 if he had to take two or more putts to every green.

The three greatest putters who ever lived are Willie Park, Walter Travis and Jerome Travers. Fortunately, each has written his views on putting and the ordinary golfer may benefi accordingly. Every one of them unites in comment upon the value of putting. Said Park:

Travis, commenting upon his Schenectady putter, said: "When I am playing for a championship, I feel like taking it to bed with me."

Travers regards as the best all-round weapon of the golfer a "putting cleek of medium weight and not too much lofted"

DE LAVAL JUVENILES WIN SOCCER GAME

Young Vets Made a Creditable Debut—Score Was Three to One.

De Laval Juveniles continued their success in the Juvenile Soccer League at the Young Vets. expense who made a creditable debut, when the information was made known that four of their team had never played a game of soccer before, until Saturday afternoon, and will make their opponents travel the next time they meet. De Laval won by three goals to one.

First Half.

At the outset De Laval took up the offensive and a terrific first from Jones was blocked by Morley. Dorsett replied with a raid on the right to test Coleman. De Laval retaliated with a nice forward movement when "Newt" Downer, at inside left, tricked two men in succession to pass across to Jones, who gave Corsey no chance to save his fast drive. Both teams battled away until half-time announced De Laval leading by the odd goal.

Second Half.

The second moiety was in the Young Vets. favour, Dorset, from a pass by Heal, driving over the bar at close range. After ten minutes' hard tackling Heal evened up the score from a scrimmage in front of goal. The Young Vets. were just as much in the picture as their opponents until little "Newt" initiated a movement upon their defence that conceded a corner kick. Watkins placed accurately into Corsey's goal, but an accidental header by Roy Jones beat his own goal-keeper. Five minutes from the finish, the Young Vets. goal-keeper had to admit defeat after a splendid display in goal, when Jones sent in a fast, drive at close range. De Laval Juveniles 3, Young Vets. 1. Goal scorers Jones 2 and Roy Jones through his own goal for De Laval: Heal for Young Vets.

De Laval Juveniles.—H. Coleman, goal: G. Coleman and A. Downer, full-backs: Murray, Hope, Griffine, halves: Watkins, F. Dyer, Jones, N. Downer and Gravell, forwards.

Referee.—Jimmie Buchan.

ENGLISH SOCCERISTS

WINNIPEG, Man., June 7 (Canadian Press) — Launching their invasion into Western Canada, England's touring soccer team was extended to gain a verdict against the Winnipeg All-star eleven at Carrathers Park on Saturday.

More than seven thousand football enthusiasts saw the locals hold the visitors to a score of two to one, the winning counter being gained by the Englishmen ten minutes before the final whistle.

According to officials travelling with the missionary team, the performance of the locals was the most finished encountered during the tour to date.

A strong cross wind which swept over the field precluded the players from settling down to organized combination tactics. The long-passing style of play for which the visitors are noted, was forestalled by the elements, while numerous drives aimed for the nets were carried off their line.

Collectively the tourists appeared off their game but individually the play was of high calibre. The towering forward line of the English eleven combined in repeated assaults on the Winnipeg citadel, Joe Smith, Dave Jack and Tunstall alternating in feats of brilliance. This dashing trio of internationals incidentally were responsible for the team's two tallies.

To the Winnipeg defence goes the major share of the credit in keeping down the score. Between the posts young Derby was as cool as a veteran. Repeatedly he saved spectacularly, scooping the ball out of danger, with the Englishmen hovering like bees about his charge. At least fifteen shots were turned aside by this brilliant custodian.

DE LAVAL VS. MASSEYS SPASMODIC SOCCER IN PHELAN CHARITY CUP

ONE GOAL EACH

A drawn game of one goal each was the decision of the spasmodic tussle between Masseys and De Laval on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park before a fair attendance of spectators, who responded well to charity. If De Laval had had their full eleven during the second half, without doubt, they would have been in the final.

Goal in a Minute.

Capt. Blowers and Jones tossed for choice of play which fell in favour of the former, who compelled the De Laval to face the sun. From the kick-off, Massey made a raid on the separator boys' citadel to gain the opening goal as Clark ran in to divert Foster's centre with a low-down shot from a right foot drive. Smith now arrived on the field of play; no doubt, if he had been at the start there would have been no goal, perhaps. A continuous bombardment upon the De Laval goal produced nothing tangible, except for keen incitement in the goal area. Eventually, Honour relieved the situation to his teams' advantage as Hanson beat along the wing to penetrate the defense. His beautiful centre was met by Sharman, who missed by inches. Then Westlake conceded a foul kick that was banged into the Masseys custodian's hands. Another raid by Laidler was well planned, but failed to get the necessary support at the crucial moment, when the defense was upset.

Masseys All Upset.

The one-minute goal at the start now was telling upon the Masseys, who never settled down to anything productive in tactics, while their opponents were gaining superiority as time rolled on. In the De Laval wing halves, they were far ahead in every respect of tackling and parting at the timely moment. This led up to the De Laval attack dominating the ball to harass Masseys' full-backs into general mix-ups in front of goal. Two corners in succession in favour of Masseys made Jones show his real old-time ability between the sticks. Time and again he nipped the ball from the opposing forward's foot, then replied with fisting long punts up-field.

A Penalty Missed.

Then De Laval attack got away with plenty of dash and Montgomery was called upon to clear a shot from Cross. The Masseys' defense were up in the air now and conceded a penalty kick when Sharman was brought down very heavily inside the dreaded territory—Lindsay was selected to convert the ball, but oh!—his parting shot was banged over the bar, instead of a simple tap that would have been productive. De Laval were further penalized when a member of their eleven received "marching orders" for infringement of the soccer code. Quick as a flash Halliday grasped the ball in mid-field and endeavoured to try and get his forwards into smooth working order. He gave Laidler a snappy pass in front of goal, without hesitation, he let drive to hit the cross-bar while Jones stood awaiting results. Credit must be given the De Laval ten men for the supreme effort they made when their opponents made desperate raids to gain the verdict, but time favoured them as half-time was announced. Half-time: Masseys 1, De Laval 0.

Half Time.

After a long respite, both elevens set a fast pace on resuming, that went from end to end in rapid travelling. A clever piece of combination by De Laval's left wing completely baffled Massey's full backs, when Cross accepted a fast grounder across the goal as he ran in. He let drive quickly, Montgomery stopping the ball when it was through.

Jones' Brilliant Saves.

This set-back to the Masseys enlivened proceedings in every department. As they peppered Jones with long distance shots that were easy to handle, then they tried to penetrate the full backs—Honour and Smith—who were as cool as an icicle. They compelled the attacking forces to shoot well out, thereby giving Jones every chance to handle them easily. Then Laidler hit the crossbar. Smith cleared to his left wing. All of a sudden a scrimmage ensued in Masseys' goal line when th De Laval forwards had every advantage to gain the verdict, but three men missed the ball at close range as Cross banged it past the far upright, again demonstrating the lack of the "gentle tap."

Ten Men Had All the Play.

There is no question what the result may have been, if they had had their full eleven, because the ten men had their opponents at "six's and seven's." Each goal went under bombardment for a time without any result.

Jones' Lucky Save.

Masseys altered their style of play to swinging the ball from wing to wing. The wing pairs raising siege after siege upon Jones' goal. On one occasion Laidler placed a dropping ball in below the cross-bar; Jones jumped up to fist it against the bar, as dame fortune smiled upon him when he fisted clear. Then Foster gained a corner-kick which he placed in dead-centre. Smith headed clear; Clark intercepted the play to drive hard for goal, but Jones grasped the rocket shot tightly as the inside man tried to penetrate the goal. A foul awarded to De Laval through Clark illegally tackling the custodian, relieved the situation. During the last fifteen minutes of the tussle, De Laval had all the pep while the other boys had none. In the closing minutes, Montgomery made a spectacular save when Hanson drove for the corner of the post. There was no further scoring, and they retired on an even basis. Masseys 1, De Laval 1

Masseys.—T. Montgomery, goal; D. Grant and Mann, full-backs; Westlake, Halliday and Blowers, halves; Willis, Clark, T. Montgomery, Laidler and Foster, forwards.

De Laval.—Jones, goal, Honour and Smith, full backs; Cooper, Pulley and Fowler, halves; Cross, Lindsay, Sharman, Abraham and Hanson, forwards.

Referee.—Alex. McKinley.

Linesmen.—A. Dick and Geo. Nimmons.

Moviegraphs

oNew York.—When two years ago, society learned that Mrs. John Harriman had stepped out of the salon into the movie set, it merely shrugged.

It was quite a fad for fashionable women to become bored with the social whirl and take to some profession.

Gloria Gould had opened a dancing school, somebody else had taken a position in a New York store and somebody else had opened a tearoom. It would not last.

Staying With It.

The two years have passed. Mrs. John Harriman is still in the films. And she will stay. If the world in general has forgotten about it, it is because she took her maiden name. But she has reached that point in her career where she is sure of herself. She has requested the Paramount people to be known henceforth as Mrs. Harriman.

And no unknown extra has worked harder to win success.

"She has continuously subordinated herself to her art," said a director. "She has shown herself to have more spirit, sportsmanship and real stuff than many a star. She has put temperament aside for the sake of the picture.

"There has not been a time when she could not have walked out and told everybody to jump in the lake. Her position and money were always there. But she didn't.

"She is the first on the job and the last to leave and she'll take any part, willingly.

Disappointment.

"She has rehearsed the leading role that later was taken by any one of half a dozen stars, but she is going to be in the big lights yet—and soon.

"Just now she is playing a good, but subordinate part in 'The Sorrows of Satan.' She was thought of so highly that the lead, which finally was landed by Lya de Putti, was assigned her.

Then Miss de Putti arrived from Europe and a change was made. She took the disappointment, which must have been a great one, like a gentleman and a scholar. She'll be rewarded yet, for she has stuck and she has the talent. One of these days she'll get a break."

So, it would seem, Mrs. Harriman may be lost to society for a time. She's too busy working. She left Palm Beach in mid-season to rush to rehearsal. A trip to Europe, on which she has just started, may be dropped at any moment if a call comes.

What is considered as trapping a fly ball and what is the purpose of the play?

* * *

The thought in trapping a fly ball is to confuse any runners who might be on the bases at the time and thereby make possible a chance for a double or triple play, when by catching the fly ball only one man could be retired.

A smart infielder always has a good chance to pull the play successfully, when the batsman, in disgust over popping up a fly ball, fails to run it out.

In the American League a player can only trap a ball in one way: that is by first letting it strike the ground and then getting it on the rebound.

When a player gets a fly ball in his hands and then purposely opens them up and allows the ball to fall to the ground, American League umpires rule the ball has been held momentarily and the batsman is out. This is a safer way to try to profit than by trapping the ball but should not be allowed.

However, it is permissible in certain leagues and can be worked to the same advantage as the actual trapping of the ball.

CRICKET CLUB LOSES A GAME

75 TO 52.

The local club travelled to Port Hope on Saturday, to play the return game with Trinity College School and after a low scoring but hard fought game lost again, having also lost the previous game.

The local club batted first playing 12 men. never seeming to make headway against the attack of the school, which was assisted by brilliant fielding, not a catch being missed. The total of 52 included a score of 12 by Monkman, compiled by sheer steady batting, being the only double figure score. The lamentable feature was the fact that the tail did not wag, the last three wickets falling without adding to the score.

The School started more disastrously than the local club, losing the first wicket without a run being scored. They ran up a score of 75 runs for 8 wickets, when stumps were drawn for the day. In this score were two good innings of 32 not out, and 19 by Winnet and Lazier respectively. The local clubs bowling was very good there being very few loose balls but it was not given all the support in the field capable of the club.

The pent-up excitement in the fielders' mind was intense, for six wickets were down for 42 runs, at which point even it was anybody's game, and whether it was this fact or not that caused so many missed catches is not certain, but it was this latter fact that lost the game for the locals. At least seven or eight catches were missed, most of which were costly. It must be said however that these were not by any means easy catches, yet had they been accepted a very different result would have followed.

It was in a most unusual manner that Captain F. Dyer was out. He hit out at a ball, missed it and it hit the stumper's pads bounced off and hit the wickets, the bails merely falling off before the batsman could regain his crease.

The detailed scores were as follows:

KIWANIS REACH MONTREAL FOR BIG ANNUAL CONVENTION

Hotels Are Crowded and More Visitors Arrive in City To-day.

TENTH YEAR.

Continent Wide Meeting To Mark Formal Opening To-night.

MONTREAL, June 7.—Six thousand Kiwanians have already arrived in this city and reports are prevalent that two thousand more will arrive from the United States and Canada during today for the opening of the 10th annual convention of Kiwanis International here this evening. Hotel reservations made by delegates from all over the North American continent some six months ago have crowded Montreal's biggest establishments. The Mount Royal, Windsor, and Queen's hotels are jammed to capacity. With the arrival of several thousand more convention visitors during the next twelve hours the city will be ready for the three-day International gathering.

Thirty bands, accompanying more than 1,000 musicians, will be in a parade tonight when all the assembled delegates and Montreal organization will march through the city to be reviewed by Dominion government officials and the Kiwanis president, John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

The opening session in the city's auditorium, the "Forum," will start at 7.00 o'clock, eastern standard time, and the programme will be rebroadcast over the United States and Canada from Station CHYC. The 1,550 clubs on the continent will gather in their respective cities tonight for simultaneous meetings with the convention session here for unified expression of good will and frienship which has existed between the two countries for more than a century.

Messages from the Prince of Wales, President Coolidge, Premier King of Canada, and Lord Byng of Vimy, governor-general of the Dominion, will be read tonight at the opening "All Kiwanis Night" session.

A telegram from President John J Craig today told of the arrival of the Peterborough contingent in Montreal.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, June 7.—Messrs. Arthur Barker, Walter Chappell, Allan H. Clarke, Ernest Robertshaw, J. J. McFadden and Edward Tighe attended the re-union of the 93rd Battalion in Peterboro last week.

This evening at 6 o'clock the junior baseball team play the Rotary team from Peterborough on the Exhibition Grounds in the first game of the team.

On Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock the Wesley softball team and the locals clash in what promises to be a good game. The softball team is not in the junior class, but they will play the better for a bit of encouragement.

Streets Oiled.

The work of oiling the streets has been done, and the main part of the village has a refreshing tarry smell, which is said to be healthy. The dust is laid, and a song of praise and thanksgiving has gone up from the housekeepers. Following a liberal application of oil, the streets were given a general sprinkling of sand, which improved the surface very much.

Band Concert.

The first band concert of the season was held on Thursday night, but owing to the unsummer-like weather, the crowd was not very great. However, many citizens enjoyed the music and the concert was appreciated. As the weather grows warmer the audience will increase.

Thursday, June 3, marked the first of the half-holidays, and with all the business places except hotels and restaurants closed, Lakefield assumed what in pre-motor days was called a "Sabbath color."

Personals.

Mr. Eric Fawcett of Peterboro was in the village last week visiting friends.

Mr. W. A. Campbell of Belleville was in the village last week attending the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Ferguson.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. FitzGerald have returned from a ten days' motor trip through Quebec and the Eastern States.

Mrs. B. Hunter and Miss Alice Hunter were in Peterborough on Wednesday last.

Miss Williams of Toronto, who was the guest of Miss Ray, has returned home.

Mr. A. Finney of Calgary is visiting friends in the village and vicinity.

Mrs. Alexander Moore of Belleville is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. S. Brown.

Mrs. H. E. Peacock was in Peterborough on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Coon, son and daughter motored from Rochester, N.Y., accompanied by Misses Greta and Algenia Trude, and spent the week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Trude at "Little Lake Farm," Smith.

Mrs. Ambry and Miss Featherstonhaugh of Toronto are guests of Mrs. Cameron at "Alton Cottage."

Mrs. S. W. McKibbin was in Peterborough on Wednesday last.

Mrs. E. A. Tanner was in Peterborough and Toronto last week visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. FitzGerald are in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. James Hawthorne of Warsaw attended Mrs. Ferguson's funeral on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Langley motored to Toronto for a couple of days last week. Mr. Langley was a lay delegate to the Synod.

Mrs. FitzPatrick and family and Miss Ruth Crawford left on Saturday for Farnham, P.Q., where Mrs. FitzPatrick will reside in future.

Mrs. Connelly, Mrs. George Donaldson and Master Morley and Mr. Connelly of Lindsay motored to the village on Wednesday and were guests of Mrs. Burgess.

Mrs. Lucking and son, who spent the past month with relatives in the village, left on Wednesday to return to Pennant, Sask.

Invitations are out for the closing exercises at 'The Grove' on Friday, June 18th, at 2.45 p.m. Chapel service at 2 o'clock.

FAMED PLAYERS IN SCREEN CAST OF "LIGHTNIN'

Jay Hunt Seen in Role Created on Stage by Frank Bacon—List Includes Biggest Names in Pictures.

In "Lightnin'," the screen version of the celebrated play which opens to-day at the Regent Theatre, Director John Ford has one of the largest congregations of stellar artists ever assembled on a motion picture studio stage for work in the same production.

Jay Hunt, well known in theatrical circles, and a former picture director, selected personally by William Fox for the coveted role created on the stage by the late Frank Bacon, heads the list in the role of "Lightnin' Bill Jones."

Madge Bellamy and Wallace MacDonald, both established as popular stars of the films, are cast in the two leading romantic roles.

Ethel Clayton, star in her own right and one of the most beautiful women on the screen plays the role of Margaret Davis, one of the featured roles of the production.

In the role of Judge Lemuel is J. Farrell MacDonald, who by his sterling conception of "Corporal Casey" in the gigantic production, "The Iron Horse," rose to the highest plane of screen comedians.

The villainy is supplied by Richard Travers and Brandon Hurst, two artists recognized long since for their histrionic ability.

"Mother Jones is ably characterized by Edythe Chapman, without a peer in the character field.

Otis Harlan, famed for many clever characterizations, adds a delightful character in the role of Zeb, the town drunkard and loafer.

HALIBURTON, Ont., June 7. — (Canadian Press). — Three search parties, which have been scouring the woods for days in an effort to find some trace of the two missing prospectors, W. J. Wetherhead and E. D. Solomon, lost since May 24, have returned here unsuccessful. Members of the search parties feel that the chief hope of locating them now rests with the Provincial Air Service. Two rangers have been sent to investigate a report that two men have been seen wandering on the shore of Ragged Lake, 25 miles from the point where the prospectors disappeared.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JOHN FERGUSON

LAKEFIELD, June 7. — The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon of Mrs. John Ferguson nee Catherine Kidd) and in spite of the heavy rain a large number of friends and relatives attended. Rev. P. L. Jull was in charge of the service and spoke words of comfort and hope to those who mourned the loss of a beloved and loving relative, a good neighbor and a faithful friend. The pall bearers were Messrs. Andrew Fairbairn, Arthur J. Kidd, Jefferson Moore, Hugh Morrison, James Walton and Richard White.

Interment took place in the Lakefield Cemetery.

MRS. VINCENT McCABE.

A very sad death occurred at eight o'clock last evening, when Jane Harold, beloved wife of Vincent McCabe, 364 Simcoe street, passed away at her home, after a lingering illness.

The late Mrs. McCabe, who was married only a year and a half ago, had been ill for some time. During her short stay in the city, where she came as a bride from the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Fortune of Trenton, with whom she had made her home during the past six years, she had made many friends, to whom she endeared herself by her sweetness of character, and the unfailing cheerful patience with which she bore adverse health conditions. She will long be remembered by those who survive her, her sorrowing husband, her father, Mr. Willaim L. Harold of Minneapolis, where the deceased was born, and where her mother died 14 years ago, three brothers, also of Minneapolis, William, Donald and Herbert, and two sisters, Mrs. W. E. Grundman, of Minneapolic, and Mrs. U. R. Beck of Milwaukee. Other sorrowful survivors are her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Fortune of Trenton, a second aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold of Belleville, and a cousin, Mrs. J. E. L. Goodwill of this city.

The funeral will take place from 364 Simcoe street, on Wednesday morning, to St. Peter's Cathedral, where services will be held at nine o'clock, to St. Peter's cemetery, where interment will take place.

WEDDING BELLS.

MOORE—SANDERS.

The wedding took place quietly at high noon on Wednesday last, June 2nd, at the residence of the bride's parents, in Stouffville, of Mary Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sanders, and R. Melville Moore, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Moore, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside at Moore Park, Toronto.

SOMERVILLE—MATTHEWS

The chapel of McMaster University, Toronto, was the scene of an interesting wedding at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when Jessie Stratton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Frank Matthews, Warren Road, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, became the bride of George Arthur Somerville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Somerville. Chancellor Whidden of McMaster University officiated, while Mr. Dalton McLaughlin played the wedding music, and Madame Dusseau sang during the signing of the register. The chapel, which was filled with relatives and friends of the bridal party, was beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of apple blossoms, blue delphinium, mauve lilacs, palms and ferns. The bridal aisle was a bower of blossoms, with its markings of apple blossoms, delphinimus and lilacs.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful princess gown of silver lace posed over cream colored kitten's ear crepe. The molded bodice and circular skirt were trimmed with bands of silver ribbon terminating in motifs of silver roses centred with rhinestones, and the V-shaped neck of the frock showed a chemisette of rose point lace.

The full court train of pale pink chiffon over flesh georgette was also banded with silver and embroidered with roses of silver similar to those used on the bridal gown. An exquisite veil of rose point lace, mounted on white bridal tulle, was caught in cap effect over a circlet of silver and fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. Silver shoes and stockings were worn, and the bridal bouquet was of lily of the valley and maidenhair fern.

The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Northwood of Toronto and Miss Margaret Southcott of St. Catharines, wore gowns of painted chiffon, in Dresden shades of rose and blue. Miss Northwood's frock was mounted over flesh-colored satin. Miss Southcott's over a satin slip of apple green. With these were worn large hats of rice straw in apple green, trimmed with large roses that matched the gowns. Green kid shoes and atmosphere stockings completed their costumes, and bouquets of mauve and green sweet peas were carried. The bridegroom's presents to the bridesmaids were French beaded bags.

The dainty little flower girls, Dorothy and Helen Campbell, dauhters of Mrs. D. A. Campbell, carried the bride's train as she made her way up the aisle, and strewed rose leaves in her path as she left the church. They wore frocks of white tulle, over petaled slips, pleated from the shoulders and finished at the neck with circular capes of tulle edged with silver ribbon. Streamers of silver ribbon and little white frilled pantallettes added a charming touch, with poke bonnets of white, touched with green and silver. The little flower girls carried baskets of sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots.

Mr. C. W. Irwin, Junior, acted as best man. Ushers were Mr. Wilfrid Stratton, Mr. Gordon Matthews of Peterborough, Mr. Maitland Newman, Mr. Harry Somerville, and Mr. J. H. Matthews of Regina.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Warren Road, where Mr. and Mrs. Matthews received their guests in the large living-room, which was gay with masses of apple blossoms, rose tulips and lilac. Mrs. Matthews wore a very becoming gown of white painted georgette made in long-line effect, with ripple skirt trimmed in Nattier blue ribbon and silver embroidery. Her bois de rose hat was trimmed with French flat ostrich at the side, and she wore gold and black shoes, scarf of Russian sable fur and corsage bouquet of larkspur and clarkia.

Mrs. W. A. Stratton, sister of the bridegroom, received with Mrs. Matthews, wearing a gown of black and white georgette, with black hat and corsage bouquet of orchids.

During the afternoon, an orchestra played, and Madame Dusseau sang very sweetly. The bride's table in a huge marquee on the lawn was done with "white honesty" and picotee tulips. The cake in the centre was decorated with lily of the valley and forget-me-nots and banked in flesh and white tulle. The toast to the bride was proposed by Chancellor Whidden of McMaster University, and responded to by the bridegroom, proposing the toast to the bridesmaids: Mr. A. J. Hawkinson of Nashville, Tennessee, proposed the toast to Mrs. Matthews.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Somerville left for a motor trip to Watkins' Glen. The bridal bouquet was caught by the cousin of the bride, Miss Jean Matthews of Vancouver, B.C. The bride travelled in a smart ensemble costume of pearl grey crepe Korrigan, embroidered in self color tones and silver. Over this was worn for motoring a coat of light grey velour, with Tuxedo rolling collar of grey squirrel. Her grey sports hat was appliqued in two shades of blue georgette, embroidered in silver. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Somerville will reside at 119 Imperial Street, Toronto.

Plaits of hair and even complete wigs elaborately dressed are being suggested for the evening use of women whose hair is bobbed or shingled.

Wheat Price Advances Crop Damaged In Kansas

CHICAGO, Ill., June 7.—(Canadian Press.)—Severe crop damage reported from parts of Kansas and Nebraska gave new upward swing to wheat values to-day. Advices were also at hand that the Italian crop estimates had been much reduced and that stocks of wheat in Great Britain are very small. Opening 1-3 off to 7-8 cent: up, wheat quickly scored a material advance all around. Corn, oats and provisions were firmed. Corn, starting unchanged to 3-8 cents higher and later making moderate general gains.

A decided increase of buying of general character resulted from crop damage advices, but on bulges there was a liberal selling to realize profits for houses that previously were buyers.

Business Easing Up Prices Hold Firm

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press)—Business on the Standard Mining Exchange is getting down to summer volume, the turnover to noon today being 89,450 shares. Trading was well distributed and prices seem inclined to hold firm. Announcement this morning by the Kenora Company of a plan of reorganization to bring in new capital had no effect on the market which remained steady at six cents. Teck Hughes held last week's advance, selling at 3.64. Keeley weakened a point and Castle Tretheway sold down to 136 with small turnover, closing at 136. Regular Dome dividend of 50 cents was announced, payable July 20th.

Trading Improves Slightly Gains Mostly Fractional

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press).—Trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today showed generally upward tendency, although gains were mostly fractional. Consolidated Smelters, Brazilian and Massey-Harris Commons were the most active stocks among the industrials although there was some activity among unlisted offerings.

Consolidated Smelters led the way in the industrial list with a net gain for the day of one point. Brazilian Traction closed down 1-8 from previous close, the quotation 97 1-4. British Columbia Fishing closed the session at 7 7-8 with a net gain of 3-8 over Saturday's close, while Canadian Bakeries Common closed down one quarter at 37 1-2. Mackay Common closed up 7-8 at 33 1-4.

New York Market Dull Price Trend Irregular

NEW YORK, June 7 (Canadian Press). — An extreme dullness characterized to-day's stock market, with the price movements irregular, but mostly higher. The week-end business news was rather colorless in character. Money rates continued relatively easy.

Woolworth sold two points higher and S. S. Kresge advanced a point. Standard Industrials held steady in quiet trading.

Pool activities were apparent in few issues.

Fears for the safety of the American Woollen Preferred dividend were reflected in heavy liquidation of both classes of stock, the Common settling down to a new low at 19 3-8 and the Preferred sagging over a point. Rails were quiet.

CAR OF ALCOHOL SEIZED AT TORONTO

TORONTO, June 7 (Canadian Press).—Disguised as a carload of barrel staves, shipped from Turcott yards, Montreal, a freight car loaded with $20,000 worth of alcohol was seized on the Canadian National tracks in the east end of the city by Toronto police to-day.

In their raid the police also seized a $2,500 truck and an automobile worth $2,000, which were left behind a freight car by the men who fled. After a chase two were captured. They gave their names as James Reid and William Gould, both of Toronto.

PANAMA NOT CONCERNED.

Concession To British Firm Is Perfectly Legal, Says Minister.

PANAMA, Canal Zone, June 7.—(Canadian Press), — The Panama Government is not concerned over the inquiry asked by United States Senator Borah into the grant to British concessionaires of large tracts of land on the Isthmus, according to Foreign Secretary Alfaro. "Panama has not made a concession to the British Government, as the Senator affirms, but to a private English company. Panama has a perfect right to do this in accordance with her laws," said the Minister.

VOL. LVII., No. 133 PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1926 PRICE THREE CENTS

PAVING, STREET CARS, FIRE LIMITS, EATING HOUSE LICENSES, PARKING; ALL DISCUSSED BY CITY COUNCL

MOVING WAREHOUSE.

Grain Firm Moving Building at C.N.R.—No Decision on Bus Franchises.

Although Alderman Mel. Turner over-estimated when he moved that the time be extended three hours, the Council's June session lasted past midnight, and the subjects discussed covered all phases of city activities. Fire limits, eating house licenses, paving, and street cars and 'buses—all were discussed.

Owing to delay by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission in sending the information requested by the Council, it was not possible to discuss fully the street railway system, the Aldermen preferring to take home the lengthy documents handed them last night by City Clerk S. R. Armstrong, but the presence of Ed. Cooney, of the firm of Cooney and Jopling, made some discussion of the matter necessary.

A letter was read from the local 'bus firm, stating that Messrs. Cooney and Jopling wished to correct the impression that the Council had ordered them to stop running their 'buses. Mr. Cooney also stated that his firm wished to be told either to run the 'buses or to get out. He and his partner wished to know right away so that they could make arrangements for other uses of their 'buses if they were not to be permitted to operate in the city.

Alderman Phelan moved that the local firm be told that there would be no interference, but this motion lacked support. All the Aldermen expressed themselves in a friendly manner to the local firm, but declined to assure Mr. Cooney that he would not be disturbed. They felt that the issuance of licenses was up to the Police Commission. Alderman Phelan said that all his motion meant was that the Council would not ask the Police Commission to withdraw the licenses.

When it was decided to wait a few days so that the Aldermen could study the information received from the Hydro, Mr. Phelan said that there had been too much catering to the Hydro. Information for the use of the Council at last night's meeting had not been sent on time, and the Council and the local firm was being held up.

The opinion was expressed by several Aldermen that Cooney and Jopling had make a mistake in taking off their 'buses, and that they should start operating them again, but no formal motion was put through on the matter.

Street Paving.

The fact that a large number of property owners on Reid Street, between McDonnel Street and the city limits had sent a petition to the Railway and Municipal Board, protesting against the proposal to pave that street, led the Aldermen to strike that clause out of the by-law, and then discussion on the type of pavement to be put on Rubidge Street led to the committee of the whole Council rising to report progress, holding up the by-law until tenders on various types have been received.

Considerable discussion took place on this by-law, resulting finally in a decision to advertise the intention to construct a pavement on Weller Street, where the citizens had petitioned for it, and to ask the City Engineer for a report on the defective sewers of the city, particularly the sewer on Aylmer Street.

Alderman Turned suggested that Reid Street be struck out, saying that Aylmer Street, from Charlotte Street to the C.P.R. tracks, was more important, and should be proceeded with, especially in view of a petition from a number of the citizens. To the answer of Alderman Ackerman that the petition might not represent the considered opinion of all those who signed it, and that of Alderman MacDonald that a programme had been laid out and followed, Alderman Turner replied that the city's debenture debt was approaching the limit and care should be taken.

Mayor Holloway said that George Street should be resurfaced. There had been no request for paving on

Higher Education On Trial Falconer Tells College Class

SWARTHMORE, Pa., June 8 (Canadian Press).—Characterizing the "high brow" type of college graduate as a "degenerate intellectual aristocrat," Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, yesterday told the 1926 class at Swarthmore College that higher education was on trial. American colleges for the most part had drawn their students from the "privileged classes," with the result the institutions were producing a sort of exclusive aristocracy, Sir Robert said.

"The question arises," the speaker declared, "does college turn out the proper kind of citizens?"

"To my mind the only way education can be aided is to select the best persons and educate them according to their abilities and aptitudes," said Sir Robert.

Citizens Wreck Hall When Taxes Are Raised

PERTH, Amboy, N.Y., June 8 (United Press) — When the citizens of this town heard that their taxes were about to be raised they didn't wait for the ballot-box to register their protest. Instead they smashed chairs and wrecked the Chambers of the Board of Aldermen and it took twenty policemen to restore order among 1000 people at the city hall.

It was revealed last night that taxes had to be increased to cover a deficit of $181,000 and pay for $150,000 new paving.

Somebody said the financial affairs of the city were poorly run. "Why don't you pay your rent and keep quiet?" an Alderman answered the critic, and the fight was on.

Like the Flow of Water Over Unused Dams Is Flow of U.S. Money Passing Peterborough Because Of Lack Of Development Says R. R. Hall

Do not let your chances
Like the sunbeams pass you by,
For you never miss the water
Till the well goes dry.

Excellent advice to children and grown-ups too. Children listen and profit by good advice, but our grown-up taxpayers listen and heed it not.

Tens of millions of dollars are being invested in Canada by Americans in a great variety of enterprises but this flow of foreign capital passes Peterborough like the flow of our Trent waters over our unused dams.

Let us examine the unique position Peterborough could be placed in as compared with other cities of this province if these unused dams were developed.

If the Dominion Government were to carry out its obligations to this city and district, then 6,000 horse-power and more could be developed at Burleigh Falls and at Dams 4 and 5 at a capital cost per horse-power of less than $100.00.

Let me explain the meaning of capital cost per horse-power. In the development of water-power it is necessary to make a capital investment in the building of power houses, raceways and the installation of water wheels, generators, etc., and the extent of that investment determines the capital cost of power. For instance, if the electrical development at Dams 4 and 5 cost $300,000 and 3,000 horse-power were developed, that would mean a capital cost of $100 for each horse-power developed.

But what is the capital cost per horse-power of other competing cities for new industries in this province?

Take Toronto for instance; Toronto, the home of the pagan worshippers of The Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the giant octopus that is crushing and strangling this province as effectively as the two serpents did Laocoon and his sons. The capital cost of Toronto electric power is $270 per horse-power (See Hydro Report, 1924, p. 154) as against less than $100 per horse-power here if this city were to develop its own unused water-powers.

The capital cost per horse-power in the City of Hamilton is $259.00; in the City of London it is $256.00 and in the City of Kitchener it is $262.00 (See Hydro Report, 1924, p. 150).

In the City of Brantford the capital cost per horse-power is $262.00 (See same Report, p. 148); in Welland it is $229.00 and in Windsor it is $297.00 (See same Report, p. 154).

In the Niagara zone many of the small towns fare worse than the large cities. For instance, the capital cost per horse-power in the Town of Dunnville is $412.00 (See Hydro Report, p. 148).

These are startling figures to large power users in the Province of Quebec where several developments of electric power only cost a capital expenditure of about $60.00 per horse-power.

Such is the provincial power situation and such being our situation in Peterborough it behooves our taxpayers to exercise independent judgment and carefully examine the internal construction of this Hydro-Electric god of "power at cost" and see whether or not from feet to head it is nothing more nor less than a god of clay covered over with a thin veneer of brass which masks its impudent claims of selling power at less than twenty-five per cent below wholesale cost.

This city has given this Hydro-Electric god "power at cost" ten years of trial. At first it brought stagnation and now it is drifting us to loss of industries and dry decay.

What steps should be taken by this city?

(a) The City Council should engage a qualified and independent engineer to make a report on the cost of developing power at Burleigh Falls and at Dams 4 and 5 on the basis of the Dominion Government going its part. This report will show that power can be developed at these two points at less than $100.00 per horse-power.

(b) The Dominion Government should then be urged to build its new locks at Burleigh Falls and at Dams 4 and 5 and grant a lease to this city of the water privileges at these dams.

(c) The Provincial Government should then be asked to pass the necessary legislation to enable this city to develop these water-powers, to buy the Auburn plant at cost and to release this city from the tie that binds it to stagnation and labefaction.

(d) We could still maintain our connection with the Central Ontario Power System as insurers against accidents but chiefly as customers to buy our surplus power pending the location here of new industries.

If this course outlined were adopted then we would have something to attract new industries and then our sunbeams would bring new chances and our wells would overflow.

Dated, June 8, 1926.

R. R. HALL.

Merriment Is Supreme Lightening Council Session

"Laugh and grow fat," says the old adage, and if all council meetings were like last night's, the members of the Peterborough City Council would be noted for corpulency. Departing from their usual sedate manner, the Aldermen found humor in everything, and the audience in the gallery—a lady, a boy and three gentlemen,—and the city officials joined heartily in the laughter that ensued. Some of the "bon mots" follow:

Ald. Turner (when business was dragging at closing time): "I move we extend the time three hours—

Ald. Phelan: "Make it four."

Ald. Denne: "Sure we have a parking by-law—Park anywhere you please."

Ald. Fife (when several complaints hid been referred to him "with power to act") "I have more power than money."

When Alderman Fife spoke of having always worked for permanent roads in the city, Alderman Hancock asked to be shown some, charging that the pavements laid had not been permanent.

Local Kiwanis Club In Invisible Union With All Kiwanians

"All Kiwanis Night" Observed All Over Continent of North America in Programme of Impressive Character —Time Synchronized So That 100,000 Men Unite in Creed at Same Moment.

CENTRE OF NATION-WIDE OBSERVANCE IS HUGE INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION

Charles Saunders and Joseph John Give Addresses—Dr. Frank Neal Reads Message From President Moss—John A. McKone Presides at Inspiring Meeting.

"All Kiwanis Night," designed to bring into fellowship in the same instant of time all the more than one hundred thousand members of the huge international organization, was observed by the Peterborough club in the Empress Hotel last night.

It was an epochal event. Many of the members of the club are in Montreal attending the International Convention, but the members here knew that at just the same moment in Montreal and in Peterborough, in Los Angeles and in Vancouver, in Atlanta and in Sydney, Kiwanians were linked together in a simultaneous programme.

It was an occasion of inspiration. Kiwanis is founded upon the ideal of service. There are probably very few Kiwanis clubs that have any money in their treasuries; it is considered a bad sign in Kiwanis to find a club with a big bank balance. All through this winter the Peterborough club has been providing whole families with food, clothing, and fuel; it has paid hospital bills for those who were unable otherwise to obtain the treatment they needed; it has stepped in and found the right treatment for neglected children, and provided it; it has erected a news-stand for the blind basket worker and news-dealer; its Sunshine Committee has let the sunshine into many an afflicted home. Service is the keynote of Kiwanis, and last night's gathering, with its messages of good will from other clubs and from the International Convention, inspired the members to greater aims.

A song specially written for the occasion and sung last night by the 150,000 Kiwanians of Canada and United States, epitomizes this spirit of Kiwanis:

"Onward in Kiwanis
Whither God has willed;
Hailing as our brothers
All who work and build!"

The "Zero Hour."

The programme was built around "Zero Hour." This was the hour at which, with time perfectly synchronized in the different zones, all Kiwanians started a fifteen-minute prearranged programme, identical everywhere.

Promptly at seven o'clock in Peterborough the members came to attention and stood for a fellowship moment of silence, pregnant with the thought of the invisible bonds that held a hundred thousand separate entities to the ideals of Kiwanis Then followed the singing of "God Save the King" and "America"; a message from International President Moss; a song, "Onward in Kiwanis"; and the recitation in unison of the 'Inter'-Club Relations Creed." Charles Saunders gave an address on "The Meaning of 'All Kiwanis Night'", and Joseph John spoke on "Kiwanis and Fellowship." Willard Welbourne was the booster, telling of the growth of the Bell Telephone Company, and his prize-winners were Jack Chadwick, Joseph John, and Frank Stinson. Rev. G. J. Bousfield was the guest of the club, and Edward Garbutt was the guest of Jack Chadwick. Harold Sadgrove, accompanied by Martin B Chenhall, sang "On the Road to Mandalay," and "The Song of Songs."

Goodwill Messages

Messages of goodwill and good wishes were exchanged by telegraph with Kingston, Belleville, Lindsay, Riverdale, President Moss, and the members of the Peterborough club who are in Montreal.

Past President John A. McKone presided at the meeting, arrangements for which were carried out by Dr. Frank Neal, Charles Saunders, and John Turner.

The President's Message

The message from the International President, read by Frank Neal, was as follows:

"The very simplicity of this occasion imparts to it a dignity no words of mine may augment. Mere multiplicity of words would weaken rather than strength the impressiveness of this event. Thoughout the Provinces of Canada and the States of the Union hundreds of our clubs and thousands of our members are,

All Kiwanis Creed

The following creed was recited last night by the members of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, at the same moment of time as over one hundred thousand other Kiwanians joined in it:

We believe that today all men are members of the great Brotherhood of Man, that the things which divide them may be minimized and annulled, and the things that unite them strengthened and confirmed by abundant fellowship relations—man with man and group with group.

We believe that tolerance, generosity and undestanding flourish and live and that fanaticism, hatred and persecution wither and die when Kiwanis men, representing the various races, creeds and thought, intermingle—Kiwanian and Kiwanian and club with club.

We believe that the potential resources of cordiality and hospitality may be developed and the power of sectional jealousies and animosities removed by increased Kiwanis Club association and communication—group with group and district with district.

We believe that broad national patriotism and respect for Government is stimulated and anarchism and lawless disorder deprecated in these neighborly visitations and in international conventions where the exchange of thought is based upon widely varied experiences and tempered by the altruistic objectives and by the lofty idealism of Kiwanis.

We believe that the great spiritual values of life as emphasized in the friendly intercourse of these inter-club relations direct our attention to the need of allegiance to and reverence and devotion for the God of the universe under whose protecting wings Kiwanis International and these great nations have prospered.

Threat To Kidnap Duchess Of York Is Received In Letter Illiterate Lunatic With Hatred For Royalty Suspected

LONDON, June 8 (United Press)—Threats have been made to kidnap the Duchess of York, daughter in law of King George and Queen Mary, according to today's Daily Mirror, which says that an illiterate letter containing the threat has been intercepted enroute to her Royal Highness.

It is understood that the letter mentioned the Duchess' impending visit to Sandwich as a guest of Lady Astor as the time determined upon for the kidnapping. A lunatic with a hatred for the entire royal family is believed to have written the letter, as it is reported that a letter similarly scrawled was received at Buckingham Palace a few days ago.

The Duchess' name has been unusually prominent in the newspapers during the last two months owing to the birth of her daughter, the Princess Elizabeth Alexandria Mary. She is the wife of the King's second son, the Duke of York.

PRESIDENT OF C.M.A. DEPLORES DRIFT OF YOUNG MEN TO U.S.A.

J. H. Fortier Says Canadian Industry Must Be Made Attractive.

TO RETAIN MEN.

Annual Convention of Manufacturers Opens To-day in Toronto.

TORONTO, June 8 (Canadian Press)—The drift of educated young men, particularly graduates of colleges and technical schools, from Canada to the United States, was the subject of regret expressed by President J. H. Fortier, of Quebec City, in the opening address at today's session of the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Something should be done, declared the President, to make Canadian industry more attractive to these men, in order to keep them at home.

The convention opened this morning with every province represented.

The report of Treasurer Thomas Roden showed a net surplus of $3,409.98 for the year. The total of membership fees for the year was $200,271.30.

The president extended a welcome to the members and also to several visitors who are attending the sessions.

Dealing with the aims of the C.M.A. President Fortier said:

"I want this country to know that this Association is working first, last and all the time for the general interests of all the country and not for its own selfish interests. I would suggest that all we can do to further the prosperity of the country will react in increased prosperity to us," he said.

Western Membership Up

C. R. Parsons, former president, referred to the great growth in membership in the Western provinces and to the early days of the organization there "Nothing in the world is going to stop this country," he said. "We need never be ashamed of the part played by the

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—Canadian Press. — Roy Hinton Matthews, 19, and his 72-year-old bride, are on their honeymoon here. Mrs. Matthews said it was a case of love at first sight and "he wouldn't let me wait a year after my last husband's death."

SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAVE PROSPERED

Have Come Rapidly Out of Chaos Existing After Church Union.

MONTREAL, Que., June 8 (Canadian Press)—The story of the organization of the Sabbath Schools of the Presbyterian Church in Canada from the chaotic condition in which they were left by the accomplishment of church union until they now numbered 858 schools with an enrollment of 109,739 was told to the General Assembly last night by Rev. W. M. Kannawin, Hamilton, and Rev. Norman MacEachhern, Winnipeg. To Mr. Kannawin, convenor of the branch of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies, Mr. MacEachern gave credit for this task.

BOARD OF DOMINION APPRAISERS TO HANDLE ALL PREVENTIVE WORK SUGGESTED BY PROBE COMMITTEE

Present Board of Customs Lacks Technical Training Says Statement.

WIDE POWERS.

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press). — The establishment of a Board of Dominion Appraisers, to be appointed by the Governor-in-Council, consisting of a chairman and four members, which should supersede the present Board of Customs, is recommended in a statement presented before the special committee investigating the administration of the Customs Department, this morning. R. P. Sparks, head of the Commercial Protective Association, read a statement to the committee. "The Board of Customs, as constituted, lacks technical training, which should be possessed in the Board of Dominion Appraisers, selected as we suggest," the statement says.

The proposed board, it is suggested in the statement, should proceed as soon as possible after its appointment with the complete re-organization of the appraisal system and the personnel, both at the head office and at the ports. It should be given power to retain such appraisers as it considered competent and qualified and to appoint, with the Minister's approval, such further appraisers as may be required. The statement recommends a drastic reduction in the number of ports of entry in Canada. Possibly four hundred ports should be closed, it says. It points out that the United States has 270 ports of entry, the United Kingdom but 80 ports of entry, while Canada, with a much smaller population and Customs revenue, has 621 places at which Customs revenue is collected.

Dealing with the Customs protective service, the statement recommended that the chief preventive officer be the executive head and have full control and supervision of the preventive service branch with absolute authority to administer and direct the work of the branch. He should be given power to take action in respect to violations of the Act on his own initiative. He should be authorized to organize within the preventive service a secretive force with special training in criminal investigation work to be under his general direction, but under the immediate supervision of an experienced police officer.

The chief preventive officer should, it is recommended, be authorized to make use of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for patrol work on the border whenever he considers it advisable. Preventive officers and authorized Customs officers should be given power to arrest, without a warrant, persons found committing or suspected of having committed any offence declared by the Customs Act to be an indictable offence. With reference to cases of wholesale smuggling or under-valuation, where the offenders are apprehended, the statement suggests that they be brought to trial, and in all cases of conviction where both fine and imprisonment are provided for, should impose both fine and imprisonment.

Acceptance of a bribe or gratuity by a Customs officer for neglect or non-performance of his duty should be punished by imprisonment, without the option of a fine, and, in addition, a fine, it is suggested. The person offering the bribe should be subject to the same penalty. The statement recommends that a thorough search of vehicles entering Canada should be made at bridges and main highways and also at ferries. Amendments to the Customs Act are suggested to require the Department to take proceedings against offenders through the courts in all cases of wholesale smuggling and under-valuation, where the amount involved in the seizure is $200 or over. In the case of petty smuggling, or other frauds where the value of goods is under $200, the Department should have the option of disposing of the case departmentally or referring it to the courts.

Packages Of "Plum Pudding" Are Narcotics In Disguise

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Packages posted from Great Britain and marked "plum puddings" do not always contain orthodox Christmas cheer. At least some of the parcels thus disguished contain narcotic drugs, it is stated in a report made to customs probe by F. W. Cowan, chief of the narcotics drug branch of the Federal Department of Health.

NEW EFFORTS TO SETTLE STRIKE WHEN MINERS ACCEPT INVITATION

Workers' Representatives Will Confer With Owners' Delegates.

MEETING FRUITLESS.

General Public Expects Nothing To Come From Conference.

LONDON, June 8 (United Press). —New efforts to settle Britain's protracted coal strike came to-day when the Miners' Executive Committee accepted the invitation of the mine owners to attend a preliminary conference. The general belief is that the meeting will be fruitless, owing to the determination of the mine leaders to refuse to discuss reduced wages or longer hours.

Meanwhile the Government is taking all precautions to maintain the coal supply. If a serious shortage threatens the Government is expected to import an adequate supply.

The Government has prohibited pleasure-boats in the harbors and inland waters of Britain from using coal during the emergency unless given a special license.

BAD WIND STORM DESTROYS CROPS

LASTED THREE DAYS.

BRANDON, Manitoba, June 8 (Canadian Press).—The worst wind storm experienced in this district for years commenced Saturday, continued throughout the week-end, and was still blowing strongly yesterday. Crops on some farms north of this city were blown out, one or two farmers reporting 50 per cent. damage to grain crops, both garden and field. All parts of the district suffered from soil-shifting, and tops were cut from garden plants in many instances.

CHAUTAUQUA IS COMING AGAIN

This Popular Entertainment Opens For Five Days, on July 17th.

The sparkling comedy, "Applesauce"; premier musical companies including the internationally popular Solisi Marimba Band and Ruthven McDonald and His Highlanders; lectures by such headliners as Private Peat and R. B. Ambrose—these are among the many first-rank attractions which will appear here at the big 1926 Dominion Redpath Chautauqua which opens July 17th and continues for five days.

The Greenfield Orchestral Quartet will launch the Chautauqua on the first afternoon with a notable instrumental concert. This fine company is well known in all the larger cities of the United States, having a ten-year record of successful concert appearances.

On the first night, following a concert by the Greenfields, R. B. Ambrose, the electrical wizard, will present his lecture-entertainment, "The Science Story," accompanied by thrilling platform demonstrations.

Ruthven McDonald and His Highlanders, widely known singers and entertainers, will present a popular concert on the second afternoon, following which Edward A. Marshall, noted landscape gardener, will deliver his unique lecture, "Landscaping." Mr. Marshall offers many practical aids toward making the home and community grounds more attractive.

On the second night Ruthven McDonald and His Highlanders will be heard in a grand concert characterized by all the rare musical and entertainment qualities which have made this organization famous in the Chautauqua world.

A programme of magic and mystery will be given on the third afternoon by Reno, the Magician, a past master in the art of sleight of hand, illusion and legerdemain.

The smashing Broadway success, "Applesauce," will be given on the third night by a cast of New York actors organized especially for the Dominion Redpath Chautauqua.

On the fourth afternoon The Herrick Entertainers, fun makers de luxe, will present a lively programme featuring costumed musical sketches and humorous impersonations.

Following a prelude by this company at night, Harold R. Peat, who as Private Peat, won an international reputation in the telling of his experiences during the Great War, will deliver his noteworthy lecture, "The Inexcusable Lie."

Solis' Marimba Band, an organization which has gained marvellous popularity, will give a concert on the last afternoon, following which Jane Goude, gifted dramatic impersonator, will present an entertaining programme combining a series of short interpretative sketches with the complete production of a one-act play.

The last night will be devoted to a grand concert by Solis' Marimba Band. This big feature concert will be a fitting conclusion to this big Chautauqua.

In addition to the regular programme for adults, three delightful entertainments will be given for the children. Vernon Grant will entertain the children on the second morning with delightful stories illustrated with clever cartoons. On the third morning Reno the Magician will give a mystifying programme of magic and sleight of hand which will keep his small patrons agog with excitement and breathless thrills. Visocchi, the accordionist, in a gay and amusing programme, will be the feature of the fourth morning.

The Chautauqua is in charge of a local committee.

BIG CIRCUS TAKES MONTHLY CENSUS

POPULATION NOW NUMBERS 1607

Taking the census of a circus the size of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey combined is no small task even though the recorders find all for whom they seek within the area of the five acres covered by the tents of the canvas city.

In this moving municipality such a procedure is pursued once each month throughout the entire circus season. Three men begin operations very early in the morning and usually require an entire day to complete their task. The last census of the Greatest Show on Earth disclosed a population of 1607 men, women and children; 892 horses, herds of elephants and zebras, and 1003 wild animals. The greatest increase over past seasons is evidenced in the number of people. This is explained by the fact that many new features have been added. The human side of the personnel has been increased by approximately one hundred, giving the big show more than 800 men and women artists. One display includes seven troupes of high wire experts performing at one time, a marked innovation in midair achievements.

The newly added Equine Ballet introduces two hundred splendid horses in the "gavotte of the garlands." Another innovation, with different horses, presents two troupes of trained equines in rings set upon steel structured stages. Performing simultaneously with these, are three companies in the dirt-floored rings, making five in all.

These additions have necessitated the employment of many other grooms and property men. The "big top" has been enlarged and this means more canvasmen.

Gigantic means are employed to feed this city of spangles. More than 4000 meals are served daily to its people alone in a vast canvas hotel, said to be the largest ever travelled. The range upon which all fried and broiled stuffs are prepared is 50 feet long. It is not unusual to hear the head chef place an order for 5000 griddle cakes and a proportionate amount of eggs and bacon for a single breakfast. Practically all purchases are made daily and in the particular city in which the circus is to exhibit. The average daily expense of running the commissary department is over $3,000. Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey combined, will exhibit here Friday, June 25th.

HINDENBURG TAKES SIDES POLITICALLY

President of Germany Denounces Plebiscite on Ex-Ruler's Properties.

BERLIN, June 8 (Canadian Press)—For the first time since he assumed office, President Von Hindenburg has publicly taken sides in a political issue by authorizing the publication of a personal letter in which he unequivocally denounces the impending plebiscite, fixed for June 20, on the confiscation of the ex-rulers' properties as "an attack on the constitutional foundations of the state and in violation of the fundamental laws of morals and justice."

The president's letter came as a bolt out of the blue, and is frankly interpreted as indicating that President Von Hindenburg will refuse to authorities such confiscation in event the plebiscite so ordains.

Disappointment Expressed

Disappointment that business was not fulfilling expectations inferred earlier in the year, was expressed by the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in his annual review delivered before the meeting of the association here this afternoon. Mr. Fortier stated that during the autumn months and in December and January, improvement in a number of departments of national activity was evident, but in February and March a reaction set in, many factories went on short time, and the present outlook for industry and business, while retaining some encouraging features, was not satisfactory. The speaker attributed this condition to the fact that a part of industrial production was not remunerative. Too many factories were operating without profit. Many buyers in Canada thought of cheapness and not of quality. They were preoccupied with prices that they forgot standards and values. This did not encourage craftsmanship nor best business methods. During the past year, however, railway earnings had shown an encouraging increase, building permits reached a higher aggregate, bank clearings rose, bank deposits have been growing, conditions have improved in agriculture and there was a continued revival of international trade.

"BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES"

By MALCOLM DUART

COPYRIGHT 1926

The Characters and Situations in this Story are entirely fictional.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Harry Morton, middle-aged, attractive, wealthy and unmarried, lives in Peterborough and maintains an apartment in Toronto. Audrey Morton, his adopted daughter, is in love with him. So is Nona, a Toronto stage girl, who is about to be starred in a big production.

John Parrish, Morton's secretary, is in love with Audrey. Discouraged by her mockery of him, he has started running wild with chorus girls, but Morton, in the preceding chapter, has just sternly brought him to account. As this chapter opens, Audrey has told her guardian, as they leave the theater where Nona's company is rehearsing, that she wants to tell him something.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLVI.

"If we're to have a soul-to-soul confab, suppose we walk?"

He dismissed the car, and together they strolled down the side street. The year had advanced so far that, although the sun had set not long before, it was now past their dinner hour.

"Aren't you hungry?" Audrey asked.

"We'll eat when we get home," Morton told her. "What's on your mind?"

The girl walked on with him two score paces or more, before she answered.

Finally she said: "Daddy, there's something wrong with me."

He pressed her arm. "Nonsense! But what do you think is wrong with you?"

"Did you see the girl in the third row of the chorus this afternoon?" she asked him.

"Yes, but what's that got to do with you?"

She went on. "Well, you noticed how serious she was: how the director had to keep on telling her to smile. She was intelligent, too, and pretty. But daddy, that girl was born to be a schoolteacher."

Morton was puzzled. "I'm still waiting," he told her. "What has the girl and schoolteaching and the chorus got to do with you?"

Audrey slowed her pace, as she searched for words. "That girl was mis-cast. Well, I'm mis-cast, too. I'm not in the right place."

He stopped, and placing his hands on her shoulders, turned her around to face him. "Are you unhappy, dear?" There was infinite tenderness in his voice.

"I'm not unhappy," she told him. "But my life has been an odd one, it seems to me. I'm not doing the things I'm fitted for."

"I know," he said. "I've been selfish. Except when you were away at school, I've kept you with me, always. It was because I loved you, and was trying to make you happy. What I should have done was to throw you into the company of young folk, of your own age. You would have gone out, and danced, and played around, and by this time there would have been a young man in your life for whom you wanted to make a home.

She moved both hands to his coat sleeve, and hung heavily upon him.

"You're wrong, daddy," she said. "No young man in the world could mean half so much to me as you do. But I ought to be a housekeeper making a home. As it is, you make the home for me. You attend to hiring the servants, and you buy everything that is needed, and there isn't one blessed thing that I do that's useful. I'm just a satellite—or a parasite—or a fungus! You're the big sturdy tree, and I'm just the fungus that doesn't do the tree any good at all!"

He laughed.

"An orchid is a fungus, you know," he said.

"I'd rather be a cabbage," she retorted, promptly. "At least you can eat a cabbage, and it is of some benefit. You can only wear an orchid."

"I don't do you any good," she added.

He pointed to a street lamp that hung at the corner. "That electric globe does not give me food, nor shelter, nor clothing. But it lights my way when it is dark.

Heedless of the passers-by, he placed his arm around her for a moment. "You light my way, sweetheart—the world would be mighty dark without you."

Releasing his arm, he resumed, gaily: "But I'll let you hire the servants, and pay their wages, if you want to. How's that?"

She nodded soberly. "That would help—I could keep an account book, and everything."

In little eager sentences, she discussed the problems of housekeeping from the viewpoint of one who knows nothing about them, until they reached the apartment. The butler, as he opened the door for them, motioned toward the drawing-room.

"Mr. Parrish waiting for you, sir."

Parish arose to meet them as they stepped into the room. His eyes moved anxiously from Audrey to her guardian, and back. Reassured by their pleasant greeting, he smiled.

"I didn't mean to intrude for dinner," he said. "I just brought my guitar. I wonder if I could play for you," he asked, turning to Audrey.

"Sit down and practice until we have a bite of food," Morton said. "Have you eaten?"

Parrish said he had dined. He retreated into the organ alcove as Morton and Audrey left him, and as they prepared for dinner, he plunked upon his instrument.

"There's something useful for you to do," Morton proposed. "That boy's lost, too. He wants to be a good scout. I think he really is one. He used to be so stiff, and opinionated—now I'm afraid the props are all knocked from under him. You might try guiding his feeble footsteps, for a while."

Audrey balanced her soup-spoon, contemplatively.

"I think he acted dreadfully, with those chorus girls," she said.

"He's through with that," Morton surmised.

He told her of his adventure with Parrish in the Bon cabaret, and of his conversation with the young man in his office, the following morning.

"Every one of us takes the wrong path, sometimes," he concluded. "We're lucky if we have some one to yank us back."

Later, in the drawing-room, Audrey exerted herself to make the evening pleasant for her visitor. She played for him, and sang to him, and listened gravely while he performed upon his guitar, to Morton's accompaniment on the organ.

He looked back before he closed the door. Parrish's face, radiant with happiness, was bent over the instrument upon which he was strumming.

* * *

Nona's show had opened.

The chattering crowd that had applauded it was pouring into the street. Back in the newspaper offices the dramatic critics, who had left just before the finale, were writing that the production was an assured success.

In the wings the producer, the director, the stage manager, were exchanging congratulations. Their eyes were heavy with fatigue. The last days of preparation had been long ones, and very hard.

In Nona's dressing room, Morton stood inside the door, while Nona herself, outstretched on a deep chair, panted wearily.

"Did I do all right, Harry? Was I good?"

There was something childlike in the plea for approval.

He stepped over and patted her cheek, on which the makeup showed too strongly in the little room.

"You are a success," he said, seriously. "You are a very great dancer—and will be a very famous one."

She took his hand.

"Are you glad, dear?" There was no smile upon her face; only anxiety.

"Of course I am glad."

He turned, and seated himself upon a stool. Against the wall was a heap of flowers; roses and carnations and orchids and knots of brilliant yellow and purple blossoms. They were divided into many sprays and close-packed bouquets. On the floor was a great floral horseshoe.

Morton picked up the card that was attached to this emblem.

"A. Sunshine Productions—may the Clouds Never Cover Your Face," was the legend that was written on it.

"Good little Abe," said Morton. "He certainly wishes you well."

She was starting to remove the grease-paint from her face, with great daubs of cold cream, and wads of tissue paper.

"I signed my contract with Abe to-day," she said. "He's to be my personal manager."

Morton nodded approval. "He'll take care of you. He's square."

She started to pull her sleeveless waist from her shoulders. Morton stepped outside.

Mr. Sunshine himself was waiting at the door, beaming and happy. He thrust his head inside.

"It was great, Nona!" he cried. "Positively wonderful. You're carrying the whole show yourself!"

"Let us congratulate ourselves" he proceeded. "I am thinking now, shall I ask them to change her contract light away, and take a big jump in salary for a long term, or shall I plan to take her out of this show and get her starred in the fall?"

He placed his finger to his forehead, and looked at his friend with wrinkled brow.

"Suit yourself," laughed Morton. "I'm sure you won't allow her to lose money, in the long run."

He drew from his pocket a sheet of music, and holding it before him, hummed the air in a voice by no means unmusical.

"We're going to interpolate that," he said. "I had it written for her. She must have more encore numbers. Wasn't she a wow?"

Radiating pleasure, he popped into Nona's dressing room, and shut the door. Morton wandered to the stage, where little knots of performers still were standing, in costume, gleefully reviewing their first night's success.

He shook hands with the producer.

"I'll get my money back out of the production, at least," said that worthy, modestly.

Morton prodded him in the ribs.

"And about five hundred per cent profit," he supplemented.

"Maybe," said the producer, "but it isn't lucky to brag. We'll pack this place all summer, and then we'll turn it into a winter show! I'll get a couple of high-priced comedians, and a better prima donna, and put Nona's name in electric lights outside, right away."

Contentedly he lighted a cigar.

The thumping of seats, from the auditorium beyond the curtain, had ceased. The ushers had finished their hasty search for lost purses and gloves and handkerchiefs and hats.

He turned to the wings, and descending a short flight of steps, pushed at an iron door.

The darkness of the theater, in contrast to the lighted stage, caused him to blink.

"Audrey!" he called.

"Yes, daddy."

A slim young figure approached him out of the gloom.

"Why, where's Parrish?"

She took his arm. "Mr. Parrish," she said, "got angry, and went home."

TWO ARRESTED IN MURDER CASE

In Connection With Killing of Two Detectives in Gold Mine.

IN AUSTRALIA.

KALGOORLIE, Australia, June 8.—Canadian Press. — Another chapter in the mysterious murder of Inspector Walsh and Sergeant Pitman was opened yesterday with the arrest of two men on murder charges.

They are Evan Clarke, proprietor of a public house, and John Trefenne a barman. The mutilated headless bodies of Walsh and Pitman, detectives in the golf theft investigation bureau of Kalgoorlie police department, were found in an abandoned mine shaft early last month. The officers had set out to trap the gold thieves. Near the bodies was found a complete illicit gold treating plant, and the police said the detectives had undoubtedly been surprised by the men whom they were seeking.

LEAGUE CHEERED BY MOSUL NEWS

Action of Spain and Brazil Had Been Disheartening.

DELEGATES ABSENT.

GENEVA, June 8. (Canadian Press).—Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, cheered up the League spirit at a meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, which has been flagging because of what were regarded as Spanish and Brazilian threats of separation, by announcing that the long standing Mosul conflict has been settled.

The League secretary general, Sir Eric Drummond, announced that he had received a letter from Senhor Mello France, stating that illness prevented his attendance. As no other member of the Brazilian delegation was substituted, however, Mello France's illness was generally interpreted as being of a diplomatic nature.

The council adjourned until Wednesday.

Time discovereth all things. —Sophocles.

AVOID A DETOUR.

Motorists have it in their own hands when or not there will be a detour necessary as a result of the road operations that have begun on the Peterboro-Port Hope highway.

It is hoped to keep the road open and avoid a detour if drivers will co-operate by careful handling of their cars through the working parties.

If motorists will play the game and drive carefully over the sections under construction the nuisance of having to detour will be done away with.

This is a "consumation devoutly to be wished," and all local drivers are urged to do their utmost to bring it about.

It will readily be recognized that it will be impossible to keep the road open if the safety of the workmen is endangered by careless or reckless driving over the road under construction, and if there is much of that kind of driving it will be necessary to close the highway to traffic and establish a detour.

CHEMONG SPEEDING

Several citizens have commended the Examiner on its editorial in regard to reckless driving on the Chemong Road.

These tributes are welcome, of course, but commending the Examiner will not solve the problem of how this road is to be made safer for the people of this city and district.

It is an impossible situation that the conditions along this six and a half miles of roadway should be allowed to drive people away from this beautiful play ground at the city's very door.

In other years appeals have been made to the common sense of motorists generally.

These appeals have failed for the apparent reason that there is a class of drivers utterly without common sense.

Something more effective than an appeal will have to be found in dealing with such motorists, something that touches their pockets and even threatens their freedom may be necessary.

If a half dozen of the worst offenders were to be landed before the magistrate and given the limit in fines, there would undoubtedly be a surprisingly sudden improvement along the Chemong highway.

THE TAX CONFERENCE.

The interprovincial conference on various phases of taxation, which opened in Ottawa yesterday, is highly endorsed by the Citizens' Research Institute, which has since its inception been active in promoting an interest in equitable, economically administered and sound taxation.

The Institute believes that the conference may have tremendous results for the taxpayers and the industry and commerce of Canada.

Of course, conferences, even of governmental authorities, often fall short of the hoped-for results, but without such conferences where men of affairs can engage in short-range, first-hand discussion little progress can be expected in dealing with over-lapping taxation and bringing uniformity out of chaos.

The hope of the conference lies in the possibility that those participating are actuated by the desire to arrive at the best policies for the nation, and not by the spirit of "What we have we'll hold."

There is much that can be done along the line of co-ordinating effort and standardization of method and the delimination of the field of taxation, and if progress is made in this direction the conference will be considered by the people generally as having been well worth while.

CLEVELAND-CANADA DAY.

Peterboro is to be represented by official delegates from the Council at Cleveland on Friday for the celebration of Cleveland-Canada Day, and should be also represented by other citizens who can make the trip to the Ohio city for this unique and important affair.

The occasion promises to be historic as marking a new era in international good fellowship.

Cleveland-Canada owes its origin to the enthusiastic interest in Canada of what is known as the Canadian Campfire Club of Cleveland.

That is an organization composed of people who have been accustomed to spend their holidays in Canada.

They meet frequently throughout the winter to recount happy experiences that have been had, and to anticipate further good times still to be had in great natural playgrounds of our north country.

From a desire to see thousands of others enjoying the delights that they themselves had enjoyed through knowing Canada, they conceived the idea of staging a celebration that would be an occasion not only for the exchange of messages of international good-will but of making Canada—and particularly Ontario—better known to the American public.

Supported by practically every public service body in Cleveland, they took their plan to the City Council, which enthusiastically adopted it and formally dedicated June 11th as Cleveland-Canada Day.

Hundreds of Ontario people will be in Cleveland for the celebration.

Premier G. H. Ferguson is going and will give an address in the evening that will be broadcasted through station W.T.A.M.

The Toronto Scottish Regiment will perform the beautiful ceremony of trooping the colours at the Cleveland ball grounds as a preliminary to a double-header between the Washington and Cleveland teams.

It will be a wonderful demonstration that will put Ontario in the spotlight and it is up to Peterboro to see that her claims to the consideration of tourists rank high.

This district is already well known in Cleveland.

Many of our summer visitors come from the Ohio city—and we want more of them.

Peterboro's delegates should take along a plentiful supply of literature descriptive of this locality, and they can be sure of assistance, inasmuch as the Ontario Government is supplying an information bureau to be stationed at Cleveland during the summer in charge of Leon Fraser, former Secretary of the Peterboro Chamber of Commerce.

BACK TO THE GOLD STANDARD.

Canada will return to the gold standard automatically on July 1. This may be said to be an official recognition of an accomplished fact, as the Canadian paper dollar has been able to look gold or the paper United States dollar in the face as an equal for a long time.

One of the very first acts of the Dominion Government on the outbreak of the war was to empower banks for the first time in Canadian history to pay their debts in their own notes. When these notes reached the clearing house, however, they were redeemed in Government legal tenders or in gold. The notes were not, as many persons supposed at the time, made a legal tender between individuals. The main object of this arrangement was to prevent people from securing actual gold coin in order to hoard it, a process which would have been disastrous to the national interests. The Government also suspended the redemption in gold of Dominion notes, and forbade the export of gold from the country except under Federal license.

For nearly twelve years, therefore, Canada has had an inconvertible paper currency, but the effects on exchange were not felt seriously until after the war. At one time, in 1921, the Canadian dollar went to a discount of about 18 per cent. in the New York market. With the improvement of trade and industry it rose steadily, reaching parity with the American dollar last year.

Perhaps the Government might safely have returned to the gold standard a year ago, but it preferred to wait until normal business conditions had stabilized Canadian currency on the exchanges without legislative aid. Nothing has been lost by the delay, which has given us time to see how gold resumption has worked out in Great Britain. The return to gold can now be made with absolute certainty. The Canadian dollar cannot stand higher, but the mere announcement of a revival of specie payments may have a moral effect on the financial world, and send our credit a notch higher in London and New York. It puts the official seal on our recovery of pre-war currency standards.—London Advertiser.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA GET TOGETHER.

An important and perhaps far-reaching move has just been made on the chessboard of European politics. In 1922 there was considerable consternation in the chancelleries of the world when it was discovered that Germany and Russia had concluded a secret pact known as the Treaty of Rapallo. But closer examination brought the conviction that it was more a political gesture on the part of two powers, then standing outside the comity of European nations, than a serious mutual engagement. Now, however, comes a new treaty between the same powers which confirms and amplifies the pact of Rapallo; and the covering letters and the circumstances under which it is concluded invest it with great importance. It is being interpreted, in fact, as Germany's reply to the unfriendly elements which prevented her admission to the League of Nations a few months ago, and particular attention is being directed to the effect of its provisions upon the future of the League.

The second and third articles of the Russo-German Treaty pledge the contracting parties to mutual neutrality in the event of either being attacked by others powers. This is being interpreted as a flat declaration that if Germany ever joins the League of Nations, to which her application for admission has not been withdrawn, she will decline to be bound by two important articles of the League Covenant. Article 16, provides for the economic and financial boycott of any member state making war in disregard of its own covenants, and it is set out that all members will participate in the boycott. Article 17 provides that if the nation making war be not a member of the League and refuses to accept the latter's terms, then the provisions of Article 16 will apply to it.

Now Russia is not and is unlikely to be for many years a member of the League. In the event, therefore, of a war breaking out between Russia and a member of the League, it is highly improbable that the League would declare its own member state to be the aggressor. If, then, Germany is a member of the League, and has subscribed to its covenants, she would be called upon to join in any financial and economic boycott declared against Russia, asked to take action utterly inconsistent with the neutrality to which she has pledged herself by her treaty with Russia.

At the time of the signing of the Treaty of Locarno the German representatives indicated strong objections to Articles 16 and 17 of the League. The other signatories of the pact gave assurances that they would use their influences to secure for her an exemption from their obligations. But they pointed out that the actual decision must lie with the Council of the League, in which French influence is powerful; and subsequent events must have destroyed the faith of German statesmen that their representations have much chance of being listened to at Geneva. So they have by this new treaty virtually served notice of their independence of the League. It is a decision which, in the opinion of the most competent observers, is fraught with the most disturbing possibilities.

The new treaty has other aspects that challenge consideration. It serves notice to Europe that Germany, whatever Poland may say or do, does not regard the Locarno pact as binding her hands in the East; also it secures for Germany, still one of the great capitalist powers of the world, enormous concessions in Russia. At a time when Britain is striving with all her might to regain her commercial supremacy, and at a time too when the United States is pushing her markets everywhere, that one step by Germany is in itself of great significance.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Mr. Meighen's speech in Montreal is being criticized by several Ontario newspapers. But if it found favour with those to whom it was addressed the leader of the Opposition no doubt will be satisfied.

Premier Ferguson's speech in Cleveland on Friday night is to be broadcasted. But listeners-in will not hear any announcement of the date of the by-elections.

Whatever may be the general trend of opinion in Canada in regard to the tariff, there is undoubtedly along the border at least considerable free trade sentiment, the smuggling probe reveals.

The fact that a new bathing-house is to be built at Inverlea Park is evidence that members of the Council at least expect we're going to have some summer weather.

Peterboro's schools close on circus day, June 25. In the old days they might just as well been closed on that day anyway.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

POISONING DOGS.

The Editor:

Once again the poisoning of dogs has broken out in Byersville district. The blind man, Mr. Browlee's small dog was poisoned recently, and I, along with the neighbours, saved another dog that had picked up the poison. These animals must suffer terribly, this particular dog in its agony threw itself against a wall. If the person who has sunk so low as to be able to reach up and place on the ground poisons of such an insidious nature could only see the real suffering they cause even after the dog is dead. Particularly the children who have become so attached to their pets. Any child can be given a thrashing and will get over it during the day. Yet my children lost their dog. I was awakened four nights after as they sobbed in their sleep at four o'clock in the morning. Now just think of real agony like that. What is the reason for this dirty work. Sometimes a person will make a vegetable garden out of a vacant lot, without having any kind of a fence around it. There is absolutely no reason for anyone to scatter poison broadcast, and stricter laws should be made to regulate the sale of any such poisons as strychinne, etc. About fifteen dogs and probably one human being was poisoned by the indiscreet scattering of the above poison in this district last year. I, along with many others, think the Council, along with the Provincial Police department, should clean this matter up, if at all possible.

Yours truly,
J. BARNES.

LAUDS MR. BURNHAM

June 1st, 1926.

Editor of Examiner,
Peterboro.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your valuable paper to comment on the address given by Mr. Burnham to the 93rd Regiment re military training and the United Church.

I will confess that I have never admired Mr. Burnham very much or been in sympathy with his views on a great many questions but in this instance I am heartily in accord with him and feel that he has hit the nail squarely on the head.

I am a life long Methodist and now member of the United Church but must frankly confess that I am entirely out of sympathy with the attitude of the church on many of the present day problems. Instead of preaching the word of God and leaving some things to be settled by people's own conscience and intelligence they have assumed the role of dictators to their congregations in particular and the world in general.

It is their duty to preach temperance but not their duty or their privilege to preach prohibition. There are hundreds of us who are just as good temperance people as are the ministers in the pulpit who do not believe that prohibition is the solution of the temperance question.

As to their views on military training. If their wishes were carried out and another war should come, our boys would be sent to war, unfit and untrained to be slaughtered by the trained armies of other lands. A poor return these ministers are giving to the brave men who defended their wives and daughters in the recent war.

Let the preacher give the man in the pew credit for being able to do a little thinking for himself and his influence will be greater.

—Canadian.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, June 8.—The market opened steady to strong at last week's advances, and with a light run of cattle. Due to the smaller export demand, there were few cattle in the heavy steers class. Those available were easily taken care of in the quickened demand for butcher cattle for the export dressed beef trade, as well as for the choice handy weights. With the light run, an early clean up of all offerings was effected.

There was a heavy run of calves, and prices were easier at $11 to $12 tops, with an odd one or two at $13.

Good run of sheep and lambs, but prices about steady.

The scarcity of hogs in the country is showing in the higher prices. Shippers were again asking 25c higher, and in most cases got it. Prospects were that market would settle at $15.25 off cars.

EGGS

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press) — Egg prices throughout Canada continue to show further strength. Montreal, Toronto, Calgary, Vancouver, Halifax and St. John have all reported higher prices over the week-end.

Toronto—Country shippers are paying producers extras 31, firsts 29, seconds 22 and making sales, extras 35c, firsts 32 in export cases, and seconds 26 1-2 in used cases f.o.b. Prices to retailers, extras 38, firsts 35, seconds 30 to 31. Retail, extras 42 to 45, firsts 38 to 40, seconds 33 to 35.

Montreal—Dealers paying delivered Montreal, extras 32 to 35, firsts 30 to 31, seconds 25 to 28. Wholesale, extras 37 to 39, firsts 35, seconds 31 to 32. Retail, extras 44 to 46, firsts 38 to 39, seconds 32 to 35.

Winnipeg.—Receipts continue to show a decline and poorer quality is reported. Dealers paying country shippers, extras 28, firsts .6, seconds 22, delivered, cases returned. Prices to retailers, extras 33 to 35, firsts 30 to 31, seconds 26. Retail, extras 37 to 39, firsts 33 to 35, seconds 30. A mixed car is rolling to Montreal costing extras 32 1-2, firsts 30 1-2, seconds 25 1-2 f.o.b. Winnipeg.

Saskatchewan — Reports indicate that receipts are falling off and quality is poorer. Country shippers were selling extras 25, firsts 24, seconds 18, delivered, cases returned. Prices to retailers, extras 30 to 32, firsts 27 to 28, seconds 22 to 25. Retail, extras 35 to 40, firsts 30 to 35, seconds 25 to 30.

Edmonton—Receipts show a further falling off for the week just closed. Country prices have advanced 1 cent and country dealers are now making sales extras 25, firsts 23, seconds 17. Prices to retailers, extras 35, firsts 32, seconds 26.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 8 (Canadian Press.—Failure of foreign buyers to respond to the higher prices asked curtailed the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday. The only business of importance transacted was the sale of a lot of tough No. 2 Canadian Western oats at 4 3-4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg July option, c.i.f. Montreal. The car lot trade was quiet,t but prices were firm.

The flour market was without any new feature to note. Prices for spring and winter wheat grades were well maintained in spite of a quiet demand.

The millfeed market was moderately active and prices were unchanged. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and steady.

The feature of the baled hay market of late has been the increased movement to the United States.

A weaker feeling developed in the potato situation and prices were reduced 10 cents per bag. This was attributed to larger supplies available.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, June 8 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand $4.85 3-4.
Sterling cables $4.86 1-4.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts 21,000; most killing classes about steady; trade uneven; closed fairly active; spots 10 to 15c lower at mid-session on steers of value to sell at 9.50 downward; such kind closed about steady; best weighty steers 10.60; yearlings 10.25; light heifers 9.90; bulls 10 to 15c higher; vealers steady to 25c lower; mostly 12.50 to 13.50; market.

Hogs — Receipts 38,000; active, opened 10 to 15c higher; closed 20 to 30c higher than Saturdays average; majority 240 to 325 pound butchers 14.05 to 14.35; bulk desirable 220 pounds downward 14.60 to 14.85; top 14.85; packing sows largely 12.90 to 13.20; bulk sorted killing pigs 14.75 to 15.00; shippers took 8,000; estimated holdover 9,000.

Sheep. — Receipts 12,000; choice fat lambs active steady; others weak; in-between kinds 25 off in spots; choice Idaho lambs to packers 19.10; city butchers 19.20; natives mostly 18.00 to 18.50; with culls at 13.00 to 14.00; few common to medium Californias to killers 14.75 to 16.00; most yearlings 14.50 to 15.50; few good kind upward to 16.50; fat sheep and feeding lambs steady; ewes upward to 6.50; feeding lambs 13.50 to 14.00 mostly.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Big buying gave a decided lift to wheat values yesterday, but free selling later to realize profits wiped out much of the upturn. Sensational reports of crop damage in Kansas and Nebraska were current, and drought complaints came also from the Spring wheat states of the northwest. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1-4 to 1-2c net higher; with corn 3-8 to 1c up; oats showing 3-8 to 5-8 gain and provisions at a rise of 10 to 37c.

On yesterday's bulge in wheat prices the market went to 8c above values which were touched at one time last week. General purchasing for commission houses appeared to indicate a good deal larger public participation in the trade than has been the rule of late.

Railroad officials who, on Saturday had predicted a sharply reduced yield of what in Kansas were yesterday revising their figures upward. Meanwhile other reports from the southwest indicated that unless Kansas gets rain shortly deterioration would proceed at a rapid rate. Wheat for immediate delivery rose 2c a bushel in Chicago today on some transactions and 3c at Minneapolis. Foreign crop reports were unfavorable and estimates of the yield in Italy were out to 37,000,000 bushels less than the 1925 harvest.

Corn and oats moved up with wheat. Some adverse field advices were received both as to corn and oats as well.

HASTINGS PAVING TO BE DISCUSSED

Will be Taken Up at June Meeting of Counties Council.

COBOURG, June 8.—One of the matters that is expected to come before the County Council at the June session is the proposed paving at Hastings. This municipality is the first to make application for pavements under the new regulations. The matter was taken up at Hastings and discussed at a meeting held a short time ago, at which County Road Commissioners, Warden McCubbin, County Road Superintendent Greer, a representative of the Ontario Department of Highways and a representative of a firm of contractors were present.

ANNUAL OUTING.

Warden McCubbin Will Entertain Council on June 16.

COBOURG, June 8.—Arrangements are being made for that pleasant event, known as the "Warden's Excursion". Following the practice of his predecessors Warden McCubbin will give the members of the Counties Council and County officials a trip per Steamer Ontario to Rochester on Wednesday, June 16, leaving Cobourg about 7.30 in the morning. This event is always looked forward to with much pleasure, in connection with the June session of the County Council.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS SHOOT FOR MEDAL

Solon Nixon Wins Prize With Good Score—Lakefield News.

LAKEFIELD, June 8.—The Strathcona Gold Medal Rifle Competition competed for among the students of the High School was held May 27th and was won by Solon Nixon with a score of 90.6 per cent. Donald Kidd, who was high man last year was a close second with 99.3 per cent. Mr. C. C. Stenner was in charge of the boys during the competition.

Special services were held in the two United churches on Sunday, commemorating the consummation of one Union a year ago.

The Local Council of Peterboro District A.Y.P.A. will meet in St. John's Sunday school room on Thursday evening, June 10, at 8 o'clock. Visitors from each of the four Peterboro churches are expected and also from Omemee, Millbrook, Cavan and Perrytown.

As the village is not entering a team in the East Peterborough this season it has been suggested by several interested citizens that a village league would be well worth while. About 1912 a village league of four teams played on the exhibition grounds and the winning team received a handsome trophy donated by the Cavendish Lumber Co. Baseball fans are numerous in the village and the games should be as attractive as in old days.

The Female Voice Choir of Peterboro assisted by the Juvenile Choir is giving a concert in the United (Presbyterian) church on Thursday evening, June 10, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild.

The coldest temperature on record was reached in a scientific laboratory; it was over 500 degrees below freezing-point as registered on a Fahrenheit thermometer.

PUBLIC LAVATORIES OFFERED CAMPBELLFORD BY A CITIZEN

R. S. Southworth Would Include Them in New Building if Tax Exempted.

COUNCIL MEETING.

(By Staff Reporter.)

CAMPBELFORD, June 8. — A proposal to instal and maintain public lavatories in a building which he plans to erect at the corner of Bridge and Rear streets at an approximate cost of $5,000 was submitted to the town council last night by Mr. R. S. Southworth, a former member of the council. For this service, which he said was one of the community conveniences Campbellford needed, Mr. Southworth asked the council for an exemption of taxes, except for school purposes, and for free supply of water required for the lavatories. He declined to announce publicly the use he intends to make of the new building but agreed to lay all his cards on the table at a meeting to-day with a special committee composed of Mayor Kingston, Councillor J. J. O'Sullivan and the Town Solicitor, Mr. D. J. Lynch. If the project for public lavatories meets with the approval of the committee, Mayor Kingston will call a special meeting of the council for further action.

After a cordial greeting from the council, Mr. Southworth outlined his proposal for the improvement of his property at Bridge and Rear streets.

"I could work in public lavatories," he said, "by getting a concession in taxes from the council. I'd undertake to instal them to the satisfaction of the council and maintain them for a term of years to be decided upon, depending on how long the concession was granted. The taxes last year on the property were $75. If you throw off all but school taxes it wold be a matter of $40 or $50 a year. If you had public lavatories how far would $50 a year go for the upkeep of them alone? I would keep them in proper condition, and ask the council to suppuly water, as I would not specially need it for the rest of the building. I can assure you of one thing, I will make it one of the prettiest corners in town."

Councillor J. N. Stone pointed out that the council was "in the dark" and suggested that Mr. Southworth give some more details of the building. From the resulting discussion a conference between Mr. Southworth and the special committee today was arranged.

Tender Accepted.

Geo. Hawthorne's tender of $123.70 to place a railing of 2-inch pipe on the Simpson street bridge was accepted on Deputy-reeve Palliser's motion seconded by Councillor Cole. A tender from C. S. Gillespie was received quoting a price of $185.

To Attend Meeting.

"This meeting is in the interests of the town, and as the people's representatives we should not be expected to pay our expenses in attending it," said Mr. Palliser in moving that the council attend the meeting at Belleville June 18 of representatives of the municipalities of Eastern Ontario from Whitby to Ottawa, at which industrial and other subjects of importance to this part of the province will be discussed.

Reeve Davidson seconded the motion, which carried. Both Mr. Palliser and Mr. Davidson will be prevented from accompanying the local deputation, as they will be attending the session of the Counties Council at Cobourg.

Town Plan Preliminary.

Exhaust Piped Into Auto Kills Man and 2 Children

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8 —The bodies of W. A. Barnes and his two children, Louis, 8, and John, 6, were found today in a closed car at Ellsworth, O., under circumstances which indicate a double murder and suicide.

Schoolboys found the car parked with the engine running. An inner tube had been cut, one end tied over the exhaust pipe of the little coupe, and the other end placed inside the car. Monoxide poisoning caused death.

SEARCH FOR BODY.

Sank Before Reaching It In Sight of Companions.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Matti Verkkala, Port Arthur, was drowned Sunday evening in Sturgeon Bay when he attempted to swim to the recovery of a boat that had drifted off shore. A boating party had failed to make the boat fast ashore and it drifted out with the wind. Verkkala, in spite of protests, threw off his clothing and went into the water. The boat was about 100 yards away and he sank before reaching it in sight of his helpless companions.

Provincial police are searching for the body.

UNIQUE FUNERAL AMONG ISLANDS

AR KINGSTON

KINGSTON, June 8.—(Special to the Examiner.)—One of the most unique and impressive funerals seen in this district in some years, was that of the late Charles Sudds, of Simcoe Island, which took place on Sunday. For the greater part of his life, deceased had been obliged to depend on the water transportation to get from his home to the outer world and in his early days he did much travelling in skiffs and sail boats. Later on and up till his recent illness he used motor boats, and it was a motor boat which transferred his remains from his home to the church on Wolfe Island where the last service was held and the closing scene in his life enacted.

A motor boat was his hearse and the mourners and the many friends of deceased who gathered to show their high regard for him, were taken from Simcoe Island to Wolfe Island in motor boats. The procession, as the long line wended its way through the Batteau Channel and down to the wharf at Wolfe Island was a most impressive one—and a sight that had never been seen before.

WAR CONDITIONS PREVAIL IN FRANCE

PARIS, June 8.— (Canadian Press.)—War-time bread cards and coal cards are likely to make their re-appearance in France soon in order to help win the "Battle of the Franc" it was said yesterday at the Ministry of Finance.

The consumption of meat also may be restricted by the shutting down of butcher shops one day each week while it is probable that the consumption of gasoline will be curbed by drastic measures requiring automobile owners to show cause for the use of their motor cars.

The breadcards are expected to reduce the importation of whatever wheat will be required to carry France over to the new domestic crop and to prevent a further increase in the selling price of bread. The coal cards are counted on to increase the favorable balance with Great Britain.

The control of the gasoline consumption is looked to, not only to lessen the importation of petroleum from the United States but to relieve in some measure the terrible traffic congestion in Paris. This congestion is due largely to private automobiles for pleasure which have multiplied enormously since French manufacturers began turning out cheap cars in quantity.

UTILITIES MEETING.

Accounting Machine Will Be Bought For Use in Office.

A meeting of the Utilities Commission was held yesterday afternoon. George Henderson, the accountant, reported on his investigation regarding the different makes of accounting machines and he recommended that a Remington machine be bought at an estimated cost of around $1600. It was resolved that the accountant be instructed to order a Remington machine at a cost not to exceed $1600.

The bill of $8,306.81 of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Company was ordered paid.

The accountant was authorized to employ a temporary clerk.

CROP FAILURES CAUSE SUICIDE

Was Pioneer Settler on District—Leaves Seven Children.

REGINA, Sask., June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Despondent over repeated crop failures and faced with another as the result of heavy winds, W. J. Turnbull, pioneer settler in the district, 20 miles northwest of Mossbank, ended his life Sunday with a bullet. Shortly after ten o'clock in the morning his body was found in the barn by one of his four daughters who live on the farm. He had placed the muzzle of the revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger. He had been in poor health for some time.

The land where he has lived nearly 20 years is extremely light and a series of gales practically ruined his chances for a crop this year, without reseeding. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

TWO BANDITS GET PUBLIC WHIPPING

Large Crowd Watches Warden Whip Men For Hold-up.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 8—Forty lashes each on the bare back were meted out this afternoon to James J. Fee and Thomas Kelley, of Philadelphia, convicted of robbery here, before the largest crowd assembled in the Newcastle County workhouse in years.

Immediately after the whipping the prisoners began a fifteen-year sentence imposed upon each in addition to the lashes. Both sauntered coolly to the whipping post and received the punishment without a whimper, although they winced several times as the whip cut across their backs.

Fee was the first to walk into the inclosure where the post stands. He was smoking a cigarette and appeared unconcerned beneath the stares of the crowd, admitted to the work house for the occasion by law.

Warden Elmer J. Leach then read aloud the court sentence of forty lashes and fifteen years and proceeded to administer the whip.

At a sign from Leach, workhouse attendants stepped toward Fee. He took a last "pull" on the cigarette, exhaled the smoke and then, after throwing it away, permitted himself to be strapped to the post.

Leach administered the whip. Many in the crowd shuddered and seemed to shrink with each blow of the lash across the bare back of the prisoner.

Fee maintained a stoic silence until the last lash had fallen and continued his stolid silence as he was led away to a cell.

Kelley also exhibited stoicism beneath the stinging blows of the whip As it rose and fell he winced several times but made no outcry. He, too, was led away in silence.

While the whipping was being administered, Samuel Shulman, a New York newspaper photographer, climbed to the top of the wall with the aid of a rope and photographed the scene. State troopers who detected him in the act moved quietly in his direction.

Photographer Is Arrested

As the crowd was beginning to leave the inclosure ,the police leaped at Shulman and arrested him. They destroyed the plates and took him before Magistrate Stradling.

Shulman was fined $5 and costs of $2.30 were imposed upon him. He consented to pay only after an itemized account of the cost, had been furnished to him.

A statute of many years' standing specifically prohibits the photographing of whipping scenes. The spectators were searched for cameras and deadly weapons by State troopers before they were permitted to enter the workhouse.

In Maryland, where the whipping post also reigns, the law is more flexible, and photographs of a lashing administerede to a wife-beater some weeks ago were published extensively in this city and New York.

Fee and Kelley, together with James Madenni, another Philadelphian, were arrested charged with an attempt to rob the pawnshop of Sol Harris, 305 Market street. Madenni was sentenced to ten years in jail, but was spared the whipping because he did not have a criminal record. The three men are about 25 years of age each. In addition to the whipping, Fee and Kelley also were fined $300 each.

Pastor and Evangelist Battle On Church Steps

RED BLUFF, Calif., June 8 —Culminating verbal battles between factions of members of the First Baptist Church here, the Rev. J. Brooks Frost, resident pastor, and the Rev. G. Higginbottom, visiting evangelist,, exchanged a score of blows on the church steps yesterday. Both ministers were bleeding from cuts on the face when witnesses separated them.

Trouble arose in the congregation when Charles C. Dale, head of a faction opposing Mr. Frost on the ground that his advocacy of "praying for the sick" and other practices were contrary to Baptist tenets, demanded the key of the church and when it was refused, took possession of the edifice.

Mr. Frost called upon Sheriff M. O. Ballard to eject the invxaders from the church, but the Sheriff declined to take any action without a court order. Mr. Frost mobilized his supporters and marched to the church.

STORMY SESSION OVER MOSUL TREATY

Many Deputies Refuse To Signify Their Approval.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8. — Canadian Press. — A stormy five hour secret caucus by the People's Party was held over the Mosul treaty recently signed between Great Britain and Turkey. It is the Peoples' Party which prepares legislation for the National Assembly. At the caucus recalcitrant deputies criticized the loss of Mosul and its resources, and Ismet Pasha, the premier, and Tewfk Rushdi, foreign minister, were obliged several times to come to the defense of the treaty.

Though a majority by their votes favored the treaty, many of the deputies refused to signify their approval. The newspapers which called for when the Mosul award was made by the League of Nations last winter explain the circumstances of their forced acceptance by asserting that even a successful war would not be worth the sacrifice. Students of the political situation characterize the loss of Mosul as Turkey's first check since the beginning of her ascendancy at Mudania in 1922.

The text of the agreement was made public yesterday and confirms the previously announced terms — acceptance of the Brussels line by both parties, maintenance of a demilitarized zone on both sides of the Irak-Turkish frontier, general amnesty for all peoples in the Mosul region, a percentage of the revenue of the Mosul oilfields and those in Mesopotamia for Turkey, and security and non-aggression pacts.

The clauses of the security pacts will be enforced by a Turco-Irakian commission which will begin its work two months after ratification.

PAVING, STREET CARS

Rubidge Street, while that on Aylmer Street had to wait for the reconstruction of the sewer. Mention of the sewer on Aylmer Street brought forth a protest that every time paving was mentioned the need of reconstruction was mentioned, and it was decided that the initial step, that of getting a report from the Engineer on the work needed, should be taken.

Alderman Fife suggested that the city would save money by investing in a paving plant and doing its own work. He said that ever since he had been in the Council he had supported permanent roadways, as he thought them economical. This statement brought forth a request from Alderman Hancock that he might be shown any permanent roads in the city.

B. A. Riddick, of the firm which manufactures Ameisite, addressed the Aldermen for a few minutes on the virtues of this paving material, which the city is using at present for patching the pavements.

Refreshment Tents.

The matter of granting eating-house licenses for tents which are set up for a few months in the summer for the sale of ice cream and soft drinks was the centre of some controversy. It was claimed by some of the Aldermen that these people interfered with the refreshment trade of stores which had permanent buildings and paid heavy taxes, just when this trade was at its best. One suggestion was that they be forbidden to operate within 500 feet of a permanent store. This was opposed on the ground that most of their trade was at night when the permanent stores were mostly closed. Finally it was decided to grant the licenses in question.

Building Restrictions.

When the C.N.R. freight shed is started at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Streets it will be necessary for the grain warehouse to be moved, and the railway has provided a new site for the building south of King Street. A letter was read from the owner, Mr. Ferguson, asking that when he moved he should not be required to put in fire-walls, etc., as the building had never been on fire in all its fifty years of existence. He also asked that petitions against its new location be not regarded as there would be no dust nuisance to the residents nearby.

The Aldermen were agreed that there was no objection on the score of location, as districts so close to a railway could never be anything but commercial, but felt that some steps should be taken to comply with the fire by-law. A motion requiring the building to have a fireproof roof and galvanized sheeting on the walls passed, an amendment requiring compliance in full with the fire laws being defeated.

Playground For East City.

A request of the Kiwanis Club that a part of James Stevenson Park be levelled so that playground equipment, to be supplied by the Club, might be installed, will be complied with, the chairman of the Parks Committee, Alderman Greene, to meet members of the Club to fix the exact site.

A request from the management of the Street Railway, asking that parking be prohibited close to the corner of Charlotte and George Streets, where street cars and buses stop and there is congestion, was referred to a committee for a report.

The chairman of the Parks Committee will arrange with the Rev. J. L. Hughes for services to be held in either Central or Victoria Park on the occasion of the visit of Church Army workers to the city in July.

The market scales have been closed by the Inspector of Weights and Measures, and Alderman Hancock was ordered to have them repaired. The matter of signals at the crossings and of improving the roads at some of these points will be taken up with the railways.

Cleveland-Canada day, to be held on Friday, was discussed, and it was decided that the Mayor would be in charge of any representation from Peterborough.

REMOVE EXCISE TAX FROM MOTOR CARS

Will Remove 5 Per Cent Manufacturers' Tax on Autos.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, moved an amendment to the Special War Revenue Act in the House of Commons yesterday, the effect of which will be to remove the five per cent excise manufacturers tax on motor cars valued at $1,200 and under. Mr. Robb read a letter from the Automotive Industries of Canada stating that automobile manufacturers would agree to reduce the price of cars to the public to the extent of the reduction.

The removal of the excise tax applies to all cars of $1,200 and under which are forty per cent. manufactured in Canada up to April 1, 1927 and 50 per cent. manufactured in Canada after April 1, 1927.

Frau Ludendorff Seeks Divorce From Her Husband

BERLIN, June 8.—(Canadian Press.) — Frau Ludendorff, wife of General Erich Ludendorff, Germany's wartime Quarter-master General, and leader of the Ultra-Nationalists, has brought suit for divorce. She gives as the ground for her action that the General's many political activities

The suit has been entered in the Munich courts and will be heard on Friday in camera, according to German custom.

Despite the official secrecy surrounding Frau Ludendorff's divorce, it is learned that she charges cruelty. General Ludendorff's activties as leader of the German Fascisti, her petition filed at Munich says, "made him extremely irritable and increasingly abusive, so as to make her life unbearable."

Frau Ludendorff is sick and receiving treatment at a sanitarium near Munich. General Ludendorff has refused to make a statement, saying: "It is no business of the press."

HEAVY DEATH TOLL IN FLOODED AREAS

Much Damage and Loss of Life Caused By Floods.

BUCHAREST, June 8. (United Press)—Devasting floods in the Milcov River have spread destruction over wide areas as a result of the week end torrential rains. Bridges were swept away and entire villages submerged in the floor which was said to be the worst in Roumania since 1918.

Fire reports placed the death toll at 100. Forty-three are dead in various Bessarabian towns alone.

Two regiments of troops are already in the stricken area but more are being sent as the first contingents were unable to cope with the disaster. Bodies swept from the inundated towns of Odobesti, Patesti and Campianre float on the Milcov while refugees from those towns are billeted at Foscana. At the Vister Nenčni military station, the power plant was wrecked and 800 carloads of timber were swept away. Railway tracks were swept out for thousands of yards in the provinces of Moldavia, Buzu and Faurei. A dispatch from Orschowa described a landslide which covered a mile and a half of track and buried the highways. The power station at Targoviste was destroyed.

Heavy damage to crops is reported throughout the affected district.

CONTINUING CHURCH FULLY RECOGNIZED

Presbyterian Church of Canada Has Full Status With Other Bodies.

MONTREAL, June 8. (Canadian Press). — That the Presbyterian Church in Canada had received full recognition of its status from the other Presbyterian bodies of the world and from the inter-denominational bodies with which the Church had been affiliated before Union was stressed by Rev. Stuart Parker, Toronto, in presenting to the General Assembly yesterday the report of the Committee on Correspondence with other churches.

She Could Never Do The Things Other Girls Did

Miss I. J. Ross, Scollard, Alta., writes:—"I am only twenty years old, but have suffered from heart palpitation and nerve trouble for several years.

I could never do the things other girls did, that is, in the line of sports, skating, etc., and could never depend on myself at work.

About six months ago I began taking

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

and am just twice the girl I was, and can enjoy everything in general life so much more. I am very grateful for what your Pills have done for me."

LOCAL KIWANIS

at this moment, observing Zero Hour with their thoughts concentrated upon Kiwanis—surely a situation most inspiring, and because of the practical idealism we champion, this occasion possesses a significance most important.

"In an age of materialism, realism and sensationalism there is need for the stabilizing influence of such an organization as ours, an organization which achieves those things which arouse the approval of conscience rather than the plaudits of the publice. Just as the scientist has grappled with the forces of nature and wrested from them some of their most valuable secrets, so has Kiwanis attacked the problems of the period and is making the undesirable surrender to the desirable. Kiwanis is attempting to actualize virtues which are everywhere taught, to practicalize virtues which are everywhere neglected. Kiwanis is preaching and Kiwanians are practicing those virtues which prevent the gain of one through the loss of another, the honor of one through the shame of another, the rise of one through the fall of another, the enrichment of one through the impoverishment of another. What Angelo is to sculpture, Raphael to art, Shakespeare to drama, Wagner to music, Kiwanis is to all those things which build for better manhood and womanhood and a more virtuous type of citizenship.

"While the thoughtless give to society only their social natures, Kiwanians are dedicating and devoting to others the possessions of their minds and hearts. Kiwanis is inculcating the thought that there is no health, no wealth, no culture so potential for good as that of the mind and hear; that physical health, material wealth and social culture, do not, of themselves, bring happiness; that happiness is earned and learned only when these possessions are utilized judiciously and altruistically. Kiwanis is tuning the keys of humanity into such harmony as will more nearly produce the music of perfect accord.

"Because of the principles it espouses Kiwanis will flourish long after its present members cease to be. Men may come and men may go but principles continue throughout the ages. They recognize neither the transitory character of human life nor the temporary nature of human possessions. Principles are as immutable as the infinity of space, the law of gravitation, or the eternity of time.

"It may seem strange that such an organization as this did not spring into existence long ago. But remember that seven generations of clergymen were required to produce one Emerson. Although more than nineteen hundred years were required to create Kiwanis the ultimate achievement was worth the centuries of preparation. Such a stabilizing influence as Kiwanis wields is needed today. Ever since man began to live a social life he has been besieged by the same discords and disruptions, the same hatreds and hypocracies, the same rivalries and rebellions with which all the agencies for good have ever battled. Astronomy has deciphered the laws of the heavens, chemistry has disclosed the law of affinities, geology has delivered sermons in stones, physics has dissipated our ignorance as to the principles by which matter is affected, but humanity has never learned the art of proper living. People in general have devised innumerable methods of wrongly dying, but failed to master the one way of right living. Morality is still at low tide. While Nature is pitched in the key of A Major too many lives are pitched in the key of B Flat. Wanton, wilful ignorance of the laws of life is making failures of too many lives.

"The objects of Zero Hour, therefore, designed to emphasize the principles and purposes of Kiwanis, make an irresistable appeal to the best in human nature. They beseech us to observe all our obligations to our organization, to our families, to our communities and to our respective nations. Let us, therefore, carry these impulses in our hearts ready for exercise on every available occasion just as the daisy carries dew drops ready to fall at the slightest provocation. Let us go forth from this meeting not only impressed with our obligations, but also with the determination to fully discharge those obligations."

"All Kiwanis Night."

Charlie Saunders, telling of the meaning of "All Kiwanis Night," pointed out the place in the scheme of things which Kiwanis fills, through its spirit of brotherhood properly and thoroughly spread over the continent.

Quoting,

"Give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you,"

he said he did not believe men were members of this organization for what they got out of it. People who did not understand the aims of Kiwanis and the accomplishments of the organization, were apt to think that; but in the speaker's opinion the man who joined the club with that idea was disillusioned when given a task to perform, and soon dropped out.

In thinking of the far reaching effects of All Kiwanis Night, one is compelled to consider the great possibilities that lie in the future of such an organization as Kiwanis, concluded the speaker, urging the acceptance of the Inter-Club Relations Creed in its letter and in its spirit.

Kiwanis and Fellowship

Joseph John spoke eloquently on "Kiwanis and Fellowship," pointing out its worth as a vehicle for real and worthwhile service and ever-expanding good, for cultivating in its members an ideal citizenship, for widening the limits of human usefulness, and for super-imposing the beauty of character that is expressed in love, brotherhood and self-sacrifice. Happiness does not consist of riches, he said, but in the knightliness of deeds that uplifts men and enriches the world.

Kiwanis demands willingness to serve, obedience to the Golden Rule, honesty in business, and the desire to serve the common weal. The acquaintanceship engendered in Kiwanis leads to fellowship, and, unselfishly practiced, this enables us better to serve. One of God's greatest gifts is the love of man for man, and if Kiwanis had no other ideal than fellowship it would be well worth while.

To find the origin of Kiwanis one must go back to Runneymede, where a grudging freedom was wrough from a despotic monarch; but one must go further back than that, back to a field outside Jerusalem, where hung the Saviour. "Greater love than this hath no man, that he lay down his life for another."

Down the ages the voices of men who bought for us an imperishable heritage by the sacrifice of their bodies are calling. "Let us attune our hearts to these voices; they challenge us to a service worthy of their sacrifice.

Deep down in the human heart are chimes of golden bells. Let us bring out the bells and hang them in the belfry of Christian activity."

At the conclusion of Joe John's address, Harry Dickin tendered the thanks of the club to the members of the committee who had arranged so splendid a programme.

Art. Moffatt, chairman of the Underprivileged Child Committee, announced that plans had been made to give a picnic to about two hundred children, and listed members whose cars would be available for transportation.

PUBLIC LAVATORIES

ston appointed Messrs. Stone, Palliser, McDonald and Town Solicitor Lynch to interview the registrar as to what course should be adopted toward the preparation of a new plan of the town.

This preliminary step followed the reading of correspondence between Ira A. Humphries of Toronto, Inspectotr of Legal Offices, and Mr. Lynch, reviewing the town's need of a new plan and the most economical procedure in preparing it.

The present plan Mr. Lynch said needed revision because of its obscurities and unreliability, and it should be enlarged to include surveys made during the last 15 or 20 years. Care should be exercised, he counselled, to avoid heavy expenses which could be easily piled up by extensive surveying.

Mayor Kingston advised that an estimate of the cost be obtained and with that before them the council could decide on the next step. One of the details involved is whether the cost should be charged against the public treasury or by assessment directly against the properties affected.

Parking At Angle.

The traffic by-law will be amended to provide for the parking of cars at an angle of 45 degrees on the main streets.

Mr. Stone introduced the subject and after it was discussed, seconded Mr. Palliser's motion embodying the change.

Councillor Abernethy said that in vitrually every place he had visited the angular parking plan was in force.

Mr. O'Sullivan questioned J. L. Hay's title to the land on which he has already laid the foundation for a dance pavilion. The property has been leased by the town to the Rathbun Lumber Co. for 99 years at a nominal rental of $1 a year, said the councillor.

"I venture to say Mr. Hay has no right to put up a building. When I had it I could not put a private building on it. I read the lease and I remember it was was granted only for coal and lumber. I don't believe Mr. Hay realizes where he is at."

The council instructed Mr. Lynch to enquire from the registrar whether the town has any interest in this property.

A petition from Queen street residents opposing the oiling of the street was rejected as insufficiently signed.

Mr. N. A. McColl speaking for a delegation and other citizens, who wanted the street oiled, said that the protest was signed by less than 50 per cent. of the residents affected, and the signatories owned only one-third of the frontage.

In a discussion of the practice of citizens in watering the road in front of their houses, the Mayor said that the streets were injured, and the council would eventually have to do something.

Seymour Council.

Seymour Township Council yesterday declined the Globe Indemnity policy for the protection of the municipality against accident claims.

Reeve Grills was appointed arbitrator to act with the nominee of S. S. No. 8 Trustee Board in fixing the school rate for this year. This school section is partly in the town and the rest in the towship. The council also decided to make an inspection of the roads.

Moonshine Still Seized

A week-end swoop by License Inspector Goodrich and Provincial Constable Cousens of Cobourg uprooted a domestic distillery near Trent Bridge. The still and moonshine were seized for evidence in the police court appearance of the rural moonshiner. Several other calls were made, but their results will depend on analysis of the liquids that were found.

Michael H. VanVolkenburg Dead

CAMPBELLFORD, June 8—The death of Michael H. VanVolkenburg on Sunday, June 6, in his 91st year removed one of the pioneers of Seymour township. Born in Brighton township 90 years and six months ago, he came to Seymour as a youth of eighteen and cleared the land on lot 5, concession 12, where he spent the long years of his manhood, a prosperous, home loving farmer, highly respected by his many friends throughout the district. Death was due to pneumonia, but until that fatal illness he had been vigorous and hearty and in mind and body apparently as well preserved as many men his juniors by a score of years.

Mr. VanVolkenburg was predeceased by his wife sixteen years ago and is survived by two sons and four daughters. They are George Van Volkenburg, former reeve of Seymour, and Arthur W. of Calgary, Mrs. Frank Davidson and Mrs. Ernest Hawley of Seymour, Mrs. A. Quackenbush of Belmont township, and Miss Jennie VanVolkenburg of Calgary. His son Arthur and daughter Jennie are both principals of public schools in Calgary.

The funeral was held this afternoon to Centre church cemetery from his home, where he died, on lot 5, concession 12 of Seymour. Rev. E. O. Seymour of Havelock conducted the services. Mr. Van Volkenburg had been a life-long Methodist and Conservatives.

The official salary of the Bishop of London is $50,000; the greater part of this, however, goes in diocesan and other expenses.

JOHN BROWN, 80, REMEMBERS EARLY DAYS IN LUMBER CAMPS

Born in Lanark, Ont., Aged Man Has Worked in Many Places.

WAS IN MICHIGAN

Has Also Been Freighter in Ontario—Now in Peterboro.

DOURO, June 8.—Mr. John Brown is in his eightieth year, is bright in mind, healthy in body but is not very active on his feet. His memory is splendid and his narratives of the past are full of interest. In a brief interview on the day he left the township to reside with his daughter in Peterborough, many incidents were touched on.

He was born in the township of Goolburne, County of Lanark, where he also attended school. At thirteen years of age he went to the lumber woods, spending several months. He drove a team all winter and better still he owned the team. His grandfather had given him one when a foal and his father had given him another, so as a boy he had a team of his very own. The next summer he hauled lumber to the dock opposite the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa.

For elven season he worked on a threshing outfit. Altogether he has spent twenty-seven winters in the lumber woods.

Fifty-nine years ago he married Miss Ellen Eccles of Huntley. Early in his married life he moved to the State of Michigan. He worked for one firm, the Ross and Bradley Lumber Co. of Bay City, under one boss for twenty-one years, in the woods in the winter and in the mill in the summer. During the last three years he was manager of the firm's farm, where they grew mostly sugar beets. He had Polish women hired for weeding and topping the beets for one dollar a day, commencing at 7 o'clock. In early morning he went with a wagon to collect and bring the workers. He paid them from a bag of silver dollars. He had great difficulty in keeping a record of the names and time.

While freighting in Eastern Ontario, in deep snow, he travelled four days with but one meal, near the Grand River, arriving at length at Packenham.

He worked a whole season for the Featherstone firm in Ontario which went insolvent, which left him no pay for his winter's work. At one time in Michigan he says the men stopped a train load of lumber in the railway yard and held it till they were paid.

Asked to mention something of the dangers, etc., of the early days he says he remembers his mother having bars across the door to keep him from going away from the house, because the bears came close to the house.

Humorously he related to a caller a tale of the only time he was ever the worse of liquor. It was election day in the republic to the south and there was a parade. It was a cold day and on the long drive he was encouraged to take a few drinks to "keep out the cold." Before he knew it he had too much. Arriving home he was not able to walk properly and fell in the mud and presented a sorry picture when rescued. His wife said: "If you could have seen yourself you'd never take a drink again." His answer was: "While grass grows or water runs you'll never see me drunk again." And he kept his word. Turning to his interviewer he said: "Are you going to put that in the paper?" On receiving an answer, "Not if you do not wish it," he said, laughing, "Well it doesn't matter, write it if you wish."

For may years Mr. Brown lived in Peterborough and it was there that he met and married his second wife who was a daughter of the late James McCligott. For thirteen years he drove a team for the Dickson Lumber Co. He says he knew everyone in the city, even the dogs. Also for ten years he drove a team of his own in Peterborough. For the past twelve years he and Mrs. Brown have lived in Douro, but the death of Mrs. Brown recently necessitates his removal to the city to reside with Mrs. E. Grose, his daughter. One son also is living in the United States.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS.

Zion People's League Hold Well Attended Meeting.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, June 8.—The regular meeting of the Zion People's League was held in the church on Thursday evening with an attendance of eighty. The programme was in charge of the Vice-President of the Devotional Committee, Thos. Fry, and featured devotional readings and a lively song service. The gem of the evening was the address on "The Stewardship of Possessions," by Rev. Chas. Daniel. He pointed out that money meant life because for every fortune amassed some life was spent or lost. He also showed how little of our possessions really belong to us and hw much belonged to God.

The next meeting will be on Thursday evening, June 17, with the Citizenship Department in charge. The meeting for June 10 was withdrawn on account of the St. John's lawn social. For the next few weeks the hour of meeting will be 8.30 instead of 8 p.m.

A softball game will be played before each meeting, with the Blues and Whites meeting on June 17.

BRIDES-TO-BE GIVEN CLOCKS

AT KEENE

KEENE, June 8.—A jolly time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Chapman on Monday evening by the Young People's Club to wish God-speed to the Misses Alice and Lily Chapman on their matrimonial voyage.

The club presented each with a beautiful clock. The following address was read by Mr. Peter Mather, while Messrs. Frank Graystock and Bob Martin made the presentation.

"Dear Girls:

"We have planned this gathering in order to express to you our very best wishes for your happiness and prosperity in the new life upon which you are entering. Undoubtedly your interests will change now. This is quite as it should be, but we do not wish you to forget us entirely, so we ask you to accept these small token of our friendship and to give them a place in the midst of your household goods with the hope that whenever your eyes rest upon them you will have happy memories of the good times we have had together and your hearts will warm toward us.

"We trust that the intimate fellowships initiated at our club will never be discontinued. For our part we warn you that we intend to observe the Eastern proverb, 'Hast thou a friend, visit him often, for thorns and brushwood obstruct the road which no one treads.' May we be permitted to add a word for your future husbands, from Emmerson's store of wisdom: 'The domestic man who loves no music so well as his own kitchen clock and the airs which the logs sing to him as they burn on the hearth, has solaces which others never dream of.'

Both girls made suitable replies, and the evening wound up with dancing and refreshments.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE CROSS.

NORWOOD, June 8.—The funeral was held on Sunday of Mrs. George Cross (nee Ruby Kelly) who passed away at her home in Rochester, N.Y., on Wednesday, leaving a family of five little children, all under the age of seven years, the youngest a baby of three weeks.

Hearts of friends and acquaintances are sad when they think of the little ones who are bereft of a mother's love and care.

The service was conducted by Rev. F. Stillman, pastor of the United church in the absence of Rev. McLennan of the Baptist church, Norwood, of which the deceased had fomerly been a member.

Many floral tributes were laid on the casket by sympathizing friends.

W. A. SMITH.

NORWOOD, June 8.—The funeral of W. A. Smith, a former Norwood boy, who passed away very suddenly in the hospital at Esten, Sask., on Tuesday evening, after an illness of one day, was held on Sunday. Death was caused from a clot of blood which had formed in one of the valves of the heart.

When the train pulled into the station at 12.30 p.m., a very large crowd of old friends and acquaintances of the departed had assembled to pay a last tribute of respect to one who had won the highest esteem of his fellow citizens. The funeral, which was under Masonic auspices, was one of the largest held in Norwood in a long time. The deceased was a Past Master of the Esten Masonic Lodge.

The many beautiful floral tributes which accompanied the remains from the far west testified to the esteem in which he was held by his western friends.

Friends from a distance who attended the obsequies were: Mrs. F. Jarvis, Toronto, a sister; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Johnston, Mac and Helen of Esten, Sask. (Mrs. Johnston is a sister of deceased); Mr. Andrew Smith, Toronto, an uncle; Mrs. Finlay and Miss Ona Finlay of Sudbury; Miss Helen Morrison, Toronto, and Mrs. H. B. Morrison, Peterboro.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. W. Rork, J. Stan Weir, H. I. Keefer, A. G. McDermott, Dr. T. H. Norval and William Scott.

SURPRISE PARTY TO MRS. CARTER

Friends Honor Hastings Lady on Her 88th Birthday.

CHAIR PRESENTED

HASTINGS, June 8—On Monday, May 31, 1926, Mrs. Sarah Carter of Hastings celebrated her 88th birthday and the Ladies' Aid of the United church met at her home to celebrate the occasion. About 45 members were present and during the afternoon a presentation was made and a programme given as follows:

Vocal duet, Mrs. G. Faux, Mrs. L. E. Kelly; reading, Mrs. R. Johnson; duet, Mrs. W. T. Tate and Mrs. J. M. Baker; recitation, Rhea Preston; reading, Mrs. J. H. Cruickshank.

After the programme the president of the Aid, Mrs. E. Beavis, read an address and Misses Hazel McDonald and Helen Wilcox made the presentation to Mrs. Carter, of an upholstered wicker chair, and Errol Hess and Betty Prest, little tots, presented Grandma Carter, as she is more familiarly known, with beautiful bouquets of flowers. This address was read:

Mrs. S. Carter:
Dear Friend,—

We deem it a great privilege and honor to meet with you in your home, and to extend congratulations on this the anniversary of that day so long ago, when God sent you to this earth a little babe, breathed with your nostrils the breath of life and you became a living soul.

Doubtless, is common with each one of us, you have had your days of sorrow, as well as those of gladness, but we feel sure that, as you review the memories of the past, your heart well up in gratitude to Almighty God for sparing you for so many years, with so many of your faculties, yet unimpaired, surrounded by members of your family, whose joy it is to attend to your every wish.

We feel sure that of you may be truthfully said, "Her children rise up and call her blessed."

We believe too, that one of your greatest joys has been your faithful attendance at the House of God, and your example has been an inspiration to many of us. We pray that the remaining years of your life may be the brightest and best and when at last your sun may set, may there be just enough clouds to make the sunset glorious and you may be able to say with Paul:

"I have fought a good fight; I have finished my course; I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness."

As a token of the esteem in which you are held by the church which you love, we would ask you to accept these gifts—and the simple request we would ask is this: that while you are resting a while you will breathe a prayer that God may abundantly bless our church in every department of her work.

Signed on chalf of the United church, Mrs. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. B. Preston.

The above honor conferred on Mrs. Carter was a complete surprise the ladies meeting at the church first and going to her home in a body and she made an impressive reply wishing everyone the best in life and thanked them for their thoughtfulness and gifts. A dainty lunch was served and a happy half hour spent by all.

Several dogs were put on the roll and one taken off.

I.O.D.E. MEETING.

Peter Robinson Chapter Winds Up Spring Season.

The last regular meeting for this season of the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E. was held in the green room of the Young Women's Christian Association on Saturday afternoon, with a very good attendance. The regent, Mrs. J. McNabb, presided.

The Chapter decided to hold the annual picnic on Thursday, June 17th, at Mrs. F. C. Webber's cottage at Chemong Park, and appointed Mrs. W. Belleghem and Mrs. B. Moore to look after arrangements for it.

Following the business session, afternoon tea was served from a table prettily arranged with tall Darwin rose tulips and rose candles in silver holders. Tea was poured by Mrs. W. Belleghem, assisted by the Misses Cora Clarke and Marjorie Lawrence. Miss Rose Mullholland was in charge of arrangements.

WEDDING BELLS.

INTERNAL STRIFE THREATENS TO DISRUPT LEAGUE OF NATIONS; SPAIN AND BRAZIL CAST AFFRONT

Spain Sends Boyish Secretary, Brazil Refuses To Send Anyone.

PROCEEDING BADLY.

Nothing Tangible Can Be Achieved Unless Germany is Member.

GENEVA, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Internal strife continues to threaten the existence of the League of Nations. Both Spain and Brazil today cast an affront on the prestige of the general organization, in the opinion of a majority of the delegates, Spain by sending a boyish secretary of legation to sit beside statesmen like Chamberlain, Briand and Benes on the council, and Brazil by refusing to send anybody to the session.

League leaders were much wrought up, and there is no attempt to conceal the view that if Spain and Brazil hope to force the Great Powers into according them permanent seats on the council of the League, as the governments of Rio Janiero and Madrid demand, their action is likely to have a reverse effect.

"It is better to jettison both of them," a diplomat from one leading European country said, alluding to his belief that it would be preferable to lose Spain and Brazil as league members than risk losing Germany.

Germany is still insistent, that only Germany shall have a permanent chair in the council this time, and European statesmen realize that if Spain and Brazil are to be placated and raised from the rank of temporary members to permanent members, the increased importance which Germany's accession is expected to bring to the league will have to be abandoned. This was, therefore, an unfavorable day for the league.

Furthermore, the disarmament discussions are proceeding badly. The naval experts are debating such academic questions as the characteristics of armaments, apparently not finding it possible to agree upon the definition of the fundamental problem of what constitutes armaments.

The impression is growing that nothing tangible can be achieved, at least in the direction of reducing European land armaments, until Germany has become a part of the Geneva institution, and some idea is had as to how German membership will work out for reframing the European peace fabric. Germany, for example, may start a campaign for revision of the Treaty of Versailles, on which the present scale of German armaments is based. There is, therefore, a direct connection between disarmament and the council crisis, which began with the March fiasco, when Germany was unable to enter the league because of the efforts made for other council seats.

Marquis Quinones de Leon, head of the Spanish delegation, has never missed a council session since the beginning and his visit to Madrid this time, of which he notified the league, is interpreted generally as indicating dissatisfaction with the situation.

Senor Mello Franco, of Brazil, forwarded a note to the council that his indisposition prevented attendance, but it was immediately remarked that he could have named one of his numerous delegates to replace him.

The council adjourned until Wednesday morning because of the work of the sub-committees.

The day, however, was marked by the inscription of one weighty problem on the credit side of the league ledger. Geneva is rejoicing at the final liquidation of the Turco-British conflict over Mosul, which Sir Austen Chamberlain announced to his colleagues. League influence is believed to have hastened the agreement, which solidifies peace in the Near East, and incidentally, is expected to be followed by an application from Turkey for league membership.

Brazil Resigns

RIO DE JANERIO, June 8 (Canadian Press).—The newspaper "O Globo" announces Brazil's withdrawal from the League of Nations. The newspaper asserts that Brazil will not participate in the League Assembly next September and that formal notification of her resignation from the League will be sent to Geneva within a few weeks.

HER OWN WAY
A GIRL of TODAY

A CLANDESTINE ESCAPADE.

I knew the girl I was waiting upon was very rich, for this was the second dozen handkerchiefs she had purchased that day at sixty per. She had bought and paid for them with no fuss whatever and I saw the large roll of bills in the gold mesh bag, which was even more beautiful than the one that Jerry had given me.

I was quite sure also that she belonged to one of those families that were often referred to as living on Toronto's "gold coast," and by this they meant Lakeshore Drive and its environs.

The girl, however, was very simple and sweet and I could see that she had reached the point in her romance where she had to talk to someone. In the few moments while I was getting her handkerchiefs together she kept still, but there was a lovely smile on her sensitive mouth. As I turned toward her she asked abruptly: "Have you ever danced at The Circle?"

I looked at her curiously. The Circle I remembered was quite notorious as a place where the most Bohemian people in the city congregated. Mamie had told me that there one might meet most any night some of the most imposing society women as well as these aristocracy of the underworld.

"No," I answered, smiling. "I have never been there. I am afraid if I had I would have lost my reputation. I am only a 'poor workin' goil,' you know."

After the words were out of my mouth I trembled.

Instinctively, I knew the girl before me belonged to the exclusive set and it rather looked as if I were contemptuously slurring those young women. "Would she understand?" I asked myself.

I looked up quickly. The girl had giggled.

"Well, I may as well tell you that although I am supposed to belong to 'the rich and great' who can go anywhere, even The Circle, and get away with it, I think my father would probably imprison me for life if he knew I had been at that notorious place."

"If you only knew," she continued, "how the stogy dinners and conventional teas he allows me to go to bore me, I am sure that you wouldn't blame me for trying to get a little fun out of life."

"It's immaterial to tell you how I first became acquainted with The Circle. It is sufficient that I was introduced to the happy-go-lucky people who congregate there. For the last few months I have been stealing away as often as I could—" she stopped and blushed, and then explained, "I am buying these handkerchiefs for Bud because—because I gave the others to Harry."

TEN NICHOLLS HOSPITAL NURSES RECEIVE DIPLOMAS AND MEDALS ANNUAL GRADUATION CEREMONY

HIGH STANDARD.

Doctors Eulogize Students and Tell of Increased Efficiency in All Classes.

A large crowd, filling the auditorium and overflowing into the school-room, assembled last night in Murray street Baptist church, when ten graduating nurses of Nicholls Hospital received their diplomas and medals, and were felicitated on the completion of their courses of training by representatives of the church, the medical profession and by the chairman representing the Board of Trustees, and the citizens generally. The choir loft of the church was tastefully decorated for the occasion, the variegated colors of the flowers and foliage forming an effective background for the white uniforms of the nurses.

The Chairman, V. Eastwood, welcomed the audience on behalf of the Murray street church and Nicholls Hospital. He reviewed the history of the institution, from its foundation in 1885, its growth and development until present day proportions were attained. He emphasized the great debt of gratitude that the city owed to the late Robert and Charlotte Jane Nicholls, whose endowment approximately a quarter of a million dollars, had made possible the able and energetic work of today.

For the future carrying on of this work, said Mr. Eastwood, more means were required. The time was fast approaching when additional premises would be required. A Maternity Ward was rapidly becoming a pressing need. At present, there was being added increased accommodation for nurse's residence. Many of the citizens had done well in the support of the hospital in the past. He hoped that many more would come forward to aid in the work, as some were coming forward in the present.

Rev. A. J. Langford.

Rev. A. J. Langford, who was greeted with cheers, expressed his pleasure at being privileged to take part in this happy occasion for a number of those who had been associated with Nicholls Hospital for the past few years. It was always a happy time when one came to the end of a course of training He wished the graduating class of 1926 all prosperity and success in the future until that next graduation into that final union, the greatest in life—the graduating nurses would not understand him (laughter), but the audience would. He was also glad to be associated with Dr. McCulloch in these exercises. He had been associated with Dr. McCulloch many years ago—he was not going to say how many—when they were together at Ottawa Normal School.

Only the other day, he was at a case of very critical illness, when the assertion was made that more depended on the nurse than on the doctor. The nurses made it easier for some people to live and they helped to keep others longer in the world—if that was a blessing.

He had thought of talking on the things essential to success in life. It had been said that life was largely what we made it. This was true in a greater or lesser degree. One of the things essential to success was to have an aim—a big aim, not a little petty aim.

There were multitudes of people in life who did not seem to have any aim. They were born into the world and just "growed-up" like Topsy and drifted through life without any definite objective in view. The man who made a real contribution to life was always the man who had a definite aim in life.

He called upon them to cherish ideals, to seek knowledge and the means of progress. He urged the necessity of courageous industry. He thought it was the Bishop of London who had said that what was needed was more ginger and less starch. Starch, after all, did not get us very far. It was merely ornamental, but ginger was wonderfully effective in getting one going. "Love work," he counselled. "Put yourself into your work. Don't let it master you. Be master of it. Be prepared for work. Be prepared for emergencies."

Some men, especially when in the employment of others, often wondered why the boss did not come around and pay bigger wages. Such men did not realize that in order to achieve success, a man ought to be ready, not only for his own job, but for the one next to his. The world was waiting for the man who not only filled his present job, but was prepared for the one above him.

Yet it was needful that they should learn that the happiest and best life was the life that was shared—the best for this world and the world to come.

"Live the unselfish life. Do not pit class against class, individual against individual. That is the successful life that is shared with God and our fellows, not only in teaching and preaching the things only of the spirit, but in the healing of the body, binding up the broken body, helping the blind and deaf and stricken.

"I rejoice with you at this time. May God bless you and keep you and make you useful."

The graduating nurses were then called to the platform and repeating the affirmation after Mr. Eastwood, were presented with their diplomas by Mr. Eastwood, and with their medals by the Hospital Superintendent, Mrs. E. M. Leeson. The Graduating Class consisted of.—Sarah Allison, Elizabeth McNaughton, Hazel Alma Whitfield, Mary Olive Dawson, Kathleen Blanche Burnside, Helen Beatrice Mouck, Daisy Crawford Adams, Hilda Bernice Smith, Dorothy Evelyn McBrien, Cora Eveline Parker.

Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch.

Dr. J. M. McCulloch was then called upon to address the graduates. He said:—

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen—Ladies of the Graduating Class:—

"Upon me, from my official position as Chairman of the Medical staff of Nicholls Hospital for the present year, devolves the privilege and important duty of conveying to you ladies of the graduating class, the congratulations and admonitions of that body on the completion of your course.

"In earlier days, yet within my recollection, the graduating class had the privilege through its valedictorian, of giving its impressions of the hospital itself, the superintendent and staff thereof and also of themselves. The Hospital Board, through its representative requires you to place your hand on your heart and promise to do all and sundry things a la Florence Nightingale; the Superintendent descends upon you and spears your uniform in affixing a much bedecorated emblem on your womanly breast; the clergy, through its representative, points out to you those realms of bliss which may be attained when your life's struggle is o'er, while I try to impress upon you the importance of carrying on your struggle according to the traditions and regulations of the profession. Truly you have to suffer. But the teachings of the Hospital, like those of the Church, are to endure. Tonight you have arrived at a much desired and eagerly awaited goal and I desire to add the sincere congratulations of the staff of Nicholls Hospital on your success, to those of this audience assembled here to rejoice with you and do you honor. Only those of a narrow jealous minded disposition could fail to enter into the spirit of your joy at the present moment. Back in your minds may be stored against an examiner the remembrance that you had to repeat some subject—if such unhappily occurred, rather thank him and respect him, fo having sufficient interest in your future welfare and the good reputation of your school to see that none but those who have qualified according to the standards as laid down, are allowed to receive a diploma.

"In this era of advancement in science and inventions, change in social conditions and government, the emancipation of women is probably as striking as any of the great events of recent years. Twenty years ago, it would have been necessary before such an audience as this for a speaker to set forth the justice of the claim that a woman might enter the ranks of those who labored for their well-being and for the good of society. Who now questions that work is honorable? In the recent strike in Britain those closely allied to the Royal family became so famous for their fried sausages that the pictorials head-lined them.

"The tendency of the times has been to remove the care of the sick out of the hands of the untrained and place it in the hands of those whose mental capacity, manual dexterity and sympathetic attitude towards the afflicted render them most capable of caring for them—your mental capacity and manual dexterity have been cultivated during your training and tested previous to your receiving your diploma. The sympathetic attitude towards those who come under your care can come only with a love for your work.

"Duty may enable you to perform your work well, but love will enable you to perform it beautifully. The "born" nurse so often cited by the sister or mother is usually the woman who possesses exceptionally good natural abilities which enable her to take a deeper and clearer view of all the requirements and possibilities of any condition and adapt herself to the duties of the position most readily and naturally. It is only by the greatest care of detail and calling into play the practice of patience, perseverance and devotion to duty that a nurse can attain a degree of excellence in her profession.

"The burden of your responsibility will become more fully impressed on you when you are removed from the protecting assistance of the hospital. To your individual care will be entrusted lives around which are clustered the warmest and deepest affections of parents, relatives and friends—the life of the breadwinner of the family, that of the devoted loving mother, of the bright intelligent, promising son, of the gentle and affectionate daughter. Precious indeed are such lives and when disease invades them and threatens their dissolution, the work of a sympathetic, well-trained nurse, who faithfully carries out the directions of the physician is a most important element in the treatment of the patient. Medical science, skill, and experience may fail in saving life through the baleful influence of careless haphazard nursing.

"While these should be sufficient burdens to bear, the nature of your profession places other responsibilities upon you. No one can carry on any profession successfully without an intimate knowledge of its details. The nurse, who, having attained a diploma, sits back and applies only the knowledge requisite for that diploma, falls far short of her possibilities. Rather, her period of training should be regarded as an apprenticeship in which only the elementary principles of the profession are emphasized to act as a foundation for a far greater superstructure. It should therefore be your aim to gain greater experience and knowledge by visiting other centres of learning, reading at more leisure and with greater pleasure and understanding those books which you have studied as texts with the dread of examination driving you, to keep up-to-date by perusal of the best journals published on nursing. The present time is the most suitable for you to undertake any examinations to enable you to practise your profession in any part of Canada, because it is amazing how quickly the finer points and details pass out of one's remembrance. Special courses dealing with social service work have been inaugurated recently. Each of you may aid materially the aim of the various organizations for prevention of disease if you constitute yourself a committee of one to instruct in the elementary principles of hygiene applicable to the home in which you may be domiciled. You will undoubtedly meet many occasions where your right views of living would be of benefit to the home.

"The nature of your profession also places upon you the burden of practising great self-denial. The nurse, who, having chosen her profession and accepted its responsibilities, is unwilling to give up pleasures when the call of duty comes, is not living up to the traditions of her calling. The path of duty is often straight and rugged, and the by-paths of leisure and amusement are pleasant and tempting, as are also the cool retreats of indifference. Success comes only to the one who applies herself with singleness of purpose to the performance of duty and pursues the path with thorough devotedness. The great Richelieu has said that 'unfortunate' and 'imprudent' were two words for the same thing.

"In the healing art, the practice of pure and unselfish heroism probably sees its greatest exemplification, for each day the nurse and the doctor, in the carrying out of their professional duties, expose themselves to possibilities which may mean a serious illness with fatal termination. These must be regarded as part of the day's work and, while no precaution known to modern science should be neglected, the traditions of our professions require that each of us should be ready to bear our fair share of the struggle for the welfare of humanity. There is no fanfare of trumpets, no panoply and display, no thronging crowd to bolster up the hesitant. Each with a full knowledge of all that her acts may mean, must fight out the struggle, take the risk and, if necessary, suffer the consequences without the reward of the applause of a gratified public.

In this connection Dr. McCulloch mentioned Miss Kate Dawson who, he said, graduated two years ago from Nicholls Hospital and whose death was recorded last week from tuberculosis contracted while engaged in professional duties.

"Truth," he continued, "must ever be your watchword. No desire to give a favorable report must influence your observations. How easily the wish may become the parent of the thought is illustrated by the story of the darkie who boasted that he had seen many years, had lived during the American Revolution and had known Washington. A sarcastic visitor said 'I suppose you witnessed the Fall of Rome.' The darkie replied: 'No, boss, I didn't exactly see it, but I recollect hearing somefin drop.' Actual observation which you can personally vouch for is one object of your presence in the sickroom. A trained observer who knows what to look for.

"Loyalty is an admirable quality in any person. We can be loyal to our friends, especially when we believe them right, but Sir John McDonald used the expression that any person would support him when he was right, but they were true friends who support ed him when he was in the wrong. There are many directions in which loyalty may be shown. This Canada of ours which has given you a birthplace and nurture to your present stage of life has a definite claim on your loyalty and the question of remaining under the British flag should have its influence in determining your future place of abode.

"Your profession demands your loyalty. You should associate yourself as early as possible with others of your profession, not only for your own good, but that the profession may be better because you are interested in it, that you may have the benefit of professional interchange of thought and receive inspiration from those who struggle as you do. You should be loyal to yourselves.

To thine own self be true
And it must follow as the night the day
Thou canst not then be false to any man.

"Loyalty to yourself demands care of your moral and physical self. To keep your body in physical health requires certain rest and relaxation from duty which must be carefully taken as a matter of routine.

"I am sure that you who have undergone the hardship of overcrowding in your residence and dormitories during your years of training, will rejoice with us to see progress being made in the erection of a nurse's residence which will more adequately care for the comfort of our nurses. You will also join with me in paying tribute to the generosity of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, a respected member of our Board of Trustees, whose handsome gift towards the residence made it possible to go on with the building sooner than would otherwise have been possible.

"There are, as you know, many other places in the hospital in which patients fail to receive the very best because of lack of adequate accommodation and it is to be hoped that the citizens of Peterborough will soon have an opportunity of exercising their generosity towards the sick and suffering in the erection of a new wing, thus giving the medical and nursing staffs of the hospital the foundation for obtaining the best results.

"Again assuring you on behalf of the staff of a deep and abiding interest in your future and the belief that the ladies of the graduating class of the Nicholls Hospital for 1926, will uphold the honor, dignity and traditions of the profession and of Nicholls Hospital, we bid you God speed."

Prizes Presented.

A first prize of $25 and a second of $15 for general proficiency were awarded to Miss Parker and Miss McBrien respectively. The prize for general proficiency in the intermediate class was presented to Miss Helen Russell. The task of presenting this prize was delegated to Dr. E. H. Wood, who was called to the front for this purpose.

Dr. E. H. Wood.

Dr. Wood said: "Mr. Chairman, Graduates, Pupil Nurses, Ladies and Gentlemen—On this occasion, I am representing the Medical Staff of Nicholls Hospital, and am to present for them their prize for general proficiency in the intermediate or second-year class of the Training School.

"The winner of the prize is Miss Russell. She has now completed two years of training, and prize-winning is no novelty to her, for last year she carried off the laurels in bandaging. It might appear to the uninitiatedthat we have here an outstanding pupil who is sweeping all before her, but such is not the case.

"We, who are associated with the work of Nicholls Hospital, and those of you who have in the past, or who may in the future have occasion to require the services of our hospital, are most fortunate in the fine type of girl that enters our Training School. With the many opportunities that are offered in what might appear better institutions, certainly larger ones, one might expect such energetic and ambitious young ladies to go elsewhere. Some do. I read, just the other day, in the paper, that, of the graduating class in the great hospital in the city of New York, one-third were Canadians. Why is it, then, that these graduates of today, and these graduates of tomorrow, any and all of them capable of holding their own with the best, have not followed the lure of the large hospitals and the large city?

"There must be a reason. Possibly it is the loyalty to their home district, and their Mother Country. Possibly it is the attractive and home-like atmosphere of our hospital and city. Possibly it is the thoroughness and painstaking care of their instructors. Possibly it is the loyalty of the alumni who never tire in their praise of their alma mater. Most likely it is a combination of such forces.

"These prizes are given to stimulate a healthy spirit of loyalty and rivalry, and to reward good work. I can vouch for the closeness of the competition, for it was my privilege to be an examiner in bandaging with Dr. Moir last year. When we had awarded our marks independently, we found two tied for first place, and it was only after the tie had been run off three times, that Miss Russell finally nosed out her rival. I do not know how close the race was this year for this prize, but I do know that it could be only after the most thorough study and closest application that any one member of the intermediate class could hope to beat her fellows.

"Miss Russell, it therefore gives me great pleasure to present to you the staff's prize, and to congratulate you on your two successes, and may you continue to win prizes as a pupil-nurse, and as a graduate win that greatest of all prizes, the satisfaction of good work well done."

Prizes For Bandaging.

Two prizes for bandaging, presented by the Trustee Board to Misses Jessie Coombs and Vera Bruce of the junior class, were handed to the winners by Dr. G. S. Cameron who expressed his pleasure at being called upon to hand over the tokens of recognition of such splendid work as had been done by the students who were being rewarded. The prizes were formerly given to the senior classes, he said, then for some reason they were transferred to the junior class. As one of the examiners he could say that the standard achieved by these juniors was almost as good as that which had formerly been reached by nurses of three years' training. It was exceptionally good. They had he d what Dr. Wood had said about the difficulty that Miss Russell had experienced in winning her prize in the previous year. He wished them godspeed in their future work.

The speeches and presentations were pleasantly varied by a number of musical items, under the direction of Francis Sutton, organist of the church. Miss Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Graham and Dr. Graham rendered a vocal quartette, "Last Night." Mrs. Ford Turner sang a solo, "Cloud Shadows," and being encored, responded with "I'm Seventeen Come Sunday." Dr. F. J. Graham sang two solos, "The Gipsy Trail" and "I'm Waiting for the Sunrise," and Dr. H. G. Park, Messrs. McKeown, Lech and Seymour figured in a string quartette.

Anthem.

After the regular exercises were over, a dance was held in the Paragon Hall.

The Much Favored Box Plait Gives A Straighter Line

This is a joyous frock, with lines so suggestive of freedom and youth, combined with a certain grace of manner. It is economical, too, for the design lends itself to the inexpensive cotton voiles, broadcloth, linen, and flannel for cooler days. The front of the frock introduces fine tucks at each shoulder and a group of three narrow box-plaits over the hips. The back is straight, and a narrow string belt starts from the box-plaits and ties at the center back. The sleeves are designed for either short or long length, while a boyish collar finishes the neck. NO. 1285 is for the miss and slight, small woman, and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 3¾ yards figured material; ¼ yard plain contrasting for collar and cuffs. Price 20 cents.

The garments illustrated in our new Fashion Book are advance styles, for the home dressmaker, and the woman or girl who desires to wear garments dependable for taste, simplicity and economy will find her desires fulfilled in our patterns. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

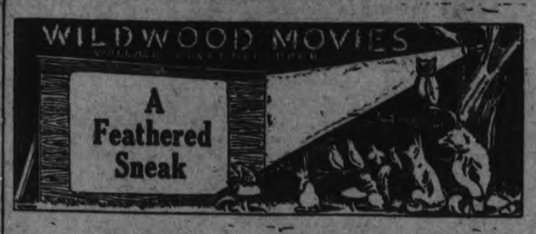
WILDWOOD MOVIES

A Feathered Sneak



We were out in the woods with our movie camera, just looking for something to catch the fancy of a human audience, when we saw a peculiar thing that looked good, so we aimed at it and turned the crank and gathered it all on the film.

After developing the film and making up the story, we ran it off on the screen and here is what it showed:

Mr. and Mrs. Songsparrow were at their nest in the grass at the base of a stump. They seemed very happy and contented and were admiring their eggs almost human like.

Well, Mr. Songsparrow had to go away on a business trip of getting some bugs and worms to eat, and Mrs. Songsparrow decided to go with him for part of the way, so they left the nest alone.

In a quiet moment, when no other birds or animals were about, who should come sneaking through the long grass but that parasite Mrs. Cowbird.

And what do you think she did? She looked to the right and she looked to the left, and then she examined the cute little nest of the Songsparrows, looking at it with a cold and calculating eye, and then she deliberately laid one of her own eggs in that nest!

Mrs. Cowbird was standing at the edge of the nest when she heard Mr. Songsparrow singing in a tree that was in his path on the way home, so she gave a quick look to either side and hastened away through the grass, running quite a little distance before she flew up into the air.

Mrs. Songsparrow was no sleepy-head; she let her husband hang back and do the singing while she went on ahead. Well, she thought she saw the long grass move near her home, and was suspicious, but when she saw Mrs. Cowbird fly up at the other end of the lot she knew! She knew something was wrong, and she suspected Mrs. Cowbird! She called anxiously to her hubby, and they both examined their nest and eggs, but could not count correctly and were all muddled and confused, as all the eggs looked alike. But they scolded so loudly that the crow heard them, so they decided to let him have the whole thing, and they went to another more secret place and had a happier home.

LOCAL KIWANIANS ARE AT MONTREAL

Two Delegates and Several Other Members at Convention.

At the opening of the Kiwanis International Convention at Montreal, Canada, last night, Delegates John Craig and Isaac McNabb of the local club attended the "All Kiwanis Night" programme, while members here observed a somewhat similar affair and the synchronized "Zero Hour" when all clubs in the United States and Canada, simultaneously with the Montreal Convention hour, paid an impressive silent tribute to the ever-strengthening friendship and fellowship of Kiwanis.

The "Zero Hour" period lasted 15 minutes, and included the "Fellowship Moment of Silence," the singing of "God Save the King" and "America," the reading of the message of John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, president of Kiwanis International and the "Onward in Kiwanis" song.

With the business of the convention opening to-day in the Canadian city, both the local Kiwanis delegates were busy attending sessions devoted to reports by international committees dealing with Kiwanis education, business standards, inter-club relations and the under-privileged child, which are major projects of Kiwanis.

This evening the President's annual recention and ball will be held in the Mount Royal and Windsor Hotels, and will be attended by the 6,000 visiting Kiwanians. The annual election of international officers for the ensuing year and the choosing of a convention city for 1927 are the two outstanding undertakings of the three-day session. Memphis, Tennessee, and Indianapolis, Indiana, are bidding for next year's convention honors.

TWELVE THOUSAND SPECTATORS VIEW COLLAPSE OF YORKSHIRE; BURST LIKE PUNCTURED BUBBLE

Were Favored To Give Australians Greatest Tussle of Their Career.

GAME RESUMES TO-DAY

Drive English Bowlers All Over the Field.

BRADFORD, England, June 8 (Canadian Press Cable). — Disappointed over the total collapse of their aspirations to win a first innings victory over the touring Australian cricketers, the army of the White Rose yesterday was surveying disconsolately the disaster which the day's play heaped upon them and speculating on the uncertain prospects for to-day. Yorkshire, favored to give the Antipodeans the greatest tussle of their career as far as county matches were concerned, and who had early in their innings thoroughly justified the confidence that had been reposed in them, burst like a punctured bubble after three batsmen had knocked out about two-thirds of their total score. When the extent of their rout was appraised, the result showed that to the 177 registered by the Australians in the first innings on Saturday, Yorkshire had responded with a meagre 155.

Grimmett and Richardson did the damage for the Australians yesterday, although a factor that contributed very largely to their success was the watchfulness of the keen-eyed custodian of the wicket, J. Ellis, who stumped Maurice Leyland, the redoubtable Rhodes and Dolphin, and caught Turner and Waddington.

Twelve thousand spectators saw Mitchell and Oldroyd resume where Yorkshire had left off on Saturday, with Leyland out, and 65 runs recorded. They viewed with complacency the forceful strokes of these batsmen, nor were they alarmed when, with the score standing at 105, Oldroyd was returned to the pavilion, caught and bowled by Grimmett. Their easy confidence was slightly ruffled when, in company with Robinson, Mitchell's stumps were crashed by Richardson at exactly the same total, but the advent of Rhodes brought visions of a long and profitable innings. The partnership was of the briefest. Robinson failed to connect with a fast one by Richardson, and back he went to the club-house. It was here that the rout began. Turner partnered Rhodes, but Ellis got the latter out of his ground. Next man up was Waddington. Ellis caught him off Grimmett at 2. Major Lupton, captain of the Yorkshire's team, entered on the scene, and his arrival was signalized by Ellis snapping off Turner to Richardson.

The White Rose skipper was joined by Dolphin, Yorkshire's wicket-keeper, and, as a matter of poetic justice, Dolphin was stumped by Ellis with a duck. Crawford and Douglas were left, and Crawford went in to keep company with Lupton.

The situation steadied down somewhat and the drooping spirits of the spectators were somewhat cheered by the vigor and resolution with which Crawford faced the Australian bowlers. The play became somewhat faster, and confidence was restored in a measure when Crawford drove out a couple of fours, and followed them with a six. The visitors appreciated thoroughly the danger they were in, and they called on Gregory to take the ball. Gregory ended all the White Rose hopes, for in his only wicket of the game he brought down Lupton's stumps, and the innings practically ended there, for Douglas, the last man in, had been at the wicket only a few minutes when Woodfull caught Crawford, and the Yorkshiremen were out.

104 for four; 116 for five; 118 for six; 120 for seven, and 120 for eight.

Taught by their first innings, the Australians began their second turn at bat cautiously. Disaster overtook them almost at once, however, for Woodfull, who had begun with Bardsley, was dismissed at 4. Thereafter Bardsley, joined by Andrews, batted strongly and steadily. The Australian total mounted with these players driving the Yorkshire bowlers all over the field. Bardsley went when he had totalled 39, and Collins, the Australian captain, went into partnership with Andrews. A powerful rally followed, until Andrews succumbed after hitting 78. Time was called with Collins at bat, and at 177 for three wickets the Australians will resume to-day.

QUAKERS LOSE TO BELMONTS IN FAST GAME

Two Wild Throws in First Give Winners Three Run Lead.

GOOD PITCHING.

Hold Winners Scoreless For Five Innings—Weaken Towards Finish.

The Belmonts established a firm hold on the top wrung of the "A" group of the Men's Softball League last night by defeating the Quakers 8 to 3. Two wild throws in the first innings gave the Belmonts a three-run lead which they held throughout the game. The Quakers then held them scoreless for the next five innings, when two more runs were secured on three hits, and in the ninth innings two more runs were secured on five hits and one man being walked. M. Sheehy, for the Quakers, secured the most hits, but he did not use any judgment in his base-running, and as a result, he was caught out on bases twice when there was no need of it. Meyette, for the Quakers, did some nice base stealing; in the eighth he made a hit to first, stole second and later stole third on a very close decision, and was scored on a hit by Butcher. Carruthers, for the Quakers, walked two men, while McLean walked none. McLean made one wild pitch in the sixth which let in one run. Both pitchers pitched good ball, but the Quakers did not give Carruthers the support that McLean received, as they made more errors in the field.

Quakers—Butcher, c; Morphet, rf; Ash, 2b; Kirns, 1b; Sheehy, 3b; Vincent, lf; Meyette, cf; Carruthers p; J. Kirns, ss.

NEWS TRENT RIVER.

TRENT RIVER, June 8.—Judging from the activity in and around "Coral Gables Casino" at Trent River a wonderful surprise awaits all those who attend the opening dance on Friday, June 11th. Beautiful colored lighting effects are being installed as well as gorgeous decorations. Mr. Burgess announces distribution of innumerable prizes for lucky number and balloon dances; the greatest feature will be the unexcelled music by the Royal Varsity Five of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of Toronto arrived on Friday night to spend the summer at their cottage.

Messrs. Harold Burgess and McCutcheon motored to Toronto Friday and will return here the beginning of this week with the Royal Varsity Five Orchestra of that city to spend the summer here.

Mr. Sam Ellis is having a cellar excavated at his residence and intends building an addition to his home.

Mr. Herbert Rose is having his new lots adjoining "Ye Olde Mill" enclosed by wire fencing.

NIFTY PAIR OF SOFTBALL DIAMOND QUEENS

Bonny Bater, backstop, and Grace Childs, pitcher of the Danforth team, contenders for the championship in the Danforth ladies' league. They have carried their team to many victories this season, and will be in the game against C.G.E. tomorrow, when Danforth's plays at Riverside Park at 5.30 o'clock.

SOCCER FIXTURES AT OVAL SATURDAY

A real Soccer League fixture takes place at the Oval on Saturday afternoon between the Masseys and the DeLaval. Kick-off is scheduled for three o'clock. Referee J. C. Russell.

The Juveniles will play a League match at the Oval between the Young Vets and Auburn. Kick-off at two o'clock. Referee T. Montgomery.

Sixteen goals have been scored in the Phelan Charity games up to date which indicates that no goal keeper has a clean sheet because every team has managed to tally in every game played.

Senior League Standing.

The Quaker Oats have a team of brothers: Stan. Maker and Alf. Maker, and A. Mitchell, who was second in the goal scoring average last year, with Jim Mitchell at outside right. The latter played with the C.P.C. Juniors last season.

At inside left position, of the De Laval Juveniles, little "Newt" Downer, not 5 feet, is a marvel with the ball. He has got a wonderful control that goes along with anticipation in play. He slips the defense nicely to give his centre forward every chance to score. His brother Asa plays left back for the same team, and the Brothers Coleman are fast improving players.

Juvenile League Standing.

Roy Young headed through his own goal in DeLaval's favor.

It is not very often you witness father and son participate in the game of soccer but it was so in the case of Wilfrid Jones, goal keeper of the De Laval, senior, while the son, Eric Jones, Junior, the smart centre forward of the DeLaval Juveniles, with the total of five goals to his credit.

The undecided Phelan Charity game between the Masseys and DeLaval will be played some evening next week at the King Edward Park. Referee Alex. McKinley.

Notice of motion; "That this Board rescind the motion limiting the number of players signed by each team, as this rule has achieved its purpose, and is keeping several players out of the game." This motion failed to get the necessary vote to rescind the standing orders therefore 16 player rule stands in order for the rest of the season.

DETROIT DEFEATS WASHINGTON TEAM

Simons of Philadelphia Hits Homer With One Man On.

DETROIT, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Ed. Wells ra... his string of scoreless innings to 22, to defeat Washington, 1 to 0, yesterday. He allowed five hits, which was one more than Detroit made off Walter Johnson, but no two came in the same inning. Score:

ROTARY JUVENILES DEFEAT LAKEFIELD

Howden Pitching For Rotary Puts Up Great Exhibition.

LAKEFIELD, June 8.—The Peterboro Rotary team played the Lakefield Juveniles in the Exhibition Grounds at Lakefield last night. The visitors held the home team to a score of 19 to 1.

Howden, pitching for the Rotary, had fourteen strike-outs and allowed one walk. Both Madill and Moore pitching for Lakefield showed fine work, but owing to the lack of fielding support, could not keep the visitors in check. On account of the cold weather the Lakefield team had not much practice, and were at a great disadvantage to the Rotary, who played excellent combination throughout the whole game. Doctor Gibson of Lakefield acted as plate-umpire and B. Rishea of Peterboro acted as base-umpire.

The line-ups were as follows:

Lakefield—Madill, p (replaced by Moore in the fifth); Payne, c; Moore, 1b; Griffin, 2b; Northey, 3b; Macdonald, ss; Staples, lf; Porter, cf; Loosemore, rf.

Score by innings:

Rotary .. ..0806203—19
Lakefield .. ..1000000— 1

FIELDERS TRADED.

Shannon and Munson Go To Indianapolis American Association Team.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8 (Canadian Press).—Riggs Stephenson, outfielder, and Henry Schreiber, infielder of the Indianapolis American Association team, have been traded to the Chicago National League team for Infielder Maurice Shannon and Outfielder Joe Munson.

NARCOTIC DRUG ACT AMENDED

Change To Make Written Order Necessary To Get Drugs.

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press)—An act to amend the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act passed the committee stage and now stands for third reading in the House of Commons last night. Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Health, explained that the purpose of the bill was to make it impossible for retail druggists to sell narcotics without a written order from a doctor, dentist or veterinary. It was to assist in attaching the responsibility for violations of the act. For some time the bill was contested. It was argued by several doctors in the House that hospital superintendents were unable to purchase supplies under the existing laws. The Minister of Labor said that between now and the next session of Parliament it was proposed to undertake the revision of the entire act. The present amendment, however, did not affect hospital superintendents in any way.

DURHAM COUNTY HOLD FIELD DAY

Was Held in Orono Under C.S.E.T. Auspices.

KEEN COMPETITION.

MILLBROOK, June 8 — Fine weather favored the Durham County Field Day, under C.S.E.T. auspices, held at Orono on Saturday, June 5, beginning at 10 a.m.

Representatives of Tuxis Squares, Senior and Junior Trail Rangers were present from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Millbrook and Orono, and a keen interest and enthusiasm marked the various events through out the day.

Rev. S. T. Tucker had a general oversight of field and track contests, starters and referees being: Souch, of Bowmanville, Gamsby, Cowan, and Penfound, of Orono.

Contestants in C.S.E.T. events range in years from 14 to 21, and 5 classes were run off under the different headings, age and weight determining the class of entry according to official regulations of the Ontario Boys' Work Board. Some intricate figuring is required to make final credits and medals and cups will be presented to those having the highest averages when Mr. Tucker has the totals completed.

Those making the highest record in the five classes on Saturday were:

Shot Putt—1, R. Clarke, Bowmanville, 44 feet 10 1-2 inches; 2, C. Caverly, Bowmanville, 41 feet, 5 1-4 inches.

High Jump—1, R. Clarke, 4 feet, 11 1-2 inches; 2, C. Caverley, 4 feet, 10 1-2 inches.

1 mile race—1, G. Goddard, Bowmanville, 4 1-2 minutes; 2, J. Larmer, Millbrook.

100 Yard Dash—(Class 5)—1, E. Burnham, Millbrook, 10 4-5; 2, Gamsby, Orono, 11 min.

50 yard Dash — 1, B. Yonker, Orono, 8:2; 2, Wannan, Orono, 8:3.

Relay Race — Senior — "Sioux Square," Bowmanville; Junior—"Trinity Square," Bowmanville.

Potato Race, 60 yards—1, C. Caverley, Bowmanville, 15 4-5; 2, G. Goddard, Bowmanville, 16 2-5.

220 yard Dash (open) — 1, R. Clarke, 38:9; 2, J. Larmer, 36:5; 3, A. McGregor, 35:5.

A girls' softball tournament was an interesting feature of the day's sport, four teams competing, Bowmanville and Orono lining up first as follows:

Bowmanville—Agnes Vanstone, 6; Peggy Oliver, c; Mabel Dowson, 1b; B. Cryderman, 2b; Dot James, 3b; Eleanor Millson, cf; Helen Coverley, lf; B. Bagnell, rf; Kate Pinch, ss.

Orono—Muriel Millson, p; Edna Dean, c; May Beall, 1b; Ruth Davy, 3b; Ethel Winters, lf; Sara Young, rf; Mabel Pearson, ss; Oda Gamsby, cf; M. Millson, 2b.

Cowan and Kendal, plate and base umpires, respectively; score 29-20 in favor of Bowmanville.

Courtice and Millbrook played next, their teams lining up:

Score—25-17 favor of Courtice.

The winning teams, Bowmanville and Courtice played off after supper, the former carrying off the cup with a score of 13-7.

The handsome silver cup, presented by Rev. S. T. Tucker, to the boy having the highest average in the whole of the C.S.E.T. events, which was won last year by H. Colmer, age 14 years, of Bowmanville is likely to go to that town again this season, R. Clarke (18 years) standing first in the classes in which he competed on Saturday.

Tea was served in the basement of the United Church by the Ladies' Aid Society and over 400 were accommodated at the well-laden tables during the supper hour.

Several car-loads drove over from Millbrook, a number of supporters go to encourage the boys entered in the C.S.E.T. events, and the girls playing in the soft ball team.

WONDERFUL TENNIS IN WOMEN'S SINGLES

English Girl Wins Gruelling Three Set Match From American.

PARIS, June 8 (Canadian Press). —The women's singles in the international hard court tennis tournament yesterday furnished three of the most keenly contested sets witnessed here in many a day. The semi-finals brought together Joan Fry, a young English girl, who had her first test in tournament play against Suzanne Lenglen at Wimbledon last year, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian and veteran of the world's tennis courts.

The English girl won in a gruelling three set match by a score of 7-5, 3-6, 11-9, and thereby has the privilege of meeting the French champion, Suzanne Lenglen, in the semi-finals this week.

Both players gave a wonderful exhibition, but after two sets had been played, a downpour of rain interrupted the battle. When they met for the third set, it was a keen struggle all the way, with Miss Ryan leading at 9 to 8. Then the English girl broke through Miss Ryan's service and made it even. The nineteenth game went to deuce four times, and this Miss Fry annexed, as she did the twentieth, where she broke through Miss Ryan's service after the game went to deuce, and took the two winning points and the set.

Miss Ryan was the favorite according to the form sheets, but they were all wrong. The English girl was the steadiest player that has looked across the net at the centre court of the Racing Club in this tournament. She played a high-class game throughout.

Miss Ryan lost the first set, 5-7; then she won the second, 6-3. Then it deluged, and both girls hung around the courts for an hour or so while the officials tried to decide whether the match would be played out. It was, and the versatility of the English girl gave her a victory over the experience and smashing play of her rival.

The critical point in the third set was reached when they stood at 6-all. Miss Fry then broke through the Californian's service for the game. Miss Ryan tied the score again, and a few minutes later won her own service game at love to make it 8-all, and broke through Miss Fry's delivery to the score of 9-8.

Toward the end Miss Ryan tired rapidly, and in the very last game, the twentieth, the English girl came up from love-30 in a series of magnificent drives, and secured the advantage, only to lose it; she then brought off two placements that retired the Californian from the tourney.

Vincent Richards and Howard Kinsey overwhelming Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraeten and Baron von Kehrling, 6-1, 6-3, 7-5.

One of the best matches of the day was between R. Robson of Argentina and C. G. N. Turnbull, veteran British star. The Argentine won 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. He lost his first set through Turnbull's great pace in forehand drives, which went down the sidelines. Robson could not seem to gauge the pace at first, but in the second he struck the right timing, and with a mixture of long drives, chops and volleys put Turnbull out of the running.

The scheduled match between Suzanne Lenglen and Mme. Rene Mathieu was postponed on account of rain. It will be played to-day.

PAMPHLETS TELL ABOUT KAWARTHA

What is probably the best publicity campaign ever inaugurated for the boosting of the Kawartha Lakes District as a tourist resort is now under execution by the Kiwanis Club. In the preparation of the pamphlets which are being used, the Club was assisted by the City Council, the Trent Waterway Development Association, the Chamber of Commerce and the Peterborough Branch of the Ontario Motor League, but the distribution is being carried out solely by Kiwanians.

Members of the Club now in Montreal at the International Convention are distributing the pamphlets among the ten thousand visitors and it is expected that the lure of the Kawarthas will bring many to this district after the convention.

Then, to reach those who did not go to Montreal, pamphlets have been mailed to every Kiwanis Club in the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. In all, 341 packages of circulars have been sent out.

WOLFF INTERESTS IN FOXES BOUGHT

Syndicate Headed By J. E. Patte Now Controls Chemong Fox Ranch.

An important business change has taken place in the purchase by a syndicate headed by J. E. Patte of the entire Wolff interests in the Patte and Wolff Fox Farm at Chemong.

At a special general meeting yesterday, the following officers were elected:

J. E. Patte, President and Manager.

Thomas Barrie, Vice-President.

Charles J. Ray, Secretary-Treasurer.

R. M. Glover and Dr. F. Neal, Directors.

It was reported that splendid results have been obtained at the ranch during the past season, and the ranch will be open to the public after July 1.

BIG CROWD FROM TORONTO

Danforth Ladies' Softball Team Will Be Accompanied By Number of Fans.

A big crowd is coming to Peterborough with the Danforth Ladies Soft Ball Team. They are coming in one of the largest of the six-wheeled transportation busses, carrying 39 people, and as well as a number of private cars, all being decorated, are coming along with supporters.

They will arrive about four o'clock and will be met on the highway by Peterborough fans, who will take them on a sight-seeing trip around the city, before the game, which starts at 5.30 o'clock sharp, at Riverside Park.

ALL STARS READY FOR OPENING GAME

East City Team Is Aggregation of Good Ball Players.

The East City All Stars are getting ready for Wednesday's battle with the All Saints aggregation. The team is in fine shape and has signed a likely band of young ball throwers, and, to complete their equipment in the league race, a likely manager. The All Stars have signed their old back stop and have a fine battery ready for the opener. Hard workouts have pulled the infield into shape and the players lack no strength at the willow. So far the Stars' pitching staff consists of two southpaws and a right hander, and any good hurler will be welcomed among the ranks of the team. A good game is to be expected on Wednesday night and the team will be further arranged at the usual place of practice to-night.

JUNE SESSIONS OF PEACE OPEN WITH THREE CASES FOR TRIAL

"No Bill" Found Against Roland Keller, Charged With Arson.

DWYERS NEXT.

His Honor Judge Huycke Presides—Charge To Grand Jury.

There were three criminal cases down for trial at the June Sessions of the Peace which opened today at one o'clock, in the County Court, Judge E. C. S. Huycke presiding.

George and Mary Dwyer, whose son, John, died in Nicholls Hospital on March 2 after being brought to Peterborough by Provincial Constable N. F. Maker and John Edgar secretary of the Children's Aid Society, in an emaciated condition, are charged separately with child neglect. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., is to be aided by prosecuting attorney J. K. MacKay of Toronto in the conduct of the case for the Crown. J. F. Strickland, assisted by B. E. Park, will appear for George Dwyer while F. D. Kerr, K. C., will act on behalf of Mrs. Dwyer.

The third case, which occupied the attention of the Grand Jury today was that of Roland Keller, charged with arson. It was alleged that on March 26, Kellar wilfully set fire to shavings so situated that a neighboring frame hen house was in danger of catching fire.

The Grand Jury

The Grand Jury responded to their names as follows: H. Archer, Smith; M. T. Breckenridge, Peterborough, J. R. Campbell, Chandos; R. A. Charlton, Smith; W. Holcomb, Havelock; T. A. Hill, Peterborough; R. Maloney, Douro; J. McNeely, Belmont; Carl Simpson, Peterborough; R. T. Sedgwick, Antrim; T. Taylor, Otonabee; W. R. Turner, Junior, Peterborough; E. Wood, Otonabee. After retiring for a few minutes, the Grand Jury elected R. A. Charlton as foreman.

After the foreman and the other jurors were sworn, His Honor delivered his charge to the Grand Jury.

His Honor stated that the Grand Jury was called upon to perform various duties, all of them important, and some of great importance. Into their hands were committed the liberty and welfare of the people, particularly that of the unfortunate sections The Grand Jury was not originally a Canadian institution. It was British and came from England. Our laws came largely from another country, and the Grand Jury was held, rightly so, in the highest esteem. It was incumbent on them as Grand Jurors to see that no one who was innocent should be brought to trial and on the other hand it was incumbent on them to see that no one who should be tried would be allowed to escape so far as they were concerned. Their duty was not to decide as to the guilt of the parties concerned. That was for the petit jury to decide. The duty of the Grand Jury was to see if a prima facie case—a reasonable and proper case, was made out. If they decided that such a case had been brought out, the defendants would be brought to trial where they would have the benefit of the advice of counsel and all other assistance in every way proper.

The members of the Grand Jury, said His Honor, were the masters of the situation. The prisoners would not come before them, nor would the counsel of the prisoners come before them, but the Crown Attorney could come to them and give them any assistance they required.

All knew that people were sometimes charged with crimes for which they were not responsible. It was the duty of the Grand Jury to weigh the evidence that would be placed before them. If they thought a reasonable case had been made out, they were to say so. If they thought the charge was a trumped-up one it was their duty to spare the prisoner the expense and ignominy of a trial—for there was always some ignominy attached.

In each case a bill of indictment had been prepared. This indictment stated exactly what the charge was. They had to look carefully at the evidence. On the back of the indictment would be found a list of the witnesses. These could be called, but no others. They could call the witnesses as they saw fit. It was one of the duties of the foreman to administer the oath to each witness. They had to attend carefully to what each witness had to say. They could ask any question they thought had a bearing on the case. Everyone of them had an equal right to satisfy his curiosity or judgment.

No Bill.

The Grand Jury, after half an hour's deliberation, found "no bill" against Kellar.

Crown Attorney Hatton was to have prosecuted the case, and J. A. O'Brien was counsel for the defence.

INDUSTRY HELPED BY TARIFF REVISION

TORONTO, June 8.—(Canadian Press.) — The statement that the Canadian automobile manufacturing would no longer be merely an assembling proposition, but real Canadian manufacture of cars, was made by W. C. Coulter, prominent Canadian manufacturer, and head of a large firm manufacturing motor car parts and accessories to-day, commenting on the latest tariff revisions, by which the excise tax of five per cent. is removed from cars of forty per cent. Canadian manufacture and of less than $1,200 in value.

GANGSTER SLAIN.

Young Man Connected With "Beer Racket" Killed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 8. Canadian Press—Another Chicago gangster connected with the "beer racket" was found slain yesterday under circumstances indicating that rivals had "taken him for a ride," the gangland method of assassination. The victim was identified as James S[illegible]on, aged 24. The body, riddled with bullets, was found on the outskirts of the city, where the police believe it had been tossed from an automobile by slayers.

TWO MEN DIE IN COLLISION

Engineer and Supposed Tramp Lose Lives—Firemen and Brakemen Hurt.

ONE MAN MISSING.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 8.—(Canadian Press.)—Three men are dead, one man is missing and several others received injuries when two Canadian National Railway freight trains collided head on near Elma, Manitoba, at 2.20 this morning. Thomas J. Plunkett, engineer, of Winnipeg, and two unidentified men, believed to be trespassers stealing a ride, were killed, while E. Pinault, brakeman, of Transcona, is missing. The injured are Fireman Fraser of the westbound train, Fireman Fay, slightly scalded, Dave McNab, brakeman, and Jack Meisner, brakeman. The extent of injuries suffered by the last two is not known. A special train carrying doctors and nurses was sent from Redditt, Ontario and from Winnipeg.

ON CHEAP CARS.

OTTAWA, June 8. Canadian Press—"While I cannot speak for all motor car manufacturers I am hopeful that the concessions announced yesterday, namely, the removal of the five per cent excise tax on cars made in Canada and worth $1200 and under, will result in the Canadian manufacturers carrying on," said Thomas A. Russell, president of the automotive industries of Canada, last night.

NO SPECIAL LINE TO WEST INDIES

Private Companies Will Continue To Give Steamer Service.

WILL BE ADEQUATE.

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press)—Canada will not attempt to build a special line of steamships to ply between the Dominion and West Indies for a year at any rate and the government is in possession of information which indicates that private lines will put on adequate services which will obviate the necessity for any extensive goverment steamship service to carry out the new trade treaty between the Dominons. This was stated in the House of Commons last night when the House was in committee on the treaty resolution.

THEATRE

"THE GRAND DUCHESS AND THE WAITER."

Just as out of the ordinary and as artificial as its name, the feature picture, "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," at the Capitol Theatre for the first half of this week, is one of those productions which are so absolutely different from the majority of pictures, with the difference accentuated in every item that no flaws can be picked in it. Of course, no man would ever act like Adolphe Menjou acts in it, and no lady would kick the gentleman who loved her, like the Grand Duchess did. It is extremely doubtful, also, if a Russian noblewoman of the imperious quality of the star in this picture, would really fall in love with a waiter in a hotel, and allow him to embrace her. But all these things happen in the picture, and make it, as the advertisements term it, a "frisky French farce" that is really entertaining.

In less adept hands than those of Florence Vidor and Adolphe Menjou, the thing would be absolutely flat. It is the insouciant quality of the gentleman and the picturesque atmosphere of the lady, combined with undeniable artistic acting that gives it a flavour like the frosting on a pink and white cake.

When the sprightly Albert Belfort, attending the opera, saw a lady whom he fancied immensely, he sent her a note, requesting an introduction. The scornful denial of his plea left him absolutely unmoved, and, forsaking his companions without a moment's regret, he made his way to her hotel, where he took the suite of rooms directly below her apartments. Then he undertook the role of a waiter, and finally became her personal attendant, in which part he was compelled to perform many menial tasks. The jaunty bearing of the gay Adolphe, who, although he grows old, still retains his undeniable flair for acting of this artificial type, remains intact through divers embarassing situations, and the temper of the Grand Duchess suffers under the strain. Her uncle and cousin, the Grand Dukes Paul and Peter, and her attendant, the Countess Prascovia Avaloff, are other notable additions to a well-balanced and very satisfying cast.

Florence Vidor is regally beautiful in the role of the Grand Duchess Zenia Pavlovna. She wears her ears plain and her hair in a close-fitting bob. Her gowns are wonderful, carrying out excellently the very artificial quality of the whole production, which is entertaining from start to finish.—Jeanette.

Teeth Made White —Glorious, Gleaming

Please accept 10-day tube to try

Your gums like coral to contrast them—just remove that dingy film, see what happens.

* * *

Modern dental science now has found a way that restores "off-color" teeth to clearness, that gives toneless gums a healthy coral tint.

Famous movie stars use this way before going on a scene. That's why movie smiles glisten so. Leading dentists urge it widely. For it protects the teeth and firms tender gums.

It is called Pepsodent—a new-type tooth paste that works by removing the dingy film coat from teeth that old-time dentifrices did not clear off successfully. That's why brushing fails you.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel that film. A slippery coating that absorbs discolorations and keeps your teeth off color, that breeds bacteria by the millions and invites tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea.

Remove it and you will be amazed at what you see. Discard old ways now. Get Pepsodent at any drug store. Or send coupon for 10-day tube to try.

AT THE REGENT

OTIS HARLAN BEGAN HIS STAGE CAREER WITH "EAST LYNNE."

Chubby Comedian in Screen Version of "Lightnin'" Became Celebrity Early.

Otis Harlan, one of the most popular comedians of the American stage and screen funster of wide renown, who plays the character comedy role of "Zeb" in the William Fox screen transcription of John Golden's successful stage play, "Lightnin'," which opened at the Regent Theatre last night, played his first part with a travelling stock company—the role of "Little Willie in the melodramatic "East Lynne."

This first fling behind the footlights took place in the town of his birth, Zanesville, Ohio, and from that time on Otis entertained one ambition—to make his name on the stage.

After his debut on the stage in 1887, Mr. Harlan was taken under the wing of Charles H. Hoyt, who later starred him in many musical productions. When Col. Selig started picture production in Chicago, and chose the Hoyt farces for screen vehicles, Otis was summoned and he portrayed the leading roles in these films.

Although a long time friend of Director Ford, the role in the Golden story was the first time the chubby actor ever went through the paces for him. The role of "Zeb" is essentially one demanding a sound understanding of humor with which Otis Harlan is thoroughly familiar.

SPECIAL MEETINGS HELD IN TABERNACLE

Rev. D. N. Cameron Starts Series of Sermons on Gospel of John.

Rev. D. N. Cameron of Toronto opened last night a series of special services continuing for two weeks. After a fifteen minute song service beginning at 7:45. The scripture lesson was read, John 1:1-18, fololwed by a solo by Mrs. E. V. Warne, entitled "Jesus is the One You Need."

Mr. L. G. Edwards introduced the special speaker, who said he felt sure God wanted him here. First, because the enemy of souls tried in different ways to prevent his coming to Peterborough; second, he was satisfied it was God's will for him to be here.

He purposed in this series of meetings to open up the Gospel according to John, basing his remarks on verse 12, chapter 1. He first asked "Why were there only four Gospels? Each was written for a special purpose. Matthew depicted Jesus as the Messiah of the Jews, Mark as the "Servant, "Luke as the "Son of Man," and John as the "Son of God." Each gospel was for a different class of people.

"The faith of John's Gospel was in these words: These words were written that ye might believe. The world must know Jesus as Christ. Many are glad to speak of Jesus the Man, but they do not want Him as the Christ of God in their lives.

"God took up the small section of humanity known as the Jew, through whom the Messiah of the world was to come. But when His Son came into the world in human form He said in a grieved voice, He came unto His own, and His own received Him not.

"There is a lot of superficiality in the Church today. Many of his professed followers taking part in questionable amusements and going to places where the Holy Ghost was not leading them.

"What does it mean to receive Jesus? The devil is busy these days trying to blind and mislead mankind. You cannot receive the person of Jesus and know Him and believe in Him unless He becomes a part of your being.

"God's will for man is that we one and all should dwell with Him through all eternity. He is waiting for you to take Jesus as your personal Saviour, and as your Keeper."

The meeting closed with a bright testimony service.

Young Nurses Reminded Of Right To Bob Hair

Among the many congratulations and good wishes bestowed on the graduating nurses, were frequent reminders, especially from the younger set, that the prohibition of bobbed hair which is enforced by the hospital authorities on undergraduate nurses did not apply to those who had completed their training. One of the new graduates, being reminded of this last night, replied, "Yes, I'm having mine bobbed to-morrow."

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of my Dear Mother, Mrs. Susan Ann Rose, who passed away on June 8, 1922.

One precious to our hearts has gone,
The voice we loved is still,
The place made vacant in our home,
Can never more be filled.
Our Father in His wisdom called
The boon His love had given,
And though on earth the body lies,
The soul is safe in Heaven.
—Inserted by her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Rose.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Lillian Edith Peters, beloved wife of Arthur Blodgett, who passed away June 8th, 1925:

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went away,
There is someone who thinks of you every day,
But tries to be brave and content.

I often sit and think of you,
When I am all alone,
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.

She is gone but not forgotten,
Never shall her memory fade.
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger,
Around the grave where she is laid.
—Ever remembered by her husband.

LADIES WILL SING IN UNITED CHURCH

Female Voice Choir To Give Concert in Lakefield.

At a recent business meeting of the Female Voice Choir, it was decided to go to Lakefield on Thursday evening of this week, to give a concert in the United Church there.

At this meeting, the presentation of a silver sugar and cream set was made to Mrs. C. Cheu, in recognition of her kindness in allowing the choir to practise at her home throughout the winter months. The presentation was made by Mrs. F. McFarlane, and the accompanying address was read by Mrs. R. Bugg. The presentation was acknowledged in appropriate terms by Mrs. Cheu.

The ladies of the choir, to the number of about thirty, were entertained recently at the home of Mrs F. McFarlane, 555 Gilchrist Street, on the occasion of a tea given by Mrs. MacFarlane in honor of Mrs. R. Bugg. An address was read by Mrs. Cheu, expressing the appreciation of the choir members for the untiring efforts in behalf of the choir exerted by Mrs. Bugg, the director.

SENATE SAVED MILLIONS, SAYS SENATOR ROSS

By Preventing Construction of Many C.N.R. Branch Lines.

TOTAL $15,000,000.

Arrangements With Provinces and C.P.R. Saved Country's Money.

OTTAWA, June 8 (Canadian Press).—In the Senate last night Senator W. B. Ross read a memorandum on the saving effected by the Senate in the National Railway branch line construction. In 1924, he said, seven branch lines were rejected by the Senate and these would have entailed an expenditure of $12,249,000. Arrangements were made with the provinces and two of these roads were afterwards constructed, but the action of the Senate resulted in a saving of at least $11,633,000. Two other roads, the Kingsclear and Vanceboro railways and the Kamloops-Kelowna Railway were passed with conditions whereby joint arrangements could be made with the Canadian Pacific which eliminated much construction. The saving effected in these two roads was estimated at $4,236,000 or a total saving through the Senate's action of over $15,000,000.

ESTIMATES FOR COMPLETION OF THE HUDSON BAY RAILWAY ARE GIVEN BY HON C. A. DUNNING

Will Cost $26,353,000 To Finish Railway and Harbor Works.

MANY INTERRUPTIONS.

Says Government Not Committed To Expenditure on This Estimate.

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Hon. C. A. Dunning submitted to the House yesterday an engineering estimate of $26,353,000 for completing the Hudson Bay Railway and harbor works and elevator at Port Nelson for accommodation for ten seven thousand-ton ships. The estimate was made out as follows:

To complete the railways.	$6,153,000
Harbor works and elevator at Port Nelson — accommodation for 10 ships	20,200,000
Total	$26,353,000

Mr. Dunning added that he did not give this estimate as an expenditure to which the Government was committed. It was the policy of the Government to build the road as economically as possible in order that a fair trial might be made of the route.

The feasibility of the line was beyond question, said the Minister, and there were extensive possibilities of development along the route in pulpwood, mineral and fish products as well as in Arctic trade. Mr. Dunning was interrupted several times regarding the ultimate destination.

"The Government has not any intention of changing to another port at the present time," said Mr. Dunning.

Hon. H. H. Stevens asked what was necessary in the way of equipment such as vessels and aids to navigation in order to test the route. Mr. Dunning said he was unable to give the complete figures in answer to this question, but that aids to navigation would not be as extensive as had been thought necessary. A lighthouse at the entrance to Nelson channel was provided for in the estimate.

The Minister read from a memorandum made in 1918 by R. A. C. Henry of the economics branch of the Canadian National Railway, in which it was stated that navigation on the bay route was at its best in September and October. This, with ordinary aids to navigation, could be extended into November, making a two and a half month season. Conditions on the Bay route were not so different from the Great Lakes as might be supposed. Mr. Henry's memorandum estimated that 5,000,000 bushels each season would be required to meet operating expenses and 10,000,000 bushels to meet operating expenses and fixed charges at 3 per cent. on the money invested on the basis of a $20,000,000 investment.

Hon. R. B. Bennett (Conservative, Calgary West) pointed out that this memorandum had been made in 1918 before the Western movement of wheat had commenced.

Replying to questions regarding the amounts already spent, Mr. Dunning said this totalled $21,189,000, of which $15,000,000 was on the railway and $6,000,000 on the port.

Regarding the condition of the line, the Minister said, that from Le Pas to Mile 214 it was possible for a train to pass, although it might not be suitable for heavy traffic. From Mile 214 to Mile 332 there had been no train over the tracks for many years, and it was in very bad shape. It was difficult to estimate the amount of work that would be required on twisted rails, etc. "The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, and it is my hope—although it is only a hope—to complete the rail work this year," said the Minister. He was asking the committee simply to put the track in condition.

G. B. Nicholson (Conservative, Algoma East) said that for the expenditure of half the money in the vote a test of the feasibility of this scheme could be made. The straits, he said, should be tested with ships, and this could be done without completing the railway.

Hon. Robert Rogers (Conservative, Winnipeg South) said that the question of the Hudson Bay Railway had been a matter of great consideration in the prairie provinces for many years. The hopes of the people of Western Canada were centered on that route as being an outlet through which they could get their produce to the markets of the world at reduced rates.

300 Die Of Starvation Remainder Eat Comrades

NOME, Alaska, June 9 (Associated Press).—A tale of deaths from starvation and of cannibalism is told by Captain Ira Rank of the motor ship Trader, who has just returned from a trading cruise among the islands in Bering Sea.

Captain Rank says 300 natives at Indian Point, Siberia, across Bering Straits from Alaska, died of starvation last winter and that those of the natives who survived ate their comrades, relatives and dogs. Many of the natives killed their wives and children with knives and then committed suicide to end their misery.

The natives on the Siberian coast, Captain Rank declares, depend entirely upon their guns to provide the necessaries of life. These were taken from them by the Soviet Government, who feared an uprising.

CONFIDENCE IN TARIFF BOARD IS EXPRESSED

President of Manufacturers' Association Says It Will Deal Fairly.

FOR GOOD OF CANADA.

Necessary To Bridge Gap Between Them and Rest of Country He Says.

TORONTO, Ont., June 9.—(Canadian Press).) — Confidence that the new tariff advisory board would deal fairly with the problems which it will be called upon to face, keeping in mind a broad Canadian attitude in decisions, was expressed by various speakers at to-day's session of the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

President J. H. Fortier, Quebec, Que., believed that the members of the board had already taken on their responsibilities of representing all the country and he was not entirely pessimistic regarding outcome of the appointment of the Board. "I think Gentlemen, that when you take your cases to the Commission, you will be well received," he said.

Regarding the relation of manufacturers to the rest of the country, the speaker said, "What we want is to show ourselves in a proper light to all other classes in the country. Our case is their case; their case is ours. If we could bridge over the gap that appears to exist we would have accomplished something worth while for the good of Canada."

Hon. E. J. Davis, Newmarket, declared that there had been an insistent demand for a tariff commission during the past few years he declared that co-operation was evident in Canada to-day and therefore suggested a "Canadian Development Committee" composed of men of broad vision, tactful in judgment, to meet the representatives of the farmers and other classes to discuss matters of interest to all.

S. R. Parsons, Toronto, past president of the C. M. A., expressed doubts as to the efficiency of the Tariff Board. "We believe in a policy of protection. What are we going to get out of a tariff board controlled by a government pledged toward free-trade," he queried.

Gordon Cockshutt, Brantford, of the Woollens Association, said that the woollen manufacturers were in favour of supporting the tariff board in order to ascertain a scientific basis for fixing tariffs.

Reductions during the past year in operating expenses principally in transportation and maintenance of way and structures, resulting in greater net operating revenues than in either 1923 or 1924, was shown in the report of transportation committee.

Dealing with the tariff, Jean Rolland, Montreal, said that it seems incredible that Canada should go on year after year lowering her tariffs and throwing open her markets to other countries when these countries are steadily increasing their tariffs and shutting out our goods, other than raw materials, from their markets.

Considerable discussion followed the reading of both the transportation and tariff committee reports.

Deer Swims Six Miles; Then Becomes Exhausted

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 9.— (Canadian Press.) — A three year old deer which apparently had swam across the bay from Welcome Islands, six miles, was rescued from drowning by men employed on dredging operations at the north end breakwater. The animal was almost exhausted, bewildered and had lost all sense of direction when taken from the water.

SIX FOREIGNERS ASK CITIZENSHIP

Applicants For Naturalization Show Creditable Knowledge of Canada.

HAVE GOOD RECORDS.

The Court Room of the County Buildings had the atmosphere of an elementary school at one stage of proceedings in the June Sessions of the Peace yesterday. Six foreigners—five Italians and a Pole—had made applications for naturalization before His Honor Judge. Huycke and the lawyers handling the application—J. Wearing and V. J. McElderry—put a number of questions to show the extent of their clients attainments in the English language and Canadian institutions. Mr. Wearing asked some of his clients questions like this: Who is Prime Minister of Canada? Tell me the name of some of the members of the City Council. Who is Premier of Ontario? What kind of government has Canada? The candidates in general showed a fair knowledge of the subjects under review.

His Honor, while reserving his final decision, intimated that the probabilty was that the applcations would be granted, the records of those asking the privilege, being found to be very creditable.

THREE NATIONS WOULD ADJOURN ARMS MEETING

British and United States Delegates Will Oppose Adjournment.

GENEVA CONFERENCE.

Follows Suggestion That Military and Navy Questtions Be Examined By Experts.

GENEVA, June 9 (Canadian Press)—Pressure to adjourn the present disarmament meeting continues. The French suggest one month, Sweden, six weeks, and Italy, three months. This demand follows upon the British suggestion that the military, naval and air questions should be examined by experts. The British aim is gradually to separate the subjects and pave the way for a special naval conference, within the scope of the general league disarmament efforts The British and United States delegates undoubtedly will oppose adjournment.

The discussion yesterday centred on the point in the French memorandum concerning the characteristics of land araments, which seeks to combine land and naval armaments. The chairman of the committee of experts ruled that as the same point in naval armaments characteristics has been reserved for later discussion, this procedure should be followed with respect to land armaments.

The British delegate demanded that the committee stop working in what he termed "a vicious circle, and come down to earth, and define what armaments are, instead of concentrating on secondary matters.

The committee, however, decided not to change the existing procedure but to continue the debate on naval characteristics. It adopted third clause of the French document respecting these, but reached a deadlock on the clause which describes naval armaments as designed to protect the merchant marine and as indispensable to a country whose territories are linked to the home land by maritime communications.

France wants sufficient force, especially submarines to maintain communications between the mother country and the African territories.

ASK TAX CUT.

Provincial Premiers Wish Excise Lowered on Liquor They Handle.

OTTAWA, June 9.— (Canadian Press.)—The conference of Provincial premiers to-day passed a resolution asking the Federal government to cut to one third its taxes on wines and spirits made in Canada and sold to Provincial government agencies to reduce to one-half the tax on wines and spirits imported by these agencies.

Judge Huycke Unable To Congratulate City On Absence of Crime

Regrets Increase of Crime in Recent Years and Tells the Grand Jury Its Duty Is To See That Law and Order Are Respected.

MRS. DWYER PLEADS "NOT GUILTY" OF NEGLECT TO FEED CHILDREN

Judge Says Lawful Excuse May Be Sickness, or Extreme Poverty—Crown Prosecutor Opens Case With Plea For Impartial Weighing of Evidence.

With a large crowd filling the Court Room, the trial began this morning before His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke at the June Sessions of the Peace, held in the County Buildings, of Mrs. Mary Dwyer of Dummer, charged with neglecting to provide necessaries contrary to sections 242-244 of the Criminal Code.

Grand Jury Instructed.

Continuing his charge to the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon, His Honor said, the Grand jury had to hear all the witnesses. If at any time, they decided there was a proper case, there would be no need to examine the remaining witnesses. But before deciding that a resonable case had not been made out, it was necessary that they should examine all the witnesses. If they decided to send the prisoner to trial, they would return a "True Bill." If for reasons that seemed good to them, they decided that a prima facie case had not been made out, their duty was to return "No Bill."

This said, His Honor, was the general procedure. If they were in doubt at any time, he would be glad to assist them. They were to use their own common sense, and knowledge of humanity and conditions in general. They were called upon to act, because they were looked upon as gentlemen of probity, experience, and, best of all, common sense. They were there to protect innocent people and to see that persons guilty of crimes were brought to trial.

Three or four criminal cases would be brought before them.

Can't Believe Everything.

Of some of these cases he knew very little, of others nothing at all. In consideration of these cases they must discard from their minds all that they had heard of gossip, all that they had read in the newspaper accouts, and be guided solely by commonsense. They could not always depend on everything they saw in the newspapers. With all due respect to the newspapermen present, he said, reporters at times made mistakes, and further their accounts were frequently garbled by others who handled the reports.

The first case was a serious one, indeed, a charge of arson—wilfully setting fire to a building. His Honor read the legal definition of arson to the grand jury. They had to remember that the action had to be proved wilful before a charge of arson could be sustained.

In the other charges two individuals were each charged with failure to provide the necessary things of life for his children. Much of the evidence in the other case would be a duplication. The charge was failure to provide the necessities for their children "without lawful excuse."

That was a broad expression and they would require to use common sense in interpreting it. A lawful excuse might be sickness, extreme poverty or a combination of circumstances. A child was presumed to be helpless. If death was caused or life endangered or health injured by such omission, it was for the jury to find if "lawful excuse" was absent.

He asked them to consider all these things and not to allow themselves to be swayed by sympathy.

He had mentioned the criminal cases first. They could take up one of them and go to their rooms to consider it. But there were other matters to be brought before their attention. They were general overseers not only of the peace, but to a certain extent of the property of the people. It was their privilege and duty to visit the institutions that received public funds and to see that the buildings and inmates received proper attention and consideration. He urged them to be free, frank and conscientious, to ask questions. If they found all was right let them say so. If not, it was their duty to make recommendations which would be placed in the proper quarters, where these recommendations would receive attention. They had to look after public expenditure, to see that enough was spent, and that it was properly spent.

Although there were only two or three cases before them, said His Honor, he did not feel that he could congratulate the country on the absence of crime, nor could he even congratulate the community on this account. He was afraid that respect for the law was diminishing. He regretted to see an increase of crime in recent years.

It was the duty of the Grand Jury to see that in this court law and order would be respected.

True Bill.

After being out more than two hours the jury returned true bills against both Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer, and the trial is proceeding.

On being arraigned, Mrs. Dwyer, through her counsel, F. D. Kerr, K. C., pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Dwyer, who wore a black suit, appeared nervous and depressed. J. K. McKay, Toronto, and G. W. Hatton appeared for the Crown.

The Jury.

The following jury was empanelled: R. Fawcett, Harvey, W. E. McIlmoyle, Smith; L. Brown, Smith, J. Logan, Peterboro; M. Condon, Otonabee; W. McNaughton, Smith; L. Wrightley, Belmont. J. Chambers, Otonabee; A. Davis, Peterboro; A. F. Inch, Smith, S. Wainwright, Peterboro; H. E. Connolly, Peterboro.

LAVOIE KNITTERS NOW GOING TO HULL SAYS OTTAWA STORY

Journal Reports Factory To Employ 300 in Space of 6,000 Feet.

TO PURCHASE BONDS.

Council Receives News With Jubilation—Hastings Block Reported Bought.

The following report is from yesterday's Ottawa Journal. A few days ago it was announced that Hastings had secured the Lavoie factory and that the Howard block there had been purchased for $10,000. The Hastings report, however, put the number of employees, mostly girls, at 25 or 30, whereas Hull claims 300 families will be employed:

"OTTAWA, June 8.—Bringing approximately 300 families to the city, a new industrial plant is to move to Hull from Peterborough, according to plans laid before Hull City Council at its regular meeting last night.

The firm is the Lavoie Knitting, Ltd., which was recently re-organized and incorporated for $1,000,000.

Hull Council last night received communication from the firm in which it was stated that the reorganized company is desirous of establishing its plant in the city, and seeks factory space of between 6,000 and 7,000 feet flooring.

Make Bathing Suits and Hose.

The Lavoie Company officials informed the Council that they are negotating to purchase Hull City bonds to the value of $13,600 from the L. G. Beaubien Company, of Montreal, at $101.50. The firm, now established in Peterborough, manufactures bathing suits, golf and other knitted hose, jerseys, sweaters, etc.

Hull Council received the news with jubilation, and the city clerk was authorized to write and invite the company to write to Hull, setting forth the city's fine industrial possibilities. In the meantime the city assessor will seek suitable factory space for the firm. It is understood that the Lavoie Knitters, Limited, has between 250 and 300 employees on its payrolls, and may increase its plant and staff when established in Hull."

Four Indian Chiefs On Secret Mission To King

WINNIPEG, Man., June 9. — (Canadian Press).—A party of four Indian chiefs passed through Winnipeg yesterday, bound for England, where they will seek an audience with King George. They declined to divulge the nature of their mission.

The party consists of Mrs. Charles Williams, Chief Chillichisa, Chief Basil David and Chief William Pierish, all of Kamloops, B.C. Chief Chillichisa, who is 70 years of age, is making his fifth trip across the Atlantic.

RED LAKE LINE BILL HELD OVER

Federal Railway Committee Wishes to Consult Ontario Government.

OTTAWA, June 9. Canadian Press. — The Railway Committee of the House of Commons to-day decided to hold over the bill for the construction of a railway from Quibell, Ont., on the Canadian National into the gold mining distrite of Red Lake. The committee took this action in order that the view of the Ontario government in regard to the bill might be obtained before proceeding further. The bill was before the committee some weeks ago, and then defeated. In the House, however, the bill was again referred to the committee.

A committee of Canadian National Railway officials is at work studying the problem of motor bus competition, Sir Henry Thornton told the National Railways Committee this morning. The competition of motor vehicles had become serious on short distance runs. The passenger competition was most severe but freight transportation by bus was growing rapidly. The committee of executives had been at work since last Fall, Sir Henry stated.

YOUNG PEOPLES' ORGANIZATIONS IN SABBATH SCHOOLS DISRUPT HOME RELATIONS SAYS MINISTER

Book Named "The Story of Our Bible" Will Be Removed.

CAUSED STORM.

MONTREAL, June 9 (Canadian Press) — "These organizations are doing as much to disrupt the home as any agency I know," Dr. James Wilson, Brompton, Ont., declared to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada yesterday afternoon during the course of an assailment of young people's organizations in the Sabbath schools and churches, of a social and recreative character. The charge came during a discussion of a recommendation that Dr. W. M. Kannawin be relieved of the ministry of St. John's Church, Hamilton, and be appointed paid secretary of the Board of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies at a salary of four thousand dollars a year, which was subsequently adopted. Dr. Kannawin has been convenor of the board for the past year.

Dr. Wilson opposed the recommendation and declared a large part of the work of the board did not lie within the church's scope at all. A great part that had been done in the past should have been left undone. He suggested the young people be left alone for a while, and the home allowed to function as it should. Explaining his charge, Dr Wilson said that in many homes fathers and mothers were trying to retain parental authority over their children and refusing them to accept distracting invitations But when an invitation came from the church, the children were allowed to attend and the breaking of the home ties was commenced.

Dr. Wilson moved an amendment to the recommendation to the effect that a paid secretary be not appointed at this time, and was seconded by W. Orr Milligan, Sydney Mines, Nova Scotia.

Dr. E. B. Wyllie, Ottawa, supported Dr. Wilson, and referred to a religious education conference which had been held in Ottawa before Union. There were teen age girls there and so far as he knew they learned little except to sing songs of this nature:

"I am a little wrinkled prune,
"If I am not stewed, I will be soon."

Dr. Wyllie said it was not a question of doing nothing, but the work could be carried on for another year without a paid official.

The fear of erecting a bureaucracy of officials found expression many times during the discussion, as it has often during the Assembly. It was charged that this was the handicap of the old church. However, apparently the Assembly agreed with Rev W. G. Brown of Saskatchewan when he said: "Let us not swing to the opposite direction and say we don't need any officials at all." Dr. Banks Nelson, also fearing an official bureaucracy, felt constrained, after saying Dr Kannawin would be leaving a higher salary for a lower one, that he could not see how the church could do without one Sabbath school secretary.

Rev. Norman MacEachern, making the recommendation, said the previous Presbyterian body had a staff of ten or twelve and a budget of $52,000 a year to do the work Dr. Kannawin had done at an expense of $100 a month for a stenographer and mailing expenses.

Rev. C. L. Cowan, Hamilton, told that when the convenor took over the work a year ago there was not a Sunday school record available; now they could be had from coast to coast.

W. Orr Milligan, seconder of the amendment, feared the organization growth and expense generally developed from the appointment of one official and thought the work properly lay with the Presbyteries He cited the Sydney Presbytery, where Rev. Mr. Thompson had established four Sunday schools. "We need to go slowly at present," he declared.

All speakers were agreed on pay-

Young Man Takes Poison Mother Collapses Of Shock

LONDON, Ont., June 9 (Canadian Press). — Cleveland R. Mitchell, prominent grocer, stepped into the lobby of the Y.M.C.A. at noon to-day, took a drink from a bottle, and died in less than half an hour in the hospital from the effects of carbolic acid. Overcome by shock at the fate of her son, the mother of the dead man collapsed, and she was removed to the hospital where her son died. Mitchell was 28 years of age. The motive for his act is unknown.

NATIONAL I.O.D.E. CHAPTER HEARS ANNUAL REPORTS

Educational Secretary Speaks of Sorry Spectacle of Sectional Struggles.

CANADA'S PROBLEM.

Assimilation of Many Nationalities Taken Up at Meeting.

ST. JOHN, June 9. —(Canadian Press).—The sorry spectacle, which so often appeals to the thing Canadian, of the different parts of the Dominion, struggling for their different interests, or disregarding the claims of others," was the way Miss W. Gordon, of Kingston, Ontario, National Educational Secretary, described the situation in this country in her annual report submitted today at the forenoon session of the second day of the annual meeting of the National Chapter of Canada Imperial Daughters of the Empire.

The report of the commission on Immigration presented by Mrs. C. C. Hearn, of Brandon, Man., dealt with Canada's great problem in assimilating the representatives of 57 nationalties, which have settled in the Dominion; the necessity of keeping Canada thoroughly Canadian and British, and of combatting Communist propaganda, especially in the schools.

FINDS CARETAKER LYING IN BASEMENT

Librarian Discovers John Mathieson on Floor—Stroke Believed Cause.

Last night John Mathieson, the caretaker of the Public Library, did not come home to supper at his usual time, so his wife became worried, and after waiting some little time she 'phone Mr. Dela Fosse, the librarian, and told him that her husband was not home. Mr. Dela Fosse, on looking around the building, found Mr. Mathieson lying on the floor in the basement and bleeding badly. It is thought that he had a stroke, and it was stated that he was in a very low condition this morning.

FOURTH REMAND.

Men Charged With Serious Offence Will Appear on on Friday.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., June 9. Canadian Press. — A fourth remand was granted this morning in the case of the four men held for an attack upon a 20 year old stenographer over three weeks ago. Friday next was the date set for the preliminary hearing, it being announced to-day that no further remands would be requested, the girl having recovered sufficiently to be able to attend court on Friday.

CLEAN WINDSHIELDS AND GLASSES.

Would you ever choose to drive in a wet, blinding storm when you could ride just as readily in the bright sunshine behind a clean windshield? Of course you wouldn't. And yet some folks voluntarily suffer from inefficient vision (and a host of other disorders traceable to the eyes) when a pair of becoming glasses will make the whole world bright and clear for them. See W. H. Lacey, Optometrist, 410 George street. For evening appointment phone 1160-1084J.

Brilliant Weather Pleases Five Hundred British Girls Who Will Be Presented To-night At First Royal Court

LONDON, June 9 (United Press)—Brilliant weather today augured social good fortune for 500 debutantes, including about half a dozen American girls, who tonight will line up at Buckingham Palace for the privilege of courtesying before King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales.

The occasion will be the first of the season's royal courts scheduled for May but postponed because of the general strike. Long before sun down limousines containing the social buds, their mammas or sponsors, and in some cases a man, will stretch for hundreds of yards from the palace gates.

Gradually the procession will work in the Palace yards, the debutantes and others will get down and the Lord Chamberlain will run his eye over each costume to make sure that none meet the Queen with unbecoming or immodest dress.

Approximately 1,200 guests will be present, 1,000 of them women.

SPECIAL SPEAKER HOLDING SERVICES

Rev. D. N. Cameron is Preaching at Bethany Tabernacle.

Rev. D. N. Cameron last night at Bethany Tabernacle spoke on the "New Birth," basing his message on John 3:3. "We need to know the Word of God in its very truth," he said, "if we want to see where the dividing line is in every statement in the Word. Our case is hopeless if we do not know Jesus as the Son of God. What would you do if you had no other message to tell you of the promised Messiah than you find in the Old Testament. Yet that was all the disciples had, yet Andrew and Philip could say we have found the Messiah. Why did not the rest of Israel see in Him the Promised One.

"The promise to the woman Eden and all down through the Old Testament revealed that some one was coming to fulfil God's promise repeated over and over again by the Psalmist and the Prophets. This was the message of Jesus. Up to Matthew, chapter 12, He appealed to the Jews, but they said He was from Beelzebub. From that time He spoke to and taught His disciples what His mission was to the earth. From that time He spoke to Gentiles such as the Syro-Phoenician woman and others. In John, chapter 3, Jesus takes a Jew of the Jews and teaches him what the law and the prophets said of Him. If any man could get to Heaven by ritual and ceremony surely this man could. But Jesus said to Nicodemus 'Ye must be born again before ye can enter heaven.'

"In this chapter, John 3, you get the Gospel proclaimed to every nation, Jew and Gentile. You cannot get out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of light by your own efforts. Out of the best families and Christian homes many of our worst criminals have come. We do not inherit goodness from the best of parents because we are by nature born in sin.

"Your church cannot save your soul from hell. The only way is by the new birth. We are not saved by the will of man, but by the Holy Ghost. Nicodemus is a type of the respectable, religious man, yet he needed the new birth.

"What is the new birth? It is being transplanted from one condition of life to another. So we need to be born from above to be a new creature in Christ Jesus. In chapter 2 we find just common water changed into good wine by a word from Jesus. So He speaks to the common sinner. This same Jesus by a word can say 'Thy sins are forgiven' and at once the transaction has taken place. If you are born again you will know it just as the child newly born knows it is alive."

Convenors of Different Committees Are Appointed at Meeting.

REPORT GIVEN.

A meeting of the registered nurses of the city, with several visitors from District No. 6, was held at St. Joseph's Hospital last evening, when a business session was folowed by a pleasant social hour and the service of refreshments by the staff nurses of the hospital.

The organization of District No. 6 was perfected at this meeting. Miss McGrath was appointed as the representative of the Private Duty session, Mrs. E. Leeson as convenor of the Nominating committee, Miss L. Simons convenor of the Programme committee, and Miss Tait, of Belleville General Hospital, as convenor of the Membership committee.

Miss M. Ferguson gave a fine report of the proceedings at the annual meeting, held in Belleville in April.

Mass Production Cuts Truck Costs

Sales of Graham Brothers Trucks have reached such enormous figures that buyers profit by unequaled low initial costs.

Only mass production, unapproached building and buying power, plus years of experience, could produce a truck so staunch and sturdy at so low a figure.

STOCK FRAUDS LEAD ALL

Of all robberies of the public that of the fraudulent salesman of stock is the greatest, credit men have determined. Loss from stock fraud is four times the loss from burglary, grand larceny and petty theft. It leads that of forgery ten times and trade frauds four times. At the present rate it is large enough to pay off the national debt in twenty years.

OX USED IN SOUTH AMERICA

In Venezuela and Columbia oxen still are widely used as beasts of burden. They are slow but they are sure and will pack more than a mule. In Ecuador as many as 32 oxen are poked together for pulling especially heavy loads.

TENDERS FOR COAL AND WOOD.

Sealed Tenders marked "Tender for Coal" will be received by the undersigned until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving time) on Monday, June 21st, 1926, for the supply and delivery of the coal and wood required for the Parliament and Departmental Buildings, Normal and Model Schools, Toronto, and the Normal Schools at Ottawa, London, Peterborough, Hamilton, Stratford, North Bay, Sturgeon Falls, Sandwich, EmBrun, Monteith, Brantford School for Blind and Belleville School for Deaf, for the twelve months ending 30th of June, 1927.

Forms of tender and specifications will be supplied on application to the Secretary of the Department of Public Works, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

GEO. HOGARTH,
Deputy Minister of Public Works, Ontario.

Brilliant Weather Pleases Five Hundred British Girls Who Will Be Presented To-night At First Royal Court

LONDON, June 9 (United Press)—Brilliant weather today augured social good fortune for 500 debutantes, including about half a dozen American girls, who tonight will line up at Buckingham Palace for the privilege of courtesying before King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales.

The occasion will be the first of the season's royal courts scheduled for May but postponed because of the general strike. Long before sun down limousines containing the social buds, their mammas or sponsors, and in some cases a man, will stretch for hundreds of yards from the palace gates.

Gradually the procession will work in the Palace yards, the debutantes and others will get down and the Lord Chamberlain will run his eye over each costume to make sure that none meet the Queen with unbecoming or immodest dress.

Approximately 1,200 guests will be present, 1,000 of them women.

SPECIAL SPEAKER HOLDING SERVICES

Rev. D. N. Cameron is Preaching at Bethany Tabernacle.

Rev. D. N. Cameron last night at Bethany Tabernacle spoke on the "New Birth," basing his message on John 3:3. "We need to know the Word of God in its very truth," he said, "if we want to see where the dividing line is in every statement in the Word. Our case is hopeless if we do not know Jesus as the Son of God. What would you do if you had no other message to tell you of the promised Messiah than you find in the Old Testament. Yet that was all the disciples had, yet Andrew and Philip could say we have found the Messiah. Why did not the rest of Israel see in Him the Promised One.

"The promise to the woman Eden and all down through the Old Testament revealed that some one was coming to fulfil God's promise repeated over and over again by the Psalmist and the Prophets. This was the message of Jesus. Up to Matthew, chapter 12, He appealed to the Jews, but they said He was from Beelzebub. From that time He spoke to and taught His disciples what His mission was to the earth. From that time He spoke to Gentiles such as the Syro-Phoenician woman and others. In John, chapter 3, Jesus takes a Jew of the Jews and teaches him what the law and the prophets said of Him. If any man could get to Heaven by ritual and ceremony surely this man could. But Jesus said to Nicodemus 'Ye must be born again before ye can enter heaven.'

"In this chapter, John 3, you get the Gospel proclaimed to every nation, Jew and Gentile. You cannot get out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of light by your own efforts. Out of the best families and Christian homes many of our worst criminals have come. We do not inherit goodness from the best of parents because we are by nature born in sin.

"Your church cannot save your soul from hell. The only way is by the new birth. We are not saved by the will of man, but by the Holy Ghost. Nicodemus is a type of the respectable, religious man, yet he needed the new birth.

"What is the new birth? It is being transplanted from one condition of life to another. So we need to be born from above to be a new creature in Christ Jesus. In chapter 2 we find just common water changed into good wine by a word from Jesus. So He speaks to the common sinner. This same Jesus by a word can say 'Thy sins are forgiven' and at once the transaction has taken place. If you are born again you will know it just as the child newly born knows it is alive."

NURSES CHOOSE DISTRICT HEADS

Convenors of Different Committees Are Appointed at Meeting.

REPORT GIVEN.

A meeting of the registered nurses of the city, with several visitors from District No. 6, was held at St. Joseph's Hospital last evening, when a business session was folowed by a pleasant social hour and the service of refreshments by the staff nurses of the hospital.

The organization of District No. 6 was perfected at this meeting. Miss McGrath was appointed as the representative of the Private Duty session, Mrs. E. Leeson as convenor of the Nominating committee, Miss L. Simons convenor of the Programme committee, and Miss Tait, of Belleville General Hospital, as convenor of the Membership committee.

Miss M. Ferguson gave a fine report of the proceedings at the annual meeting, held in Belleville in April.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1—The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as local improvements the following works on the streets and between the points hereinafter mentioned, and intends to specially assess part of the cost upon the lands abutting directly on the said works respectively.

2—The estimated cost of the said works respectively and the estimated amounts to be paid by the Corporation and the estimated special rate per foot frontage, are set out below:

Mass Production Cuts Truck Costs

Sales of Graham Brothers Trucks have reached such enormous figures that buyers profit by unequaled low initial costs.

Only mass production, unapproached building and buying power, plus years of experience, could produce a truck so staunch and sturdy at so low a figure.

OX USED IN SOUTH AMERICA

In Venezuela and Columbia oxen still are widely used as beasts of burden. They are slow but they are sure and will pack more than a mule. In Ecquador as many as 32 oxen are poked together for pulling especially heavy loads.

STOCK FRAUDS LEAD ALL

Of all robberies of the public that of the fraudulent salesman of stock is the greatest, credit men have determined. Loss from stock fraud is four times the loss from burglary, grand larceny and petty theft. It leads that of forgery ten times and trade frauds four times. At the present rate it is large enough to pay off the national debt in twenty years.

TENDERS FOR COAL AND WOOD.

Sealed Tenders marked "Tender for Coal" will be received by the undersigned until 12 o'clock noon (daylight saving time) on Monday, June 21st, 1926, for the supply and delivery of the coal and wood required for the Parliament and Departmental Buildings, Normal and Model Schools, Toronto, and the Normal Schools at Ottawa, London, Peterborough, Hamilton, Stratford, North Bay, Sturgeon Falls, Sandwich, EmBrun, Monteith, Brantford School for Blind and Belleville School for Deaf, for the twelve months ending 30th of June, 1927.

Brilliant Weather Pleases Five Hundred British Girls Who Will Be Presented To-night At First Royal Court

LONDON, June 9 (United Press)—Brilliant weather today augured social good fortune for 500 debutantes, including about half a dozen American girls, who tonight will line up at Buckingham Palace for the privilege of courtesying before King George, Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales.

The occasion will be the first of the season's royal courts scheduled for May but postponed because of the general strike. Long before sun down limousines containing the social buds, their mammas or sponsors, and in some cases a man, will stretch for hundreds of yards from the palace gates.

Gradually the procession will work in the Palace yards, the debutantes and others will get down and the Lord Chamberlain will run his eye over each costume to make sure that none meet the Queen with unbecoming or immodest dress.

Approximately 1,200 guests will be present, 1,000 of them women.

SPECIAL SPEAKER HOLDING SERVICES

Rev. D. N. Cameron is Preaching at Bethany Tabernacle.

Rev. D. N. Cameron last night at Bethany Tabernacle spoke on the "New Birth," basing his message on John 3:3. "We need to know the Word of God in its very truth," he said, "if we want to see where the dividing line is in every statement in the Word. Our case is hopeless if we do not know Jesus as the Son of God. What would you do if you had no other message to tell you of the promised Messiah than you find in the Old Testament. Yet that was all the disciples had, yet Andrew and Philip could say we have found the Messiah. Why did not the rest of Israel see in Him the Promised One.

"The promise to the woman Eden and all down through the Old Testament revealed that some one was coming to fulfil God's promise repeated over and over again by the Psalmist and the Prophets. This was the message of Jesus. Up to Matthew, chapter 12, He appealed to the Jews, but they said He was from Beelzebub. From that time He spoke to and taught His disciples what His mission was to the earth. From that time He spoke to Gentiles such as the Syro-Phoenician woman and others. In John, chapter 3, Jesus takes a Jew of the Jews and teaches him what the law and the prophets said of Him. If any man could get to Heaven by ritual and ceremony surely this man could. But Jesus said to Nicodemus 'Ye must be born again before ye can enter heaven.'

"In this chapter, John 3, you get the Gospel proclaimed to every nation, Jew and Gentile. You cannot get out of the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of light by your own efforts. Out of the best families and Christian homes many of our worst criminals have come. We do not inherit goodness from the best of parents because we are by nature born in sin.

"Your church cannot save your soul from hell. The only way is by the new birth. We are not saved by the will of man, but by the Holy Ghost. Nicodemus is a type of the respectable, religious man, yet he needed the new birth.

"What is the new birth? It is being transplanted from one condition of life to another. So we need to be born from above to be a new creature in Christ Jesus. In chapter 2 we find just common water changed into good wine by a word from Jesus. So He speaks to the common sinner. This same Jesus by a word can say 'Thy sins are forgiven' and at once the transaction has taken place. If you are born again you will know it just as the child newly born knows it is alive."

NURSES CHOOSE DISTRICT HEADS

Convenors of Different Committees Are Appointed at Meeting.

REPORT GIVEN.

A meeting of the registered nurses of the city, with several visitors from District No. 6, was held at St. Joseph's Hospital last evening, when a business session was folowed by a pleasant social hour and the service of refreshments by the staff nurses of the hospital.

The organization of District No. 6 was perfected at this meeting. Miss McGrath was appointed as the representative of the Private Duty session, Mrs. E. Leeson as convenor of the Nominating committee, Miss L. Simons convenor of the Programme committee, and Miss Tait, of Belleville General Hospital, as convenor of the Membership committee.

Miss M. Ferguson gave a fine report of the proceedings at the annual meeting, held in Belleville in April.

Mass Production Cuts Truck Costs

Sales of Graham Brothers Trucks have reached such enormous figures that buyers profit by unequaled low initial costs.

Only mass production, unapproached building and buying power, plus years of experience, could produce a truck so staunch and sturdy at so low a figure.

STOCK FRAUDS LEAD ALL

Of all robberies of the public that of the fraudulent salesman of stock is the greatest, credit men have determined. Loss from stock fraud is four times the loss from burglary, grand larceny and petty theft. It leads that of forgery ten times and trade frauds four times. At the present rate it is large enough to pay off the national debt in twenty years.

"BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES"

By MALCOLM DUART

COPYRIGHT 1926

The Characters and Situations in this Story are entirely fictional.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HARRY MORTON, attractive to women, unmarried, middle-aged and rich, is loved by his adopted daughter, AUDREY, and by NONA, a Toronto dancer.

His home is in Peterborough, but he maintains an apartment in Toronto.

Nona, appearing in a new production, has made a tremendous success on her opening night. Morton leaves her dressing room, to find Audrey and Parrish where he left them, in the auditorium of the theater, and Audrey tells him Parrish has become angry and gone home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLVII.

He drew her to the landing, just below the stage.

She glanced into his face. It was frowning, angrily.

"Don't be too cross, daddy," she said. "It was really my fault."

"No matter whose fault it was," he snapped. "He had no right to go away and leave you. What was it you did to him?"

She looked around for a chair. There was one at the head of the flight of steps, on the stage level, and she ascended to it, Morton following.

"I told him he wasn't REAL," she said, sitting down.

"We were talking, while the ushers threw up the seats, and banged around. I said I thought Nona was a real artist. He gave a little sneer. He said dancers and singers are just butterflies, and aren't worth much in the world."

Morton settled on the top step, in order to hear better.

"I suppose he doesn't like flowers, then, either," he commented.

"That's just what I said to him," she replied. "And I told him I thought he wasn't real, himself. First he was such a stick-in-the-mud, making up standards of his own for other people to live by, and then all of a sudden he became foolish, and ran around after a lot of little chorus girls who don't know anything! Then, because you called him down, he gets to be a stick-in-the-mud again."

She paused.

"What then?" inquired Morton.

"Then he got up and went away," said Audrey. "He wouldn't even say 'good-night'."

Morton's expression was divided between laughter and wrath.

"That fellow is as full of self esteem as a grapefruit is of juice," he pronounced.

"Let's have some supper," she said. "I'm famished."

Mr. Sunshine swung to Audrey's side, and took her arm. Morton walked with Nona to the stage exit.

"Come on up to my apartments," he proposed. "I'll 'phone for them to have something for us to eat."

Using the door-keepers' telephone, he called his butler, who sleepily responded. Morton briefly ordered a cold supper, with sandwiches and salad and wines, to be set out.

"It will be better than going to one of the restaurants," he said, returning to his party.

His car was waiting, and the four proceeded by way of silent side-streets to Morton's Toronto home.

They were admitted by the reproachful butler, whose eyes were swollen with the marks of early sleep.

"Don't wait for us," Morton told him. "If the food is ready, you can go back to bed."

Mr. Sunshine dropped his hat and stick on a chair, and gallantly steered Audrey by the elbow, to the dining room. Nona and Morton followed. The butler poured three cocktails. Standing, the two men drank to Nona, who sipped her own drink contentedly. Audrey pledged her in a glass of water.

"I never COULD drink," she sighed.

"Thank Providence!" supplemented her guardian.

They sat and talked and speculated over Nona's future until dawn came. Audrey's eyes were heavy, and her head dropped forward now and again. Each time she raised it with an apologetic smile.

"Poor child!" said Nona. "Let her go to bed!"

Audrey looked at her gratefully. "This is the latest I ever stayed up in my life," she said.

Morton filled the glasses that stood before Abe and Nona, from a bottle of sparkling wine.

"We'll adjourn then," he proposed, filling his own glass.

They tossed off the wine, and rising, told Audrey good-night.

"We'll catch an early taxi, and take Abe home," Morton said, "and after that you and I, Nona, will go for a little drive. Some fresh air won't hurt you."

Nona lay back languidly, and watched as the first rays of the sun lit the tree-tops.

"Happy?" asked Morton.

"Yes—and no." She rested her head upon his shoulder.

"Why aren't you?"

She breathed a sigh.

"Success isn't everything." She dreamily held up her hand before her. "My rings and pin and necklace are gone. They don't mean anything. That doesn't worry me. I suppose I've become a star. That's nice—but it isn't so much.

"Oh Harry!" She threw her arms around his neck. "What I want is happiness—contentment!"

"How are you going to find it?" he asked, absently. "How are any of us going to find it?"

He brooded a little time, the girl still holding to him.

"I've hunted happiness, too," he said, his voice so low that she scarcely could catch his words." And it seems the best I can do was to run away from unhappiness."

She twisted her head, so she could see his eyes.

"Can't I give you happiness, Harry?" she asked.

"Old wounds are deep ones, Nona, and they do not always heal. But your friendship has meant a great deal to me, Nona dear."

"Friendship! Friendship!" she cried. "Maybe it's only friendship with you, Harry. But don't you understand—I LOVE YOU!"

Suddenly she drooped, and bowing her head, she began to cry.

"There, there!" he said, soothingly. "You're tired out. We'll drive you home, now. Don't talk any more."

He drew her to him, and with the girl sobbing on his shoulder, he rapped on the glass and motioned to the driver to turn.

"Pleasant dreams!" he called, as he drove away.

* * *

Morton did not go to bed. Returning to his rooms, he bathed, shaved, changed his linen, and set forth for his office early, long before Audrey was astir.

There was no trace of fatigue in his eyes or face as he settled to the heap of papers that he drew from his desk. He was still busy when Parrish entered an hour later.

"Mr. Morton," said the young man, without preliminaries, "I'm going to quit again. And this time I'm really going to do it."

Morton waited.

"Did Miss Morton tell you what happened last night?" Parrish pursued.

The older man nodded.

"I shouldn't have left her, of course." Parrish was twisting his soft hat in his hands. "But I just can't stand it here. I'm going back to Peterborough and start all over again. I'm a failure, as things are."

"Sit down," Morton told him. The young man obeyed.

"I'll give you a note for the money I owe you," continued Parrish, "and I'll send you fifteen a week, regularly. I've tried to do all right, but I'm always blundering. I simply got started on the wrong foot."

"Sometimes that happens," admitted his employer. "But what is it that worries you?"

"It's just this." Parrish rested his arms upon the table and looked earnestly at Morton. "You know I love Miss Morton, don't you?"

"Yes," said the other.

"Well, I started out by making her angry—telling her what she ought to do. Then, because my feelings—" he laughed mirthlessly—"my precious feelings were hurt, I started running around, and drinking. And that was worse than ever.

"Then, when I quit making an ass of myself that way, I started in making myself a bore to her. I don't know why I started to lecture about dancers and singers last night. I didn't mean to do it. I'm just a fool."

Morton drew forth a pipe, and lighted it.

"Son," he said, "when miners dig up a precious stone from the ground, it isn't a pretty thing to look at. It is dull, and has rough edges, and its shape is lumpy. It doesn't shine until it has been pressed hard against a wheel, with abrasives on it. It is cut—cut deep. But when the stone-cutter is through, it is brilliant, and sells for a lot of money.

"Do you get what I'm driving at?"

Parrish looked at him dully.

Morton went on. "A young man needs polishing. It is contact with life that polishes him. Sometimes the abrasives hurt. Sometimes they develop flaws that make him worthless. But if he's the right stuff, he comes out, faceted and glittering, like the diamond, or sapphire, or aquamarine."

"I've been hurt," Parrish said.

"Go ahead and find a new job, if you want to."

Parrish arose, and slowly moved towards the door.

"Say goodbye to Miss Morton for me," he said. His lip was quivering.

The young man retreated. Morton lit his pipe again, and stood, smoking contemplatively, a full minute. Then he leisurely turned, and resumed inspection of the papers on his desk.

That night he went again with Audrey, to the theater where Nona danced.

The company had been in rehearsal all afternoon. The producer and his director had been busy with the pruning knife. Some of the numbers were missing from the second evening's performance.

Two or three of the performers had been released.

The production was shorter, and went with even greater snap and fire.

As before, Nona gathered the most enthusiastic plaudits of the crowd, and bowed again after she had exhausted the encores to her dances.

"Did you notice?" Audrey asked. "Her name is in the lights outside, tonight."

"It will be in lights a long time, I think," he replied.

He was shuffling the leaves of his program.

"Maybe," Audrey said, "it would have been better if we had invited Mr. Parrish to come. I'm sure he's sorry for the way he acted."

"Parrish," said Morton, "has quit. He's on the train now, on his way back to Peterborough."

BELMONT U.F.W.O. REGULAR MEETING

June Gathering Held at the Home of Mrs. J. Wright Last Week.

HAVELOCK, June .—The June meeting of the Belmont U.F.W.O. Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. Wright on June 3. The president, Mrs. J. F. McMillan, was able to take charge of the meeting after her recent illness.

The meeting was opened by singing "The Maple Leaf Forever." The roll call was answered by a reading by Mrs. William Smith, "When Women Stand United."

Arrangements were made for a strawberry festival to be held at the home of Mrs. William Smith, when a good programme will be given. The date will be announced later.

An invitation to meet the South Dummer Club at that place in July was accepted and it was decided to withdraw the July meeting of the Belmont Club.

A second reading by Mrs. William Smith and a reading by Mrs. J. F. McMillan were enjoyed by the gathering.

The meeting closed with singing.

HOUSE IS BURNED AT DOWNEYVILLE

Furniture All Carried Out in Time—Neighbors Give Warning.

DOWNEYVILLE, June 9. — The large frame house of Neil Powers, one mile east of Downeyville, was burned on Sunday. Mr. Powers, who is a bachelor, had just finished cooking his dinner when some of his neighbors who were returning home from church rushed in and told him that his house was on fire. The furniture in the house was saved, but the building, kitchen and woodshed are burned. The farm is owned by Edward Clancy, who moved to Lindsay a few weeks ago. He carried a little insurance on the building.

DR. EAKIN PRINCIPAL.

MONTREAL, June 9. (Canadian Press).—Dr. Thomas Eakin was appointed Principal of Knox College, Toronto, and Professor of Homiletics, by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada yesterday.

Stratford, Ont., was chosen as the meeting place of the General Assembly next year, to open the first Wednesday in June as usual.

Dr. J. N. Cunningham was appointed unanimously to the chair of New Testament Literature and Exegesis.

Dr. E. Lloyd Morrow of Knox Church, Ottawa, was appointed to the chair of Systematic Theology.

Young English Nobleman To Be Woollen Mill Hand

LONDON, June 9.—(United Press).—Christian Bahnsen Expensive Woollen Mills in Passaic, N.J., will soon have a new hand in the person of the Honorable Richard Dawnay, heir to Viscount Downe and an officer in His Majesty's Grenadier Guards. At least so goes the story in London. Dawnay is to marry Bahnsen, younger daughter of the Passaic Mill owner. The engagement was announced the other day and friends of the couple are confident that Dawnay will soon resign his guard's commission and beging to learn the woollen mill business, from the bottom. The wedding is scheduled for this summer and the Hon. Dick and his bride are expected to sail for the United States in October.

TWEED A.Y.P.A. IS ENTERTAINED

Members Say Farewell to Three People Leaving Village.

COMPANY PROSPERS

TWEED, June 9—The A.Y.P.A. of St. James Church was entertained at the home of George Thompson on Wednesday evening. A pleasant evening was spent in games, singing, music and other amusements. A feature of the evening was the part taken by two children, Stanley Luffman in Scotch dances, while Ana Thompson, aged six years, rendered music on organ and mouth-organ, which surprised those present.

Owing to removal from Tweed three members of the association were the recipients of gifts. Mrs. Charles Walton, who is moving to Toronto, was presented with two silver candlesticks. Miss Irene Walton received silver salt and pepper shakers, and Mr. George Coulter received an umbrella. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson received hearty cheers for the hospitality shown. Refreshments in plenty added to the occasion.

The Houston Company, Limited, of Tweed, has purchased the buildings and site of the local mills of the Steel Company of Canada at Belleville and will open up one of the largest planing and lumber mills, also sash and door factories in Ontario. The company has had a remarkable career in Tweed. It has helped Tweed prosper. The building of the Steel Company are on a fine site for a lumber mill, with the water and race facilities at hand and plenty of space for their operations.

J. F. Houston, Senior, member of the firm here, stated that their mills in Tweed would still operate.

WEDDING BELLS.

KENNEDY—HUNTER.

LAKEFIELD, June 8.—The marriage took place quietly this morning in St. Paul's Presbytery, of Alice, only daughter of Mrs. Mary Hunter, to Dr. M. P. Kennedy, son of Mrs. P. Kennedy. Rev. J. J. Garvey performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a becoming costume of honeydew canton crepe, with white crepe bangkok hat, with applique flowers of white velvet. She wore shoes of parchment shade, and hose to match.

Mr. Edward Kennedy of Douro was best man.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home to the guests, who numbered only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The honeymoon will be spent at "Ailsa Craig," Dr. Kennedy's cottage on Upper Stoney Lake. The bride travelled in ashes of roses crepe de chine, with small hat of the same shade. She wore black satin pumps, and a coat of sand French charmine with fur trimming.

The happy couple, who are well known in the village, have the good wishes of hosts of friends.

McINTYRE—CHAPMAN. DAVIDSON—CHAPMAN.

KEENE, June 9.—The eternal interest in June weddings was evinced in Keene last Wednesday, when the two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Chapman, of Otonabee, were the centre of interest in a double wedding in the former Methodist Church, when Miss Alice Chapman became the bride of Mr. Richard Stewart Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, and Miss Lily Chapman became the bride of Mr. David Nelson McIntyre, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McIntyre, all of Otonabee.

The church was decorated with a floral arch and profusions of apple blossoms, tulips, ferns and flowering plants, forming a background of rare beauty.

Precisely at four-thirty o'clock the pretty brides entered the church, accompanied by their father, preceded by Miss Gladys Stark, a dainty flower girl, to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Minnie Edwards on the organ and Mr. Alfred Fletcher on the violin.

The ceremony was performed jointly by the two local ministers, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin and Rev. John Archibald.

During the signing of the register the organist and violinist provided suitable music.

After the ceremony the guests, numbering about forty, motored to the home of the brides' parents, where a wedding luncheon was enjoyed.

The happy couples were the recipients of many congratulations, and toasts were proposed by the ministers present and responded to by the bridegrooms.

Short speeches were made by Mr. Fred. D. McIntyre, Mr. R. Davidson and Mr. William R. Chapman, emphasizing the good wishes and joy of the families concerned.

All the families concerned are long residents and well known in Otonabee, and the young couples have been prominent in social and community activities.

The grooms' gifts to the brides were beautiful pearl necklaces, and to the little flower girl, a lovely bar-pin; to Miss Minnie Edwards the grooms gave a beautiful white gold bar-pin, and to Mr. Alfred Fletcher a set of gold cuff links.

The wedding presents were many and costly, and the happy couples have the good wishes of the entire community.

The bridal party left by motor during the evening for a short honeymoon, and on their return will reside in Otonabee, where both grooms have well-equipped farms.

Among the guests were: Mrs. Alice Browne, Miss Hazel Browne, Mr. Frank Browne, Miss Roberta Eason, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McIntyre, the Misses Annie, Jean and Mabel McIntyre, Mr. Ross McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McIntyre, Mr. John Davidson, Mr. Archie Davidson and sister, Miss Davidson, Mrs. Robert Eason, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eason, Mr. Charlie Eason, Miss Margaret Eason, Miss Emmeline Eason, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stark and daughter Gladys, Miss Minnie Edwards, Rev. Andrew McLauchlin and Mrs. McLauchlin, Rev. John Archibald and Mrs. Archibald, Miss Eva Fife, Mr A. E. Fletcher.

MANLEY—HUMPHRIES.

A pretty wedding took place at 11 o'clock on Wednesday, June 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Humphries, Hastings, when their youngest daughter, Grace Thomson, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Gordon Manley, son of Mrs. J. H. Manley, Westwood. Rev. D. A. Thomson of Hastings officiated. The wedding march was played by Lilian, sister of the bride.

The bride, who was given away in marriage by her father, looked pretty in an embroidered white georgette dress and carried a bouquet of ophelia roses and lillies-of-the-valley.

After the ceremony a dainty dinner was served to immediate relatives and friends.

The bride was the recipient of many useful and pretty gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Manley will reside in Westwood.

For the ninety and nine

THE major illnesses of life come to comparatively few. But most people have "off color" days too frequently.

Out of the Motherland comes a secret of radiant day-to-day health and vigorous well-being. An occasional glass of Andrews—bubbling, sparkling, refreshing—that's the secret.

Andrews is health insurance.

It reduces "off color" days to a minimum. It keeps healthily happy the "ninety-and-nine".

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

CORINNE GRIFFITH Charming Film Star Secrets of her beautiful hair

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensie, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

Bon Ami—keeps kitchen-ware like new!

Take a little Bon Ami on a damp cloth, and give your aluminium kitchen-ware a few brisk rubs. You'll find that dirt and tarnish vanish like magic!

The soft Bon Ami Powder gently absorbs all grime—brings back the original lustre without making the slightest scratch on the smooth surface. That's why it's so good also for cleaning the inside as well as the outside of kettles or saucepans. Scars, even tiny ones, catch and hold the food, causing it to scorch—making the utensil harder to clean next time. But with Bon Ami you never need worry about scratching.

There's nothing like Bon Ami Cake and Powder for cleaning and polishing dozens of other things throughout the house! And it won't harm your hands!

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1926.

DANGER SPOTS.

At Belleville the other night a party of young people in a motor car mistook the approach to the Government dock for the road leading to a bridge and their car plunged over the end of the wharf into the water, three lives being lost.

There was no warning light at this point—in fact, no protection whatever.

In all parts of the country there must be similar dangerous places that are death-traps for the unwary.

For people familar with the neighborhood these points are perfectly safe, but in the interest of visitors it is desirable that some protection against accident should be provided.

Had there been a light at the Belleville dock the other night or had there been gates across the roadway, three useful young lives would have been spared.

ADVERTISING PETERBORO.

It is to be hoped that as many Peterboro citizens as possible will be able to participate in the Cleveland-Canada Day on Friday.

The occasion furnishes an unique opportunity to see one of the outstanding cities of the United States, and at the same time to do some useful publicity work on behalf of the Province in general and of this district in particular.

The Kawartha Lakes already attract many Clevelanders, so that the ground is broken for a successful campaign of propaganda that will considerably augment the influx of visitors from the Ohio city.

The more Ontario people visit Cleveland on Friday the more impressive will be the demonstration; similarly, the larger the Peterboro delegation the better the results will be for this district.

Peterboro's representatives should lose no chance of talking Peterboro and the Kawartha Lakes to every Clevelander with whom they come into contact—and judging from the programme laid out for the day, they will be given the opportunity to come into contact with a goodly number.

Peterboro is already well known in Cleveland; she should be much better known when Friday's celebration is over.

And while this useful work is going on in Ohio, the Kiwanis Club is widely advertising the Kawartha Lakes and this city at Montreal, where thousands of Kiwanians from all over the Continent are in convention.

THE TRENT CANAL.

The discussion that arose in the House of Commons last week in regard to the vote for Trent Canal improvements indicates that if the people in the district bordering on the waterway want to see the canal completed they have got to increase the pressure on Parliament.

Although a vote of $395,100, including a revote of $155,840, was passed by the House, the Government intimated that there was no present intention of completing the canal, and the waterway did not seem to have a friend in the House.

Mr. Bird, Progressive, complained that it was merely a waterway for pleasure craft.

Sir Henry Drayton declared that a good deal of money had been spent on the canal and more would have to be spent.

"The situation is," he explained, "that the works are there. They have been in existence for many years, and there are property rights and that sort of thing. It is an artificial structure for which the country is responsible. My honourable friend's policy apparently is the same as mine was, that is, never to spend money except to maintain these public properties in safe condition. There might be loss of life if we did not do that and damage might occur. If the Minister follows that course that is all he can be expected to do."

"That is all," agreed Hon. Chas. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals.

All that we can expect, therefore, is that the Government will keep the existing structure in repair, shelving the completion of the canal indefinitely.

If anything more is to be obtained the communities along the canal will have to get busy.

PICNIC REFUSE.

Tomorrow, with the consent of the weather man, pa and ma—thousands of them—will bundle the kids into the family flivver, stick a picnic ham, a bottle of pickles and what you may have under the back seat and go communing with nature. Nature is beautiful and it is admirable for the family to take a day out under the trees and admire her beauty. But leaving shoe boxes, tin cans, banana peels and other trash strewn around doesn't help the fair face of nature one bit. It is a curious thing how inconsistent some "lovers of the great outdoors" are. They rave of the beauties of nature, then go away, leaving a litter of papers or other refuse that spoils an ideal picnic spot for any others who might choose to have an outing there. And the tourists! For many the only common dumping ground is the side of the road. You can always tell the main road by the amount of rubbish along the sides. This free and easy disposition of picnic garbage is just plain selfishness. How often have you snorted with uptilted nose when you arrived at your most popular picnic retreat and found that nature vandals had been there before you? And when you moved on to some other spot, how careful were you to destroy all evidences of your own gustatory delights? Many of the most attractive picnicking spots in the district are closed to the public by their owners, not in a spirit of meanness, but simply because the owners have wearied of harvesting paper plates and rancid refuse on Monday mornings. If everybody would make it a habit of being as tidy outdoors as in one's own dining room, picnicking would be a delight for everybody. It's a great institution!—Hamilton Spectator.

The list of week-end automobile accidents is a tragic proof of the necessity of keeping everlastingly at the spreading of safety first propaganda.

LONG HOURS.

Those familiar with procedure at Ottawa have smiled at the recent protest of Mr. C. G. Coote, an Alberta member, against the decision of the government to introduce Wednesday evening sittings of the House. According to Mr. Coote, M.P.'s should not be asked to work nights at all. Could business be efficiently attended to by members who worked on committees in the morning and in the House afternoon and night? he asked.

The great trouble with Parliament is not that it works too many hours, but too few. Ordinarily, sessions commence at three in the afternoon and continue until six. If there are night sittings, the House resumes at eight o'clock and sits, probably, until eleven or perhaps twelve. As far as committees are concerned, they seldom if ever start their sessions before ten in the morning and sometimes do not sit in the morning at all. Committees are often in session simultaneously with the House.

So far as their duties in the House are concerned, members of Parliament are not overworked. Most of them have a good deal of correspondence to attend to, but a large part of this, necessarily, has to do with their private affairs. It would be easy to follow Mr. Coote's advice and dispense with night sittings, if the House would only get under way at a reasonable hour of the day. Fancy starting each day's proceedings at three in the afternoon. If ten o'clock, or even nine o'clock, in the morning were the hour set there would be no need for night sittings. Furthermore the House would be able to transact its business in far less time. Instead of sitting for four or five months it is probable that the session could be cut down to two, or, at the most, three months. This would save the country a tremendous amount of money. Not only that, but it would make for efficiency and would give private members more time to devote to their own affairs. The very length of present-day sessions is the thing that keeps many desirable men out of public life. They simply cannot afford to be away from their homes and businesses for the best part of the year.

Business men do not open their offices at three in the afternoon. Why, then, should the House of Commons not launch its daily program at a more reasonable and business-like hour? If committee sessions are to be held, let them be held simultaneously. Goodness knows there are enough members to look after both at once. As a matter of fact, the House of Commons is seldom more than half full. With 245 members elected, one more often than not sees only a hundred or less in their seats.

Parliament, of course, is far too large. That is one of the things that slows it up and results in nearly half a year being used for a program of business that should take not more than two months at the outside. When we get down to brass tacks and reduce the membership of the House to one hundred, and put that House on a real business-like basis, we shall have cleared away many of the objections that are now heard. In addition, we shall have done something that is long overdue and that is undoubtedly in the best interests of the country.—Border Cities Star.

NEGLECTED CANADIAN LANDMARKS.

Extensive and valuable though the work of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board has been in designating landmarks and preserving them from extinction, it is evident that its labours are by no means completed.

By those who are admirers of the memories of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir John A. Macdonald, those two statesmen who probably did more for Canada than any others who have wielded power since Confederation, it must be learned with regret that the boyhood homes of both have been completely neglected and that unless prompt steps are taken to ensure their preservation they are in danger of obliteration.

A contributor to the New Outlook living in the vicinity of Adolphustown mentions the fruitlessness of his efforts to interest successive Governments in the marking of the first Canadian home of Sir John. It was to a small frame house situated on the shore of Hay Bay that Sir John was brought as a child and it was there that he remained until the necessity for education prompted his removal to Kingston. This writer (Allan Ross Davis) mentions that the boyhood home of the statesman stood vacant for many years and was then burned, with the result that the sole reminder of its existence which now survives is the foundation upon which it stood. "Some years ago," he says, "we restored the first Methodist church erected in Canada just near the Macdonald plot which John A. regularly attended with his mother. I bought the half-acre Macdonald plot, to hand over to some organization for the restoration of the house and the erection of a suitable memorial. Nothing was done, however, until last summer when the Township Council of Adolphustown put up a printed sign-board to mark the place." Unless that is replaced by a more substantial memorial, it must perish as the house itself perished.

In the case of Sir Wilfrid's early home at Arthabaskaville, Professor W. F. Osborne of Winnipeg, not long since furnished the following description: "The Laurier House is a handsome brick structure standing on a fairly ample property that stretches up to the hillside. It is now unoccupied and gives evidence of not the slightest care. The lawns are much overgrown. The external woodwork is neglected, and it cost one a pang to see the home of a great Canadian quite untended. I was simply astounded when my courteous guide showed me to the rear verandah, where Sir Wilfrid loved to sit, his huge oaken rocking-chair standing there in absolute abandon."

Mr. Davis estimates that not more than $7,000 or $8,000 would be required to rebuild the Macdonald home, erect a cairn and tablet, fence and beautify the plot and provide for its maintenance by the local Historical Society. A similar outlay upon the Laurier home would make it an attractive place for tourists as well as for all of those who appreciate the services which that great statesman performed for Canada. This would not seem to be an excessive price to be paid in their memory by a country which owes not a little of its present prosperity to their efforts. If Governments do not feel justified in authorizing such an outlay, it would not be a difficult matter to obtain by public subscription the sum which is required. What organization will initiate such a fund?—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

There is one famous Clevelander who doesn't need any education as to the charms of the Peterboro district. That is Tris Speaker.

Political picnics are announced in several Ontario districts. Evidently some people believe there is going to be a Provincial election this fall.

A Kentucky girl slapped a parson's face when he preached against bobbed hair. "It's getting so," says the Border Cities Star, "that preachers are not safe when they discuss the great religious issues."

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, June 9 (Canadian Press)—Cattle 9,000; best matured steers 1065; light yearling heifers, 990; 625 paid freely for bolognas, vealers 1250 to 1300 to packers, outsiders 1350 to 1400.

Hogs, 22,000; bulk, 240 to 325 pound butchers 1415 to 60; good and choice 220 pounds down mostly 1470 to 1500; top 1500, bulk packing sows 1300 to 1350; majority sorted killing pigs, 1450 to 1500; shippers took 4,000, estimated holdover 14,000.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK

WINNIPEG, Man., June 9 (Canadian Press) — Receipts 540 cattle and calves, 600 hogs and 20 sheep and lambs.

There was a brisk demand for the light offerings on the cattle market, and prices were steady to 25c higher. One car of baby beef sold at prices ranging from $8 to $9, the top price for the season. In the hog market thick smooths advanced 25c to $14.50. Sheep and lambs inactive.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 9 (Canadian Press)—Corn proved strongest today in a general upturn of grain values. All around market effect of reported damage by drought were supplemented in the case of corn by results of the Iowa election which were regarded in some quarters as suggesting more likelihood of farm relief legislation. Corn closed firm 1 3-4 to 2 3-8 net higher with wheat unsettled 1-2 to 1c up, oats showing 3-8c to 1-2c to 1-8c gain and provisions at 15 to 27c advance. Far reaching lack of moisture and the fact that hog values today were the highest in five years were deemed by other observers to be mainly if not altogether responsible for the sustained upward swing of the corn market. Adverse field reports concerning oats had a strengthening influence both on oats and corn.

Liberal profit taking sales in the wheat market counteracted to a large degree fresh advices telling of crop injury in Kansas and of severe lack of moisture northward to Canada, especially west of the Mississippi River. The Kansas wheat crop was stated to have gone to pieces from Salina west to Hays. It was asserted that in this district which is exclusive of the portion of Kansas that has been dry all spring, the plant is drying up, a big part of the wheat will not even be cut by harvesters. On the other hand an official state report said Oklahoma this season would produce the second largest crop on record.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., June 9 (Canadian Press)—With prices bid by foreign buyers being in line with local exporters views, the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market was decidedly more active yesterday than it has been of late. Sales of No. 1 Northern wheat were made at seventeen cents per bushel over the Winnipeg July option and twenty-five to thirty loads of No. 2 Northern at thirteen cents per bushel over. No. 5 wheat was bought at 9 1-2 cents per bushel under, and No. 6 at 24 cents and 25 cents per bushel under, C.I.F. Montreal. There was also a fair demand for oats and sales of tough No. 2 Canadian western were made at 8 1-4 cents per bushel over the Winnipeg July option, C.I.F. Montreal.

The feature of the local trade in car lots of oats was the stronger feeling and prices were advanced one cent per bushel. The market for Canadian Western barley was also strong and prices advanced 1 1-2 to 2 cents per bushel. No. 4 Canadian Western being quoted at 76c, and feed grades at 73c per bushel, ex-store.

The demand for spring and winter wheat grades of flour was limited but prices were well maintained.

A moderate amount of business was worked in millfeed and the feeling was firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was steady and prices weer unchanged.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for potatoes, but the undertone was easy. This was attributed to the more liberal supplies of United States new crop potatoes coming forward and the falling off in the consumption of the old.

Wife Slapped His Face At Bridge, He Says When Her Card Could Not Beat His Queen

NEW YORK, June 9 — The Supreme Court has been called upon to decide whether a wife is justified in slapping her husband in a bridge game because he objects when she tries to take his trick. The unusual question is propounded in a suit filed by Dr. Ralph Almour for a separation from Marion Almour on the ground of cruelty. Her answer is that he abandoned her in their apartment in the Hotel Hamilton, West Seventy-third Street, without cause.

In an affidavit filed by Dr. Almour, who is an ear, nose and throat specialist, he said he married the defendant in 1921, and that his life since 1923 had been "marital torture." He charged that his wife had indulged in fits of passion and had "assaulted, beat and scratched plaintiff and on one occasion blackened his eye," these "attacks" being made "in the presence of mutual friends." He charged further that she threw crockery at him and once narrowly missed him with a gateleg table.

In support of his allegations Dr. Almour yesterday filed testimony of Dr. William Ginsberg of 333 West End Avenue, taken before the trial on an order from the Supreme Court. It concerned a bridge game in Dr. Ginsberg's apartment last December when Dr. Ginsberger, his associate, Dr. H. K. Taylor, and Dr. and Mrs. Almour were the players. Dr. Ginsberg said:

"Dr. Almour was my partner and Mrs. Almour was Dr. Taylors partner. Mrs. Almour was sitting to the left of Dr. Almour. During the course of the game I put down a spade. Dr. Almour put on a queen of spades, he being the highest. Mrs. Almour was the last, and she put on a spade which was lower than Dr. Almour's. She had apparently made an error, but she thought she was right and started to take Dr. Almour's trick. He said: 'That is my trick, Marion.' She said she made a mistake or some thing to that effect. Dr. Almour responded, 'That's my trick. Let's play the game fair.'

"Mrs. Almour then gave him a rather vicious slap across the face, which was more than a love tap. It certainly was a forceful slap. Dr. Almour's face became flushed and he was humiliated, but he quietly said, 'Marion, behave yourself.' The game went on, but the atmosphere was somewhat strained."

Dr. Almour left his wife soon after the incident. She asserts in her replying affidavits that she was not responsible for their differences.

Berlin Flappers Carry Parasols That Dazzle

BERLIN, Germany, June 9.—(Associated Press).—Flappers, constantly on the lookout for something startling, have blossomed out with chicken-feathered parasols dyed in colors so brilliant that for less fortunate pedestrians the glare is worse than that of the sun.

The parasols are made of colored silk, thatched with ordinary down of white hens, much in the manner of thatched roofs. The feathers are glued on the silks, and dyed or painted.

The most popular design is a huge red rose covering the entire parasol top, which in a breeze gives the fluffy effect of a dainty flower.

RUM SCHOONER SAILS UNDER FALSE NAME

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

American Coast Guards Advise Federal Authorities.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Masquerading up and down "rum row" under the musical but unregistered name of "Rose Marie" cost the Nova Scotia schooner Dorothy M. Smart, or rather her owners, one hundred dollars and costs in the Dartmouth police court yesterday when her skipper, Captain Michael Gillam, appeared in answer to a charge brought by the Federal authorities, of sailing under a false name.

The American coast guard officials were the informants. Some days ago the American patrol off Long Island sighted the Nova Scotia schooner showing the name "Rose Marie." Investigation disclosed the fact that there was no such vessel registered and the schooner was boarded. It was discovered that she was the Dorothy M. Smart, liquor laden, last out of Lunenburg. The American Government advised the Federal authorities at Ottawa and when the Dorothy M. Smart arrived here two days ago, she was arrested by customs authorities. At the trial today Captain Gillam pleaded guilty but stated he had acted within the law as he understood it. When he sailed from Lunenburg, he said, he heard that the Dorothy M. Smart was marked by hi-jackers and was warned to be prepared for an attack on the high seas. He studied the shipping laws and found, according to his interpretation, that when a vessel on the high seas is threatened by capture it is lawful to change the name. Thereupon he re-named the vessel the Rose Marie. He had never entered or left a port under the assumed name. Captain Gillam paid the fine.

OBITUARY.

ALBERT BIRD.

STIRLING, June 9.—Mr. Albert Bird, who was reported ill in the Belleville hospital, died in that institution on Wednesday last. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon. A short service was held at the residence of his son, Harry, in Trenton. From there they proceeded to Stirling, where a service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Robt. Simpson being in charge, assisted by the Rev. B. F. Byers, of St. John's Anglican Church. A large number of Oddfellows were present, the burial being under their auspices. Mr. Bird had been a member of the Order for over 40 years, having joined Belleville Lodge No. 81 when a resident there. Mr. Bird learned his trade as a machinist in Brown's Foundry in Belleville, 50 years ago, and was the only man in these parts that thoroughly understood boiler work and steam fitting, and had to do with the fittings of all the cheese factories for miles around, and will be greatly missed by those who required his services. He leaves two sons, Harry, in Trenton, and Walter in Toronto.

RETURN TRUE BILL AGAINST DWYERS

Faces Charges of Failing To Provide Necessaries For Children.

After two hours and fifteen minutes deliberation, the Grand Jury last night at 5.30, returned a true bill against George Dwyer, and against Mrs. Mary Dwyer, charged before Judge E. C. S. Huycke, at the June Sessions of the Peace held in the County buildings, with having failed to provide necessaries for their children.

George Dwyer was represented by J. F. Strickland, assisted by B. E. Park. F. D. Kerr, K.C., appears for Mrs. Dwyer and J. K. MacKay, prosecuting attorney from Toronto, is assisting Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., in the case for the Crown.

At the request of the defending counsel, His Honor before the adjournment directed the prosecution to furnish the details of the necessaries which, it is alleged, the accused failed to provide for their children.

The empanelling of the petit jury was held over until this morning at 10 o'clock.

RELIEF ON DOUBLE SUCCESSION DUTIES

Conference of Provincial Governments Pass Resolution Designed To Benefit Estates.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9. Canadian Press. — The conference of members and representatives of the provincial governments in which all the provinces but Alberta are represented, yesterday passed a resolution designed to provide relief for those estates which would suffer double taxation of succession duties.

A resolution was also adopted to relieve companies of some of the burdens where they have to make returns to more than one provincial government. The conference asked the Federal Government either to rescind its insurance legislation which was found ulta vires by the courts or have the question of jurisdiction finally decided by appeal to the Privy Council. The Federal government was asked to favorably consider extending relief to provinces of the Dominion which have not made the progress expected.

The Provincial premiers or their representatives were the guests of Baron Byng at luncheon at government house yesterday.

There were forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions, all of which were private, when there were frank discussions on the questions on which the resolutions were presented. Premier Ferguson presided.

"This conference expresses the view that the incorporation of companies for purely provincial purposes should not be undertaken by the Dominion," was one of the motions adopted. The other resolutions carried follow:

"That this conference expresses its sympathy with those provinces which, by reason of conditions peculiar to them, have not progressed as anticipated, and urges upon the Federal government that it should favorably consider affording relief to each of such provinces in a form that will ameliorate their conditions."

"Whereas it is desirable that corporations paying taxes under provincial corporations' tax acts should be relieved from the undue labor and expense involved in the compilation of returns based upon different incidences of taxation varying as to date of fyling, form of return and character of information required, apart from fixing any uniform rate of taxation.

"And whereas it appears that uniformity in such matters of administration can be best effected by collaboration between designated officers of the several provinces.

"This conference is of the opinion that such officers should be instructed to confer and report thereon to their several governments.

"That in order to remedy the evil of double taxation this conference is of opinion that legislation should be adopted by the several provinces authorizing the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council of each province to make an allowance or agreement in respect of the duties payable in any province regarding the property which has been the subject of succession duty in any other province or country."

"Whereas: The conflict of jurisdiction as between the Dominion and the provinces in matters of insurance legislation and regulation cannot be terminated so long as the Dominion declines to recognize the binding character of Privy Council decisions and to co-operate in securing a mutual delimitation of jurisdiction;

"And whereas, the licensing and other sections of the Insurance Act, 1917 (Dominion) were held ultra vires by a judgment of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario delivered the 19th February, 1926, (re Insurance Contract, 58 O.L.R. 404) in respect of which the Dominion has not entered notice of appeal.

"Now, therefore—this conference is of opinion that the Dominion should repeal its legislation regulating contracts of insurance and the business of insurance as ultra vires the legislative competence of the Parliament of Canada, or in the alternative, take immediate steps to appeal the decision of the Ontario courts to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council."

DAIRY INDUSTRY VERY BUSY NOW

Large Quantities of Milk Being Taken To Cheese Factories.

IN NORTHUMBERLAND.

COBOURG, June 9—It looks now as if the dairy industry in Northumberland County will be renumerative one for farmers this season. True some of the cheese factories did not start making cheese until a week or two later than is usual, owing to the backward season, but the price of cheese is satisfactory. Large quantities of milk are being received also at the factories, and it looks as if this part of the dairy industry will be better than for several seasons. The two Cobourg dairies and the Harwood creamery are also stated to be well launched on a successful season. Northumberland has long been regarded as a good dairy county and it does not appear likely to lose any of its prestige.

ADVOCATES TAX ON FOREIGN SHIPS

To Remove Discrimination Against Canadian Ships and Seamen.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9. Canadian Press. — Hon. J. P. B. Casgrain, speaking in the Senate yesterday, said there were many foreign vessels, including German and Norwegian, coming to the Great Lakes, each season, and remaining, plying for gain. The vessels paid no dues, even brought in their own supplies, did not employ Canadian seamen, and were very serious competitors to the inland Canadian mercantile marine. He advocated imposts on foreign ships to remove discrimination against Canadian ships, and Canadian seamen.

Senator Dandurand, government leader, asked the Senate to suspend judgment. If there were any injustice, he said, the law could be amended.

MUCH BUCKWHEAT IS SOWN THIS YEAR

Backward Spring Prevented Sowing of Spring Wheat.

COBOURG, July 9.—It is estimated that probably twenty per cent more buckwheat than is usual is being sowed in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham this year, owing to the difficult in getting the spring sown grain in early enough. Especially is this true of lakefront farms, where the ground was so wet the first part of the season, it was unable to get on some fields.

It is not expected that more than the usual acreage of potatoes will be planted. Farmers do not regard a high price this spring, and indication that a similar state of affairs will result another year.

The setting out of tomato plants is quite general this week as large quantities of there are grown for the canaries in this district. Considerable corn and peas are also raised for this purpose. It is not believed that the frost on Thursday night did any serious damage to the tomatoes.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH DEFEATS ST. JOHN'S

Win District Cup For Debating Three Years in Succession.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—The final debate in the A.Y.P.A. district series took place in St. Thomas Sunday School Hall on Monday evening, Mr. H. Stone, Vice-President of the local organization, occupying the chair.

Debaters from St. John's A.Y.P.A. Peterborough, and St. Thomas', Millbrook, were competing for the district cup, the last debate, which took place in Peterborough, some few weeks ago, having resulted in a tie.

The chairman made some explanatory remarks, and without further preliminaries, the subject was announced: "Resolved that the coal strike is fully justified, and in its results will be beneficial to the trade in general of Britain, and elsewhere", and the debate was called.

The speakers for the affirmative were Mr. Howard Jordan and Miss Luella Shaw, Millbrook, and for the negative, Messrs. Gordon Ham and D. McCrea, Peterborough. Both sides ably defended their cause, the decision in favor of the affirmative being announced by the senior judge Miss Shirley Muir, Principal of the local Continuation School.

Rev. D. R. Dewdney presented the cup to the winning side, and it now becomes the permanent possesion of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' church having been won by debaters from this organization three years in succession.

The local Association served refreshments, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close.

Mr. Jordan is president of the local A.Y.P.A. and Mrs. W. Hilton, secretary.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Reception Will Be Held For Honorary and Life Members.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 9. — (Canadan Press.)— Delegates arrived yesterday in great numbers for the preliminary opening of the thirty-third annual conference of the National Council of Women, being held in the Central Presbyterian Church here. Mrs. Horace Parsons, Toronto, the corresponding secretary, reached the city Monday and has everything in readiness for various meetings of the committees, which will take place to-day.

Miss Carrie Carmichael, of New Glasgow, N.S., the president, is also in the city and the delegates are being billeted with members of the affiliated societies as they arrive.

The committee convenors will prepare their reports for the open sessions and the sub-executive will meet on Thursday morning, the conference proper opening on Friday, on which occasion, following the ordinary routine, the president will give an address and a reception will be held for honorary and life members.

Various functions of a private nature have been arranged for the delegates while at the banquet on Thursday evening, Mayor L. D. Taylor will extend a civic welcome.

RUM SCHOONER SAILS UNDER FALSE NAME

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

American Coast Guards Advise Federal Authorities.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 9.—(Canadian Press.)— Masquerading up and down "rum row" under the musical but unregistered name of "Rose Marie" cost the Nova Scotia schooner Dorothy M. Smart, or rather her owners, one hundred dollars and costs in the Dartmouth police court yesterday when her skipper, Captain Michael Gillam, appeared in answer to a charge brought by the Federal authorities, of sailing under a false name.

The American coast guard officials were the informants. Some days ago the American patrol off Long Island sighted the Nova Scotia schooner showing the name "Rose Marie." Investigation disclosed the fact that there was no such vessel registered and the schooner was boarded. It was discovered that she was the Dorothy M. Smart, liquor laden, last out of Lunenburg. The American Government advised the Federal authorities at Ottawa and when the Dorothy M. Smart arrived here two days ago, she was arrested by customs authorities. At the trial today Captain Gillam pleaded guilty but stated he had acted within the law as he understood it. When he sailed from Lunenburg, he said, he heard that the Dorothy M. Smart was marked by hi-jackers and was warned to be prepared for an attack on the high seas. He studied the shipping laws and found, according to his interpretation, that when a vessel on the high seas is threatened by capture it is lawful to change the name. Thereupon he re-named the vessel the Rose Marie. He had never entered or left a port under the assumed name. Captain Gillam paid the fine.

OBITUARY.

ALBERT BIRD.

STIRLING, June 9.—Mr. Albert Bird, who was reported ill in the Belleville hospital, died in that institution on Wednesday last. The funeral took place on Friday afternoon. A short service was held at the residence of his son, Harry, in Trenton. From there they proceeded to Stirling, where a service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. Robt. Simpson being in charge, assisted by the Rev. B. F. Byers, of St. John's Anglican Church. A large number of Oddfellows were present, the burial being under their auspices. Mr. Bird had been a member of the Order for over 40 years, having joined Belleville Lodge No. 81 when a resident there. Mr. Bird learned his trade as a machinist in Brown's Foundry in Belleville, 50 years ago, and was the only man in these parts that thoroughly understood boiler work and steam fitting, and had to do with the fittings of all the cheese factories for miles around, and will be greatly missed by those who required his services. He leaves two sons, Harry, in Trenton, and Walter in Toronto.

RETURN TRUE BILL AGAINST DWYERS

Faces Charges of Failing To Provide Necessaries For Children.

After two hours and fifteen minutes deliberation, the Grand Jury last night at 5.30, returned a true bill against George Dwyer, and against Mrs. Mary Dwyer, charged before Judge E. C. S. Huycke, at the June Sessions of the Peace held in the County buildings, with having failed to provide necessaries for their children.

George Dwyer was represented by J. F. Strickland, assisted by B. E. Park, F. D. Kerr, K.C., appears for Mrs. Dwyer and J. K. MacKay, prosecuting attorney from Toronto, is assisting Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., in the case for the Crown.

At the request of the defending counsel, His Honor before the adjournment directed the prosecution to furnish the details of the necessaries which, it is alleged, the accused failed to provide for their children.

The empanelling of the petit jury was held over until this morning at 10 o'clock.

TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Fire Destroys Home—Parents Badly Injured in Attempted Rescue.

MONTREAL, June 9 (Canadian Pdess).—Paul Emile and Chyslaine Clouetre, seven and fourteen months old respectively, lost their lives when fire damaged their home at St. John's, Que., yesterday. The children were asphyxiated as they slept, and their parents were badly injured in attempting to rescue them.

RELIEF ON DOUBLE SUCCESSION DUTIES

Conference of Provincial Governments Pass Resolution Designed To Benefit Estates.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9. Canadian Press. — The conference of members and representatives of the provincial governments in which all the provinces but Alberta are represented, yesterday passed a resolution designed to provide relief for those estates which would suffer double taxation of succession duties.

A resolution was also adopted to relieve companies of some of the burdens where they have to make returns to more than one provincial government. The conference asked the Federal Government either to rescind its insurance legislation which was found ulta vires by the courts or have the question of jurisdiction finally decided by appeal to the Privy Council. The Federal government was asked to favorably consider extending relief to provinces of the Dominion which have not made the progress expected.

The Provincial premiers or their representatives were the guests of Baron Byng at luncheon at government house yesterday.

There were forenoon, afternoon and evening sessions, all of which were private, when there were frank discussions on the questions on which the resolutions were presented. Premier Ferguson presided.

"This conference expresses the view that the incorporation of companies for purely provincial purposes should not be undertaken by the Dominion," was one of the motions adopted. The other resolutions carried follow:

"That this conference expresses its sympathy with those provinces which, by reason of conditions peculiar to them, have not progressed as anticipated, and urges upon the Federal government that it should favorably consider affording relief to each of such provinces in a form that will ameliorate their conditions."

"Whereas it is desirable that corporations paying taxes under provincial corporations' tax acts should be relieved from the undue labor and expense involved in the compilation of returns based upon different incidences of taxation varying as to date of fyling, form of return and character of information required, apart from fixing any uniform rate of taxation.

"And whereas it appears that uniformity in such matters of administration can be best effected by collaboration between designated officers of the several provinces.

"This conference is of the opinion that such officers should be instructed to confer and report thereon to their several governments.

"That in order to remedy the evil of double taxation this conference is of opinion that legislation should be adopted by the several provinces authorizing the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council of each province to make an allowance or agreement in respect of the duties payable in any province regarding the property which has been the subject of succession duty in any other province or country."

"Whereas: The conflict of jurisdiction as between the Dominion and the provinces in matters of insurance legislation and regulation cannot be terminated so long as the Dominion declines to recognize the binding character of Privy Council decisions and to co-operate in securing a mutual delimitation of jurisdiction;

"And whereas, the licensing and other sections of the Insurance Act, 1917 (Dominion) were held ultra vires by a judgment of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario delivered the 19th February, 1926, (re Insurance Contract, 58 O.L.R. 404) in respect of which the Dominion has not entered notice of appeal.

"Now, therefore—this conference is of opinion that the Dominion should repeal its legislation regulating contracts of insurance and the business of insurance as ultra vires the legislative competence of the Parliament of Canada, or in the alternative, take immediate steps to appeal the decision of the Ontario courts to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council."

DAIRY INDUSTRY VERY BUSY NOW

Large Quantities of Milk Being Taken To Cheese Factories.

IN NORTHUMBERLAND.

COBOURG, June 9—It looks now as if the dairy industry in Northumberland County will be renumerative one for farmers this season. True some of the cheese factories did not start making cheese until a week or two later than is usual, owing to the backward season, but the price of cheese is satisfactory. Large qunatities of milk are being received also at the factories, and it looks as if this part of the dairy industry will be better than for several seasons. The two Cobourg dairies and the Harwood creamery are also stated to be well launched on a successful season. Northumberland has long been regarded as a good dairy county and it does not appear likely to lose any of its prestige.

ADVOCATES TAX ON FOREIGN SHIPS

To Remove Discrimination Against Canadian Ships and Seamen.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 9. Canadian Press. — Hon. J. P. B. Casgrain, speaking in the Senate yesterday, said there were many foreign vessels, including German and Norwegian, coming to the Great Lakes each season, and remaining, plying for gain. The vessels paid no dues, even brought in their own supplies, did not employ Canadian seamen, and were very serious competitors to the inland Canadian mercantile marine. He advocated imposts on foreign ships to remove discrimination against Canadian ships, and Canadian seamen.

Senator Dandurand, government leader, asked the Senate to suspend judgment. If there were any injustice, he said, the law could be amended.

MUCH BUCKWHEAT IS SOWN THIS YEAR

Backward Spring Prevented Sowing of Spring Wheat.

COBOURG, July 9.—It is estimated that probably twenty per cent more buckwheat than is usual is being sowed in the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham this year, owing to the difficult in getting the spring sown grain in early enough. Especially is this true of lakefront farms, where the ground was so wet the first part of the season, it was unable to get on some fields.

It is not expected that more than the usual acreage of potatoes will be planted. Farmers do not regard a high price this spring, and indication that a similar state of affairs will result another year.

The setting out of tomato plants is quite general this week as large quantities of there are grown for the canaries in this district. Considerable corn and peas are also raised for this purpose. It is not believed that the frost on Thursday night did any serious damage to the tomatoes.

SWALLOWS COLLAR PIN.

Fortunately Was Closed—Doctors Expect No Ill Effects.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 9. — (Canadian Press). — Although she swallowed a gold-plated collar pin which fortunately was closed, Madeline Mailhiot, aged three, daughter of a railroad conductor, is experiencing no internal inconvenience, and is expected by the attending physician, who is watching the case by means of frequent fludoroscopic examinations, to suffer no ill effects.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH DEFEATS ST. JOHN'S

Win District Cup For Debating Three Years in Succession.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—The final debate in the A.Y.P.A. district series took place in St. Thomas Sunday School Hall on Monday evening, Mr. H. Stone, Vice-President of the local organization, occupying the chair.

Debaters from St. John's A.Y.P.A. Peterborough, and St. Thomas', Millbrook, were competing for the district cup, the last debate, which took place in Peterborough, some few weeks ago, having resulted in a tie.

The chairman made some explanatory remarks, and without further preliminaries, the subject was announced: "Resolved that the coal strike is fully justified, and in its results will be beneficial to the trade in general of Britain, and elsewhere", and the debate was called.

The speakers for the affirmative were Mr. Howard Jordan and Miss Luella Shaw, Millbrook, and for the negative, Messrs. Gordon Ham and D. McCrea, Peterborough. Both sides ably defended their cause, the decision in favor of the affirmative being announced by the senior judge Miss Shirley Muir, Principal of the Local Continuation School.

Rev. D. R. Dewdney presented the cup to the winning side, and it now becomes the permanent possession of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' church having been won by debaters from this organization three years in succession.

The local Association served refreshments, and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed at the close.

Mr. Jordan is president of the local A.Y.P.A. and Mrs. W. Hilton, secretary.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Reception Will Be Held For Honorary and Life Members.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 9. — (Canadan Press.)— Delegates arrived yesterday in great numbers for the preliminary opening of the thirty-third annual conference of the National Council of Women, being held in the Central Presbyterian Church here. Mrs. Horace Parsons, Toronto, the corresponding secretary, reached the city Monday and has everything in readiness for various meetings of the committees, which will take place to-day.

Miss Carrie Carmichael, of New Glasgow, N.S., the president, is also in the city and the delegates are being billeted with members of the affiliated societies as they arrive.

The committee convenors will prepare their reports for the open sessions and the sub-executive will meet on Thursday morning, the conference proper opening on Friday, on which occasion, following the ordinary routine, the president will give an address and a reception will be held for honorary and life members.

Various functions of a private nature have been arranged for the delegates while at the banquet on Thursday evening, Mayor L. D. Taylor will extend a civic welcome.

SURPRISE PARTY ON ANNIVERSARY

Friends Gather To Celebrate Silver Wedding of Millbrook People.

GIFTS PRESENTED.

MILLBROOK, June 9.—A surprise party of over one hundred guests arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williamson on Thursday evening to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

The "bride and groom" warmly welcomed their self-invited guests, some of whom had come quite a distance for the gathering, and a jolly time was spent in community singing, and with other entertainment, before the formal programme began.

Rev. F. H. Howard was chairman, and made a brief address congratulating the host and hostess on having the pleasure of reaching their Silver Wedding Day, and having such a host of relatives and friends to join with them in celebrating the happy occasion.

The programme included the following items:

Song, Mr. R. Hendry, Peterborough; reading, Miss Pearl Lamb; solo, Mr. W. H. Coombe; reading, Miss Mary Howard; song, Mr. R. Hendry, reading, Miss Gertrude Gray.

Brief addresses were made by Councillor R. J. McKnight, Messrs. J. H. George, R. H. Hubbard, Edwin Moore, J. Douglas, H. Argue, J. Steel, and N. Lamb.

Midway in the programme Mr. and Mrs. Williamson were asked to take seats in the midst of the company, when the chairman read the following address, and they were presented with a cabinet of silver, a silver fern jardinere, a silver bread tray, and silver salt and pepper sahkers, the gifts being tastefully arranged on a table close by.

To Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Williamson:

Dear Friends,

We are glad, with you, to remember with gratitude the twenty-fifth return of the anniversary of your wedding-day.

As much as any father, God enjoys responding to the proper desires of His children. The prayer and blessing of the minister who officiated at your marriage has been largely answered.

He prayed: "God the Father, God the Son, God the Holy Spirit, bless, preserve and keep you. The Lord mercifully with His favor look upon you, and so fill you with all spiritual benediction and grace that you may live together in this life, and in the world to come have life everlasting.

You are preserved, you live together, and your union has been blessed with children. Doubtless you, like the rest of us, recognize that you have not realized all the good His blessings and provisions have made possible, yet the thoughtfulness occasions like the present lead us to assures both you and us that "He abideth faithful,' and that "goodness and mercy have followed us all the days of our lives," and that He desires us to abide in His home forever.

Gratitude, gladness, rejoicing, are fitting praise to God at such a time as this. Therefore your loved ones and friends have come to make merry with you, and to signalize this event by presenting you with this cabinet of silver, and bouquet of roses, that both you and they may constantly remember "God is good, and blessed is the man that trusteth in Him."

Signed by the committee on behalf of many friends:

Orvil Williamson, W. H. Coombe, R. H. Hubbeard, Alfred Coulter, A. L. Fallis.

Millbrook, June 3rd, 1926.

Immediately following the presentation of the silver Mrs. Williamson was given a beautiful sheaf of roses, and at the conclusion of the address telegrams from friends at a distance who were unable to attend were read, including one from an absent son, Mr. Austin Williamson.

Mr. Williamson made suitable reply on behalf of his wife and himself, and all joined in singing, "They are jolly, good fellows."

The committee in charge served the guests during the supper hour, assisted by a number of young people, and it was some time afterward before the gathering finally broke, warm congratulations and good wishes being repeatedly expressed as the guests bade their host and hostess farewell.

Mr. and Mr. G. Hay of Campbellford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. George, "Hillcrest Farm," Fallis Line, last week.

Miss Lulu Hurd, who has been making an extended stay with her aunt in Brandon, Man., has returned home. Her cousin, Miss Rod. of Oshawa, who remained with Mrs. Hurd during her daughter's absence, left for her home last week.

Miss Ethel Hatherly, of Toronto, who has been ill in the General Hospital of that city, is convalescing at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hatherly, Main street.

Very Appropriate Names For Heads Of Committees

BARRE, Mass., Ju- 9.—(United News.)—For the annual cattle show, to be held here in September, these rather appropriately named committee chairmen have been chosen: Howard J. Rose, flowers; Glyde H. Swan, poultry; S. R. Dean, school work; Mrs. Alfred Taylor, needle work.

ESTIMATES FOR COMPLETION

Mr. Rogers declared that the statement of Mr. Dunning would be read with great regret by the people of Western Canada. The people of the West had had their hopes raised, even by Mr. Dunning himself, who, stated Mr. Rogers, had said that a fair trial could not be given of the Hudson Bay Railway while steel was 90 miles from Hudson Bay. Yet Mr. Dunning now stated that the three million dollar vote now before the House was to put the line in operation from Le Pas to Kettle Rapids, ninety-two miles from Port Nelson.

"Apparently no provision has been made by my hon. friend for the extension of the railway on to the Bay," said Mr. Rogers. This was where the disappointment would be. Mr. Dunning had told the people of Saskatchewan that the 92 miles from Kettle Rapids to Port Nelson would be constructed. The people of the West were too tired of being put off by promises.

The Conservative party had completed 332 miles of the railway from Le Pas to Kettle Rapids, and had graded the line from Kettle Rapids to Port Nelson. "This work would have been completed had it not been for war conditions," said Mr. Rogers.

Mr. Dunning interjected to state that work on the Hudson Bay Railway was discontinued in October, 1918.

"I'm not responsible for conditions under the Union Government," retorted Mr. Rogers.

Continuing, Mr. Rogers said that the Hudson Bay route was the natural outlet for the products of the West. Interference with freight rates by way of increases in the Western provinces had added to the cost of transportation there. Mr. Rogers said it was his duty to urge that such assistance be given as would complete the undertaking in order that conditions under which the people of Western Canada were suffering would be relieved.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR YOUR INDIGESTION

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestents

Most people who suffer either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestents, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or two tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and without the slightest pain or discomfort. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get pure Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

ing tribute to Dr. Kannawin. Others in support of his appointment were Rev. A. . Budge, Hagersville, Ont., Rev. W. F. McConnell, Toronto, who was astonished to hear the words spoken by a man of such scholarship and attainments as Dr. Wilson; and J. W. Marshall, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Dr. Alex. Esler, Vancouver, B.C., opposed the appointment, supporting the stand of Dr. Wilson "most heartily."

The report of the Board of Sabbath schools was adopted.

A suggestion for co-operation with the United Church came from Dr. S. Banks Nelson, who, on recommendation of the Home Mission body that Rev. D. A. Smith, Vancouver, be made superintendent of Chinese work in Canada, pointed out that the man formerly in charge had gone with the United Church and perhaps it would be possible to begin co-operation in this branch of work. There were murmurs of dissent, on which Dr. Nelson humorously commented:

"Not now; Then the millenium won't be here soon."

There was a demand for synodical missionaries for Northern Ontario from Rev. R. M. Hanna, Thornbury, Ont., and James Patterson, Englehart, Ont., who declared that part of the country was being neglected, although it had a large number of people who wished to remain Presbyterian.

A resolution of Rev. J. O Ralston, Presbytery of Winnipeg, that the Synod of Manitoba be joined with the Synod of Saskatchewan and that one organizer do the work, was withdrawn, when it was found that owing to an error it would interfere with somewhat similar home missions recommendations.

Dr. A. S. Grant was re-appointed secretary of the Board of Home Missions. The recommendations of the Board of Foreign Missions, presented by Rev. N. H. McGillivray noted that the "United Church has refused to recognize the relative strength of the negotiating units or to consent to any division of the foreign fields without reference to the mission council." The recommendations given and adopted provided for appointment of a board to press, before the Federal commission, "Our Church's claims for its due portion of the work already established."

The home mission recommendations had not been adopted at the close of the afternoon session. They provided among other things, "That this board recommend the continuance of the system of synodical missionaries and that the men who are now in these positions be re-appointed for the coming year.

"That missionary work be earnestly carried forward amongst all non-English speaking peoples in Canada to the end that our country be established as righteous. (Brought in by a special committee on French work)

It was explained by Rev. Norman McEachern that the book, "The Story of Our Bible," reading of extracts from which caused a storm Monday night, had been placed on the recommended list for young people through error. He explained that under the extreme conditions everything had been done with great haste and it was a wonder a score of errors had not occurred rather than one. The book would be removed. The Assembly accepted the explanation and passed a resolution thanking the board on Sabbath schools for the work they had done during the year. The resolution was moved by Rev. Duncan Campbell, Chilliwack, B.C., who declared he felt ashamed, after listening to the remarkable report, of the exhibition which had taken place.

PLAY IN CAVAN.

Bailieboro Young People Present Enjoyable Entertainment.

CAVAN, June 9.— On Friday evening, June 4th, the young people of the Bailieboro Epworth League presented their play, "The Poor Married Man", in Cavan Committee Hall under the auspices of the Cavan Women's Institute.

Rev. Mr. Foley of the Frazerville circuit acted as chairman. The play was interesting and humourous throughout and the parts were well taken.

Between acts there were good musical numbers. A solo and encore by Mr. Frank Dawson, piano solo by Miss Viola White; solo, Eldridge White; duet and encore the Misses Dorothy and Margaret Falls; solo an encore, Miss Margaret Falls; also a recitation was given by Miss Ethel Falls.

The crowd was only fair as there are so many plays and garden parties being given just now in the surrounding district.

Ice Guessing Contest

MRS. E. McINTOSH WINS ICE GUESSING CONTEST

On Saturday, at 3 o'clock, the Mayor unlocked the Barnet Refrigerator and found 72 lbs. of ice, only using 28 lbs. in 2½ days. The box of matches that was locked in the Refrigerator were found to be absolutely dry and would light on walls of ice chamber. Only a Barnet can do this. The eleven walls of insulation serve to keep the heat out and the cold in.

INSTITUTE MEETING HELD IN ROSENEATH

Department Delegate Lectures To Large Assembly—Oldest Member Present.

ROSENEATH, June 9.—On Friday afternoon, June 4, Roseneath Women's Institute met in the Town Hall. The hall was nicely decorated for the occasion and the attendance was large. The Fenella Women's Institute were invited and many were present. Mrs. Cook of Beamsville was the delegate sent by the department to address the women of the community.

The President, Mrs. Lily Turner, conducted the meeting, which opened by everybody singing "The Maple Leaf," with Mrs. C. W. Varcoe at the piano. The programme was as follows:

Mrs. Lottie Nichol gave a splendid paper on Institute work; a song by little Gwendolyn Varcoe was greatly enjoyed; a duet by Mesdames James Brown and M. Davey, "Until We Meet Again"; a reading, "Beautifying the Home," by Mrs. Andrew Brown; an instrumental selection was given by Mrs. C. W. Varcoe; a recitation by Miss Bernice Brown; Mrs. Albert Nill of Fenella and District President, addressed the meeting and gave a few helpful instructions to the women workers in the Institute.

Mrs. S. Leach, the President of the Fenella Institute, was also present. In her address she thanked the Roseneath Institue for their invitation, and also stated how pleased she was to see the willingness with which the women worked in the Institute.

Mrs. Cook then took the platform and spoke for a few minutes on "Institute Activities." She urged the Institute to take advantage of the short courses put on by the Government, and stressing the necessity of having a school nurse, dentist and doctor visit the schools, which would improve the health standard of each pupil. She urged parents to take more interest in the young and mentioned ways in which parents can interest them in farm life, thus keeping them at home on the farms. She advocated having a teacher of domestic science to judge the children's cooking, sewing, etc. The teacher would give the children a short talk which would be interesting and beneficial. Mrs. Cook was in favor of federation of the Institutes, because one Institute cannot do very much to change unsatisfactory laws or conditions, but the thousand Institutes of Ontario united could accomplish much, and also much was to be learned at the federation convention held annually in Toronto. Mrs. Cook spoke for a time, pointing out so many ways in which people can be helpful and happy if they only manage to balance their own lives.

"We only own ourselves, so the balancing must be within ourselves. We may help others, especially by being cheerful. It is not necessary to try to reform our neighbors," said Mrs. Cook, "but to just pass on happiness." The business woman has an easier time doing this than the home-maker. The former has exact hours for sleep and recreation and eats proper food. To the housewife this seems more difficult, with housecleaning, mending, cooking and her children to look after, but it can be managed. The woman who works from morning to night does not strike a happy balance. She becomes a slave to work. She needs to leave her work behind, mix with other people and avoid getting into a rut by going to extremes. One of the most important things to all is the health and happiness of our families. If necessary rest is taken we can have a more serene mind. It is possible to have a clean house and be so tired mentally and physically as to be unable to enjoy it or allow our families to have any pleasure in their homes. We owe it to ourselves as to our houses to keep ourselves neat and serene, but we should get out and then come home fresh and rested. We must be temperate in our work, play and rest. We should read books and articles which will make us more interesting and better informed. A garden is a wonderful tonic for those mentally tired and is a good cure for nerves. Then we can receive our inspiration from our Church, Institute, books and friends. We must carry an open mind to learn. In every Institute there are members who can do some one thing better than others, and they can pass their methods on so that we can learn something new at each meeting.

Mrs. Cook's talk was very much enjoyed, the only regret being that her time was too short to hear more. At the close a dainty luncheon was served, when Mrs. Mary Brown, who is the oldest member of the Institute, poured coffee and Mrs. Robert Mouncey poured the tea. After the luncheon ice cream was served in abundance.

The next meeting will be held this week at the home of Mrs. Lottie Nichol on Wednesday, June 9.

DE COSTA READY TO BE DICTATOR

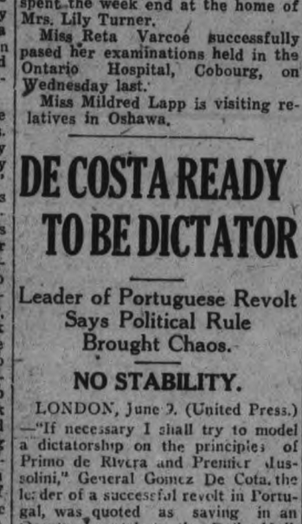
Leader of Portuguese Revolt Says Political Rule Brought Chaos.

NO STABILITY.

LONDON, June 9. (United Press.)—"If necessary I shall try to model a dictatorship on the principles of Primo de Rivera and Premier Mussolini," General Gomez De Cota, the leader of a successful revolt in Portugal, was quoted as saying in an Oporto despatch to the Daily Mail. "Eventually there will be free elections but that depends on the attitude of my countrymen," he said.

Asked why he imposed a military dictatorship on Portugal, General De Costa said that government by politicals had "produced utter chaos in the country." "There was no stability in our government," he said. "No sooner was a government in power than it was overthrown, therefore the world regards us a a corrupt nation."

"My aim is to correct this politics and scheming for power must end. I do not desire civil war but my army will fight for my principles."



CAVAN PEOPLE WED 25 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Staples Hold Reception in Honor of Anniversary.

GROOMSMAN PRESENT.

CAVAN, June 9.—On Saturday, May 5, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Staples were at home to their friends and neighbors, afternoon and evening, it being the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day.

Many who had been guests at their wedding as well as others were there to offer congratulations and best wishes.

The spacious rooms were prettily decorated with flowers. Among these was a beautiful bouquet of roses, the gift of the Ladies' Aid of Cavan United church.

A buffet lunch was served in the dining-room where Mrs. M. Sutton, Millbrook, and Mrs. F. Galbraith, Port Hope, poured tea in the afternoon, and Mrs. M. Sutton and Mrs. W. Sharpe in the evening. The dining-room table looked pretty with its vases of tulips and narcissus.

The Misses Alma Perrin, Gwendoline Hunter, Electa Preston, Muriel Matchett and Ruth Sharpe were waitresses while other ladies assisted in the kitchen.

Mr. and Mrs. Staples received many beautiful gifts of silver, among these was a dozen teaspoons, a dozen desert spoons, three table spoons, and a meat fork in Old Colony pattern from their neighbors.

Among those present from a distance were: Robert Fair, Mr. Walsh, Mrs. Seaton and the Misses Walsh, Peterboro, Mrs. H. Staples, Toronto, Mrs. Empsy, Napanee, Mr. and Mrs. F. Galbraith, Port Hope, Mr. and Mrs. C. Waite, Peterboro, Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins, Port Hope (Dr. Hawkins was groomsman at the wedding twenty-five years ago), Mr. and Mrs. Jas. White, Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. C. White, Fowler's Corners.

CAVAN COUNCIL.

MILLBROOK, June 8.—Pursuant to statute the Cavan Council recently held a meeting at 1.30 p.m. to hear and determine appeals against the Assessment Roll of 1926.

The members made and subscribed to the requisite oath after which on motion of the Deputy-Reeve and Councillor Finney the Reeve was appointed chairman.

Mr. W. B. Williamson and Mrs. W. Ball appealed against the assessment of dogs. No action was taken by the Council in these appeals.

Mr. George Gow appeared before the Court and made claim that he was assessed too high for his mill property and business as compared with other business concerns in Cavan.

Hooton-Hunter: That Mr. Gow's assessment be reduced $300.00. Carried.

Hooton-Hunter: That the court adjourn to 5 o'clock and that the Assessor be instructed to make the necessary alterations on the Roll. Carried.

LLOYD GEORGE RETAINS POST

Sustained as Leader of Party By 20-12 Vote of Members.

AFTER QUARREL.

LONDON, June 9. Canadian Press—David Lloyd George came victorious out of his conflict with the Earl of Oxford and Asquith to-day in a meeting of the Liberal Parliamentary Party, where he was sustained as Liberal leader in the House of Commons, by a vote of 20 to 12.

Thirty-four members of the party were present at the meeting.

BODY WASHED UP.

Remains of Woman Cast Ashore—One of Lost Family.

LEAMINGTON, Ont., June 9. — Canadian Press. — Another mystery of the lakes was solved last night, when the body of Mrs. James Phipps missing since the middle of winter, when she with her husband and three children, disappeared while driving in a sedan across Lake Erie from Pelee Island, was washed ashore at Sturgeon Bay, three miles from here.

Leamington fishermen are confident that other bodies will be found.

Prominent Automobile Man Makes Surprising Statement

"I wish to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation for the prompt relief I secured from HERB JUICE", said Mr. Wilfred Lavigne, 287 Albert St., Ottawa, "My stomach and kidneys were continually bothering me. I had pains in my back, indigestion and sour stomach. Sleep seemed impossible. I saw HERB JUICE advertised and how many people were being relieved from troubles like mine and decided to try it although many remedies had failed. Now, I want to recommend it to everyone. It helped me so much that I believe it will do the same for everyone suffering from troubles like I had. My condition has entirely cleared up and I feel like a new person."

PENSION BILL IS DEFEATED

Senate Kills Old Age Pension Bill Brought in By Government.

BY LARGE VOTE.

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press).—On a vote of 46 to 21 the Senate last night rejected the Government Old Age Pension Bill. The defeat of the bill came on the second reading which had been moved by Senator Dandurand, the Government leader. In the vote, Senator Robertson, former Minister of Labor, was the only Conservative to support the bill. Sir Allen Aylesworth, Senator J. J. Hughes and Senator Turriff, all from the Government side of the House, voted with the Conservatives against the bill.

Senator W. B. Ross, the Opposition leader, believed that the Government had no constitutional right to invade the provincial jurisdiction over such matters as Old Age Pensions. The bil constituted discrimination, he said, against the Maritime Provinces because they were unable to participate in the financial proposals in the bill. Senator Black said the bill would impose "an unbearable burden" on the Maritimes.

CLEVELAND PLANS GREAT CELEBRATION

Canadians Will Be Guests of City—Toronto Scottish To Drill.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 9. — (Canadian Press).—This city will be host to several thousand residents of Canada next Friday, which, by resolution of Cleveland's City Council, has been dedicated to Canada and which is known as Cleveland Canada day. Chief among the visitors will be the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, most of his Cabinet, and the Mayors of a number of Ontario cities.

The Toronto Scottish Regiment, 300 strong, is to be brought here to give an exhibition drill. Cleveland has as residents approximately 30,000 native Canadians or former residents of the Dominion.

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick.

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week.

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged — are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that the livers of Cod Fish are full of vitalizing flesh producing vitamines and these same vitamines of the highest class are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say; if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back— and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask the McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, or any druggist anywhere in North or South America.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

HONORED BY ALL WHO KNOW HIM NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL COMES TO CANADA WELL RECOMMENDED

d Willingdon Has Served His Country With Much Distinction.

HONORED IN INDIA.

Certain popular sayings warn us to look out when all men praise us, and tell us that a prophet, however well he may stand with the world at large, has no honor in his own country. Lord Willingdon must be one of the exceptions to the general application of these rules, for those anywhere who do not speak well of him must be few, and those in his own country—in his home district—who do not give him honor simply do not exist.

Alike in his private relationships and in his public life he bears the character of a courteous and high-principled English gentleman, at from friend or stranger he could have no better certificate. In the County of Sussex, in which practically all his domestic interests are centred, his position is unassailable. The people to whom he is going will be glad to know that this is how he stands among his own folk. In his public career they are perhaps able to judge him for themselves. They know that already he has "done the State some service." Also, doubtless, they are informed on the variety of the activities which have helped to build up for him an excellent reputation. He is known as student, sportsman, soldier, courtier, parliamentarian, Minister, States Governor, and diplomatic missioner; in fact he has played many parts—all with a good measure of success, and some with such marked distinction as to earn the warm approval of his countryman and a sheaf of Royal honors. As is well known, he is even at this moment engaged on a State mission to the Far East, helping on behalf of his Government to smooth out the difficulties of administering the millions involved in the return of the Boxer Rebellion indemnities.

It will hardly have been so soon forgotten that in January last when Lord Willingdon was on his way across Canada to China on this mission—a journey which he has declared was most instructive and enjoyable—rumors were circulating in the Dominion that he was designed to succeed Lord Byng of Vimy at Ottawa, and when interviewed on the subject he answered the press representatives in the language of diplomacy, though his reply was regarded as being "in the negative." Events have proved that in these rumors there was more significance and truth than was at the time apparent.

Successful men in politics and diplomacy are often deeply indebted to nature and culture for their achievements. In these respects Lord Willingdon, when he set out to make a name for himself, had advantage over most. He is tall and distinguished-looking and of dignified bearing, and with these physical characteristics he combines ripe intellectual attainments, and a charm of manner which all who come in contact with him find captivating. In education, training and influence he represents Eton and Cambridge at their best, and his record on the playing fields both of school and university proves that both helped to possess him of that true spirit of sportsmanship which becomes the man of affairs better than any arts of diplomacy.

As already indicated, the new Governor-General is very much at home and popular in the beautiful maritime county of Sussex, especially in its Eastern part which embraces not only the home of his youth but also his place of entry into Parliamentary life, the borough of Hastings, fashionable now as a health and holiday resort, but notable also in history as the principal of the ancient Cinque Ports group, to say nothing of its outlook over Pevensey Bay, the traditional landing spot of William the Conqueror, and of its associations with the decisive battle following that invasion. Moreover, at or about Hastings Lord Willingdon found a wife, as there will be occasion again to mention.

Freeman Freeman-Thomas— for so was the new Governor-General named before he joined the ranks of the peers—comes of good stock long identified with Sussex, his father being Frederick Freeman-Thomas, of Ratton and Yapton, Willingdon, and his mother Mabel, daughter of the first Viscount Hampden, a former Speaker of the House of Commons. Lord Willingdon assumed the additional surname of Freeman in 1892, in which year also he married the Hon. (afterwards Lady) Marie Adelaide, daughter of the first Baron Brassey, afterwards Earl Brassey He was born Sept. 12, 1866, and was an only son. Two sons have been born to him. The elder, Gerard Frederick, born in 1903, went to the war as a lieutenant in the Coldstream Guards, and was killed in action in 1914. The surviving son, and heir to his father's peerage is Hon. Inigo Brassey Freeman-Thomas, who was born July 25, 1899, and married in 1924 Maxine, daughter of the eminent actor, Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson.

Lord Willingdon's inherited political faith was Liberal, and he himself in his Parliamentary days adhered to Liberalism, which was indeed the creed of all those who claimed kinship with him—his wife's family as well as his own. But he had no passion for politics, as may be inferred from the fact that he was 34 years of age before he reached the House of Commons. Probably such predilections as he had for a political career may be traced more to the maternal than the paternal side of his family. The political strain in his mother's blood it may be assumed was very strong, for her father when H. B. W. Brand fought many battles in the constituencies before the Liberals placed him in the Speaker's chair. One can well imagine that the example of his maternal grandfather, and that of his father-in-law, who was a star of considerable magnitude in the political firmanent, had much influence in eventually turning Mr. Freeman Thomas's steps in the direction of Westminster, via the borough of Hastings, for which he was elected in 1900. That seat had been occupied by his father-in-law (then Sir Thomas Brassey) from 1868 to 1886, when he was raised to the peerage as Baron Brassey an honor that was Baron Brassey, an honor that was Sound as were his own merits, Mr. Freeman-Thomas doubtless owed some part of his success in this election to the Brassey influence, at that period all-powerful in Hastings. Lord Brassey was the head of a family which in the course of a generation had taken firm root in the Sussex soil, had built themselves a palace called Normanhurst, near Battle, and had both socially and officially become leaders in the district. The founder of the family fortunes, Thomas Brassey, who amassed great wealth as a contractor for the building of railways, canals and the like, was one of the most famous specimens of England's self-made men of the early 19th Century. Lord Brassey was in several ways a great man. No man of his time was a more active figure in public and political life, no man cultivated a broader or more varied field of endeavor—intellectual and practical—and as a scholar, scientist, and man of affairs his record of achievement was remarkable. Some of his best work was done at the Admiralty where he was at different times Civil Lord and Secretary. He wrote much on naval matters, was the founder and first editor of the 'Naval Annual,' and was a practical seaman, holding a Board of Trade master's certificate. Everybody knows that he was the owner of one of the most celebrated yachts in the world, the SUNBEAM. This vessel which had been seen on nearly all the seven seas, was in 1916 presented to the Government of India as a hospital ship. Locally, Lord Brassey was relatively as great a man as he was nationally, and naturally his association with Hastings was something to conjure with at all times. Even from the historic and most ancient and honorable office of Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports—an appointment particularly coveted—he was not excluded. The peerage did not long exist after the death of the first holder. At the decease of his son, the second Earl, in 1919 it became extinct.

The versatile Lord Brassey, it should be mentioned, was Governor of Victoria, Australia, from 1895 to 1900, and during that period his son-in-law served as his aide-de-camp. It was immediately after his return from this first official experience overseas that Mr. Freeman-Thomas captured Hastings. This borough he continued to represent until 1906, when he was defeated and transferred his services to the Bodmin Division of Cornwall, for which he was the Parliamentary representative until 1910.

That year saw the end of his career in the House of Commons on his being given a peerage, but his Parliamentary activities were continued in the House of Lords until he was selected for the Governorship of Bombay. He proceeded to India in 1913 and did not finally return home until 1924. During the first half of this period he governed the Bombay presidency with such conspicuous ability that at the end of his term of office the Goverment were very anxious to retain his services in India, and he was persuaded to accept the Governorship of the Madras presidency. In this office he remained until 1924, when he retired with a greatly enhanced reputation for skill in handling Indian problems and difficult native character.

The success of his work in India was signalized by his promotion to the rank of Viscount. He had previously been honored with the highest decoration of the Orders of the Indian Empire, the British Empire and the Star of India. He is also a Knight of Grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem in England. This honor Viscountess Willingdon shares as a Lady of Grace. She is also G.B.E. (Civil Division), a Dame of the British Empire Order (Civil Division) and holds the Kaiser-i-Hind Gold Medal, First Class.

A pleasant incident marking the home-coming of Lord Willingdon from India was the conferment upon him by his old constituents and neighbors, in Hastings, of the freedom of their borough, and last year—on July 16—the continuance of the friendship between them was further manifested in His Lordship being selected to represent the town in the ceremony attending the restoration to Canada of the Quebec Shield, a trophy which was brought from the gates of Quebec by Major Murray, the first British governor, and presented by him to the borough of Hastings. In exchange for the shield Canada presented to Hastings a replica, to hang in the Council Chamber at the Town Hall, where the original was so long an object of interest to visitors. In the ceremony the Canadian High Commissioner (Hon. P. C. Larkin), the French Ambassador (M. Fleuriau), Lord Clarendon (representing the Colonial Office), the Mayor of Hastings and other prominent persons took part, the event serving as the occasion of a remarkable demonstration of pro-Canadian feeling, to which Lord Willingdon's speech in handing over the shield was a leading contribution.

If one word more may be said it is that Lord Willingdon's heraldic motto proclaims his own belief—"Honesty is the best policy."

BOYS' BODY FOUND IN KINGSTON SLIP

George Tibbett, 10, Had Been Missing Since Last Wednesday.

Kingston, Ont., June 9th (Special.)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of George Tibbett, the 10-year-old son of William Tibbett, Ontario street, missing since last Wednesday afternoon, was cleared up this forenoon when the lad was found drowned in the slip at the foot of Queen street. It was known that the youngster had been playing on a raft and it was supposed that he had fallen in the water, but in spite of the fact that a continual search with grappling irons was made every day, no trace could be secured of the body. This morning a local diver was put on the job and he located the body which was wedged against a heavy box which had been thrown in the slip. No inquest will be held.

In Paris the latest fad is for women to have their monograms in paste or diamonds on the toes of their dance slippers, the latter being generally of plain black satin.

WHERE MEN ARE LOST

The map above shows Haliburton county, Ontario, in which two prospectors, W. J. Weatherhead and E. D. Solomon, have been missing for over a week. They are believed to be somewhere in the heart of Eyre towpship, in the northeastern section of the county, where search parties are now at work. The photo is of Weatherhead.

DISCONTENT OF EASTERN CANADA IS EXPLAINED

In Report of Maritime Division of Manufacturers' Association.

SERIOUS EXODUS.

Maritimes Ask Opportunity of Doing Business With Rest of Country.

TORONTO, June 9 (Canadian Press).—A comprehensive survey of business conditions throughout Canada was presented to the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at the afternoon session of their annual meeting here yesterday, when the reports of the Maritime, Quebec, Ontario, Prairie and British Columbia divisions of the organization for the past year were read.

An explanation of the causes of the prevalent discontent in the Maritime Provinces was given in the report of that division, which was presented by C. A. Lusby, Amherst, N.S.

There had been a very serious exodus of the population to the New England States. In the meantime Maritime industry had contributed its full share to the upbuilding of Canada, and what it was asking was a favorable opportunity of doing business with the rest of Canada. The Maritimes required, particularly, an adjustment of tariff and transportation policies which would permit increased marketing in other parts of Canada of coal, steel, fish, and the products of miscellaneous manufacture.

Major J. O. Thorn, Winnipeg, presented an optimistic report for the Prairie division, stating that economic conditions in the Prairie Provinces had improved very satisfactorily during the last 12 months.

CANADIAN LADY KILLED IN CHINA

No Motive Known For Slaying of Wife of Missionary.

MURDERER HELD.

SHANGHAI, June 9 (Canadian Press)—Mrs. W. E. Sibley, wife of the Canadian Methodist Missionary at Jungheien in Szechwang province, was murdered on Monday in the streets of Chengtu, in the same province, according to a message from the latter place. The murderer, who used a knift, was captured after the chase. The motive for the crime has not been established.

One child of Rev. Mrs. Sibley is Miss Mary McLaghlan Sibley, at present student at Palma College, St. Thomas, Ont.

Born in Manitoba

TORONTO, Ont., June 9 (Canadian Press) — Mrs. W. E. Sibley, who was murdered on Monday in Chengtu, was born in Nelson, Man., in 1878, a daughter of the late Rev J. M. Harrison.

The husband of the murdered woman is Rev. W. E. Sibley, B.A., a graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, in Arts and Theology. Rev. Mr. Sibley was born in Erin, Ontario.

LOCAL MAN SAYS BUSINESS IS GOOD

W. H. Field Has Been in Florida For Several Years.

"There has been considerable propaganda published in the northern papers with regard to business conditions in Florida, which has created a false impression upon the minds of the Canadian people," said W. H. Field, a former local man, to the Examiner.

Mr. Field, who is manager of the West Palm Beach office of Hall, Pentland, Cowles and McColl, oldest and largest firm of public accountants in the state of Florida, recently motored to the city with his family and is spending his vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Field, 215 Princess street.

For the past three years Mr. Field has been engaged in public accounting work in Florida, and a survey of business conditions recently made by his firm shows conditions in Florda to be far better at present than ever before.

"As long as God's sun shines and the waters of the Atlantic flow down the east coast, Florida will continue to be the most beautiful and progressive place on this continent," said Mr. Field.

GENERAL KILLED.

Gen. E. A. Plunkett Succumbs When Hit By Motor Van.

LONDON, June 9. Canadian Press—Brigadier General Edward A. Plunkett was knocked down by a motor van yesterday while crossing Piccadilly. He died on the way to the hospital. General Plunkett served in the Nile expedition, in the Balkan war, and the Great War, with marked distinction. He was born in 1870.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

HOW BUNNY RABBIT LEARNED TO BE HAPPY.

Bunny Rabbit was a dear little fellow, but he had one terrible fault. He always got up every morning cross and ugly.

Nothing his brothers and sisters did pleased him. They would jump and hop, run and play, but none of them could get Bunny Rabbit in a good humor.

"I think he must be ill," suggested Mama Rabbit, but Daddy Rabbit would only laugh and say

"Sick nothing! He needs a wee bit of peach pie."

None of the Rabbit children liked peach pie. You see, it really wasn't peach pie like little boys and girls like, golden peaches between two lovely crusts. Peach pie in Bunnyland meant a nice stick taken from the peach tree and wrapped around their furry legs when they were naughty.

But Mama Rabbit was patient and kind, and she would think each day that Bunny Rabbit would get up happier the next day.

One morning when Bunny Rabbit was worse than usual old Granny Tree Toad heard him scolding and fussing. She put on her little green bonnet and hurried down to the bunny house.

She rapped on the door and when Mrs. Bunny Rabbit answered she said she had come to see Bunny Rabbit himself.

"I've come to take him downtown," she explained. Ofcourse this pleased

"I Think He Must Be Ill."

Bunny Rabbit, and he came out all smiles.

"You're not in a good humor this morning, Bunny Rabbit," Granny Tree Toad said when they were quite a ways from the bunny patch. Bunny hung his head and Granny Tree Toad laughed. "You know, I used to get up cross and ugly like you do when I was a wee little tree toad. One day when I was crosser than usual I met little Lady Bug, and she told me why I always got up cross and ugly."

"Daddy says it's because I need peach pie," answered Bunny Rabbit. "Did you need peach pie?"

"No, I didn't need peach pie," said Granny Tree Toad. "She said it was because I didn't get out of the bed the right way. She said that to get up happy in the morning one must be sure and put the right foot out first. Then to stay happy all day one must do a kindness for someone before breakfast. Why don't you try that some time? Put your right foot out of bed first and do a kindness for some one before you eat your breakfast. I tried it and it worked."

Bunny Rabbit never said a word, but his little mind was working very fast. They went from one store to another and Granny Tree Toad bought him all the good things he could eat, and when they once more reached the bunny burrow Bunny Rabbit was as happy as could be. He astonished his Mama by setting the table that night for supper, clearing up the dishes and kissing her good night. All night he dreamed about his right ofot, and when morning came Bunny Rabbit hopped out of bed right foot first and set the table for his Mama, and that was the happiest day he had spent for a long time.

After that Bunny Rabbit was never cross and ugly again.

FACIAL EXPRESSION.

Consider your face, and the things folk can trace through expression you show day by day. Let's all turn thumbs down on the ones who just frown. No sense in its bein' that way.

Why not realize that a couple of eyes, and a mouth can be used to spread cheer? By hook, or by crook, you can put on the look that will make people glad you are here.

A scowl's out of joint, and by straining a point, any person can switch to a grin. If you're not of that sort, aw, come on, be a sport. Right now's a good time to begin.

Let eyes twinkle bright. There you are, now—that's right. Say, isn't it easy to do? The fellow worth while is the man who can smile, and let cheerful sunshine seep through.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

What does it mean if we begin to lose weight? We always look upon pronounced emaciation as a sure sign of disease. But what disease?

After a severe illness, particularly prolonged fever, it is not at all uncommon for the victim to pull through, thin as a rail. But when there has been no such illness, we must look further for the reason.

You need not be fat in order to have good health. You need not be reasonably plump. You may be extremely thin and yet be perfectly well. It is the losing in weight which disturbs us.

Sometimes the loss of weight has gone on for months and nobody has noticed it. The face is likely to retain its usual roundness long after the limbs and body have grown very thin. It is not until the vest or waist bands become conspicuously loose that you awake to the fact that your surplus flesh is melting.

The hands, particularly the backs of the hands, show the decline in flesh. The bones stand out because the fat between them has disappeared.

If you have been well nourished or fat and begin to lose weight, you should seek the cause. It may be difficult to locate the reason.

Unless the loss in weight can be easily traced to some definite cause, there are several possibilities which must be considered. The first thing to be suspected is whether or not there is present some form of infection.

Bad teeth or gums, diseased tonsils, infected nasal sinuses, kidney involvement, digestive disturbance, disease of the bladder or neighboring parts—these are among the possibilities. It is well to see about this once you discover your continuing loss of weight.

Diabetes and kidney disease are among the ailments which may cause the flesh to disappear. A test of the urine should be included in the thorough examination you are having. This may show that the kidneys are out of order, or that the body is not handling its sugar as it should.

It is a good idea to have the blood tested, too. This may help the doctor to decide what is wrong with you. The quality of the blood is of the greatest importance.

I speak of these things because it is a serious thing to go on losing weight and sometimes the cause may not readily suggest itself.

Malignant disease, fortunately, is not the most common of the causes for emaciation, but it must be thought of if some less serious ailment cannot be found. Disease of the stomach may not amount to anything more than slight ulceration, but sometimes it turns out to be malignant disease of that vital organ and then loss of flesh is very certain to result.

If you will eat the proper amounts of the right foods, practice the rules of personal hygiene, give yourself recreation and keep your mind in a state of peace and happiness, you are likely to escape all the conditions which make for bad health and loss in weight. It is easy to say this, but to establish the right manner of living means self-denial. Until you have accustomed yourself to good habits, you will need to be on your guard, but when they have become second nature you will go on, year after year and never know an ache or a pain. You will be plump and fair to look upon. Try it and see!

The Home Kitchen

THE USE OF NUTS IN NOURISHING DISHES.

Due to their high content of protein and fat, nuts are frequently used as meat substitutes. Not as easily digested as meat, owing to the large amount of cellulose and fat present, yet in pastes and butters they can be used freely. As food staples, they may appear in salads, soups, sauces, and combined in crumb roasts and stuffings.

Though generally eaten raw, there are many nuts that cannot be used unless cooked. Peanuts must be roasted to be palatable, and chestnuts must be cooked to render the starch they contain digestible. The nut flours are very good in bread and porridge, and for gravy and sauce thickening. Nuts being a concentrated food have a high fuel value. They are used by those on a vegetable diet to insure sufficient protein to balance the diet. A pound of almonds yields 2,936 calories, a pound of walnuts yields 3199 calories, a pound of peanuts yields 248 calories. This gives an idea of the quantities that one should use in a balanced diet.

Cocoanut Soup.

Grate the meat of a large fresh cocoanut. Add to it a quart of chicken broth that has been carefully made and the fat all removed. Simmer gently for fifteen minutes, then put through a fine sieve and squeeze the cocoanut dry. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs and the juice of a lemon, stir in a double boiler until it is slightly thickened, add a little salt and pepper to taste. Add a spoonful of freshly boiled rice to each serving.

Almond Soup.

Mince fine one onion and two stalks of fresh celery. Add a quarter of a pound of blanched and ground almonds, cover with cold water and simmer gently for a half hour, then rub through a fine sieve. Rub through, at the same time, the yolks of two hard-boiled eggs. Heat a quart of milk hot, add the nut puree to it and bring to boiling point. Knead together an ounce each of butter and flour. Put the paste into the soup, stirirng steadily. When blended, add a little salt and pepper, and the diced whites of the eggs.

Almond Cream Cheese.

Mash a package or a quarter pound taken from a loaf of fresh cream cheese. Add to it enough thick cream to moisten and work to a soft paste. Add a half cupful of blanched and chopped large almonds, a little salt, a teaspoonful of sugar and a small cupful of whipped cream. Blend, put into a small mould and pack in ice until chilled. Turn out on a dish and serve in slices, or blocks, with a lettuce salad.

Pistachio Souffle.

Shell and blanch four ounces of pistachio nuts. Chop half very fine and thinly slice the other half. Beat three egg whites stiff, add the sliced nuts and a half pound of sugar. Add a few drops of flavoring and put in thin paper cases. Sprinkle with the chopped nuts and a little sugar and bake brown in a slow oven. Turn out of the cases and serve with custard or ice cream.

The Cape Frock—One of The Season's Outstanding Styles

This attractive frock is made unusually chic by the appearance of a circular cape, swinging from the back of the neck. But honors for chic in this frock do not belong altogether to its cape, as witness the smart bordered material which fashions the bodice and wide box-plaited skirt, to say nothing of the ribbon girdle swathing the hips and tying in the most approved manner in the front. The neck-line is round and there are gathers at each shoulder, lending a soft line to the front. NO. 1370 is for misses and small women, and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 2⅛ yards 54-inch bordered material; 1 yard 36-inch plain contrasting; sash 2½ yards 5-inch ribbon, for dress as illustrated. When making dress all of plain material 3½ yards 39-inch is required. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

The Woman's Day

Written by a Woman for Women.

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

Spinsterhood.

The world really does improve a bit. Time was when the meanest of all mean words, "old maid," was hurled at all maidens bereft of benefit of clergy. Now the word is as dead as "skidoo." But up pops a new book about "old maids" in this vintage of '26. It is "Lolly Willowes" by Sylvia Townsend Warner. Laura Willowes, the heroine, is sharpish, never had a real lover, dotes on her cat, and is useful "Aunt Lolly" to all her imposing tribe of relatives. Then—praise whatever Gods there be—she kicks up her heels and "cuts loose!"

Lettuce Manners.

Story has it that the most de luxe sorority of a mid-western college "tried out" their potential pledges by "throwing" a party at which the piece de resistance was a salad confection served on lettuce leaves. The best eyes of the de luxe sorority glued themselves upon the aspirants and the girls turned thumbs-down on those who ate their lettuce.

"The Test of the Genteel."

Which reminds me of an article by Cornelia Cannon in "Harper's" called "The Test of the Genteel." Mrs. Cannon is a brave, clear-sighted free-thinker.

She writes, "Changes in society are always greeted with consternation by those adversely affected. The genteel have not been asked to go out of existence. They are expected, however, to share with millions of their fellows the privileges which they had regarded as theirs alone.

Housewifely Prejudice.

"How many laborious processes which were merely incident to the genteel life of the past have been assumed to be basic! Home making-of-bread had its long day of gentility, when the use of baker's bread was the earmark of shiftlessness and of indifference to family solidarity.

"A public laundry is anathema to many of the genteel, today. To send one's washing to a place where almost everyone's else goes seems to some an affront to personal delicacy.

"Personal service at the table has been to many the major criterion of civilized dining, but the cafeteria has shown that people may serve themselves without complete surrender of the decencies of life.

Linen and Paper.

"The Japanese regard certain of our uses of linen in place of paper as the height of vulgarity, and we counter by placing the taboo of the fastidious upon paper napkins. What is there intrinsically more refined about the product of flax than of wood-pulp?"

Comfort.

"I cannot bring you comfort—ask me not
For smooth-pulled sheets and socks all neatly mended;
I cannot bring you biscuits brown and hot,
If these you seek, why, then, our love is ended,
But I can laugh with you at commonplaces,
And make a feast of moments men call cheap."—

Ruth Fitch Bartlett.

SAVE YOUR TEETH

Prepared by the Oral Hygiene Committee of Canada, with which the Peterborough Dental Society is Collaborating.

GUM FALLS AWAY.'

You have been to the dentist and have had your teeth extracted, so now you are contemplating getting a new 'set.' But you are, perhaps, wondering how long you must wait before your gums smooth over, enabling you to wear your 'plate' with security and comfort.

Now, following an extraction, what happens is this:

The tooth has been encased in a bony ridge, of which structure, the upper portion, the alveolus, had been built up solely for the support of the tooth. When the tooth is lost, there is no further need for this alveolus, so Nature begins straightway to tear it down, which she does, 'brick by brick,' through the activities of the little bone-breakers, the osteoclasts.

Coincidently with this process, the socket that remains is filled in with bone tissue, and in this fashion the ridge is levelled up.

Nature is a most painstaking artist and she abhors irregularities. Hence, she leaves no sharp angles or prominences, but moulds the ridge to a smooth and rounded form. This is accomplished in from six to nine months following the extractions, or in less time, should but a few teeth have been removed.

But this process also works out to your disadvantage—in this wise: That this ridge resorption removes, to some extent, the support for the mouth tissues—so that the lips and cheeks fall in, giving one prematurely appearance of age.

Happily, however, your dentist can restore this lost contour to the face as he supplies the new plate or denture hat is required.

VALENTINE DAY PUT TO USE

With a view to testing the possibility of using St. Valentine's Day traditions as a means of promoting fine ideals, the American Social Hygiene Association sent out 200 letters last year and 2000 this year asking the judgment of ministers and others on the feasibility of the project. Practically all replies received were favorable to the idea.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A SMART SPRING FROCK COAT

Madame brought a bolt of the most heavenly wool crepe back from France the last trip and has been cherishing it ever since.

Today she announced to me that she had a design for the first frock to be made of the crepe, and of course I was all interest at once.

"The dark red color is ideal for a Spring frock, since red has come in this year as a spring color," she announced.

Madame seems to have a nose for fashions, so that she can pick out a smart color long before anyone else has a hint that it will be smart at a certain season.

I suppose just such things as this have given her the enviable reputation she has in the fashion world.

The color of the wool-crepe is a deep wine red, something like the Black Prince sweet pea shade, which was seen a bit last Fall.

"Wait till you see the drawing," Madame told me. "I know you'll love it."

Then she led me into her office, and produced the sketch of which I am showing a copy here in my diary.

"You see, the feature of the frock is to be a shaped, set-in belt of the tucked wood-crepe," Madame explained.

"It's simply an adorable model!" I exclaimed. "What is it to be like in front?"

"It follows coat lines," Madame explained to me. "That is, there are revers in front, and the dress buttons down in a straight line, with covered buttons and bound buttonholes."

I loved the jaunty cape attachment, which was put on to leave a rounded yoke at the top of the frock.

"This is to be made at once, and I want you to be ready for an early fitting on it," Madame told me.

I was delighted that I was the manikin chosen to show the frock, for whoever a dress is fitted on is the one chosen to show it to clients.

I was more delighted than ever when I saw the hat. It was a matching dark red felt, with velvet in the same color twisted about the tiny brim, and reappearing in loops up the back of the crown.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Number Nine.—

THE STRETCHY POLICEMAN.

"Did you see any sign of a china elephant and a toy clown?" Nick asked the corner policeman in the city of "Any Place At All."

The policeman started to answer, but as his voice began to get farther and father away, the Twins looked up quickly to see what had happened.

And there, if you please, was his head 'bout half a mile up in the air, and keeping on going. At last there was no head to be seen at all—nothing but a long, long neck!

Then, as they looked, his head started to come down again, and finally it settled back where it belonged, on his shoulders.

"I beg your pardon," he remarked, "but I had to speak to a friend of mine on Jupiter. Now, what did you ask me, please?"

"We're looking for Inco, our china elephant, and a toy clown called Flops," said Nick. "We were told that he came to Drowsy Land on the Moon. Did you see him."

"What did he look like?" asked the policeman. But at that his head was gone again and his voice trailed off in the distance. Not up this time, but sideways, his long neck stretching down the street and around a corner.

And then as the Twins watched, one of his arms stretched after his neck, and it too, disappeared around the corner.

By and by the policeman's head and arm appeared again, and in a minute he was as good as new. But he had tight hold of an automobile which he pulled around in front of him.

"I'll not arrest you for speeding this time," he said to the driver, "but you mustn't do it again. Remember if you do, I'll see you. I can see everything, for I can stretch my neck over house-tops and trees and around all the corners. Now go, but remember what I told you. You are not allowed to drive over ten miles a minute on the moon. Do you promise."

"I promise," said the man, so the policeman let the poor trembling fellow go and he disappeared around the corner again like a flash.

"Now please tell me your troubles all over again," said the policeman to the Twins. "It was something about an elephant and a—"

But away went his head again, this time around another corner. His head kept disappearing and coming back until finally Nick said to Nancy, "Come on. Let's go. We'll never find out about Inco and Flops this way."

Nancy laughed. "Wouldn't it be great to have a stretchy neck like that," she said. "We could stand still and let our necks do all the running around for us."

"I should say not," said Nick. "It's more fun to have all of you go on an adventure instead of just your head."

"That's right," nodded Nancy. "But this city of Any Place At All keeps you on the jump too much. I don't think we'll find Inco and Flops here anywhere. We'd better go on to the next place. Goodness! Here comes that giant boy again. If we don't run, he'll pick us up again and squeeze us like he did before. And—"

But the giant boy had spied them and it was too late to run. He picked them up, but this time he did not squeeze them. He whirled them around over his head three times and then threw them across a moon mountain. They did not know it, but they were in a place quite as queer as they had left.

A Straight-Line Frock Cuts Wide Circles at the Sides

The young girl of to-day concentrates fiercely on two types of dress. By day she is simple, boyish and très sportive. For evening she is femininity itself and her simplicity becomes a dangerous and a deadly thing. Frocks that fit her slim hips, flowers on her shoulder, a hem that floats and ripples when she moves make her an extremely seductive young creature. Does she know it? Rather, but she'll never quarrel with anyone for telling her again. Paris is making the frock illustrated in Georgette and silk voile in the new vert amande shade of green, vert de gris and turquoise, poppy red, gladioli pink, daisy yellow and aquamarine blue.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

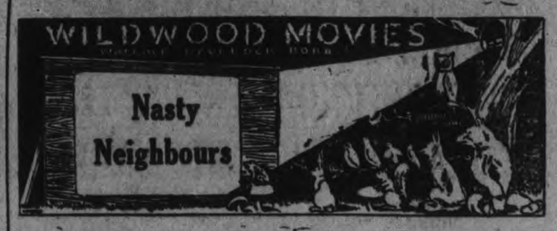
THURSDAY, JUNE 10.

The planetary configurations for this day assist in the direction of progress and advancement. This applies particularly to those in the employment of others, who, if deserving, are marked for preferment, honors or favors at the hands of those in authority over them. New projects are favored, especially those in connection with close corporations, trusts and secret orders, all of which should thrive. There may be pleasant and profitable activities of a social or romantic nature, these calling for some expenditures, which, however, should bring equivalent gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of advancement and preferment, especially if in the employment of others. Others may enlist the attention or favor of those in high places. There is likely to be an outlay of money, which is sure to bring commensurate happiness, however. New projects should thrive. A child born on this day should be popular, agreeable and attain to prestige and position by its fine qualities and high ambitions.

Since coronets made for a head with a mass of locks will not sit properly on a head that has been shingled, many British peeresses found it necessary to send their coronets to the jeweler to be remade before they could attend the recent Royal opening of Parliament.

WILDWOOD MOVIES



The end of the four-reel movie had come. There was no doubt about that, for little Barbara Wantmore had read it on the screen, after the lovers had met, and it said, "The End."

But it was not the end!

It was just the beginning, and nobody knew it better than Barbara Wantmore.

"Why, Mamma," said she in disgust, "I think it is terrible the way movies get everyone just started but never finished. I am ashamed of the manager, so there."

"I guess you are right, dearie," said her mother, "that was just the beginning of their home."

"Now," added Barbara, a little doubtfully, "I suppose they will be having troubles and neighbours, just as the birds have."

Barbara was thinking of the Robin and Bluebird families in the back garden. There were strange goings on back there.

One morning when Mr. Wantmore got up, he noticed that a family of Bluebirds was going to occupy a nice birdhouse. That was fine; everyone was pleased.

Peace was reigning in the garden, but soon a bossy Mr. and Mrs. Robin pair arrived and started to build a nest on a shelf on the garage. They did not appear to notice the Bluebirds until they had the nest well on the way, and then the row commenced.

The Robins blamed it all on poor Mr. Wantmore. They made an attack on him and on the Bluebirds, every time he came into the garden. The poor Bluebirds were having a nasty time of it, too.

Mr. Wantmore decided to move the Robins to a new place, so he took the shelf, nest and all, and moved it down onto the old barn, thus leaving the Bluebirds alone in the main garden. The Robins went to the new place and sputtered and scolded and raised such a row that everyone was unhappy, including the Bluebirds, for they were blamed for it all, and Mr. Robin pulled out several feathers from Mr. Bluebird's back.

"I guess we will have to switch things around again," said Mr. Wantmore, and he took the shelf off the barn, nest and all, and replaced it in its original position on the garage; then he removed the Bluebird box to the side of the barn, where it was promptly and quietly claimed by the Bluebirds, and peace reigned once more.

AN INVITATION.

Again the girl hesitated, but I kept still. I knew if I acted too curious she would say no more. I knew that here was a girl who had been coddled and protected all her life until she fairly had an obsession for freedom.

Seeing that I looked interested, she went on.

"Harry met me at luncheon today and told me that it was his birthday and I have him the handkerchiefs that I had bought for Bud. You see, I had been telling him that it was my brother's birthday and showed him the handkerchiefs, and he said, 'Isn't it strange that your brother and I have the same birthday.' Of course, after that I was delighted to give them to him."

"No doubt he was delighted, too,' I said to myself, for I had a hunch that Harry was a gigolo. But again I kept still.

"You know I like you," said the girl. "I am sure you are what Harry would call 'a regular fellow.' I wish you would come out and have dinner with me tonight. Not one of the family will be at home. And I would like to talk with you. I really need a girl friend."

"But you have all the girls in your own circle to choose from."

"Piffle," she said. "That is why I picked on you. Those girls are just stuffed dolls. I am tired of their very names. Please come and eat with me. I will be so lonely in that great dining room with two servants to wait on poor little me. Sometimes I think I will scream at their unbending dignity."

I forgot all about my engagement with Jerry. Without thinking, I said: "I would love to come. Where do you live?"

"On Lakeshore Drive."

Then the girl in turn questioned: "What's your real name?"

"Julia Dean, but my friends call me Judy."

"And may I call you Judy?"

"You certainly can. And what is your name?" I questioned in turn.

"Joan Meredith. Now you won't fail me, will you, Judy? I'll send my car for you. It will be at the employees' entrance when the store closes.

"No, don't send it there, Joan. It will make a lot of talk. You see we don't often see fine cars at the employees' entrance, and if we do the girls who get into them will probably be cut by the other girls in the store the next day. Let me meet you somewhere."

"Well, Judy, meet me at the Congress. That is near, and I am going to the Blackstone for tea and can make it easily."

"All right."

ENGLISH TEAM THAT WILL MEET AUSTRALIANS HAS BEEN SELECTED

Comprises Two Amateurs and Nine Professionals—Will Play Saturday.

HOBBS WILL PLAY.

All the Batsmen Picked Have Had Considerable Experience.

LONDON, June 9.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The English teams that will meet the touring Australian cricketers at Trent Bridge, Nottingham, on Saturday next was selected yesterday and comprises two amateurs and nine professionals, or, to employ the characterization of cricket-writers, two "gentlemen" and nine "players." The amateurs are A. W. Carr, captain of Notts, and A. P. F. Chapman of Kent.

At the bowling end of the game, England will rely upon Maurice Tate, of Sussex, Roy Kilner of Yorkshire and Root of Worcester. Custody of the wicket will be reposed in Strudwick of Surrey.

For the run-getting department, England have gathered an imposing array, influenced undoubtedly by the fact that all their batsmen have had considerable experience against Australian bowling, and have acquitted themselves with utmost credit.

A. P. F. Chapman has appeared twice against the tourists, once for the H.C.C. and again for the south of England. In the former game he hit out 51 runs, and in the latter fell just eleven short of a century.

Jack Hobbs finds his place in the team, and Englishmen look to him to improve considerably on the 22 he made at the Oval against Australia. In that game, however, Hobbs had the misfortune to be dismissed leg before wicket.

Middlesex are represented by Hearne and Hendren. The former made 50 against the Antipodeans at Lords, and the latter 62 for the south of England at Bristol.

In addition to having Chapman on the team, Kent are also represented by F. E. Wooley, who is both batsman and Bowler.

Whether Sutcliffe will be sufficient recovered from the injury sustained in the game at Birmingham last week is doubtful in which case, another Yorkshireman, Holmes, will take his place.

THREE BASE CLOUT IN NINTH INNINGS

Gives Baltimore 8-7 Victory Over Syracuse—Two Men On.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 9 (Canadian Press).—Joe Boley's three-base clout to centre in the ninth inning yesterday, with two men on bases enabled Baltimore to defeat Syracuse 8 to 7, and also saved second place for the Baltimore team. Score:

Syracuse.. .. .. ..101103100— 7 9 1
Baltimore .. .. ..010310012— 8 11 2

Dickerman and Niebergall; Parnham, Ogden and McKee.

Bufalo and Jersey City

JERSEY CITY, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Buffalo defeated Jersey City in the opening game of the series here yesterday, 2 to 1. Koupal held Jersey City to four hits and was not scored upon until the ninth when the locals managed to shove Gaudette around the bases. Score:

Buffalo .. ..100001000— 2 10 1
Jersey City.. .. ..000000001— 1 4 0

Koupal and Pond; Moss and Freitag.

Toronto and Newark

NEWARK, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Toronto defeated the Bears in a double header in the first games of the series yesterday, 10 to 7 and 6 to 3. A brisk wind that swept the field stirred up a continual dust storm, making fielding uncertain and holding up the first game.

Carter hit a homer into left field during the first game. The visitors won both games by big leads totalled in one inning. Score:

First Game:

U. S. PRO CHAMPION MAKES BAD SHOWING

Two English Players Equal Course Record—American is Third.

LIVERPOOL, June 9 (Canadian Press)—Equalling the course record of 70, George Cadd of Rochampton and W. L. Davies of Prenton divided honors for the first eighteen hole round of the English Northern professional championship at Formby yesterday, leading an international field of 150, Cadd and Davies assured themselves of a strong position in the qualification test which will be completed today with another eighteen hole round. All players within 21 strokes of the leader at the close of the first 36 holes will be eligible to continue on the final two rounds of 18 holes each on Thursday when a prize of one thousand pounds sterling will go to the low scorer for the complete 72 holes.

"Bill" Mehlhorn of Chicago was third on yesterday's list with an excellent 71, but two other invaders did not do so well, the next man from the United States, Cyril Walker, making a 74 to tie eight Britishers for eleventh place.

The bad showing of Walter Hagen, professional champion of the United States astonished the gallery yesterday. Hagen's card showed an 82 with three putts on six greens.

POSTIES DEFEATED BY BARACAS TEAM

Let in Seven Runs in the Third Innings.

In the Men's Softball League the Baracas defeated the Post Office last night 15 to 10. It was a very open game throughout with plenty of hitting on both sides. The infield was very sticky and this did not give the base runners a chance. The Baracas gave their pitcher much better support than the Post Office men. Smith for the Baracas knocked a home run in the third. In the third inning the Postal team made four errors and seven runs were scored by the Baracas. Each pitcher struck out one man. SECRETS of STARS on INSIDE BASEBALL

as told to BILLY EVANS

BY EDDIE COLLINS.

COLLINS

In baseball the position of second base is commonly referred to as the keystone of the infield. The inference is that a majority of the plays revolve around second base, hence the naming of the position the keystone of the inner combination.

One thing that every second baseman should bear in mind is that he should always cover the bag; make it a point to go over to the base on every play on the assumption that it is not wise to take anything for granted in baseball. It is far best to be on the job able to make any play that comes up.

While the covering of the bag is most important, there are times when it is best that the duty be delegated to the shortstop.

Literally, on certain plays it would be suicide for the second baseman to do the covering, poor baseball. At such times it is up to the short-stop to cover the bag. For proper guidance the second baseman, prior to the pitch, should have a simple but obvious sign with the shortstop as to who will cover on every play.

There also must be a certain amount of co-operation between the second baseman and the first sacker. With a runner on first base and no one out, the second baseman should always be ready to cover first on a bunt.

Sensing this play, it is always best for the second baseman to move a few steps closer to first and not play as deep as usual. This makes the execution of the play much easier.

On the other hand, when there are one or more out and a runner on first, it is always well to play a trifle closer to second than is customary, unless the batter is a notorious right field hitter.

HELPFUL HINTS by GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO

JOCK HUTCHISON—HIT 'EM FAR.

If a player wants to reduce his handicap from 15 or 20 to below 10, a longer drive is more likely to accomplish the trick than anything else. How can one obtain a longer drive, the duffer asks? It is easy enough to do and quite a cinch compared with learning the art of sinking long putts. Bad pivoting is usually the result of short driving. A player gets into the habit of swinging his arms at the ball instead of the body.

If you will notice a golfer who does not lift his left heel from the ground you will see a poor driver. Straight, perhaps, but no distance.

Another thing important in hitting a long ball is perfect timing. It is excellent to pivot but fatal when the body tries to beat the club-head. The result is a pushed shot somewhere off to the right and no particular good.

Let the club-head get the ball away first before using the body for propelling purposes.

The NUT Cracker

By JOE WILLIAMS

THE BAM.

Those of you who attended the burial of Babe Ruth as a baseball star about this time last year will kindly return the floral wreaths and cards of condolence to that sour looking gentleman out in the ante room.

The Ruth obituary had a catch in it. . . . The paper became null, void and embarrassing if not presented to the head of the audit department within 30 days.

The Bam has come back bigger, better and broader than ever, and is now basking in the headlines along with intoxicated bath tubs, and Jack Pickford's marital troubles.

George Herman is once again the most stirring voice in baseball's community chorus. His swishing bat sings in a rumbling bass that is soothing harmony to everybody's ears, except the pitchers who face him.

The reformed hot dog collector occupies a rare spot in the limelight of notables. Let him slam one over the stands and the bugs howl, let him fan and they howl twice as pointedly and picturesquely.

Whether he does anything or nothing he is always sure of a bellowing roar from the mob. This is a tribute reserved only for genius. A flop by an ordinary guy is never noticed.

The Bam is the hero of the half-holiday masses, the well-fed idol of the bleacher Soviets and the lumbering high priest of baseball's black shirts.

He has brought a simplicity and a democracy to a sport that had been cluttered up with "inside plays," "strategical manoeuvres," and "baffling artifices."

All of these fine shadings of attack and defense fled from the game like glycerine tears from the eyes of a harassed film heroine when the Bam took a toe hold and swung from the hip.

A year ago without the Bam the Yanks were blasting for razzberries in the depths of the American League. With him today they are spread-eagling the field. . . . Bubbling Over pacing a mud turtle.

You are invited to grab your own moral from that. To make it easy for you, we'll hint that it ought to have something to do with one man making a whole ball club.

They say the Bam isn't really great because he can do nothing but hit. On this same score you'd shove Shakespeare to the bushes because he couldn't do a standing-sitting dive, and you'd ask waivers on Rodin because his ankles were not made for Charlestoning.

Anybody can have spring fever in the spring, but it takes an artist to have it all the time.

The quarterback of the football varsity oughtn't to have any trouble graduating with signal honors.

Another thing that convinces us these modern oarsmen lack the class of the old-timers is their failure to collapse dramatically once the shell has crossed the finishing line.

We learn on what really amounts to splendid authority that if Jack Dempsey refuses to sign to fight Harry Wills by June 22 the New York Boxing Commission will compel him to:

(a) Stand in a corner with his face to the wall for two hours.
(b) Go right to his little beddie without any bread pudding.
(c) Listen to a Piggly-Wiggly bed-time story until it hurts.
(d) Write "I'm a naughty, naughty mans" on both sides of the paper 5,643 times.
(e) And then admit publicly (while stifling a guffaw) that the commissioners are even more important than they try to make themselves appear.

Our reaction to Mr. Dempsey's return to the ring remains as it was in the beginning. . . . If the boys succeed in getting him in the ring with anybody that will be SOMETHING to cheer about.

Our young son was disappointed when he went through the freak tent at the circus. . . . He wanted to know where Three-Fingered Brown was.

Jack Johnson was knocked out the other day at the age of 48. . . . This is further proof that something should be done to keep these kids out of the ring.

Detroit, Six Runs Behind, Climbs Into Tie in Ninth.

DETROIT, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Ruth's twentieth and twenty-first home runs of the 1926 season, added to circuit clouts by Pat Collins and Bob Meusel were factors deciding yesterday's eleven inning game in favor of New York, 11 to 9. Detroit, which at one time was six runs behind, climbed into a tie in the ninth on Koenig's error, Cobb's single and Heilmann's sacrifice fly, only to lose in the eleventh when the Babe smashed the ball out of the playing field, scoring Gehrig ahead of him. Ruth's first homer came in the third, also scoring Gehrig, who had doubled. In the first inning, with Gehrig on second and two out, Ruth was purposely passed but Meusel hit over the fence to score both of them. Score:

Detroit .. .. ..10030103100— 9 14 2

Boston and St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Four Boston Red Sox errors helped the St. Louis Browns win yesterday, 6 to 5. Two of the errors came in the first inning as a result of which the Browns were able to stretch three singles into four runs. Score:

Boston.. .. ..000200201—/ 5 11 4
St. Louis .. .. ..40100100x— 6 8 3

Wiltse, Wingfield, Russell and Gaston; Zachary and Dixon.

Philadelphia and Chicago

CHICAGO, June 9 (Canadian Press).—Chicago shut out Philadelphia, 1 to 0 yesterday in the first game of the series. The game was a pitching battle between Lefty Grove and the veteran Red Faber. Score:

Philadelphia .. ..000000000— 0 6 0
Chicago.. .. ..00000001— 1 7 0

Groves and Cochrane; Faber and Schalk.

Washington and Cleveland

CLEVELAND, O., June 9 (Canadian Press). — After Washington had tied the score in the ninth inning yesterday, Cleveland won in its half of the same inning, 5 to 4. Score:

Washington .. ..000020002— 4 9 2
Cleveland .. .. ..200200001— 5 10 2

Vaulter Expects To Do 15 Feet

The style of pole vaulting which has enabled Charles Hoff, the great Norwegian one-man track team, to surpass all previous records in that event varies somewhat from the form used by American vaulters, who start to lift their bodies by their arms almost as soon as they have planted their poles and leaped into the air.

"It is mostly the speed of the run that carries the pole to a vertical position and the vaulter's body into the air," he said, explaining his secret to Arthur Grahame for the June Popular Science Monthly. Taking a cane, he demonstrated.

"It is easier," he said, indicating a point eighteen inches from the top off the stick, "to lift a weight fastened here than it would be to lift a weight"—a long fingered hand moved almost to the top of the cane—"fastened here. You see? The lower the weight, the less power is required to swing the pole into a vertical position. For that reason, after I have planted the pole and made my leap, I keep my arms almost fully extended above my head until the pole is approaching the vertical; then I lift my body by the arms and cross the bar without using the jack-knife kick that most American vaulters use. My way is best for me—perhaps theirs is best for them."

Hoff's present outdoor world record, made in Denmark in 1923, is 13 feet, 9¾ inches; but last September, in Abo, Finland, the home town of Paavo Nurmi, he vaulted 13 feet, 11¾ inches, a mark which probably will be accepted as a new world record at the next meeting of the Amateur Athletic Federation.

Hoff expects to do 14 feet, 2 inches in the American championships in Philadelphia in July. The limit of human ability in this event? Hoff shrugs his shoulders. Perhaps it will be 14 feet, 6 inches; perhaps even 15 feet. He does not think that any vaulter ever will beat 15 feet.

GLEN ALDA NEWS

Diamond Disputes Decided

By JIMMY EVANS

What is the rule governing the play where a fielder throws his glove at a batted or thrown ball and it comes into contact with same?

* * *

If the glove does hit the ball then the offending player is severely penalized.

The old rule was that on a batted ball all runners were entitled to advance three bases and on a thrown ball two bases.

This rule is still operative but a rather drastic addition has been made to the original rule. While the runners are entitled to the advancement on the play, they may go even farther if they wish to make the attempt at the peril of being retired.

Hollywood.—Shirley Mason's enticing performance as the reckless ingenue in Henry Hobrt's production, "Don Juan's Three Nights," for First National, may very well create a new vogue for this capable but hitherto unstable screen player.

As the impetuous young infatuate of Lewis Stone ("Don Juan" Aridi of Ludwig Biro's drama of a philandering continental musician) Miss Mason releases fires which have long been kept banked by roles unsuitable. Her rendition is comparable to Colleen Moore's "Flaming Youth" which set the fashion for screen plays of this type.

Girlhood's Impulses.

She conveys with fine discernment the commingled reticences and abandon of girlhood in its first blind love impulse. She manages to elicit laughter and pity, pathos and petulance in the rebellion of "Ninette" against the mother (Myrtle Stedman) who wants to keep her childish in manner and dress so her own age may be disguised.

Her deliberate fling at Lewis Stone under competitive stress of other more mature beauties reaches a poignant climax when the sated man of the world, deeply moved by pity for her flaunted innocence, finally repels her with contrived vulgarities to save her from herself.

Array of Beauties.

This scene finishes with a duel, provided by Malcolm McGregor as her young suitor, in which "Don Juan's" hand is pierced and his career as a famous pianist closed.

The picture, directed by John Francis Dillon, masses an exceptional array of film beauties as competitors for the musical roue's favor—Madeline Hurlock, Gertrude Astor, Natalie Kingston, Betty Francisco and Alma Bennett—all in the pink of fashion and strikingly photographed.

HAS THE VACATION SPIRIT GOT YOU YET?

Pretty soon now, the old vagabond spirit that has been asleep in your mind all winter will awake and stretch and slip into high gear. Once again you will long for the peace of the forest, the swish of the paddle, the song of the reel and the star-specked, sapphire skies of the northland.

Experience this year the real gypsy existence in the cool, green vastness of Algonquin Park. Enjoy a real holiday in its virgin forests, its sparkling lakes and winding rivers. Here you can fish and paddle to your heart's content, tramping the forest trails, climbing the wooded hills, exploring islands, swimming, loafing and dreaming and learning to know and understand the wild things of the forest.

You will return bronzed like an Indian—muscles hard, nerves calm and eyes sparkling like the Northern waters you leave behind; with a legion of happy memoirs to brighten the months ahead.

LEAGUE COUNCIL VOTES TO FREE AUSTRIA FROM FINANCE CONTROL

Commissioner Says Currency Has Been Stable For Four Years.

BUDGET BALANCED.

League Troubles Increase, However, as Arms Committee Disagrees.

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

GENEVA, June 9.—The Republic of Austria to-day was discharged from the International Court of Bankruptcy when the League of Nations Council formally voted to terminate all control of Austrian finance on June 30th.

Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, of Holland, the League's High Commissioner to Austria, who has supervised the rehabitation of the country's finance, addressed the council, and summed up the situation there as follows:

Austrian currency has remained stable for four years; the National Bank is sound; the budget is balanced; a strict system of administration of public funds has been established; and the International loan of approximately $126,000,000 is being repaid.

Rehabitation of Austria is one of the great works of the League which has failed to gain merited public attention, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the council.

Zimmerman, it is understood, will lecture in the United States on his work in Austria.

Mello Franco, the Brazilian Council member, who absented himself from Monday and yesterday's council meetings, was present to-day.

While the council was congratulating Austria and itself, the troubles of the League were increasing in the Chamber, where the preliminary disarmament conference subcommittee was in session. After two weeks of academic discussion of disarmament without a single fundamental decision being taken, the delegates to-day disagreed regarding adjournment. France favors adjournment for a month; Sweden for six weeks; Italy three months, and so on with the American delegation virtually alone disposed to remain in Geneva all summer, until something definite has been achieved.

Girl Dislikes His Job Burglar Shoots Himself

BUFFALO, June 9. Canadian Press. — Russell Van Sickel, 19, to-day shot and killed himself, when Aileen Curtis, 22, his sweetheart, decided to leave him because she did not approve of his method of earning a living by burglary.

Miss Curtis told the police she came here from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and that Van Sickle formerly lived in Hamilton, Ont.

AGED MINISTERS AND DEPENDENTS TO GET ANNUITY

Presbyterian Church Assembly Appoints Committee To Make Plans.

ASSESS CHURCHES.

Each Minister Over 70 To Get $1,000—Widows Get $500.

MONTREAL, June 9 (Canadian Press). — The joint committee on aged ministers' and widows' and orphans' funds hopes to present for approval to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada next year a plan for the creation of a new fund, according to the provisions adopted by the Assembly of 1921. This was stated to the present Assembly last night by the Rev. D. T. L. McKerroll, the convenor, and the committee was authorized to go ahead with the project. Under the 1921 plan an annual retiring allowance would be provided of at least $1,000 per year for ministers aged seventy years or over, or who had given the Church forty years of service, and an annuity of $500 to ministers' widows. An assessment would be made on every congregation to be based upon the stipend paid by the congregation, such assessment, together with the stipend, to be the first charge upon the revenue of the congregation.

PREMIERS ASK STOCK CONTROL

Also Want Dominion Aid in Sale of Canadian Fuel.

PASS RESOLUTIONS.

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press).—The conference of Provincial Premiers decided at the session here last night to ask the Dominion Government to pass a bill which would enable provinces more fully to control the sale of stocks and shares within their borders. They also went on record as favoring Government steps to ensure the erection of coking plants in the large centres in order to provide fuel for the people of Canada from the coal mines of the Dominion instead of importing it. The resolution in this connection also went on record as favoring such other Government assistance as might be necessary to supply Canadian coal to Central Canada at prices which would compete with imported fuel.

THEATRE AT THE REGENT

MESSENGER BOY GIVES FORD JOLT IN "LIGHTNIN'"

"Telegram for Mr. Hunt! Telegram for Mr. Hunt!'

Somehow, in some way, the messenger boy had gotten through the first line of defence and made his way to the set where John Ford was making the screen version of "Lightnin" at the William Fox West Coast Studios.

"There he is," said an electrician, indicating Hunt to the messenger.

Therewith the boy marched on the set in front of lights, cameras and everything else. The well known pandemonium reigned.

"That reminds me," said Hunt, when the set had been restored to normalcy and the messenger boy properly and thoroughly ejected, "of the time I was playing in "The Black Crook,' in the Chicago Opera House."

"The Curtain was up on the vivid scene in Hell. Fire and brimstone were all over the place. The paper flames were reaching high into the flies. Just at that moment a messenger boy came in with a telegram for someone in the company, and walked right on the stage into Hell, in full view of the audience. It broke up the show. "Well," said the manager, "that's the first time I've seen a messenger boy where he really belonged.''

The Pacific Coast League has developed more major league baseball stars than any other of the minor leagues.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Final Board Meeting of Season Held—Report Given.

ANNUAL OUTINGS.

The last regular meeting for this season of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon, in the Board room of the Chamber of Commerce. In the absence of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, the chair was taken by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs. Others present were Mr. John Edgar, secretary; Mr. G. W. Powell, agent; Messrs. Abraham, Parsons, Moffat, Stocker, Dobbin, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., and Rev. J. D. Richardson, to whom a hearty welcome was extended on his first appearance as a Board member. Ladies of the Board who were present were Mesdames Devey, Welsh, Newhall, Gibbs, Fanning.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mr. Edgar, who also gave a concise report of the proceedings of the recent convention of Children's Aid Societies, held in Toronto.

Mr. Edgar spoke of the adoption of one of the girl wards of the local society, by a lady resident near Toronto, who explained her action in taking a child from such a distance, because of the better treatment which would be accorded the girl at school by her classmates, if they were ignorant of her antecedents as a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Edgar also read a letter from the Public Trustee at Osgoode Hall, advising the society of a bequest of $500 made in the will of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Hazlett.

On account of the unavoidable absence on business in Toronto of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, on the Tuesday set apart by the society for its monthly meetings, it was decided to change the date from the second to the third Tuesday of each month, and a resolution to this effect was accordingly passed.

Arising out of a suggestion in the report by Mr. Edgar, he was authorized to make every possible effort to secure summer homes for the wards of the Society.

Annual Outings.

Mr. A. Moffat informed the Board that the Kiwanis Club intended to take the children from the Shelter, with the children from St. Vincent's Orphanage and Salvation Army children, numbering about two hundred altogether, for a picnic at Chemong Park, on Saturday, June 19th.

Arrangements were also left in the hands of a committee composed of Mr. A. Moffat, Mrs. J. Welsh and Mrs. J. Fanning, for the annual outing of the Board members, which will take place this year on Friday, June 18th.

Mr. G. W. Powell reported 16 applications made for children during the past month; 4 children brought to the Shelter (not wards); 3 children placed out.

Accounts Passed.

Mrs. J. Fanning read the report of the Purchasing Committee, as follows: W. A. J. Giles, 90c; R. Hall & Son, $8.79; R. Neill, Ltd., $6.06; Jas. Grady, $7.39; Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., $2; W. and A. Ingram, $7.30; T. L. Edwards, $6.86; Allen's Cash and Carry, $9.25; Menzies' Bakery, $21.66; Bredin's Bread, $15.11; Higgins Hardware Co., $5.25; W. H. Hamilton, $2.15; Miller-Powell Co., $2.40; W. H. Girven, $8; Peterboro Milk Products, $12.69; Peterboro Lumber Co., $7; Bell Telephone Co., $6.21; Wm. Taylor, $1; Canadian Packing Co., $16.20; G. W. Powell, $8.56; insurance, $93.50; J. Edgar, $10.81—total, $258.69.

Secretary's Report.

To the President and Board of the Children's Aid Society of Peterboro City and County.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

Having been appointed one of your representatives to the fourteenth annual convention of Children's Aid Societies, which met in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto on May 19, 20 and 21 last, I beg to submit my report. In doing so I intend giving you only an account of what impressed me most, and what I think might be of most interest to you. At the beginning I would like to say, that the meetings were well attended, and those present seemed to be taking a great deal of interest in the various papers presented, and that in my opinion the convention was really helpful, instructive and educational. The morning sessions always opened with prayer, and this is something that might well be introduced at the opening of our monthly meetings. It is done at our annual meeting, why not at all our meetings?

Number of cases dealt with during the year, 10,000.

Number made wards, 977.

Number released, 967.

Number placed in homes, 2,600.

Number placed in free homes, 1,000.

Money held in trust for wards by various societies, $105,000.

Our own society has almost one-ninth of this amount.

Total receipts for the year, $310,000.

Government grant, $100,000.

Number of Shelters in Province, 42.

Number of children in Shelters, 562.

Number of applications for adoption, 1,047.

Number adopted, 663.

1,500 cases under the Unmarried Parents Act.

$250,000 collected since the Act came in force in 1921.

Mr. Kelso said the Shelters were over-populated, and advised all superintendents to get the children out of the Shelters as quickly as possible, as this is not a place where children should be kept for a term of years. He also advised finding temporary homes for the summer months. In this connection I would suggest asking, through the press, for temporary homes for the children in our Shelter. I believe if a boy or girl enters a good home for a month or two the people get attached to them, and it may be the means of placing out our boys and girls.

The feeble-minded and sub-normal children were dealt with by three speakers. One outlined what was being done in Toronto, and showed what can be done with proper facilities. All admitted that feeble-mindedness was largely a matter of heredity, but it was admitted that there were some born of normal parents, while there were others who were classed as mentally defectives whose sub-normal condition was due to some physical defect, injury, or to illness. Various suggestions were made as to what is the best method of dealing with this class of people, and all were agreed that most sub-normals make good citizens and become self-supporting if we first find out what they can do, and get them at it.

The question of financing Children's Aid Societies was discussed, municipal and private donations. The counties of Oxford, Lincoln and Waterloo have adopted the municipal system, and say that in each case this method has made for greater efficiency and better results.

The juvenile court was also discussed, and methods of dealing with those coming before it were outlined by Judge Warner of the Juvenile Court of London. Judge Warner pointed out three things as necessary in the case of every boy or girl coming before this court.

Correction, Direction, Protection. Under correction, we were advised to teach boys and girls to understand the laws of the land and to respect same. There is a reason why boys and girls find themselves in juvenile court, and every one appearing there should be examined to find out the cause. After correcting children, direction would then follow. Try to remedy the cause and direct them along proper channels of conduct. Then follows protection, when you have found out the cause by correcting and directing, try and protect them from a repetition of the offence. Prevention was stressed by many speakers as the best means of preventing crime, and also the best method of keeping children out of our Shelters.

A very interesting paper was read on "Our Nation's Obligations to Her Children," in which the question of vocational school training for our boys and girls was considered of very great importance. It was pointed out that this is an age of no apprenticeship. Competition was so great that very few industries could afford to employ apprentices. Statistics show that only two per cent. of boys learn trades who commence work at the age of 14 years, hence it was necessary that every boy and girl have a vocational school training to fit them for the battles of life.

The Boys' Training School at Bowmanville came in for a share of criticism. The number of boys there at present is 36, and from reports these are practically hand-picked, as no boy with a mental quotient of less than 80 can be admitted. It was generally understood that this was to be a school for sub-normal boys. The Hon. Lincoln Goldie, in giving an account of this school, said it would be enlarged this summer to admit 72 boys. He also said that the Government proposed to, in the near future, erect a home for sub-normals.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

John Edgar, Secty., C.A.S.

What is the rule governing the play where a fielder throws his glove at a batted or thrown ball and it comes into contact with same?

* * *

If the glove does hit the ball then the offending player is severely penalized.

The old rule was that on a batted ball all runners were entitled to advance three bases and on a thrown ball two bases.

This rule is still operative but a rather drastic addition has been made to the original rule. While the runners are entitled to the advancement on the play, they may go even farther if they wish to make the attempt at the peril of being retired.

Hollywood.—Shirley Mason's enticing performance as the reckless ingenue in Henry Hobrt's production, "Don Juan's Three Nights," for First National, may very well create a new vogue for this capable but hitherto unstable screen player.

As the impetuous young infatuate of Lewis Stone ("Don Juan" Aridi of Ludwig Biro's drama of a philandering continental musician) Miss Mason releases fires which have long been kept banked by roles unsuitable. Her rendition is comparable to Colleen Moore's "Flaming Youth" which set the fashion for screen plays of this type.

Girlhood's Impulses.

She conveys with fine discernment the commingled reticences and abandon of girlhood in its first blind love impulse. She manages to elicit laughter and pity, pathos and petulance in the rebellion of "Ninette" against the mother (Myrtle Stedman) who wants to keep her childish in manner and dress so her own age may be disguised.

Her deliberate fling at Lewis Stone under competitive stress of other more mature beauties reaches a poignant climax when the sated man of the world, deeply moved by pity for her flaunted innocence, finally repels her with contrived vulgarities to save her from herself.

Array of Beauties.

This scene finishes with a duel, provided by Malcolm McGregor as her young suitor, in which "Don Juan's" hand is pierced and his career as a famous pianist closed.

The picture, directed by John Francis Dillon, masses an exceptional array of film beauties as competitors for the musical roue's favor—Madeline Hurlock, Gertrude Astor, Natalie Kingston, Betty Francisco and Alma Bennett—all in the pink of fashion and strikingly photographed.

HAS THE VACATION SPIRIT GOT YOU YET?

Pretty soon now, the old vagabond spirit that has been asleep in your mind all winter will awake and stretch and slip into high gear. Once again you will long for the peace of the forest ,the swish of the paddle, the song of the reel and the star-specked, sapphire skies of the northland.

Experience this year the real gypsy existence in the cool, green vastness of Algonquin Park. Enjoy a real holiday in its virgin forests, its sparkling lakes and winding rivers. Here you can fish and paddle to your heart's content, tramping the forest trails, climbing the wooded hills, exploring islands, swimming, loafing and dreaming and learning to know and understand the wild things of the forest.

You will return bronzed like an Indian—muscles hard, nerves calm and eyes sparkling like the Northern waters you leave behind; with a legion of happy memoirs to brighten the months ahead.

LEAGUE COUNCIL VOTES TO FREE AUSTRIA FROM FINANCE CONTROL

Commissioner Says Currency Has Been Stable For Four Years.

BUDGET BALANCED.

League Troubles Increase, However, as Arms Committee Disagrees.

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

GENEVA, June 9.—The Republic of Austria to-day was discharged from the International Court of Bankruptcy when the League of Nations Council formally voted to terminate all control of Austrian finance on June 30th.

Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, of Holland, the League's High Commissioner to Austria, who has supervised the rehabitation of the country's finance, addressed the council, and summed up the situation there as follows:

Austrian currency has remained stable for four years; the National Bank is sound; the budget is balanced; a strict system of administration of public funds has been established; and the International loan of approximately $126,000,000 is being repaid.

Rehabitation of Austria is one of the great works of the League which has failed to gain merited public attention, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the council.

Zimmerman, it is understood, will lecture in the United States on his work in Austria.

Mello Franco, the Brazilian Council member, who absented himself from Monday and yesterday's council meetings, was present to-day.

While the council was congratulating Austria and itself, the troubles of the League were increasing in the Chamber, where the preliminary disarmament conference subcommittee was in session. After two weeks of academic discussion of disarmament without a single fundamental decision being taken, the delegates to-day disagreed regarding adjournment. France favors adjournment for a month; Sweden for six weeks; Italy three months, and so on with the American delegation virtually alone disposed to remain in Geneva all summer, until something definite has been achieved.

MONTREAL, June 9 (Canadian Press). — The joint committee on aged ministers' and widows' and orphans' funds hopes to present for approval to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada next year a plan for the creation of a new fund, according to the provisions adopted by the Assembly of 1921. This was stated to the present Assembly last night by the Rev. D. T. L. McKerroll, the convenor, and the committee was authorized to go ahead with the project. Under the 1921 plan an annual retiring allowance would be provided of at least $1,000 per year for ministers aged seventy years or over, or who had given the Church forty years of service, and an annuity of $500 to ministers' widows. An assessment would be made on every congregation to be based upon the stipend paid by the congregation, such assessment, together with the stipend, to be the first charge upon the revenue of the congregation.

OTTAWA, June 9 (Canadian Press).—The conference of Provincial Premiers decided at the session here last night to ask the Dominion Government to pass a bill which would enable provinces more fully to control the sale of stocks and shares within their borders. They also went on record as favoring Government steps to ensure the erection of coking plants in the large centres in order to provide fuel for the people of Canada from the coal mines of the Dominion instead of importing it. The resolution in this connection also went on record as favoring such other Government assistance as might be necessary to supply Canadian coal to Central Canada at prices which would compete with imported fuel.

MESSENGER BOY GIVES FORD JOLT IN "LIGHTNIN'"

"Telegram for Mr. Hunt! Telegram for Mr. Hunt!'

Somehow, in some way, the messenger boy had gotten through the first line of defence and made his way to the set where John Ford was making the screen version of "Lightnin" at the William Fox West Coast Studios.

"There he is," said an electrician, indicating Hunt to the messenger.

Therewith the boy marched on the set in front of lights, cameras and everything else. The well known pandemonium reigned.

"That reminds me," said Hunt, when the set had been restored to normalcy and the messenger boy properly and thoroughly ejected, "of the time I was playing in "The Black Crook,' in the Chicago Opera House."

"The Curtain was up on the vivid scene in Hell. Fire and brimstone were all over the place. The paper flames were reaching high into the flies. Just at that moment a messenger boy came in with a telegram for someone in the company, and walked right on the stage into Hell, in full view of the audience. It broke up the show. "Well," said the manager, "that's the first time I've seen a messenger boy where he really belonged.''

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETS

Final Board Meeting of Season Held—Report Given.

ANNUAL OUTINGS.

The last regular meeting for this season of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon, in the Board room of the Chamber of Commerce. In the absence of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, the chair was taken by Mrs. W. H. Gibbs. Others present were Mr. John Edgar, secretary; Mr. G. W. Powell, agent; Messrs. Abraham, Parsons, Moffat, Stocker, Dobbin, Rev. R. C. Blagrave, D.D., and Rev. J. D. Richardson, to whom a hearty welcome was extended on his first appearance as a Board member. Ladies of the Board who were present were Mesdames Devey, Welsh, Newhall, Gibbs, Fanning.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mr. Edgar, who also gave a concise report of the proceedings of the recent convention of Children's Aid Societies, held in Toronto.

Mr. Edgar spoke of the adoption of one of the girl wards of the local society, by a lady resident near Toronto, who explained her action in taking a child from such a distance, because of the better treatment which would be accorded the girl at school by her classmates, if they were ignorant of her antecedents as a ward of the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. Edgar also read a letter from the Public Trustee at Osgoode Hall, advising the society of a bequest of $500 made in the will of the late Mrs. Mary Ann Hazlett.

On account of the unavoidable absence on business in Toronto of Mr. B. F. Ackerman, on the Tuesday set apart by the society for its monthly meetings, it was decided to change the date from the second to the third Tuesday of each month, and a resolution to this effect was accordingly passed.

Arising out of a suggestion in the report by Mr. Edgar, he was authorized to make every possible effort to secure summer homes for the wards of the Society.

Annual Outings.

Mr. A. Moffat informed the Board that the Kiwanis Club intended to take the children from the Shelter, with the children from St. Vincent's Orphanage and Salvation Army children, numbering about two hundred altogether, for a picnic at Chemong Park, on Saturday, June 19th.

Arrangements were also left in the hands of a committee composed of Mr. A. Moffat, Mrs. J. Welsh and Mrs. J. Fanning, for the annual outing of the Board members, which will take place this year on Friday, June 18th.

Mr. G. W. Powell reported 16 applications made for children during the past month; 4 children brought to the Shelter (not wards); 3 children placed out.

Accounts Passed.

Mrs. J. Fanning read the report of the Purchasing Committee, as follows: W. A. J. Giles, 90c; R. Hall & Son, $8.79; R. Neill, Ltd., $6.06; Jas. Grady, $7.39; Peterborough Examiner, Ltd., $2; W. and A. Ingram, $7.30; T. L. Edwards, $6.86; Allen's Cash and Carry, $9.25; Menzies' Bakery, $21.66; Bredin's Bread, $15.11; Higgins Hardware Co., $5.25; W. H. Hamilton, $2.15; Miller-Powell Co., $2.40; W. H. Girven, $8; Peterboro Milk Products, $12.69; Peterboro Lumber Co., $7; Bell Telephone Co., $6.21; Wm. Taylor, $1; Canadian Packing Co., $16.20; G. W. Powell, $8.56; insurance, $93.50; J. Edgar, $10.81 —total, $258.69.

Secretary's Report.

The following is the report read by Mr. Edgar of the recent convention in Toronto:

WEDDING BELLS.

McFADDEN—HETHERINGTON

The marriage was quietly celebrated on Monday, June 7th. at the George street United Church Parsonage of Mr. Nelson H. McFadden, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. McFadden, Bolivar street, and Miss Grace Hetherington, eldest daughter of Mr. Isaac and the late Mrs. Hetherington, Chemong Road.

The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Todd. They will reside in Peterboro.

MOORE—SANDERS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Saunders, Stouffville, on Wednesday, June 2, at high noon, when their daughter, Mary Louise, was united in marriage to Mr. R. Melville Moore, Toronto, son of the late Mr. C. H. Moore, Peterboro', the Rev. H. S. Warren officiating. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her father. She wore a charming gown of shell pink taffeta trimmed with silk net and French velvet flowers, and carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and lily of the valley. She entered the drawing room to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Miss Mae Marshall, St. Catharines. During the signing of the register, Miss Ruby Moss, Newmarket, rendered a solo, accompanied by Miss Marshall. Following the ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served, the happy couple leaving for an extended motor trip through the Eastern States. The bride wore a navy blue tailored suit and hat to match with a platinum fox fur. On their return they will reside in Moore Park, Toronto.—Toronto Globe.

OLIVER—McCONKEY.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConkey, Selwyn, on Wednesday, June 2nd, when their eldest daughter, Elsie Margaret was united in marriage to Mr. Albert Kay Oliver, of Detroit, Michigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Oliver, Selwyn. Rev. J. V. McNeely, M.A., B. D., of Bridgenorth officiated.

The bride who entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, looked winsome in a gown of orchid satin-faced crepe carrying a bouquet of ophelia roses. Miss Helen McConkey, the charming bridesmaid, was attired in rosewood satin faced crepe and carried a bouquet of carnations. Miss Lauretta Northey played Lohengrin's wedding march and rendered selections during the signing of the register. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Henry Oliver. The groom's gift to the bride was an antique Russian bracelet; to the bridesmaid and pianist hand-painted Chinese necklaces and the groomsman a fountain pen.

After the wedding supper, the happy young couple left by motor for Fenelon Falls, Toronto, Niagara Falls, London, and Detroit, which is their future place of residence.

NEWS OF WARSAW.

WARSAW, June 8.—Miss Helen Bowen is home from Belleville Hospital Training School. Her holidays last until June 18.

Miss Alice Rayne, who has been in Rochester, N.Y. for over two years, is home, and intends remaining home.

Mr. Joe Gallagher returned to Peterboro on Thursday evening.

The United church Missionary Society met on Thursday afternoon. There was a very strong feeling that more attention should be paid to Mission work that people do not know what blessing they miss by neglecting Christ's great commandment, and very earnest prayers on behalf of missionary work were offered. The lesson was from Mark XIV, verses 33 to 42.

Mrs. Robert Moore told a little more of the Presbyterial meeting in Lindsay, and told that, according to the new arrangement each auxiliary would have its work allotted. This is to avoid confusion. The amount expected to be given by each auxiliary would be told them. It is not absolutely necessary that the amount be raised and if more is obtained that will help others who cannot get their full share. This auxiliary has for some years sent one hundred dollars, at times, perhaps, a little over.

Mrs. Moore had outlines of the former Presbyterian and former Methodist missionary work in Canada. She read these and showed that the work was much the same, now both have an interest in all and there will be but one general office instead of two.

Miss Clara Payne read a letter from Miss Staples who went to Japan when Mrs. Atkinson (nee Ada Payne) did. Miss Staples decribed very fully some of the work being done in Japan.

CUSTOMS PROBE IS NEARING END

Committee Hopes To Report Next Tuesday or Wednesday.

FEW WITNESSES.

OTTAWA, June 9. — (Canadian Press).—After four months of sitting, the Parliamentary Committee investigating the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise will probably conclude its examination of witnesses on Friday next. By working over the week-end Chairman Paul Mercier hopes that the committee will be able to report to the House of Commons on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

JUDGE HUYCKE

for the Crown, said the jury would be presented with the relation of circumstances leading to the loss of one life and the endangering of another. Counsel then read the indictment and Sections 242-244 of the Criminal Code. George Dwyer and his wife, Mary Dwyer, lived, he said, in the township of Dummer, in a very poorly constructed house or shanty, the lower part of which was all one room.

There were seven children in the family. The eldest, Kathleen, 14 or 15 years of age, resided not with her parents, but with Mr. Little, who lived near by. The other six children lived with their parents. Mrs. Dwyer was not the mother of the three eldest children. She was their stepmother, and they were the children of the first Mrs. Dwyer. Their names were Mary, 12, or 13, John, aged 11, who died last March, and George, aged 9 or 10.

It would be submitted to the jury that these children of George Dwyer and step-children of Mary Dwyer were ill-clad, poorly fed and treated in a fashion different from that of other families. It would be submitted that these children were overworked to such an extent that the food they received was insufficient to nourish their bodies. It was questionable, indeed, if they received nourishment to keep them alive.

These were the facts which it was hoped to establish. A statement would be read to them from Mary Dwyer, made after she had been warned that there was nothing to gain and nothing to lose by making it. In other words, there was no inducement held out to her to make it.

He asked the jury to divest their minds of all that they had heard concerning the case, and to find the accused guilty or not guilty solely on the evidence presented for their consideration.

Mine Market Is Quiet Tendency To Lower Prices

TORONTO, June 9 (Canadian Press).—The Standard Mining Exchange was fairly quiet this morning, the tendency toward lower price levels being off-set by a number of moderate gains. The strong spots were Teck Hughes, gaining 3 at 356, and Canadian Lorrain, advancing 3½ at 87 3-4. Hollinger firmed 10 at 19.35. Dome was 15 cents easier at 13.70, and McIntyre receded 25 at 25.60. Noranda eased 10 at 15.25, and Mining Corporation 4 at 351.

Firm Tone at Toronto Though Leaders Are Weak

TORONTO, June 9 (Canadian Press). — Losses in Consolidated Smelters and Brazilian were overshadowed by the generally firm tone on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. Smelters, the outstanding active leader, was weaker than any stock in the list, selling down to a low of 210 3-8, and closing the morning at 214¼, a loss of two points. Brazilian lost seven-eighths at 97 3-4. Bell Telephone and Shredded Wheat were strong spots. Telephone firmed a point and a quarter at 139½, and wheat was sold up a point at 51¼. Consumers' Gas Rights advanced four cents at 4.11, and City Dairy was slightly higher at 74 3-8.

Canadian Lorrain was the active leader of the unlisted mines, advancing three cents at 87.

Heavy Rains In Kansas Send Wheat Prices Down

CHICAGO, Ills., June 9 (Canadian Press). — The rains in Kansas that were asserted to have added 20,000,000 bushels to the crop in that State as a whole brought a re-action in wheat prices to-day after an early upturn. Initial strength of the wheat market mas due largely to an unexpected advance in Liverpool quotations and to continued unfavorable crop reports from parts of Kansas and Nebraska. Wheat opened unchanged to 7-8 cents higher, and receded to well below yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were easier, corn starting unchanged to ¼ cent off, and undergoing a material set-back.

Kansas weather was reported today as being of a made-to-order character, cool, as well as rainy. On the other hand, advices from North-Western Kansas said rain was no longer a factor in that section and that the crop failure there was practically complete.

New York Prices Rally Steel Common Is Leader

NEW YORK, June 9.— (Canadian Press.)—Stock prices rallied sharply this afternoon under the leadership of United States' Steel common, after an earlier period of heaviness. United States' Steel common touched 132, a new high on the current recovery, Pan American B also spurted upward, but the other oils were slow in following up the advance.

France Claims All Armaments Must Be Taken Together.

GENEVA, June 9 (Canadian Press). — France today reiterated her contention that land, naval and air armaments cannot be treated separately in any effort to bring about any degree of disarmament. This view, on the whole, differs from the British and United States thesis, that they can be studied separately. The French view point was embodied in a memorandum submitted this morning to the military committee of the preparatory disarmament commission. France presented three main reasons for her attitude.

DWYER CHILD NEVER LEARNED A PRAYER

George and Nellie Tell of Hardships And Statement by Mrs. Dwyer Recounts Beating of John With Blacksnake Whip

Children Were Dying On Their Feet and Boys Looked Like 'Little Old Men' Says Constable—Dr. Holdcroft Believes John's Condition Due To Slow Starvation — Dr. Erb Agrees Meningitis Did Not Cause Extent of Wastage Seen in Body.

DOG TRIED TO SAVE LAD FROM WHIPPING BY FATHER BUT WAS DRIVEN OFF SAYS STEPMOTHER'S STATEMENT

One Slice of Dry Bread Was All Lunch Each Boy Had While Working in Bush Sawing Trees, George Says—Toe Was Frozen and Fell Off Before Rag Tied Around the Wound—Defence Counsel Suggests Witness Was Coached; Reproved By Judge.

Startling evidence was given yesterday afternoon in the trial of Mrs. Mary Dwyer of Dummer Township on charges of neglecting to supply then necessaries of life to her step-children. Following, as a rule, the testimony presented at the preliminary hearing in March, there were additions to story, notably by little George and Nellie Dwyer, that brought tears to the eyes of many in the crowded courtroom. And most dramatic, perhaps, was the recital of the accused woman in a statement made to the police when she was charged with manslaughter, of beatings administered by her husband.. On one occasion, she said, he whipped John with a blacksnake whip until it broke, then struck at him with the cane, and when she and the dog tried to save the boy they too were beaten off.

George, ten year old brother of the boy who died last March, told of working all day in the bush with only a slice of dry bread, sometimes frozen, for lunch; of his toe being frozen and falling off; of John being sick and repeatedly falling while at work. And, most pathetic af all, perhaps, he admitted that he had never been taught at home to say a prayer. Towards the end of his cross-examination F. D. Kerr, K. C., who is acting for Mrs. Dwyer, remarked, "I'm afraid you have been coached, George."

Nellie, thirteen year old sister, recounted the tale of endless days of housework and chores with nothing better to eat than bread, dry porridge, gravy made of flour and water and, "sometimes", milk. Her stepmother, she said, would not let the boys wear mittens while they were working in the biush. The boys and she were "mostly hungry." And a piece of pie, obtained at Grandpa Little's was a treat.

Throughout his examination of the little girl, Crown Prosecutor J. K. MacKay, of Toronto, repeatedly stopped to wipe the tears from her eyes with his handkerchief and pat her reassuringly on the back as he tried to still her sobs.

Provincial Constable N. F. Maker again told his impression of the scene as he first saw it, when he thought the children were dying on their feet, and Dr. Holdcroft declared his belief that John's condition prior to his death was due to slow starvation. Dr. Erb, who conducted the autopsy, said in his opinion the extent of the wastage of the child's body is not attributable to the meningitis or to any other disease.

Case Continues.

Only a few of the witnesses had been heard when court adjourned last night, and the case is proceeding to-day.

His Honor Judge Huycke is presiding, and at yesterday's sitting had opportunity to show the kindliness which has always marked his dealings with young people who appear as witnesses or accused. When counsel failed to obtain answers from the children who gave evidence for the Crown, His Honor never failed to bring the answer, and usually won, too, a smile through the children's tears.

Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., is assisting Mr. MacKay in conducting the Crown's case.

J. F. Strickland and B. E. Park, who will defend George Dwyer on his appearance on the same charge at the conclusion of the present case were in court watching development, and His Worship Magistrate Langley, who committed the Dwyers for trial after reducing the charges from manslaughter to neglect on request of the Crown Attorney, was an interested spectator for a time.

Constable Maker

The first witness called was Provincial Constable N. F. Maker who related that on Monday, February 22, in response to directions, he went, accompanied by John Edgar of the Children's Aid Society, to Dummer and to the Dwyer home. He said that he found Mrs. Dwyer and five children in the house. On asking if there was a sick boy there Mrs. Dwyer said "Yes, there is a boy upstairs." He went upstairs and saw John on a bed. Witness asked if the boy was cold. Mrs. Dwyer said 'No,' adding that there were lots of clothes over him. Witness said he touched the boy and found his body cold.

The boy was groaning but Mrs. Dwyer said he was not in pain. Witness asked if the boy had been receiving any medical treatment. Mrs. Dwyer answered that her father, Mr. Little, had asked Dr. Holdcroft to see the boy.

On coming downstairs witness saw Nellie and the little boy. George, behind the stove. George Dwyer, the father, then entered and witness explained who he was and what his purpose was. Witness told Dwyer that the child was in very bad condition and should be removed to a hospital. Dwyer answered that Dr. Holdcroft had been there and left some medicine. He also said he had also been to Norwood and had asked Dr. Sutton to see the boy. Witness stated that the boy George was wearing men's moccasins and that his clothes were very ragged. Witness asked regarding the condition of the boy's feet and was told they were all right. He then asked that the boy's boots be removed. Witness was going to take them off himself, but Mrs. Dwyer took them off. She then said one of the boy's toes was frozen. He was wearing an old sock. An old rag was wrapped around his foot. On taking this off witness found one of the right foot toes off at the joint. The rag was none too clean. The flesh was like the bud of a rose. On inquiry, witness was told that the boy had received no treatment for his feet. He asked if Dr. Holdcroft had seen George when he was at the house, and he was told that he had not. On asking why, Dwyer replied that the boy's feet were getting better.

Dying On Their Feet

Nellie, John and George were all in every poor condition. "Dying on their feet" was how witness described their condition. The boys appeared to him to be like little old men. John seemed as if he were 20 years old. He asked the children if they were getting enough to eat. They did not answer him.

Witness then told Dwyer that he was going to see what he could do for the children, but that he would return and if he did not find the children getting better treatment he would arrest Dwyer. Dwyer replied that witness would find him as bad as the rest of them if he tried to arrest him.

Witness stated that he saw Dr. Holdcroft who suggested that John Dwyer should be taken to Peterborough hospital. On the following Wednesday it was arranged that Dr. Holderoft should take the boy to Havelock, and Mr. Edgar should take him from Havelock to Peterborough and this arrangement was carried out. On February 26, witness received instructions from the Crown Attorney and he arrested George Dwyer on a charge of child neglect. On Tuesday, March 21, young John Dwyer died, and witness was instructed to arrest Mary Dwyer on a charge of manslaughter. He brought Mrs. Dwyer to Peterborough and took her to the Police Station.

He warned her that she was not compelled to sign anything. Mrs. Dwyer stated that she wanted to tell the truth and made a statement voluntarily. Witness wrote down this statement.

At the request of the Prosecuting Attorney, Constable Maker read the statement of Mrs. George Dwyer. It stated that she was the wife of George Dwyer, to whom she had three children. She kept his home and his three children by his first wife. George Dwyer, it continued, made the two boys George and John go to the woods and cut wood every day. All the food they had in the house was bread, rice, porridge and some apples.

Boys Beaten.

If there was not enough work done, her husband would beat the boys. He beat them often because they had not done enough work.

One day when her husband was at Norwood, the two boys were cutting wood and did not return at their usual hour. She went to meet them and on the way home, she went into her father's house where she and the boys were given some food. When she got home, her husband beat her. He also beat the children. If she made a fire for the boys in the woods her husband would raise cain and say the boys would be warm if they worked hard enough.

Then we had a pile of wood. Her brother was around with his saw and he offered to saw this wood, but her husband refused and said, "The boys can saw it." When this work was finished, John had a weak spell. His father beat him with a blacksnake whip. She saw him pass the window and beat John. When she tried to stop him, her husband beat her. He broke the whip and continued to flog John with the rod. The dog rushed and tried to stop him but her husband chased it away. The boy was sick afterwards. Her father brought the doctor. Concluding she said her statement was made voluntarily.

Just Skin and Bone.

In answer to further questioning by Mr. MacKay, witness said the lad was just skin and bone. The house had been built of green wood which had dried and one could see through it. He could see through the door. When he saw John Dwyer, the boy was wearing a night shirt. There was a quilt and a sheet over him. The boy was conscious and said a few words.

When he saw George, witness asked if his feet were all right. The mother and the father both said his feet were in perfect condition. While the socks were being removed, Mrs. Dwyer said he had a ring on his foot a year ago. By this, he understood that she meant his toe was not right.. When he saw the toe, witness said, it was frozen off. She admitted it was frozen.. Witness asked if this was shown to Dr. Holdcroft. She said No, she did not think it was necessary to do so. At the second time, he went to the Dwyers house, he took some exhibits—some of the boys clothing, a blacksnake whip and a jar of fruit from the cellar. This fruit had gone sour. It had been made without sugar. He had also brought a cross cut saw. He took some pictures of the outside of the house and had tried to take a picture of the inside, but he did not make much headway with it.

On the occasion of his first visit to the house, he found a bag of potatoes, two kinds of oatmeal, and in the cupboard a saucer containing fat or grease which looked as if it had been there for a long time. There was also a small quantity of tea. When he went to the house on the second occasion, he found a loose board on the floor, underneath which was a pit. In this pit were two bags of rotten apples and on the floor were about a dozen jars of fruit and a small quantity of potatoes As to the condition of the house, he had never seen anything to compare with it. The condition of the boys seemed to him to be an evidence of a great degree of starvation.

Although the children did not answer his question at first, on different occasions since, they had told him that they never had enough to eat. The food he saw on the table consisted of porridge. There were some crusts of bread in the cupboard. The fruit he saw was, in his opinion, not edible.

Cross-Examination

Replying to Mr. Kerr's cross-examination, witness said that he would describe the condition of the household as one of extreme poverty. There was a piece of oilcloth as a cover on the table. He saw some cooked apples on a tray. He had described them in the police court as withered looking apples, not fit to be eaten. He saw a piece of a loaf about three or four inches thick. He did not see any butter or milk in the house. He saw a pot boiling on the stove but did not know what it contained. Mr. Edgar lifted the lid and looked at the contents. He thought Mrs. Dwyer had put on the table all that she could.

The boy John called Mrs. Dwyer "Mother." Mrs. Dwyer told him when he arrested her that the boy did not get sufficient food for the work he had to do. This statement agreed with what he saw in the house. The clothes which he had taken from the house bore evidences of much patching. His experience led him to believe that it was usually the mother who did the sewing and mending in a house.

Mrs. Dwyer told him that John had been in bed for a few days and that she was looking after him. She said that her father had asked Dr. Holdcroft to see John, saying that the boy was very ill. She also said that she had gone to meet her husband, telling him that John was very ill. Her husband asked "What is the matter? Can he eat?" When she said "Yes," he answered, "There is hope for him yet" and told her to go back home. She said she was scared of her husband. He had beaten her.

Asked by counsel how many times he had gone to the Dwyer home, witness said he had gone on February 22, on February 26, when he arrested George Dwyer, on March 3, when he arrested Mary Dwyer, and one March 5 and March 7. The boys, John and George, were taken from Dummer on February 24. There was nothing done before that to bring more food to the children. There were no public facilities for getting food to the children.

In cross examination, he said that Dr. Holdcroft came at the instance of Mr. Little and at his instance alone. He understood that Mr. Little made the request to the doctor when he was in Havelock.

Dr. D. W. Clark

Dr. D. W. Clark, Peterborough, stated that he was called upon to examine John Dwyer on February 24. The boy's body was very much wasted; he was thin and very ill, being unconscious when witness saw him. When witness saw the boy he was lying on his side all curled up. He had all the indications of suffering from meningitis. Witness did not have his weight, but he judged him to be about 30 pounds, instead of the normal 60 or 70 pounds. The boy spoke sometimes indistinctly.

In answer to Mr. Kerr, Dr. Clark said that there were cases in which children who were quite healthy were at the same time abnormally thin. He thought the marks on the boy's face and head were scars that had been healed. His feet seemed to have been either burned or frozen. The boy grew worse and he weakened until on the morning of March 2, he died. He had taken a fluid from the boy's body which he sent to the Provincial Laboratory. The report gave no further evidence of the boy's condition. There were no further germs or growth.

In his opinion, the boy's death was caused by meningitis. Asked as to the condition of the body, Dr. Clark said it was very much wasted.

"What do you mean by very much wasted?"

"Terrible," he answered. "It was so much wasted that I never saw anything like it. The emaciated condition would be caused by a wasting disease or by slow starvation. Meningitis was not a wasting disease. It did not last long enough. The form of meningitis the boy had suffered from was streptococcus meningitis. It was caused by a germ which might enter through a wound or through the mouth to the brain tissues and develop into the acute form in the child. The germ could be dormant for a long time within the body. He judged from the frame that the boy ought to have weighed about 70 pounds.

Dr. N. F Sutton

Dr. N. F. Sutton of Norwood stated that he was never called upon to attend John Dwyer. George Dwyer spoke to him about John; saying the boy had pains in the head. Witness said that if the boy did not get better, he should be taken to hospital Two days later George Dwyer came in and said the boy was better. The medicine he gave to George Dwyer for the boy was medicine to be used for a cold or general purposes. Witness had suggested the boy might be suffering from a gathering in the middle ear. When Dwyer said the boy was well, witness said that the gathering was evidently being discharged and Dwyer agreed.

George Dwyer never told him at any time that the boy was unconscious.

Dr. J. Holdcroft

Dr. J. Holdcroft of Havelock was the next witness. He was called to the Dwyer home and went on February 19. Mr. Little asked him to go out to see Dwyer's boy who, he said, was ill. When he saw John Dwyer, he found the boy in a comatose condition. The boy could not answer any questions, and he considered him seriously ill.

June Frost Destroys Cemetery Border Plants

The frosts of the last few nights has completely destroyed the bordering plants at Little Lake Cemetery which have recently been set out by the Superintendant William James. This morning when Mr. James went out, he could find traces of frost on everything. The bordering plants have wilted since that time and the other plants show signs of being nipped.

This means a loss of about $800 to the Cemetery board. The plot owners pay so much each year for having their plots looked after and flowers planted and it is just a question if the Board is obligated to replant when a late frost comes and destroys the flowers.

HINDENBURG IS ATTACKED FOR STAND ON VOTE

Fist Fights Threaten in Noisy Meeting of Reichstag.

STATEMENT ISSUED.

President's Pronouncement on Property Plebiscite Criticized By Socialists.

BERLIN, June 10 (Canadian Press).—Bedlam broke loose in the Reichstag today when Chancellor Mark defended President Von Hindenburg against Socialist attacks for his recent pronouncement against the confiscation of the former rulers' property.

Fist fights threatened between the deputies of the Right and Left parties. The Socialists' criticism was voiced by former Chancellor Hermann Mueller, who charged the President with violating the constitution in abandoning the non-partisan attitude prescribed for the chief executive.

An official party declaration issued by the Socialists regarding President Von Hindenburg's letter reads: "Is it right for the President to stamp the 12,000,000 people who signed the referendum petition as lawless and not normal?" The declaration closes with an appeal for the voters to turn out at the referendum so that "The commonweal may triumph over the Princes' robbery."

Must Clean Main Street For Fatal Stone Throwing

HACKENSACK, N. J.,—(United News). — Paul Caruso, 14, found guilty of having thrown a stone which struck an aged watchman, has been sentenced to pick up papers and rubbish on Main Street every Saturday morning for the next six months. The watchman died of apoplexy, a few days after being struck.

MEN ARE FOUND CLOSE TO CAMP

Wanderings of Two Weeks Had Taken Them Only Ten Miles Away.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

LINDSAY, June 10. — (Special. —After wandering in the trackless woods of Haliburton County for seventeen days, during which time they claimed to have walked about one hundred miles, W. J. Weatherhead and E. D. Solman were found yesterday afternoon at Boundy Lake ten miles from the camp they left on May 24. by William Boyce, a trapper of that district. The men were in good condition despite their long wanderings, having subsisted on porcupines and other small game, which diet was varied by the addition of some flour which they found in a deserted lumber camp.

The men are coming out to-day, and are expected to reach Haliburton, thirty miles from where they were found, some time to-morrow.

The hydroplane which was sent by the Department of Lands and Forests to aid in the search reached Kushog Lake yesterday, just too late to be of service in finding the men.

W. J. Weatherhead, one of the missing men, is a native of Peterborough, where he has relatives. He worked with D. Bellegheim and Sons for thirteen years, learning the undertaking trade, and then went west, returning some years ago to Toronto where he now makes his home.

Gangsters' Widow Grieves Two Hubbies Shot in Month

CHICAGO, June 10 (Canadian Press).—Widowed twice in a single month by gangsters, Mrs. Frank Camera last night grieved over the body of her husband, found along a lonely road near Crown Point, Ind., where the police believe he had been 'taken for a ride' and shot through the head.

Mrs. Camera's first husband, Victor De Frank, was killed on May 8.

300 ARRESTED FOR MINOR RIOTS AT BIG FUNERAL

Korean Students Seized By Japs For Shouting For Independence.

EX-EMPEROR BURIED.

Hundred Thousand People Gather on Mountain For Picturesque Ceremony.

SEOUL, Korea, June 10. —(United Press).—Three hundred persons have been arrested after minor riots at the elaborate funeral ceremonies of Yi, ex-emporer of Korea.

Students created an uproar by shouting, "'success to Korean independence," when 100,000 people gathered on a mountain top at dawn yesterday in the funeral ceremonies. Revolutionary pamphlets were being distributed by the students when the police interfered, making wholesale arrests. The funeral itself was picturesque and the funeral procession was one of the greatest the world has ever seen.

The catafalque was borne by two thousand men, in relays to the mountain side tomb, which was eight miles from the city. Twenty thousand troops, 25,000 students, 2,000 priests, 3,000 musicians and at least, 50,000 citizens marched with the procession, while 4000 policemen and troops were lined up along the route.

The funeral was conducted with the full ceremony of the Korean rites.. The Japanese authorities permitted the display of the old Korean flag during the ceremonies.

THE WEATHER.

That frost is somewhat irregular in spreading its blighting influence, is well known to close observers. When the temperature descends close to the freezing point, one section may escape entirely, while another section not far away may see tomatoes and other tender plants severely nipped. I saw tomato plants in Ashburnham last evening with blackened and shriveled leaves, showing unmistakably the effects of frost, while other city gardens similar plants had entirely escaped. Possibly some soil stores up more heat during the day and is not so easily chilled at night, or perhaps Jack Frost wears the fabled seven-leagued boots and only makes his influence felt here and there.. Highest temperature yesterday, 71 degrees. Warmer weather is needed. —W. P.

MRS. DWYER ON WITNESS STAND THIS MORNING

Was Constantly in Fear of Husband's Rage, She Says.

FREQUENTLY BEATEN.

Claims She Showed No Partiality For Her Own Children.

At the resumption, this morning, of the trial of Mrs. Mary Dwyer, charged with child neglect before His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, in the County Building; interest centred chiefly around the appearance of the accused woman on the witness stand. She declared on oath, that she had lived under the constant subjection of her husband; that he ill treated her and the children, especially the two boys, John and George; that he did not provide her with money to buy sufficient necessaries for the family; that she herself had been frequently in want; and she gave an emphatic denial to the suggestion that she favoured her own children at the expense of the children of the first Mrs. Dwyer.

Mrs .Dwyer was represented by F. D. Kerr, K. C. Crown Prosecutor J. K. MacKay and Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., conducted the case for the prosecution.

Proceedings opened this morning with a request from Mr. Kerr that the case be withdrawn from the consideration of the jury. He suggested that the Crown had failed to produce proof that the accused woman ever had the means equisite to provide the lacking necessaries and declared that the burden of such proof was on the Crown. So far from such proof being brought forward, all the evidence adduced pointed to a condition of abject poverty.

Counsel stated that the reason why he pressed the point so strongly was that another case, was pending—against George Dwyer—and he wished to avoid the calling of testimony reflecting on Dwyer and prejudice her case. The Crown had failed, he said, to produce proof of ability to do the things accused was charged with failing to do. There was no proof that a sufficient supply of food was available or sufficient clothing. There had been no evidence given of means to procure medical attention. The evidence showed that the only effort made to get medical attention was that of defendant and that the action which was taken was inspired by her. Dr. Holdcroft had stated that he had been told about the boy George—he could not say whether by Mrs. Dwyer or some one else.

Dr. Holdcroft on visiting the house had been so impressed by the condition of John that he had forgotten all about George. As to the provision of shelter, defendant had herself been compelled to live in the shack which furnished inadequate accommodation. There had been no evidence to show that that there was any food in the house that was not given.

Application Opposed.

Mr. MacKay, in opposing the application, said that irrefutable evidence had been produced to the effect that the parents had food that was not given to the children. The evidence of Dr. Erb had shown that the extreme wastage of the body was not due, to meningitis, or any other disease, but to the lack of food. Counsel stated that on being asked "In your opinion was the condition of the boy, apart from meningitis such as was likely to endanger permanently his health?" Dr. Erb had answered "Yes."

The evidence had shown that the only effort made to get medical attention had been that of Mr. Little and not of accused. There had been no other evidence whatever. The potatoes in the cellar were not cooked. The evidence had shown that when cooked they were not given to the children.

His Honor intimated that Mr. Kerr's application must be rejected and the first, for the defence witness was called.

NEW PRINCESS CAUGHNAWAGA INDIAN TRIBE

ANCIENT RITUAL.

Occasion Was a Garden Party Staged By Rotarians.

MONTREAL, Que., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, Wis., wife of the international president of the Kiwanis, is now Te-io-ten Tsen, a princess of the Caughnawaga Indians, duly received into the tribe yesterday on the grounds of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. The name of the new princess, being interpreted, means "gain or merit."

The occasion was a garden party given by Rotarians in compliment to the Kiwanian convention, now holding its tenth annual international meeting here.

Having set the stage with a couple of tepees on the field, the Caughnawaga braves, in buckskin and feathers, with several women and children, appeared on the scene. Grand Chief Louis Deer, wearing a beaded costume and feather head-dress, explained the proceedings in good English.

"I have been on the road for fifty years," he said, "and have had to scalp many men, but never before have I had the opportunity to scalp a woman. I am ashamed to do it, but I must."

Two of the braves were then despatched to find a victim, and Mrs. Moss, conveniently discovered on the front seat of the grandstand, was led unresistingly between her captors before the great chief, while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Brandishing a ferocious looking knife, the Chief declared he must give the lady some kind of mark so that she should be known by the tribe wherever she went. But Squaw Red Wing and Squaw Lone Feather rushed to her rescue, and demanded that she be not scalped, but rather made a princess of the tribe. To this the chief agreed; a song of welcome was started, and the adoption ceremony took place.

Mrs. Moss' hat was removed and the two squaws placed round her shoulders a shawl, while her new name was conferred upon her, with the rank of "Princess," as the feminine equivalent of chief, attached. Braves, squaws and children circled round the newly made member of the tribe, shaking hands and dancing.

Then Te-io-ten-Tsen, between Squaw Lone Feather and Squaw Red Wing, was given the former's papoose to hold, while a dance was executed, and finally the adopted pale face was led in triumph to her seat.

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE SAWMILL

200 EMPLOYEES IDLE.

MERRIT, B.C., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Two hundred men were out of work yesterday in this town in Nicola Valley, in the interior of British Columbia, as the result of a fire which destroyed the sawmill of the Nicola Pine Lumber Company, one of the largest mills in the province, with a resultant loss estimated at $200,000.

Several of the employees were rescued from the blazing building only with great difficulty, and the whole town was for a time threatened by the embers which were carried for long distances by a heavy wind.

Heroic efforts of the fire-fighters resulted in the planing mill, drying kilns and millions of feet of lumber in the adjacent yard to the saw mill being saved, despite the fact that the wind was blowing in that direction.

SENATE ADOPTS THE AMENDMENTS

Criticize Customs Enforcement of Liquor Laws in Prince Edward Island.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10. —(Canadian Press).) —The Senate adopted the budget amendments to the customs tariff yesterday and the bill was given its third reading.

When these amendments were under discussion Hon. J. D. Reid, former Minister of Customs, said from his experience the customs staff on the whole was a good organization. He never could understand how we got the service to administer the customs act at the salaries paid. Men getting less than two thousand a year were doing work of the most important character. He did not believe we could ever get the customs act properly administered unless we secured competent men by paying adequate salaries. The recommendation made for the betterment of the customs service were probably sound, but they cannot be carried out with the present salaries paid, as competent men will not remain in the service.

Senator McLean, P. E. I., criticized the customs enforcement of the liquors laws in Prince Edward Island. He said the laxity of enforcement had led to the demoralization of the lobster fishermen and packers.

Hon. James Bureau, late Minister of Customs, endorsed the remark of Dr. Reid. He believed the present customs staff was equal to any in the government services but they are under paid and undermanned. Another trouble was the standardization of the customs service. Character was more necessary in the customs department than any other department as the temptation was greater. The first qualification of a customs officer was honesty, and to keep him honest a sufficient salary had to be paid to maintain himself and family. He thought the minister responsible for the service should have the authority to select the men to give this service.

There was considerable discussion on the amendment making free certain automobile parts not manufactured in Canada.

Senator Gordon thought that the duty should be maintained and these parts made here.

Senator Dandurand said that when they were manufactured in Canada the duty would be replaced.

Senator Robertson pointed out that the auto manufacturers got these parts free but the private individual had to pay duty on them. He thought this policy would increase assembling instead of manufacturing in Canada.

Senator Bureau asked whether we would sooner import the whole automobile or some of parts free and manufacture the automobile in Canada.

Senator McArthur remarked that the automobile accessories on the free list were made by mass production in the United States, and until we developed a sufficient market in Canada we could not produce them in competition with the United States.

Senator Gillis in reference to the reduction in duty on farm implements said the only reduction in price to the consumer was what was secured by the remission of the sales tax and not by any lowering of the duty.

Senate adjourned until to-day.

Will Your Ford Go 66 Miles On 1 Gallon?

Walter Critchlow, 4657H street, Wheaton, Ill., has patented a new Vapor Humidifier and Gas Saver that beats anything ever gotten out. It causes autos to give amazing mileage and automatically frees them from hard carbon troubles. One Ford owner reported 66 miles on 1 gallon. It is for all makes. Mr. Critchlow offers 1 free to quickly advertise. Write him for one. He also wants county and state distributors who can make $500 to $2500 per month. 1d-136-1890

NEW PRINCESS CAUGHNAWAGA INDIAN TRIBE

ANCIENT RITUAL.

Occasion Was a Garden Party Staged By Rotarians.

MONTREAL, Que., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. John H. Moss, of Milwaukee, Wis., wife of the international president of the Kiwanis, is now Te-io-ten Tsen, a princess of the Caughnawaga Indians, duly received into the tribe yesterday on the grounds of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. The name of the new princess, being interpreted, means "gain or merit."

The occasion was a garden party given by Rotarians in compliment to the Kiwanian convention, now holding its tenth annual international meeting here.

Having set the stage with a couple of tepees on the field, the Caughnawaga braves, in buckskin and feathers, with several women and children, appeared on the scene. Grand Chief Louis Deer, wearing a beaded costume and feather head-dress, explained the proceedings in good English.

"I have been on the road for fifty years," he said, "and have had to scalp many men, but never before have I had the opportunity to scalp a woman. I am ashamed to do it, but I must."

Two of the braves were then despatched to find a victim, and Mrs. Moss, conveniently discovered on the front seat of the grandstand, was led unresistingly between her captors before the great chief, while a band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Brandishing a ferocious looking knife, the Chief declared he must give the lady some kind of mark so that she should be known by the tribe wherever she went. But Squaw Red Wing and Squaw Lone Feather rushed to her rescue, and demanded that she be not scalped, but rather made a princess of the tribe. To this the chief agreed; a song of welcome was started, and the adoption ceremony took place.

Mrs. Moss' hat was removed and the two squaws placed round her shoulders a shawl, while her new name was conferred upon her, with the rank of "Princess," as the feminine equivalent of chief, attached. Braves, squaws and children circled round the newly made member of the tribe, shaking hands and dancing.

Then Te-io-ten-Tsen, between Squaw Lone Feather and Squaw Red Wing, was given the former's papoose to hold, while a dance was executed, and finally the adopted pale face was led in triumph to her seat.

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE SAWMILL

200 EMPLOYEES IDLE.

MERRIT, B.C., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Two hundred men were out of work yesterday in this town in Nicola Valley, in the interior of British Columbia, as the result of a fire which destroyed the sawmill of the Nicola Pine Lumber Company, one of the largest mills in the province, with a resultant loss estimated at $200,000.

Several of the employees were rescued from the blazing building only with great difficulty, and the whole town was for a time threatened by the embers which were carried for long distances by a heavy wind.

Heroic efforts of the fire-fighters resulted in the planing mill, drying kilns and millions of feet of lumber in the adjacent yard to the saw mill being saved, despite the fact that the wind was blowing in that direction.

SENATE ADOPTS THE AMENDMENTS

Criticize Customs Enforcement of Liquor Laws in Prince Edward Island.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 10. —(Canadian Press).) —The Senate adopted the budget amendments to the customs tariff yesterday and the bill was given its third reading.

When these amendments were under discussion Hon. J. D. Reid, former Minister of Customs, said from his experience the customs staff on the whole was a good organization. He never could understand how we got the service to administer the customs act at the salaries paid. Men getting less than two thousand a year were doing work of the most important character. He did not believe we could ever get the customs act properly administered unless we secured competent men by paying adequate salaries. The recommendation made for the betterment of the customs service were probably sound, but they cannot be carried out with the present salaries paid, as competent men will not remain in the service.

Senator McLean, P. E. I., criticized the customs enforcement of the liquors laws in Prince Edward Island. He said the laxity of enforcement had led to the demoralization of the lobster fishermen and packers.

Hon. James Bureau, late Minister of Customs, endorsed the remark of Dr. Reid. He believed the present customs staff was equal to any in the government services but they are under paid and undermanned. Another trouble was the standardization of the customs service. Character was more necessary in the customs department than any other department as the temptation was greater. The first qualification of a customs officer was honesty, and to keep him honest a sufficient salary had to be paid to maintain himself and family. He thought the minister responsible for the service should have the authority to select the men to give this service.

There was considerable discussion on the amendment making free certain automobile parts not manufactured in Canada.

Senator Gordon thought that the duty should be maintained and these parts made here.

Senator Dandurand said that when they were manufactured in Canada the duty would be replaced.

Senator Robertson pointed out that the auto manufacturers got these parts free but the private individual had to pay duty on them. He thought this policy would increase assembling instead of manufacturing in Canada.

Senator Bureau asked whether we would sooner import the whole automobile or some of parts free and manufacture the automobile in Canada.

Senator McArthur remarked that the automobile accessories on the free list were made by mass production in the United States, and until we developed a sufficient market in Canada we could not produce them in competition with the United States.

Senator Gillis in reference to the reduction in duty on farm implements said the only reduction in price to the consumer was what was secured by the remission of the sales tax and not by any lowering of the duty.

Senate adjourned until to-day.

Will Your Ford Go 66 Miles On 1 Gallon?

Walter Critchlow, 4657H street, Wheaton, Ill., has patented a new Vapor Humidifier and Gas Saver that beats anything ever gotten out. It causes autos to give amazing mileage and automatically frees them from hard carbon troubles. One Ford owner reported 66 miles on 1 gallon. It is for all makes. Mr. Critchlow offers 1 free to quickly advertise. Write him for one. He also wants county and state distributors who can make $500 to $2500 per month. 1d-136-1890

DISTRICT MEETING WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Annual Meeting For East Durham Held at Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, June 10.—The annual meeting of the district Women's Institute was held in the Town Hall, Millbrook, on Tuesday afternoon, representatives of six of the branches: Garden Hill, Elizabethville, Mount Pleasant, Cavanville, Millbrook, Bailieboro, being present; the remaining two, Bethany and Charlecote, had no delegates, the unfavorable weather probably being the reason.

Encouraging reports of the activities of the year were received from all the branches, the financial results, in each case, being particularly satisfactory.

Sewing classes, with a Department instructor, had been held in three of the branches during the year, and these will be followed by cooking classes, under official auspices, this fall. A number of the Institutes are finding the travelling library beneficial, and it is hoped others will avail themselves of this privilege during the current year. Bethany and Bailieboro branches have installed, and maintain, street lighting in their respective villages, and the building of an ornamental fence round the Bethany town hall at considerable expense has been one of the important community enterprises of that Institute in recent months. The younger members of the Elizabethville Institute, while unwilling to prepare formal papers for the regular meetings, have added greatly to the interest of the gatherings by cooking demonstrations which have also been of practical usefulness.

The Sick Children's Hospital has received donations of fruit and money from several of the branches, and sewing has been done for needy families in the local districts; flowers and fruit are sent to sick members, and to others also, in some cases, who are shut in and yet are not on the membership roll; three of the branches have bought pianos for the local community halls, and more than one serves dinner each year at the school fairs; practically all reported have given a play, held socials, and other entertainments for the purpose of increasing funds. Prizes offered for competition at the school fairs, and the regular fall fairs, provision for serving hot lunches in the schools, plants distributed to the members, and sign boards erected for the guidance of tourists were among other activities listed. Millbrook has bought and set out plants around the Soldiers' Memorial, both last season and this.

The list of officers for the current year is:

President—Mrs. T. A. Skitch, Bailieboro.

1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Millbrook.

2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Ira Lowes, Mount Pleasant.

3rd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. (Dr.) Beatty, Garden Hill.

Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. J. R. Eakins, Millbrook.

District Director—Mrs. Muldrew, Elizabethville.

Auditors—Mrs. H. A. Earl, Mrs. T. H. Ingram, Millbrook.

On motion it was decided to hold a district picnic at Wallace's Point on July 15, or as near that date as possible, the secretary to write Mr. Putnan, of Toronto, asking if he could be present and give an address on Institute work.

During the discussion of the disposal of district funds the decision was arrived at to donate $25 to the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto, and possibly another $25 to the County Hospital at Port Hope—the latter item, however, not to be definitely decided upon until some inquiry is made of the likelihood of having a cot maintained by the district Institutes in that institution.

Programmes will be printed as usual, but no delegate will be sent from the district to the annual convention in Toronto, each branch being urged to have a representative at the gathering.

The Local Institute served refreshments at the tea hour, and a very pleasant social time was spent, and many useful hints on further developments in the work were garnered, before the gathering finally dispersed.

Mrs. C. Thorndyke is president of the local branch, and Mrs. Wilbert Thorne secretary.

CLEANS BRONZES.

To clean bronze ornaments rub with a cloth slightly moistened with sweet oil. Rub dry with a clean, soft cloth, then polish with a chamois skin.

BRIDE HONORED.

Shower Held For Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watters—Appreciation.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—Mr. and Mrs. Thad Patrick entertained about fifty friends at a miscellaneous shower for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watters at their home on Friday evening. A social time was enjoyed and cards and dancing formed an attraction for the evening. Mr. Ray Blakely provided music for the dancing.

A table was well laden with gifts of silver, linen, towels, etc., which bespoke the esteem in which the bride and groom are held. Mr. and Mrs. Watters both thanked their friends for the gifts.

The hostess provided an excellent lunch and the evening came to a close by all singing, "For he's a jolly good fellow."

On Monday evening the young ladies of the Mission Circle of St. John's United Church, of which Mrs. Watters (nee Edna Bound) is a member went to her home and presented her with a gift and congratulations on her recent marriage.

Miss Myrtle Ford read an address and Mrs. Fred Phillips made the presentation of silver knives and forks to Mrs. Watters. Mrs. Watters thanked the girls for their gift in a few words.

A social evening was spent after which lunch was served.

MILLBROOK COUNCIL

MILLBROOK, June 10.—Council met as Court of Revision on Monday evening, all present except Councillor Eakins who was detained by illness. The oath of the Court of Revision was taken by each member present, and the Reeve appointed chairman.

No appeals to be dealt with were received. Owing to a change in the Assessment Act granting a reduction of $200 on incomes up to $1000, four of the teachers in the local schools are affected: Misses Muir, Sutton, Montgomery and Mr. H. Jordan.

Sayles - Stinson: That above change be made, and the final roll of $272,214 be passed.

The regular June meeting of council followed.

A representative of the Globe Indemnity Insurance Company addressed the council explaining municipal insurance covering accidents on streets, bridges, or in parks, due to faulty conditions of the roadway, etc., and asked permission to send a policy on approval for thirty days. The premium comes to about $140 a year on such a policy.

Permission was given and decision will be arrived at later regarding whether further action will be taken or not.

The insurance question was fully discussed and on motion of Stinson-Lang the clerk was instructed to write Messrs. Hetherington, McGill and Armstrong, who have policies covering the Town Hall at present, that council declined to have scenery removed from stage as instructed by the inspector, and if the scenery cannot be left as it is, other insurance arrangements will have to be made.

A communication from the Chamber of Commerce, Belleville, regarding meeting representative of Eastern Ontario to be held in that city on June 22 was read by the clerk, and on motion of Stinson-Sayles no action was taken.

A number of complaints having been received regarding weights of coal council decided to consider the advisability of installing a municipal scale.

The clerk was instructed to write the Department of Public Works, Ottawa, asking permission to erect a band stand on the Government Post Office lot, immediately east of the Lindsay Creamery building.

In the absence of Councillor Eakins, who had given notice of the introduction of a by-law regulating sale of meat within the municipality, same was left over until the next meeting.

The following accounts were read and ordered paid:

H. Nattrass, constable, $20; H. Nattrass, labor, $4.95; Canadian National Express, 55c; Millbrook Telephon Co., $4.85; F. McIvor, labor, $1; Mirror, printing contract, $22.50; J. N. McGill, insurance premium, $7; Hydro-Electric, street lighting, $65.42; Hydro-Electric, Town Hall, $1.65; S. Donnelly, labor, $27.50; Atwool and Sheppard, $15.76; F. King and Son, Lindsay, oiling streets, $1,134.24; McCorry, labor, $2.

The quantity of oil used for the streets was 7,089 gallons.

Council will meet Saturday at 1.30 p.m. for tour of inspection of streets and roadway regarding necessary repairs.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, McDermid & Jury and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today. Advt.

THE GROWTH OF KIWANIS.

The fact that the Kiwanis Clubs are holding their International convention in Montreal serves to call attention to the great growth of this organization and to the splendid service the individual clubs have given in their respective communities.

Here in Peterborough the good work of Kiwanis needs little advertising.

Citizens generally have seen for themselves what the local club has contributed in the way of community service.

Its members are never tired of assisting or promoting any worthy cause.

What is true of Peterborough Kiwanians seems to be true also of the organization everywhere.

There are those who profess to believe that such movements as Kiwanis and Rotary are passing fads, destined to have but a short existence.

So long, however, as the principle of service on behalf of others is lived up to Kiwanis and Rotary will thrive because that principle makes them vital and virile, appealing as it does to the best that is in men.

TOMORROW'S CELEBRATION.

Contingent upon the success of the experimental celebration to-morrow, Cleveland-Canada Day will likely become an annual affair. Moreover, it will likely lead to the inauguration of similar fetes by other United States cities, as well as to reciprocal action by Canadian cities.

From this interchange of courtesies Ontario has everything to gain, due to the exceptional opportunities that will be afforded for making this Province better known to American motor tourists and vacationists.

Individual districts and individual resorts in Ontario have heretofore been advertised to Americans by our railways, hotel-keepers, etc., but this year for the first time the Province as a whole, with its numerous and varied attractions as a summer playground, will be systematically advertised by the Government throughout all the near by States. That campaign—now commencing—will be more vigorously prosecuted in Ohio than any other State, and to enhance the chances of its being productive, the Government is opening an Information Bureau in the Hollenden Hotel, Cleveland, and inviting the public through its advertising to apply there for tourist literature, road maps, etc. This Bureau, in charge of Mr. Leon Fraser, formerly of Peterborough, will be kept open until the middle of September.

The celebration of Cleveland-Canada Day, affording Ontario as it does an opportunity to get prominently into the news columns of all Ohio papers at the very time when this publicity is commencing, is therefore most opportune.

ABOUT MOTOR ACCIDENTS.

Much is printed and said about automobile accidents but from the investigations made by James Sinke, director of public safety in Grand Rapids, Michigan, a lot of popular ideas in regard to such accidents are fallacies.

For instance Mr. Sinke has discovered that two-thirds of all the accidents occur in unobstructed roadways with dry surface, in clear weather and in daylight.

Failure to take into consideration the rights of others was responsible for 86 per cent of the accidents in Grand Rapids last year.

"Sixty-two per cent. of the collisions occurred at street intersections, he discovered, and he also volunteers the information that despite the heavy advances made by the automobile during the last few years, 60 per cent. of the public still use the street cars for their method of transportation. The safety director found some important facts concerning children and accidents. Despite the popular belief that most children are injured near the school grounds, the report shows that the majority of youngsters are struck while at play after school hours or while going on errands for their parents. The most hazardous age was declared to be between 70 and 74, with from five to nine as the next. One of the most interesting spots in this survey concerns drivers and passengers. It shows that passengers killed and injured were nearly double the number of motorists. A unique test was arranged during the year to determine the time gained by violating traffic laws through the city. Two cars, one a safety car and the other a speed car, were started at a certain point, with a destination six and a half miles away. The speed car traveled through the traffic, making 19 traffic violations and arrived at its destination three minutes before the safety car hove into sight. The latter car had observed every regulation. Another test, over a five-mile course, showed a saving of six minutes.

TO CHECK SMUGGLING.

The recommendations made by the Commercial Protective Association in reference to the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise will impress the people of Canada as decidedly worthy of consideration.

The Association claims that the proposals have the unanimous support of the branches of trade and industry most seriously affected by smuggling and other frauds on the Customs.

Their recommendations are based on a close study of the administration of the Department and a careful consideration of the evidence heard by the special Parliamentary committee and briefly may be summed up as follows:

1. A drastic reduction in the number of Custom's ports of entry.

2. A thorough reorganization of the preventive service.

3. Prompt and energetic prosecution in cases of wholesale smuggling and under valuation.

4. Prosecution and punishment for the giving and taking of bribes.

5. The appointment of a Board of Dominion Appraisers and a thorough reorganization of the appraisal system.

6. Proper examination of imported goods to prevent fraud.

7. Enforcement of the provisions of Section 43, sub section 3.

8. Supervision over vehicular traffic entering Canada.

9. Proper supervision of vessels entering port and of bridge and ferry traffic.

10. Such disposition of seized goods as will not affect the business of legitimate traders.

11. Goods improperly marked under gold and silver marking act to be prohibited importation.

12. Action to rectify situation at Rock Island and other border towns.

13. Revision of regulations respecting moities and awards to seizing officers and informers.

14. Amendments to Customs Act re procedure in disposing of seizures.

Probably the most important of all these suggestions is that proposing to establish a Board of Dominion Appraisers consisting of a chairman and four members to replace the present Board of Customs which the Commercial Protective Association declares lacks the technical training it should have.

The appraisal system of course, is the very heart of the whole system of the collection of customs revenue and if it is not sound there is bound to be inefficiency and failure to detect fraud.

A CONTRAST IN TEMPERAMENTS.

A strike which has been in progress in San Francisco for two months now has some features about it which show a curious contrast to the temperament which prevailed in the great general strike in Great Britain. San Francisco is a very large city, a city of more than half a million people, most of them native American, and one would imagine that a pretty vigorous public opinion exists there which would not long tolerate any flagrant violence in an industrial dispute. But the reverse seems to be the case.

The strike in San Francisco was called by the Carpenters' Union there under the authority of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters, whose headquarters are in Indianapolis. The strike order went out from Indianapolis in the shape of a notification to the San Francisco Union as follows:

"You are hereby notified that on and after April 1, 1926 non-union carpenters cannot work on the same job in this district with carpenters holding membership in the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America."

There was no question of hours or wages or working conditions other than this. The strike was simply a move to prohibit non-union labor.

The principle was, therefore, important, and particularly so in the case of San Francisco. San Francisco has been for many years the scene of violent industrial disputes. At one time the city was practically under control of union labor. A re-action occurred in which an association of employers promulgated what was called the American Plan, which was simply that while an employer should not object to unions or to union labor, he should have a right to employ anybody he liked, whether a member of a union or not, and conversely, that any man, who wanted to work should be free to get work, whether or not he belonged to some union. This idea gained headway to such an extent that San Francisco became more or less an open shop. The present strike of the Carpenters' Union in San Francisco is looked upon as a first move to restore the former union dominance in that city.

The contrast between what has been going on in this strike, now two months in existence, and the British general strike is that criminal violence has distinguished the San Francisco strike from the outset. During the first seven weeks of the strike there were 102 cases of assault and battery upon non-union workers brought to the attention of the police. One naturally enquires how this sort of thing could go on unchecked. The answer is simple. The police were indifferent, and the four police magistrates of San Francisco were sympathetic to the strikers and practically declined to inflict punishments for violence. The City Council was in a similar mood for a time. Police magistrates in San Francisco, like the City Council, are elective; and apparently the four there have the idea that they could get more popular favor and votes by cultivating the strikers than by penalizing violence. The City Council seemed to feel the same way at the outset; but subsequently began to realize that a majority of the public might feel differently, and a short time ago passed a resolution calling on the police to preserve law and order.

The strike is still on, and the disorder is lessening. But when one compares what has been allowed to go on in a great and representative American city with the law-abiding spirit which prevailed on all sides in the British general strike, one is justified in thinking that the Old Country still maintains in industrial differences the best ideals of both common sense and human decency. In our own country we have members of Parliament who think they do public service by complaining about repression of violence in industrial disputes.

But let us get the flame down to where it ultimately belongs. A majority of the people of San Francisco are decent people. But many of them don't make a habit of going to the polls. Neither do a good many of our own people. It is such who are to blame at bottom for occasional victories of malign influences in our politics or industrial matters.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

If motor cars continue to get cheaper everybody will have to buy one in self defence. The man on foot is going to be a decidedly poor insurance risk.

The end of the parliamentary session is said to be in sight. Doubtless the members have talked themselves out.

A vote of $395,100 for work on the Trent Canal was passed the other day. But, alas, no one on any side of the House had a kindly word to say for our famous waterway.

The showing of the St. Catharines cadets at official inspection, Ridley College of course, included, more than justifies the time and expense given to this training. The cadet system, if public opinion counts for anything, will hardy be abolished in Canada yet awhile.

Scientists can give innumerable reasons why the dinosaur became extinct, but the best explanation to date is a lack of parking space.—Kingston Standard.

VANDALS BUSY.

To the Editor of Examiner:

Dear sir:

It seems a great pity that people who take the trouble to make the front of their houses look nice by planting flowers in their gardens. Last night, June 8, we had taken from our front garden five tulips and last week we had a beautiful geranium stolen off the front verandah I hope that these people will be caught.

Yours truly,
WM. STEVENS.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SETTING-UP EXERCISES

It is estimated that there are millions who go through their setting-up exercises every morning and no doubt they receive great physical benefits.

But here is a suggestion that will help you to advance in responsibility and acquire more rewards.

Stand in front of a mirror just before you leave your room in the morning and see if your face is set up right. Practice the setting-up exercise of smiling. See that corners of your mouth turn up. Look pleasant even if it hurts you.

My reason for suggesting this system for starting out with a smile in the morning is that the hardest job I have is to look pleasant in the morning and I am no exception to the rule.

Some folks do not get their smiles started right until about noon and by this time they have everybody around them started wrong.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, June 10. — (Canadian Press). — Influenced more or less by correct assertions beforehand that the Government crop report yesterday would prove bullish, the wheat market averaged higher. Government figures on the condition of Spring wheat turned out to be the lowest ever on record for June.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, 1-2c net lower to 3-8c advance with corn 1-2 to 1c down, oats 1-8 to 1-2c up and provisions unchanged to 22c off.

Aside from the official figures the condition of Spring wheat the government report was construed as bullish on account of showing 18,000,000 bushels probable smiller yield of winter wheat than the average of recent private reports. The decline from the May Government forecast is 6,000,000 bushels, reflecting damage from dry weather chiefly southwest. Some market authorities, however, were inclined to-night to contend that 8 cents a bushel advance in prices of late had fully discounted the report especially as pressure from the new crop movement is looked for soon.

Corn demand flattened out to-day Profit-taking sales were in progress and more than counter-balanced reports of dry weather west of the Mississippi and in parts of Illinois. Oats were relatively firm all day. Provisions reflected weakness of hog values and of corn.

New York, spot unchanged, December 37.

MONTREAL GRAIN.

MONTREAL, Que., June 10. — (Canadian Press). — Owing to the higher prices asked by local exporters yesterday there was little business transacted with foreign buyers in Canadian grain on the Montreal market. Prices for spot supplies were well maintained but the trade was quiet.

The volume of business done in Spring and Winter wheat flour was again on the light side and prices were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued steady and the undertone was firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was inactive with no change in prices.

Owing to the light offering of top grade baled hay the undertone to market was very firm and an upward revision of prices.

REPRESENTATIVE SAYS LAVOIE KNITTERS WILL GO TO HASTINGS

Turn Deaf Ear To Report That Plant Will Go To Hull.

DEEDS IN PETERBORO.

Story Flatly Discredited By Men Actively Engaged in Promotion.

(Staff Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, June 10.— Citizens who are interested in the Lavoie Knitting Company of Peterboro turned a deaf ear to the report yesterday afternoon from Peterborough qouting an Ottawa despatch that the company had decided to move their plant to Hull, Que., instead of to Hastings as announced here last week. Negotiations by the company had proceeded to such an advanced stage for their removal to this town that the Hull story was flatly discredited by men who have been actively engaged in facilitating the company's plans and preparations to locate in Hastings.

Mr. Walter Turner, sales representative of the company in Eastern Ontario, who has been the chief promoter of the local phase of the arrangements, declared to the Examiner his complete confidence in the Lavoie Company's intentions toward Hastings.

"There's nothing to that story. I'm certain of that," he said. "I was talking to Mr. Lavoie the night before last and he told me he would be here to-day if he got back in time from Toronto, where he was securing two large contracts. This afternoon I finished clearing out my shop for Messrs. MacDonald, of Norwood, and McKechnie of Marmora, who are taking over Mr. Howard's business and will move the stock here from the Howard block the Lavoie company has bought. Everything is complete and the deeds are in Peterborough for examination. I am looking for housing and boarding quarters for the employees who will come here, and the others needed will be engaged from town."

Mr. Turner's belief was so unshaken by the Peterborough report that he dismissed it entirely, Reeve Hess, Walter Fowlds, G. B. Stevenson and several others were equally pronounced in their confidence that the Lavoie Company is destined for Hastings. It was stated that some additional local financing was based upon the condition that the company locate here, and there wasn't a hint of doubt in the good faith of the company in their plans to establish their factory in the Howard building.

FORECAST DISEASE

"Health observatories," from which forecasts of approaching epidemics will be sent out, have been established in the forty-four largest cities of Illinois by Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, who adapted the idea from the government weather bureau.

Each station, says Popular Science Monthly, is supplied with a weekly statement showing the number and location of all reported cases of contagious diseases in its territory. With this information, the local health officer can determine the danger and take steps to overcome it.

Epidemics are no longer mysterious outbursts that spring out of nowhere, and disappear just as suddenly, Dr. Rawlings declares, in announcing the opening of these observatorties; they are recurrent disturbances like weather changes, that can be perdicted with reasonable accuracy. By the interpretation of carefully gathered statistics and by following the path of the disease, he asserts, it is possible to make an almost perfect forecast, which is of the greatest service in aiding preventive medical work.

On this principal Dr. Herman Bundesen, Chicago health official, has compiled a unique chart by which, with the aid of statistics, he makes a graphic record of the course and frequency of a disease and by which he claims he is able to predict with certainty the nearness and intensity of any epidemic.

MINISTER NOMINATES HIMSELF TO COMMITTEE TO ENSURE NO "GINGER BREAD CATHEDRALS"

Had Been An Architect For 11 Years, He Told Gathering.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Want Church Kept in the Line of Apostolic Teaching.

MONTERAL, Que., —June 10. — (Canadian Press). — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, yesterady empowered the committee on the Presbyterian Record to appoint an editor at a salary of $4,000 per year. The committee recommended that the publication be removed from Montreal to Toronto. At adjournmnet it was decided the night sederunt would be continued until the business of the Assembly was concluded and it could be dissolved.

Yesterday afternoon was taken up almost entirely with the appointment of standing committees. Dr. S. Banks Nelson, Hamilton, was named vice-convenor of the General Board of Missions on motion of Dr. L. B. Gibson, Toronto, who, after paying tribute to the convenor, Rev. N. H. McGillivray, said for reason"s of the latter's' health some assistance should be given to him. He recommended Dr. Nelson as a strong enthusiastic Presbyterian who could encourage struggling congregations.

Nominated Himself.

Dr. Nelson relieved the routine proceedings of the afternoon at one stage with some amusement when he nominated himself to the committee on architecture and received the support of the Assembly. He wanted to be on the committee, he said, as a guard against chancels and stalls and ginger-bread cathedrals, and also because he had been an architect for eleven and a half years. At another stage he deprecated any tendency towards high-churchism.

Reorganization of the committee on church work and life, which had been out of existence for the past year, was decided on after motion by Rev. W. G. Brown, Saskatoon. Dr. E. B. Wyllie, Ottawa, supporting this, said he did so on the understanding that it wasn't going to be a re-constitution of a body along the lines of the old evangelization committee of which he disapproved. He did not believe in simply herding men into the church, but rather the development of basic spirituality and the following of church members into the world.

Dr. Alex. Esler, Vancouver, B. C., wanted the committee to see the church kept in the line of Apostolic teaching. The church was founded on the creed of the Apostles and Prophets, he said, and its one rule of Faith and practice should be the Bible. The Presbyterian Church was not something which came into existence at the Reformation but rather the continuation of something which had been interrupted.

Convenors Appointed.

Convenors of the committees appointed are as follows: Admisistration, Thomas McMillian, Toronto; Missions, Rev. Norman McGillivary, Toronto; Sabbath Schools & Young People's Societies, Rev. H. E. Abraham, Toronto, pro-tem until the committee can meet; Worship and Aids to Devotion, Dr. R. W. Dickie, Montreal; Correspondence with other churches, Rev. Stuart Parker, Toronto; Board of Education, Dr. D. J. Fraser, Montreal; Board of Knox College, G. S. McDonald, Brampton; Senate of Knox College, Rev. F. B. Search For Yellow Cat Leads Men 450 Miles

WARREN, O., June 10. — Two men from Atlanta, Ind., were on their way home to-day after a futile 450 mile automobile trip here in search of a yellow cat.

The men obtained a search warrant here and with a justice of the peace searched the home of James E. Stillwell, but failed to find the cat.

The men said Stillwell during a visit to Atlanta, had admired the cat and they thought he had taken it home with him.

Stillwell said he had taken only a passing interest, and not the cat. He took the search philisophically.

U. S. HAS AS MANY RATS AS PEOPLE

The Best Tom-Cat Is No Match For Vicious Pests Whose Army Increases.

Man, proud and arrogant, has long looked upon himself as a great huntsman. Wild beasts have been his comparatively easy victims. But where lions and tigers have succumbed, one far less heroic, the rat, grows stronger, bolder, and more numerous despite the unceasing attacks of the great huntsman.

The rat, declare those who have made a study of him, is an organized enemy of mankind, disciplined like a soldier, fierce, clever, and warlike. According to Professor Henry H. Donaldson of the Wistar Institute, the rat population of the United States is less troubled by these pests than are most other nations.

There are people today, and probably always will be, who believe that the rat problem is easily solved; that all you have to do to get rid of rats is to invite a lusty tom-cat to share your premises with you.

In this connection, a classic tale among the huntsmen of rats is recalled by Peter Vischer in Popular Science Monthly, for June. The skipper of the British freighter Ethelhilda has this idea. When he brought his craft from the west coast of Africa into New Orleans not long ago, government officials, suspecting there were rats on board, announced they intended to fumigate with poison gas.

"It's totally unnecessary," protested the skipper, quite incensed. "I have a tom-cat with me, an exceptionally fine tom-cat. A rat couldn't live on the same boat with him!"

Nevertheless, the Ethelhilda was fumigated. And through the irony of fate, Tom was left on board in the excitement. But he was found again, dead—completely surrounded by rats. Twenty-four of them lay withing five feet of the traditional enemy

The problem of rat extermination is one not easily solved. Scientists have been working on it for years and, though progress has been made, there is yet no absolute solution. Traps, simplest and most primitve weapons, are still the most effective.

BRAZIL'S CLAIM TO BE SETTLED

Secret Session of Council at Geneva Results in Agreement.

EXPLOSION AVERTED.

GENEVA, June 10 (Canadian Press). — The next chapter in the critical situation caused by the demand of Brazil and Spain for permanent seats in the Council of the League of Nations will be furnished by diplomatic negotiations. At a secret session last night the Council, with Dr. Mello Franco, of Brazil, and the Spanish delegate attending, reached an agreement to avert a public explosion at Geneva this time, which, it is believed, will engender ill-feeling.

To-day, therefore, the public session of the Council will merely receive the report of the re-organization commission, and if the present plans are lived up will merely vote to send a copy of the report to all the League members and ask M. Motta, president of the commission, and M. Guani, president of the Council, to arrange for the next meeting of the re-organization commission.

The statesmen freely admitted that they were confronted with a disagreeable, if not an impossible, task, but the British delegates seem not to fear it. This is so because the negotiations with the Brazilian and Spanish Government will be based on the supposition that it is impossible to create any permanent seats at this moment, except for Germany. It is believed that Great Britain especially, and probably other powers, will tell Spain that she is virtually certain of permanency through constant re-election, which has been made possible by plans already drafted by the reconstruction committee.

Brazil will be more difficult in this respect, because European diplomats feel that Brazil's claim must be regulated by the countries of Latin America, but it is pointed out that with three seats adjudicated to Latin-America, Brazil would practically be certain of an intermediate chair for a considerable part of the time, perhaps dividing permanency with Argentina and Chile, to prevent rivalry.

The practical difficulty in the way of successful diplomatic negotiations is frankly declared to be that Brazil is a country having comparatively few vital questions with Europe, which means that there is little opportunity to "give and take" in diplomatic pourparlers.

Complete Life's Journey Together, But Not As Planned Buried From House in Which They Were To Have Lived

BELLEVILLE, June 10 (Canadian Press).—The entire population of the charming countryside of Cherry Valley, Lower Prince Edward County, 40 miles south of Belleville, turned out yesterday for the joint funeral of the three victims of Monday morning's tragedy here when Bernice Ostrander, Geraldine Dulmage and Keith Ostrander were drowned in Belleville harbor when they took a wrong turning. An announcement by the Rev. Mr. Holland, Baptist minister, during the service, made the occasion more poignant. He said: "Two of these young people, Geraldine Dulmage and Keith Ostrander, were to have been married in September, they completed life's journey together, but not as they had planned. They were to have lived in the house from which they were buried today."

The funeral cortege contained some 400 automobiles and was the greatest in point of numbers attending in this old settled country has probably ever witnessed. So enormous was the throng about the home of the Ostranders that the funeral oration by Rev. Mr. Holland was made from the doorway, while over 1,000 people stood within the grounds of the home.

FILE, AX, AND GUN CREATE "ANTIQUES"

Wormholes Are Produced With Nails and Buckshot; Chains For Dents.

Professional fakers of antiques employ skillful tricks to give new furniture the apearance of age and wear.

"We get brand new reproductions of ancient furniture direct from the Traps, simplest and most primitive factory," says a maker of "genuine antiques" in Popular Science Monthly. "First we go over every square inch of a piece, wearing it down with a rasp or half-round file to give it the look of a well worn article. Wherever there naturally would have been wear, we dig the spots out first with a small hand ax and then with different sizes of files until there are little hollows such as hands or feet would have made. Edges and corners of drawers we make round, but a bit uneven, as they would have been if pulled in and out for centuries.

"Then furniture that must have seen extraordinary rough usage must be thoroughly scarred. For impressive scars there's nothing better than a short piece of good, heavy chain for beating the piece again and again. The dents it makes are rounded and uneven. A stone tied on a piece of canvas makes realistic scars, too.

"And, of course, an antique would not be an antique if it didn't have its quota of wormholes. So we put them in. There are many ways to do this. My favorite is a block of wood with heads of fine nails imbedded in it. From the outside the worms themselves couldn't tell the difference between their work and mine. The other day the boss sprang a new one on me. He brought in a B-B-gun.

"Try this on the French secretary," he said to me.

"A man had told him that in the last place he worked they got fine wormholes with buckshot, so he decided to try it out. So I set the secretary against the wall, took the gun and fired. But it was a poor idea. The holes wouldn't have convinced a child. We had to scrap the secretary."

Practical suggestions for inducing sleep

WORRYING ABOUT GETTING TO SLEEP NEVER HELPS

THE person who is of a nervous temperament, or the brain worker who cannot forget the happenings of the day upon retiring, will find the following suggestions helpful in inducing refreshing slumber.

One of the best methods to encourage sleep is to try to reproduce the conditions which make a child's rest so perfect. Exercise actively enough during the day to feel the need of rest when night falls, and then try to dismiss all thoughts from the mind, especially thoughts of work and worry, which will excite the brain in endeavoring to solve problems, therefore keeping it in the same chaotic condition as it has been all during the day.

A great many people find that a glass of warm milk and a cracker before retiring for the night insures sleep. The explanation of this is that the amount of blood in the brain is lessened by making the stomach's organs active.

There are many different causes for insomnia, and it is impossible to connect this condition with any one functional disorder. However, it is generally agreed that in chronic cases it is purely psychological as these victims always dread going to bed and work themselves up to a nervous pitch convincing themselves that they are going to lie awake half of the night.

Two suggestions I have known to prove beneficial are these: Just before retiring place the feet in a pan of hot water. This tends to draw the blood from the head. The other way is to do some passive exercise just before retiring.

It is not a good habit to lie on the left side all through the night, as this causes a slight pressure on the heart, and for the nervous person this is bad, as it makes them conscious of the heart's action.

The circulation may be affected by lying in a cramped-up position in bed, and this may retard sleep. It is best to sleep with the body straight and relaxed, and without any consciousness of weight or strain, and not too much bed covering as due to its weight it is a hindrance to sleep. The body should create its own heat, and if a normal amount of coverings are used and found insufficient, it is better to remedy this condition by improving the circulation than by the added number of blankets.

Regardless of the hour at which we retire, we should rise at the same hour every morning in order to be properly tired for the next night's sleep, and after mental work during the day there should be some mild recreative physical work in the evening—not too much, as an overtired body is similar to being nervously fatigued and will have a tendency to keep one awake.

A "Dangerous Character" on the road—

The car with defective brakes, lights or steering gear

Carelessness in keeping your car in good order increases your liability to accident. It makes your car a menace on the highway—a "dangerous character."

You are not safe, and other motorists are not safe, if you drive with brakes which won't operate instantly, lights which don't shine, or steering gear which is not dependable.

Ontario's highways are of ample width. Danger spots are plainly marked. Curves and grades have been made safe.

The enjoyment of the highways by the thousands who use them depends largely on you and the other motorists. Keep your car in perfect mechanical condition. Drive carefully. Avoid excessive speeds.

On the motor owners of Ontario largely falls the cost of maintenance of our roads. Excessive speed is one of the chief agents of destruction of some road surfaces. Speed restrictions are therefore in the interest of all motorists. See that you observe them.

THE HON. GEO. S. HENRY, Minister of Highways

S. L. SQUIRE, Deputy Minister

Issued by the Ontario Department of Highways to secure the co-operation of motorists in abating the abuse of the roads of the Province.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

W. J. R.—You are of the type that is said to have a double nature, and must constantly watch that the higher and better elements in it are in power. Naturally very fond of good times and pleasure, with an inclination toward the fine arts and singing and dancing, you have a tendency toward fickleness and changeability that will not mean success in life. You are always dissatisfied with your task and your life, constantly wishing to be away somewhere else and occupied with something else. You will carry this nervous restlessness with you wherever you go, unless you resolve while still young to try and curb it. If you demand that your better nature rule you, you may become a tremendous power for good. You have the faculty of attracting birds, and animals to you, and are fond of everything beautiful in nature and in art. You are suspicious and easily offended and have a tendency to scold and nag that is very unlikeable. Cultivate patience and steadfastness and be lovable. Learn to keep your hands and feet still. Marry a girl born in February or November. April and August are your good months, Friday your lucky day. You were born on Tuesday. Your color is black.

Bobbie.—Although you have a natural disposition that is well able to meet and cope with the circumstances of daily life, with a strong leaning toward personal service to others, still you will find your best success in life by allying yourself always with others in any enterprise and never interfering with the affairs of those about you. You have great ability, both with head and hands, but you are inclined to live too much in the physical enjoyment of life and to pay too much attention to showy people and things. You will be happy and most successful when the spiritual side of your nature is developed to a greater extent. You do not like housework and should acquaint your future husband of this fact in time, in order to avoid arguments later. Marry a man born in January, September or October. May and July are your good months, Friday your lucky day. You were born on Monday. Your colors are red and brown.

Woolwich.—You have an active independent and persevering nature, well fitted to meet the daily round, but you will do better to ally yourself with others in most enterprises, instead of trying to stand alone. You have a good disposition and make a fine friend. When jolly, you are very jolly, and when miserable are quite wretched, sometimes without a real reason. You are careful in matters of money and business, and regard a promise as sacred. You like your own way, but will adapt yourself to others in order to be agreeable. You should strive never to lose your temper and to avoid the company of scolds and fault-finders, who depress you. Always follow out your own original ideas. Study the art of personal attractiveness and pay more attention to the arrangement of your hair than you are inclined to do. Be very careful of your health and do not think of the "rainy day." It does not come to your type, as a rule. Do be not self-conscious or show lack of self-esteem and strive for self poise. March and November are your good months, Tuesdays and Saturdays your lucky days. You were born on Tuesdan. Your colors are red and brown.

N. M. B.—You have a strong type of character and will never lack for courage and initiative in t mes of trial. To gain your highest happiness, you must try always to bring joy and cheer to the lives of others, and you are quite well suited for this destiny, as you have a very deep love nature, sometimes hidden from the world. In fellowing out this destiny, do not sacrifice yourself, as you will have a tendency to do. This is not necessary at all. Put yourself first and do not be too modest or lacking in self-esteem. One of your faults is a habit of asking ... questions, sometimes irritating one when you are interested in a subject ... are quite restless, and should to remember that this nervous unr... is at the bottom of some of your troubles in life. Do not give way ever to fits of solitary weeping, but strive to overcome them, and will you be astonished to see what reserves of power you can cultivate in yourself by this self-control. Do not give money too freely and cultivate the society of men. You would make an excellent wife. Marry a man born in September, October or July. Dress in pale, delicate shades, and give more attention to the details of your toilet. You were born on Monday. Your colors are red and brown

Cicero.—You have a strong, active, creative nature, rather self-centred and inclined to put yourself first and to disregard the rights of others. You will find success in life by the road of hard work, by everlastingly keeping at your job, whatever it may be, but you are well-fitted, both in physical strength and mental alertness, for such work. Choose an occupation where your keenness of mind and strength of body will gain adequate returns in money for hard work, and then do not shirk any responsibility offered to you. You would make a very good teacher, an excellent nurse, or do well in any commercial position. In fact, there is a wide range of endeavor open to you, and I think you will do well as you go through life. Remember that others should be thought of at times, as well as yourself, and do not allow yourself to become materialistic. Try at all times to keep control of your temper and always follow out your own original ideas. Never copy anyone. Pay more attention to your personal appearance, especially the arrangement of your hair. Marry a man born in May, July, February or November, and do not wait until you are old to get married. March and November are your good months, Tuesdays and Saturdays your good days. You were born on Saturday. Your colors are the many variations of flame, from rose and yellow to misty blue.

Wilhimeina.—Your trouble is the disease of many others, the fault of indecision of character. You cannot make up your mind just what you want to do, and varying influences blow you here and there at will. Naturally, you have a strong, active, creative temperament, somewhat self-centred and not always willing to see the other person's viewpoint. Your own affairs give you most concern. You need to have your vision broadened, and there are qualities in your makeup that promise a very excellent character in time, if they are not crowded out by weeds of indecision and a narrow outlook. You are inclined to be snobbish. Great people are not so, and you look toward showy people as being most worthwhile, a very prevalent mistake. If you could forget yourself and place your thoughts on some special work and then keep them there, you would be happier. You have ability along many directions. Music has a strong appeal to you and you have artistic sense in other directions also. You do not like housework. Fix your mind on your outstanding talent, resolve to follow it alone, and then do so regardless of what anyone else may say. You belong to the type that has only to resolve to do things in order to accomplish them, but indecision will never get you anywhere. Marry a man born in January, September or October. You were born on Monday. Your colors are the many shadesof flame.

G. I. I.—You should have quite an aptitude for matters relating to business, commerce and finance, but you have too, a happier destiny, in that you will make a very good wife, as you belong to what is called the "parents of the races." Service to others, the service inspired by love, is your manifest way of life, and in this you will gain most success and happiness. However, you were not born with much constancy, and must be quite sure, before you marry, that you are deeply in love with your husband. You will always have to guard against a faculty of extreme sensitiveness, and should say always "Why should anyone wish to harm me?" Learn to depend on your own opinions and do not be led away by flattery, and remember that happiness may be had, even if you cannot always be at the head of everything, as you desire. Learn to control your strong dislikes, and always look for the good in others. Seek good cheer and sunshine at all times, as your nature demands these. Although you have a strong healing powers within yourself, never let disease get a hold on you, as, with you, medicine is very slow to act. You are inclined to be very jealous, a disagreeable trait, and also to be quite changeable. You were born on Monday. Your colors are tan and buff shades. The day you ask about, a Wednesday, is one for lending a helping hand wherever you can, and working hard, following out the instructions of superiors.

G. D.—You have a very feminine type of nature, with a good deal of charm in your makeup, but without much efficiency or initiative. You should really have an aptitude for service and would make a good nurse in the normal course of events. However, there are several traits in your character that will not make for happiness for yourself or for those associated with you, unless you can resolve to control them. You have, probably, long before this, noticed their effect on your life, but you may not have made any real stand against them. You are inclined to resent any interference in your affairs, even if well meant, and will throw everything down, to the ruin of yourself if need be, to prove your own right. You are disposed to hold a sweetheart to exact attention, and to become jealous over imaginary slights, and although generous and whole-souled to a fault with those you admire, can be very tantalizing and tormenting to others, if you take a notion. You are musical and artistic, and are inclined to sacrifice your health and usefulness by working too hard. You are large and true in essence, but a child of caprice, which will have a sad effect upon your destiny. You were not born patient, and lack decision of character. You are also inclined to fritter away money. Never touch drugs or stimulants. Be careful in your choice of companions. You were born on Thursday. Your colors are gold and ...

Buddie: You have a naturally very high type of nature, which you should not allow to be marred by the faults that appear in your reading. A measure of self-control should help to eradicate them, and make your life what it should be. You have the ability to face the circumstances of daily life with integrity, and your destiny points to a life of service to others. You would make a good doctor. You are kind-hearted, generous and magnetic, with strong emotional faculties and intuitions, which you should mostly follow, and high ideals. You have a passionate, quick-tempered nature that will give you much trouble unless you resolve in early life to control it at all times and then never let it get ahead of you again. You should marry late in life, as your emotions will control you for many years yet, and you are liable to make a mistake if you marry while young. A girl born in September, October or December would suit you best. Try to develop your own special talent, whatever it may be, and take responsibility, which will broaden your nature, as soon as possible. Avoid having divided interests, which will spell failure for you, outside of your own particular business. Always be careful of your food. You are too fond of rich, highly-seasoned dishes, and will suffer with stomach trouble in consequence. You were born on Monday. Your colors are red and brown.

BUDDIE: You have a strong nature, active, creative, logical and daring, but inclined to disregard the rights of Others and to domineer at times. With this is a curious tendency in your disposition toward change and uncertainty, that will remain with you, as long, at least, as you are unmarried. You are not always sure of yourself or of your best way of action and this, combined with a high, strong temper and an emotional tendency, will combine to give you some unhappiness in later life. You will probaby choose the wrong man as a mate, because you may marry young, while your emotional nature is in the ascendant, and you are more apt to blunder in a choice. You will not easily take advice, and your strong intuitions, which should be a guide to you, will at times be blurred and nullified by the influence of your emotions and temper. This hot-headed and passionate nature would serve you well, if you could bring it into subjection, and try to conquer your natural impulsiveness. You are original and should cultivate this quality at all times. You will make a good mother. Try to learn patience and self-control and the faculty of always thinking before you speak. To think twice might be a good rule for you, like the Englishman is said to do. You, being Irish by descent, will not wish to think at all before you speak. It is not always a good procedure. You were born on Wednesday. Your colors are the many variations of flame, from yellow and rose to gas-blue.

NOREEN: You have always had a love for, and aptitude for, things relating to mental pursuits and you have been quite successful also, in any affairs involving money. That is, you have been successful in getting money, but you have been quite extravagant also. You have always been lax in paying your bills, and you have had the very bad habit of neglecting to return borrowed articles and then resenting any criticism of this practice. You are easily confused and dislike crossing crowded thoroughfares. You are fond of praise and easily wounded by trifles. You are always enthusiastic about any undertaking, but despise the routine work sometimes connected with it. You have quite a quick temper and a tendency to worry about things that will never happen. "Think often of your friends and seldom of your enemies" should be a motto with you at all times, and always follow out your own intuitions, which are rarely in the wrong. Try to be patient and do not think too much of the praise and blame of others, valuing more your own opinion of yourself. You were born on Thursday. Your colors are tan and buff shades. August and December are your lucky months, Friday your good day.

HANS: You have a strong nature, active and independent but inclined to domineer at times, and to disregard the rights of others. You will find success and happiness in life by hard work, by constantly keeping at your job, whatever it may be. You will have great influence over others as you go through life. See that you exert it for good. You are fond of the good things of life, of fine clothes and good food. You would make a good surgeon, minister or head of a large concern, like a big hotel. You are usually so much occupied with your own affairs that you have little time for those of others, but you have the very bad habit of putting things off. Although you may think this a small thing, it will, if uncontrolled, probably ruin your life. You should try always to overcome suspicion and jealousy and a tendency toward extravagance. You are inclined to be a "good fellow," somewhat to your own detriment, and you must try also, to always put the blame where it belongs, instead of finding excuses for others and refusing to face the truth about yourself and your faults. Be more careful of the feelings of those about you and less tender of your own. Set your standard high. Although lazy by instinct, and fond of change, your stars are perpetually pushing you forward, and you can do anything you choose to do, if you will try to overcome a quick temper, a scolding habit and tendency to sarcasm. You were born on Thursday. Your color is flame. The day you ask about, a Monday, is one for avoiding arguments and undertaking nothing new.

W. E. M. C.: You have a great liking or the fine arts, particularly singing and dancing, and are fond of pleasure and good cheer. Your destiny points to a life in which work is the main factor, however, but, although you will only find success in everlastingly keeping at your job, whatever it may be, still you can take time to have pleasure while doing your bit in other ways. You are active, independent and persevering, have a wide and varied acquaintance, and like moving about and travelling. You work much better when doing for yourself than when harnessed to others. You are kind and are very jolly when you are jolly, but when miserable are apt to be very wretched, without much real reason. You are kind-hearted, loyal and secretive and make a good friend, and are quite optimistic, not being easily depressed or cast down. You are magnetic and draw people to you by a natural law, but dislike any special demonstration of affection. You will be happiest when you gain absolute self-poise and control your temper at all times. You were born on Monday. Your color is black.

A BLEMISHED SKIN.

Cannot Be Relieved By Salves and Ointments.

Irritating sores, pimples, eczema, salt rheum and other skin disorders are all signals of distress, telling that your blood is weak or impure. You cannot get rid of eczema and other skin troubles with ointments and outward applications, because the trouble is rooted in the blood and can only be removed by purifying and enriching the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills banish these troubles because they purify and build up the impoverished blood. This has been proved over and over again. Among those who have thus benefited is Mrs. Chris. F. Hummel, Castor, Alta., who says:—"I was troubled with eczema for years and although I tried many remedies I did not find permanent relief until I used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Whenever I did a little work my hands pained me greatly, especially my fingers and joints which were swollen and cracked, so that I could scarcely move them. Finally as the result of a statement I read, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them very long when I found they were helping me. I then got a dozen boxes, and before they were all gone every trace of the trouble had disappeared. Had I known of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills earlier I might have been spared the suffering I endured, and saved the money spent for other treatments that did not relieve me. I hope some other sufferer will benefit by my experience.'

If your blood is out of order begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills today and note their speedy beneficial results. Sold by medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lady May Cambridge, whose engagement has been rumored often. It is now said that Prince Henry has laid his heart at her feet.

The above photograph of Queen's Own Rifles' officers was taken on the occasion of the celebration of General Sir William Otter's 82nd birthday. The aggregate ages of the above 13 gentlemen is about 916 years. Sitting left to right (with years of service in brackets): Lieut. Col. Percy L. Mason, C.V.O., (1878-1911); Capt. W. A. Medland 1872-1895); General Sir William Otter, K.C.B., C.V.O. (1861-1833); Major-General Sir Henry M. Pellatt, C.V.O. (1876-1925); Color-Sergeant Walter J. Barr (1871-1885). Standing, left to right; Lieut. E. Havelock Walsh (1880-1890); Major Boyce Thompson (1880-1901); Lieut. R. S. Cassels, K.C. (1879-1886); Sergeant E. T. Malone, K.C., (1877-1880); Col. Henry Brock (1887-1891); Lieut A. D. Crooks (1882-1901); Major J. A. Murray (1877-1904); and Capt. Prof. Alfred Baker (1875-1883). Photo by Freeland.

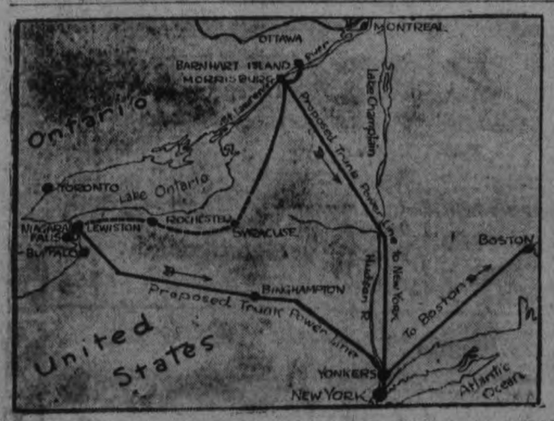
The above photograph shows the May Day parade of communists as it marched through the streets of London just before the general strike became effective. Although the procession was accompanied by a strong force of police in case of disorders, there were no hostile demonstrations.

Miss Kathleen Woodward, who once worked in a London collar factory, was watching a royal procession in London last summer when the thought occurred to her that the Queen was practically unknown to her people. Acting upon impulse she wrote to the court asking if the Queen would tell the story of her life. Permission was granted to Miss Woodward to write the biography and all sources of information were thrown open to her at Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, Sandringham and Balmoral.

H. S. White, K.C., Toronto lawyer, who was recently elected president of the Ontario Bar Association.

Miss Ernestine Calles, daughter of the president of Mexico. She is now on a visit to America.



This map illustrates the proposal to carry large blocks of power from the St. Lawrence river and from the Niagara river to Yonkers, N.Y., to to be used in New York and some of it possibly in Boston. The American Super Power Company has interested the Henry L. Doherty interests in its plans to develop power opposite Morrisburg and at Barnhart Island on the St. Lawrence and at Lewiston on the Niagara. Between 1,600,000 and 2,400,000 h.p. of electricity would be made available by utilizing all the water power on the international stretch of the St. Lawrence. The power would be evenly divided between the two countries. The heavy lines on the map indicate, roughly, the location of the Super Power Company's proposed trunk power lines. The ticked line between the Niagara river and Syracuse and northcast of that city indicates an existing trunk line that would be brought into the general scheme.

The photographs shown were taken during the great general strike in England. On the right one of the outstanding figures of the situation, the editor of the extemporized "British Gazette," is seen leaving Number 10 Downing Street, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer. At the bottom centre are to be seen three important members of the Trades Union Congress, which met at Memorial Hall, London, and finally decided on the general strike. They are, left to right, R. Shirke, Scottish Colliery Engine and Boilerman Associations; A. B. Swales, A.M.E.W., and A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners. Immediately above these there is to be seen a crowd of volunteers in the forecourt of the Foreign Office, waiting to be assigned positions in various private enterprises affected by the strike. Above this group, top centre, is the first original photograph received from London of the strike. It shows citizens on their way to work on bicycles.

He was in a very emaciated condition. He gave the boy a simple mixture and he reported the matter in order to have the boy removed to a place where he could give him proper treatment.

The house was very destitute. It looked like a place to be used only in the summer. The bed clothes were fairly clean—he had seen worse. He had not seen anything in the slums of New York and Chicago to equal the house. He did not mean filth, so much as absolute want. He only saw the boy, George, at a distance. Someone told him about George. He did not know whether it was Mr. Little or Mrs. Dwyer.

It was Mr. Little who had told him that he believed Dwyer's boy was dying and that he ought to get some treatment. He thought Mr. Little was acting on his own responsibility.

Due to Slow Starvation.

He believed the boy's condition was due to slow starvation. There was no discharge from the ear. He was looking for discharges from the ear. He judged that the starvation was sufficient to endanger the boy's life or to impair permanently his health.

In reply to Mr. Kerr, witness agreed that he had said before that Dwyer's wife declared she was afraid to come to him because of her husband's opposition. He believed that Mrs. Dwyer approved of his visiting the child. He had attended Mrs. Dwyer when she was a child, but he did not think he would have known her if he had met her away from home. She was now haggard and drawn. When he had known her at first, she was a stout, healthy-looking woman. Hard work in the woods from morning till dark, day after day, with poor and insufficient food would account for the condition of the boy John and his brother George.

After Mrs. Dwyer had been in jail nearly two weeks, he had been consulted with regard to a swelling and discoloration of her leg. It would require a severe blow to cause a discoloration and swelling that would last two weeks. He had stated at the inquest that it had been suggested to him that Dwyer did not call on him because Dwyer still owed him a bill for $25.

"Knowing you," added Mr. Kerr, "I know that such a thing would not keep you from attending. It might keep some back, but I know you well enough to be sure that this was not the case with you."

Dr. I. H. Erb.

Dr. I. H. Erb, a pathologist associated with the University of Toronto and the Sick Children's Hospital, stated that he carried out a post-mortem on the body of John Dwyer. He said the boy's body was very thin, and his eyes very deeply sunk in his head. On his scalp there were several small sores, some of them containing matter.

Examining the internal parts of the body he found the boy had been suffering from what was commonly known as meningitis. He found a considerable quantity of pus in the boy's middle ear. In his opinion, the cause of death was meningitis. Of 30 cases of meningitis he quoted, only two cases lived more than two weeks after being overtaken by the disease. The extent of the boy's wastage of body was not, in his opinion, attributable to meningitis or any other disease. The condition of the child was such as to render him readily susceptible to any disease with which he came in contact. His emaciation was such as to endanger his life, or to affect very seriously his subsequent health. The condition of the boy's hands and feet indicated exposure to severe cold.

In answer to Mr. Kerr, witness said that, even in cases of exposure to severe cold and hard work, a given quantity of food would have a tendency to diminish the nourishment of the body. In these circumstances he considered that, given plenty of food, the undue exposure to the cold and hard work would be relatively lesser factors in under-nourishment. He felt that the emaciated condition of the child was due to a combination of all three circumstances, but that insufficient food was the prime factor. He would not want to apportion the extent to which the other two factors affected the boy.

Meningitis might affect either the sick or the perfectly healthy individual. In children the most common pathway was through the mouth to the throat, from there to the middle ear, and then through the skull and into the brain.

There were children who could exceed or fall below the normal weight and who were still quite healthy.

The boy's frame was a little below normal. His height was 4 feet 3 inches, the normal being about 4 feet 6 inches. In regard to his height and frame, the boy should have weighed about 70 pounds.

In answer to Mr. Kerr, witness said that in exceptional cases a child might have a frame sufficient to carry the normal weight, but might, through no fault of anyone in charge, have a weight below normal.

John Edgar.

John Edgar, assistant superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, stated that he accompanied Mr. Maker to the Dwyer house. They found the boy upstairs in bed. He thought the boy seemed to be very stupid and dull. He seemed to be restless and uneasy and, in a semi-conscious condition. Downstairs there were five children with Mrs. Dwyer. He and Mr. Maker inquired about George, especially about his foot, as they had heard of it before. The mother said the foot was all right. On examination they found that the big toe had been frozen off the right foot. The boy seemed frightened and was afraid to answer questions. The other three children were those of the present Mrs. Dwyer. The children of the first Mrs. Dwyer were not so well fed; and not so well looking as those of the present Mrs. Dwyer, who appeared quite fat, healthy and were better clothed. Mr. Maker told the parent to get medical attention for the boys. It was decided to bring the boys to the Hospital in Peterborough, where Dr. Clark examined John. John and George were brought in at the same time. George did not seem so bad as John, but he looked nothing like a well-fed child.

Questioned by defending counsel, Mr. Edgar stated that he first went to the house on February 22. They found that a cook stove was the only means of heating in the house. The pipe ran up into the loft.

In the house were a table and a few chairs and an organ or a piano in the corner. There were no carpets on the floor. He stated that he had seen worse living conditions in the course of his experience, but he agreed with counsel's description of the apartments as "The living room of poverty and the sleeping room of poverty." He would not describe it as abject poverty. He saw only the part of the loft where the boy was lying, the other part was separated by a curtain. The boy had on a night-shirt. He would not say the clothing was completely dirty. Mrs. Dwyer said the boy could not hear very well, and there was not much use in talking to him.

The table was spread when they were in. He did not see much to eat on it, certainly nothing appetizing for five children. A pot was boiling on the stove and he lifted the lid and looked in. It contained a vegetable mixture of some kind. There were some apples on the table and a little bread. He did not see any butter. At a later date he was at the house when he saw about a dozen and a half eggs. He understood these eggs were to be taken to Mrs. Dwyer's mother. George Dwyer was arrested on February 24. It was on March 3 that witness saw the eggs. He had never heard Mrs. Dwyer say that she and the children could get food at her mother's house, but George Dwyer could get none there. He did not see the preserves when he was there for the first time.

In reply to a query from Mr. Kerr, witness said that he had not done anything active to get food sent down to the children. At that time he was assistant to Mr. Powell.

Nellie Dwyer.

Interest increased among the crowd of spectators when Nellie Dwyer was called to the witness stand. Judge Huycke endeavoured with success to allay her fears by assuring her that the gentlemen who would question her were kind gentlemen from whom she had nothing to fear. She said she knew about God and that she had to speak the truth. She said she was 13 years old and lived in Dummer, with her father and mother.

John was younger than she. George, she said, was 10. She remembered her own mother.

During the winter, what did you get to eat? Oatmeal porridge.

Did you have all the oatmeal you wanted to eat? No.

Did you have anything else to eat? Bread and butter.

Did you have all the bread you wanted? No.

Were you hungry when you wakened in the morning? Yes.

What did you do in the morning after breakfast? Washed the dishes, milked the cow, and did other work around the house.

At noon, what did you have to eat? Sometimes bread and gravy.

Any meat? No.

How was the gravy made? With flour and water.

In the afternoon, what did you do? Housework.

What did you have for supper? Porridge.

As much as you wanted to eat? No.

Did you have milk with the porridge? No.

Or sugar? No.

What did the three younger children get? Sometimes they had potatoes.

Milk? Yes.

Can you remember any other food the three younger children had that you did not get? Eggs and meat.

"Mostly Hungry."

You said you were hungry in the morning. Were you hungry all day? Sometimes.

Were you mostly hungry? Yes.

Was your mother kind and affectionate to you? No.

Mr. Kerr objected to the question as being irrelevant to the charge of not supplying necessaries.

Were you unhappy? Yes.

Mr. Kerr again objected, but was not sustained. His Honor said that though the question was a dangerous one, the answer might have a bearing on the cause of the unhappiness.

Would you like to go back and live in Dummer? No.

Why?

Mr. Kerr again registered objection, and again the question was allowed. Replying to the objection, the Crown Prosecutor said, "It is the duty of the Crown to bring out the facts, and not to try for a conviction. That shall be my endeavour."

Where did you sleep? Upstairs on a cot.

Were you always comfortable at night? Yes.

Where did Jack sleep? In the loft.

Was it large? No.

Could you stand upright in it? No.

What time did the boys have breakfast? Half-past five. They had oatmeal and bread.

What did they do after breakfast? They carried in wood and water, then they went to the woods. They did not come home for a noon-day meal, but returned at 6 o'clock at night. They had supper a little after six, oatmeal and johnnycake.

Did your father go to the woods with the boys? Yes.

Did he come home for a noon-day meal? Yes.

What did he have? No answer.

Do you know what your stepmother had for her noon-day meal? No answer, the little girl crying silently. Mr. McKay wiped her eyes with his handkerchief.

Questioned again, Nellie said her stepmother had potatoes sometimes.

Did she give you any? No.

Did your mother give you butter when she had it at supper time? No.

What did John work at? Cutting wood.

Did you ever see him fall at his work? Yes.

What did your stepmother say about John falling? She said he wasn't sick at all: he was just putting it on because he didn't want to work.

Was that near the time when John took ill? Yes. Three or four days before.

Did Dr. Holdcroft see George when he came to visit John? No. George was at the barn.

Was that the time George's foot was sore? Yes.

What sort of shoes did George have? Clogs.

Were they a good fit? No. They were too big.

Did the boys have mittens? Yes.

Did they wear them at the woods? No. Their stepmother wouldn't let them wear them to the woods.

Did John get a good meal when he was sent to Little's house with messages? Yes.

Did you sometimes go? Yes.

What did you get? Sometimes biscuit, and sometimes a piece of pie.

Did you ever go to see Jackie after he was taken to hospital? Yes.

Did he appear to be in any way changed? No.

You had sufficient clothes to keep warm in the house? Yes.

Did you do some other chores around the barn? Yes. I attended to the horse.

Did the horse ever kick you? No (with a faint smile), but it stepped on my foot.

What did your stepmother do? Nothing.

What did she say?

Mr. Kerr's objection to the question was sustained.

Did you ever hear Jackie and George complaining about being hungry?

Another objection by Mr. Kerr was over-ruled.

George and John were not getting the same food as your father and stepmother or the same food as the little children got? No.

What did they take for their noon-day lunch? Dry bread and sponge cake.

Was there anything to drink? No.

Did you ever have tea? No.

His Honor remarked: "Perhaps you were all the better for that," and Nellie smiled.

Did you have milk? No.

Did the boys get milk to drink? Sometimes.

Often? No.

Seldom? Yes.

Were the boys served potatoes? No.

Was the rest of the family served potatoes? Generally.

Did you ever hear of John's hands being frozen? Yes.

Did you ever hear of him having boils? Yes. On his neck and on top of his head.

Did you ever see anything done to his hands when they were frozen? No.

Was John sent on a message to his grandfather's for oats?

Mr. Kerr: The question of furnishing oats to a child is not the question of furnishing necessities to a child.

The Crown Prosecutor did not press the question, but produced a six-foot cross-cut saw, which Nellie identified as the one her father had, and which the boys used.

Remembers Christmas Day.

Did you get enough to eat on Christmas Day? Yes.

That was a red-letter day, a day to be remembered. Yes (smiling).

Were there some days when meals were missed altogether? No. We always had something to eat.

Was there any butter on the bread the boys took for lunch. No.

Was it always just plain hard bread? Yes.

What change did you see in John before he went to bed ill? He was stupid. He was failing.

It was quite noticeable to you? Yes.

Did you hear your stepmother or your father make any reference to it? No.

But when he fell down at his work she did say—what? That he wasn't sick—he was just putting it on.

After he went to bed did you hear him groaning? Yes.

Was anything done to stop him groaning? At night my stepmother told him to go to sleep.

Presents at Christmas.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr, Nellie repeated evidence previously given that on Christmas Day the children all had presents from their stepmother. They found the gifts beside their boots when they came downstairs in the morning. Then they all went to Little's and had a "big feed."

Whenever you or John or any of the children went to Little's there was always plenty to eat? Yes.

And you were always welcome? Yes.

No one was sleeping on the cot before Jackie took sick? The boys liked to sleep up on the little shelf? Yes.

When Jackie was ill did he get anything to eat? Yes.

Who brought it to him and attended to him? My stepmother.

You mean the lady you called "Mamma" until you came in to the Children's Aid? Yes.

Did Jackie have milk, oranges, soup, cakes and preserves? Yes.

The cross-cut saw is what the boys worked with at home? When they were working did one of them take an end while your stepmother took the other end? Then when one of the boys got tired the other took his end? Yes.

So your mother was working pretty hard? Yes.

Nellie told of how her elder sister arrived with her husband for a visit, and stayed over the week-end. There was meat in the house then.

Where did the meat come from? My stepmother brought it from Norwood.

Where did she get the money? I don't know.

How long did the meat last? Two or three days. Some was made into soup for Jackie.

Do you remember that when your stepmother's own children cried for meat your father cut some off and gave it to them? Yes.

But you didn't cry for it and you didn't get any? Yes.

You had pretty poor food for everybody? Yes.

You are getting better food and clothes at the Shelter, and it's warmer there? Yes.

When the boys took bread and cake to the woods, there wasn't anything else in the house to take? There was fruit in the cellar.

Do you know whether your stepmother got up and looked after Jackie from time to time in the night? She said she did.

But you were too sound asleep to know? Yes.

You told this gentleman that your mother did the best she could with the food. Was that with respect to the cooking, or the division, or what? She went and looked to get it.

Didn't you tell us the food was not equally divided? Is that what you meant? Yes.

Were the boys in the woods most of the time? Yes.

During the time Jackie was ill, could he eat solid food? Yes.

You said there was not always butter in the house. When there was butter, did Jackie or George get any? No.

You remember when George's foot got frozen and your mother put something on it and wrapped it up? Yes.

Did she dress the sore foot? Yes.

What did she do with the cloth? Did she boil it so that she could put it on again? Yes.

George Dwyer.

Little George Dwyer, clad in a white blouse and short trousers was called to the stand. His Honor explained to the jury that after talking to the boy, he had come to the conclusion that he did not understand the meaning of an oath. His evidence would be taken, but it must not influence their decision unless otherwise corroborated.

How old are you? was the first question. Ten.

Do you know who this is sitting here? Yes.

Who is it? My stepmother.

When did you last see John? In the hospital.

Did he get better? No.

What did you have for breakfast at your home? Porridge.

Anything else? Cake.

Did you always have cake? No.

When you hadn't cake what did you have? Sometimes bread.

After you had breakfast, where did you go? To the woods.

How far did you go? About a mile and a half.

Did you get all the food you wanted? No.

When you went to the woods, who went with you? Father and John.

Did your father always go with you? No.

When he did not, who went with you? John.

What kind of saw did you use? Crosscut.

Did you ever saw down any trees? Yes.

How did you measure the wood you sawed? With a measuring stick.

What was your father doing? Hauling out the wood.

What were you doing while he was away? Getting ready another load.

What did he do when you were not ready? Sometimes he sawed down trees.

What else did he do? Sometimes, if the trees were not sawed, he gave us a licking.

One Slice of Dry Bread.

Did you go home for a noon-day meal? No.

Did you take it with you? Yes.

What did you take? Bread.

What kind? Dry bread.

Any butter? No.

How much bread had you? A slice each.

Was it always good? Sometimes it was frozen.

Sometimes your step-mother came out to help you, did she? Yes.

When John and you came to get your noon-day meal did you have enough bread to fill you up. No.

You reached home at what time? About six.

When did you have supper? Half past six.

What did you have for supper? Bread.

And milk? Sometimes.

Did you ever have potatoes? A little bit.

Did you get the same food as your father and mother? No.

Did you get the same food as the younger children? No.

Did Jackie or did he not get the same food as your father and mother? No.

Was Jackie working with you in the woods all the time? He was till he took sick? He was falling all the time.

Were you in the woods up to then? Yes.

Did you see Jackie in bed? Yes.

Did he speak to you? No.

Did you to him? He couldn't hear.

How do you know he couldn't hear? When you spoke to him what did he say? He never said anything.

What had you on your feet in the woods? A pair of moccasins.

What kind? Rubber or leather? Leather.

Large ones or small ones? Large.

How many pairs of socks did you have? Two.

Were they good socks? They had holes in them.

His Toe Fell Off.

Were your feet always dry? They were wet most of the time.

Were they ever cold? Yes.

What part was the coldest? The toes.

Did they feel comfortable afterwards? No, they were frozen.

What did you do? Nothing.

Afterwards, was something done? After it fell off, a rag was put on.

When Mr. Maker asked your mother if your feet were frozen, what did she say? She said it was not froze.

What did Mr. Maker do? He said to take my socks off.

Who took off your socks? My mother.

Did anybody say anything? I don't remember.

But you do remember that your mother said your toe was not frozen? Yes.

Were your hands ever cold? In the woods.

What kind of mitts did you wear in the woods? None at all.

Did you have a pair of mitts? Yes.

Where did you get them? They were made.

Who made them? The boy did not answer.

Who gave you them, then? Mrs. Little.

Why didn't you wear them? Mother wouldn't let me.

Fingers Were Frozen.

Your hands were very cold? Yes.

Were they ever as cold as your toes? My fingers were frozen once last winter.

Do you like to live in Dummer? No.

Would you like to go back? No.

Never Said a Prayer.

Were you ever taught to say a prayer? No.

Were you taught to say a prayer at the Shelter? Yes.

Did your clothes keep you warm? No.

How much bed clothes did you have? One quilt.

What part of the house did you sleep in? The loft.

Did you sleep alone? Before my brother took sick he was there.

Cross-examination.

Mr. Kerr asked:

Did Mr. Edgar tell you that you would have to be a witness? Yes.

Did he tell you not to forget about the mitts? Yes.

Mr. Edgar has been very kind to you? Yes.

When did you see Mr. Edgar? Awhile before yesterday.

When your foot got frozen did you tell your father? No.

Why? I didn't want.

Why, did you think he would be cross?

George did not answer this question.

Sometimes you got milk for breakfast? Yes.

When John got sick was he put to bed? Yes.

Did your mother look after him and get him something to eat? Yes.

Do you remember her going to Havelock and bringing some nice biscuits? Yes.

Do you remember your mother taking up the food to John? I don't remember.

I'm Afraid You Have Been Coached.

I'm afraid you have been coached, George.

"I don't think that is a proper remark, Mr. Kerr," interposed His Honor.

"I couldn't resist the temptation, your Honor" answered counsel.

"You should resist temptation at all times," rejoined the Judge.

Did your mother sometimes do quite a bit of sawing? resumed Mr. Kerr. Yes.

Did she sometimes go to the woods? Sometimes.

When you went into the woods with your father you rode with him and when he did not go with you, you walked? Yes.

Before Christmas, you were often at Grandpa Little's? Yes, sometimes on Sundays.

You got lots to eat there? Yes.

There was not much food at home? There were some apples in the cellar.

There was no meat after Christmas? No.

When your married sister came was there some meat then? Yes.

Was there soup then? Yes.

Did you get some? No.

Did your married sister get some? Yes.

And her husband? Yes.

Stepmother Beaten.

Did your father ever give your mother a licking? Yes.

Did he hit her hard? Yes.

Do you remember when you lived at Mount Pleasant? Yes.

Do you remember your mother fighting with your father, and taking you all away? And your father meeting you and ordering you all home? Yes.

Counsel showed the boy several articles of clothing which little George identified as his and John's. The patches and sewing were done by his mother, he said.

Did you saw a lot of wood? Yes.

It was hard work? Yes.

Do you remember the day your mother lit a fire in the woods? Did your father say there was not enough wood cut? Did he scold her for lighting the fire? Yes.

Do you remember the day the children cried for meat? Did they get it? Yes.

When it was given to them, was it given to you? No.

(The hearing is continuing today.)

ENGLISH LORD HAS NO LOVE FOR FARMING

Apprenticeship on Farm Cost Him $500 a Year Plus Board.

PREPARED TO WORK.

But Objected To Slaving Like a Laborer and Paying For Privilege.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Farming as experienced during a year's training on a farm near Edmonton, Alta., holds no thrills for Lord Edward Montagu who passed through Winnipeg yesterday on his way to England.

His Lordship declared that he had come to Canada "prepared to work" but objected to slaving like a laborer and paying for the privilege. He explained that his apprenticeship on the farm operated by Lord Rodney, had cost him $500 a year for instruction, with an additional fee for board. He protested that there had been no instruction on the scientific side of farming and no recreation provided after a hard day's work. "There was only one poor skate of a horse, and that was the sort that went lame after a few miles of riding," he exclaimed.

Lord Montagu, who is the younger son of the Duke of Manchester, indicated that he might return with his mother next fall to take up business in Winnipeg. As for farming, he said he was "through."

"THESE WOMEN"

By MALCOLM DUART

COPYRIGHT 1926

The Characters and Situations in this Story are entirely fictional.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

Nona, a Toronto dancer, who loves Harry Morton, has just made a striking success in a new production.

Audrey, Morton's adopted daughter, has gone with him to Toronto to witness the opening of Nona's show. Audrey, too, loves Morton.

Morton lives in Peterborough, but maintains an apartment in Toronto. He and Audrey are sitting in the theater on the second night of Nona's show, discussing the departure of Parrish, as this chapter opens.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

Audrey looked up in concern.

"Did he go away because he was rude to me? Poor Mr. Parrish!"

"He said he was a fool," Morton told her.

The orchestra was playing, and he leaned closer to her ear.

"He said he loved you, and was always making blunders."

She considered this, her eyebrows drawn together in thought.

"Isn't love funny?" she said. "Here I love you, and Nona loves you, and neither of us gets any place with it. And Mr. Parrish loves me, he says—and all he can do is to make himself miserable."

There was the sound of a snicker from the row behind them. Audrey turned, and saw a girl and man laughing at her.

"They heard us!" she whispered to Morton.

"Doubtless," he responded, cheerfully. "And we shan't worry over that. But we'd better talk about something else."

The lights flashed before the musical director. He brought down his arms with a swoop, and the orchestra glided into the opening number of the second act. The curtain ran up, and Nona danced into view, followed by the chorus.

Her lithe body turned and swayed and bent. She floated about the stage as lightly as a bit of thistle-down. As she finished her dance, she sank into a heap in the center of the stage, her arms outstretched, her face buried upon her knees.

The thunder of applause that arose drowned the orchestra, as it began the movement for the encore.

"She is positively fairylike," Audrey exclaimed, as Nona bowed her way into the wings. She moved, so she could whisper into Morton's ear. "How can she be so strong and supple, after—after the sort of life she led?"

Morton placed his hand on her's "Nona wasn't as bad as you think, Audrey."

"I didn't know." She still was whispering. "I got the idea, someway, that she was awfully bad. But she did stay up late, nights, didn't she?"

Morton laughed and assented.

"Also, she got up late, afternoons," he said.

Audrey continued the discussion, as they waited for Nona behind the scenes, after the performance.

"How did she happen to be the sort of girl she was?" she asked, as they sat on a property bench, at the rear of the stage.

"She told me, one time," he answered. "Her mother and father quarreled, and the father went away. She took her mother, and went to New York. They had enough money to scrape by, until she got a place in a chorus. She was only fifteen or sixteen, then. She studied, and went out on the road with a minor company, as a dancer.

"There were times when there was no work. They got by—some way. I never wanted to ask her how."

He paused to greet a passing singer.

"There's one thing sure," he resumed. "There's a shrewd brain behind those black eyes of Nona's, and she never would steer herself into any shipwreck."

"Where's her mother?" Audrey asked.

"Married again—four or five years ago."

Nona was coming toward them now, and they arose to greet her.

"I want you to come to my apartment," she said. "I've ordered supper to be brought there. Abe and Lois are coming."

Audrey looked at Morton, and he nodded.

"I'd like to come," Audrey said.

The three took Morton's car, and in a few minutes were in Nona's small drawing-room. Mr. Sunshine and Lois entered a few minutes later.

"I've been busted so flat, this is the first time I've entertained anybody in weeks," Nona said. "An old friend of mine sent me a check, or I couldn't have paid for this banquet."

She indicated the food and drink that had been spread upon her center table.

Morton was looking amusedly at Audrey.

"Audrey wants to know who the friend was—the one who sent the money," he said.

Nona seated herself, and motioned to the others to join her.

"Oh, it wasn't Harry," said the hostess. "Will you open that wine, Abe?"

Audrey still stared at her. Nona caught her glance.

"It was a man I know—butter-and-egg man!" she explained.

The younger girl was pushing her chair back from the table.

"I'm tired—I want to go home," she said, faintly.

Nona arose, and took her by the arm.

"I know what you're thinking," she said. "Please sit down."

She turned to the others. "Audrey thinks it's a scandal that I got a check from a man." There was a hint of indignation in her voice, but her eyes were kind as she turned to the younger girl.

"Listen—it isn't always a dark secret, when a girl in my profession receives money from a man. He's in business. Customers come from out of town. They want to be entertained. So, once in a while, I've had dinner with a part of them, and danced with them, and kept them happy. He paid me for it. He sent this check because he's a good egg. That's all."

Her voice raised a little.

"Why, I never even kissed him!"

Morton was helping himself to a sandwich.

"I'm glad the subject came up," he said. "I wanted Audrey to know that we can't always judge people by our own standards."

"I should think not!" Lois intervened. "Why, there have been lots and lots of men who gave me money. Haven't there, Abe?"

"Hush!" said her intended husband, fondly. "Don't think about them any more."

He kissed Lois's plump cheek.

"Well, I'd like to hear anybody say I wasn't a good girl because I had to live!" retorted Lois. There never was anybody that lived straighter than I have.

Audrey timidly interposed. "I didn't mean to say that you were bad, Nona and Lois. But I always thought it was terrible for girls to take money from men."

"It's according to the girl," said Nona wisely. "Most of the men aren't dangerous."

"Just sappy," agreed Lois.

"Anyhow," Nona went on, "I'd have been a lot happier if there hadn't been any men in my life—except Harry."

Mr. Sunshine looked up with an injured air. "What's the matter with me?" he inquired.

Nona laughed, and held out her glass to him. "And you, Abe—what could I do without you?"

After they had eaten, Audrey played on the small upright piano, and Nona sang in a clear, sweet soprano. Morton joined her in a duet, himself taking Audrey's place at the keyboard. Then Mr. Sunshine sang.

"I'm all through singing and dancing," announced Lois, as they turned and asked her to join the impromptu musicale

"I'm going to rest—and get fat!"

"Absolutely," concurred Mr. Sunshine. "It's going to be just one big holiday for Lois, from now on."

They lingered until four o'clock. Audrey subsided in the corner of Morton's car, with a tired sigh, as they set forth for home.

"I never was made for midnight suppers," she said.

She was silent for a while, with her eyes closed. Morton was quietly smoking, beside her.

"Life is awfully confusing, isn't it?" she said, at length.

"Why?" He eyed her affectionately.

"Oh, the folks I thought were bad people turn out to be good people. At least, they're kind, good-hearted people. And the things that look black to me look white to them. They're perfectly sincere about it, too."

She twisted the big tourmaline ring that adorned her right hand.

"You remember those women who came to see me in Peterborough, to tell me how bad you were?"

"Quite well," he answered.

"They're good women, aren't they? Yet they deliberately tried to make me miserable. You hadn't hurt them, and neither had I. So they are bad women!"

He shook his head and laughed. "No, they're not bad, either," he said. "They are just looking at life as they see it."

He stopped to relight his cigar.

"Audrey, there are many sides of life, that none of us ever can see them all, nor understand them. If we do right by our own standards, that's as much as can be expected."

She nodded, slowly. "And it may be wickedness by the next person's standards!"

They had arrived at their home. The chauffeur, drowsy at his wheel, did not alight to open the door. Morton turned the knob, and alighting, helped Audrey to the sidewalk.

"Poor chap!" he said, indicating the man in the machine. "He stays up all night, and has no fun, just so we can take two short trips!"

He added, as they passed into the lower hall. "But there are long stretches when he doesn't have to do anything at all. The job has its compensations."

It was noon when they awakened. Audrey still was tired as they discussed the news in the papers that lay on the breakfast table.

"Go back to bed, child," Morton said, as they finished their meal.

"You're dead to the world."

"I didn't sleep very well," she said.

"Worrying about something?"

"Yes. Me." Absent-mindedly she made marks on the cloth with her spoon. "Nona is going ahead with her career, and Lois is marrying Mr. Sunshine, and I—there just isn't anything for me to do."

He folded his newspaper and laid it aside.

"But I thought you were going to be my housekeeper, and fire the servants, and hire them, and order eggs, and everything."

She continued marking the cloth.

"But you don't really need me to do that. It is just something you are giving me to play with."

"Well," he said, "how about going ahead and rescuing young men from the slough of despond?"

She looked up at him, her eyes heavy.

"Yes, or some other deluded youngster. Most of them are in about the same boat, at that age."

She pushed the dishes back toward the center of the table, and crossed her arms before her.

"I've thought of being a settlement worker," she told him.

"Why not try politics?" he suggested. His tone was light, but the gaze he turned to her downcast head was an anxious one.

She did not heed the suggestion.

Instead, she reached her hand across to his.

"Why wouldn't I make you a good wife, daddy?"

Opening Our New Furniture Department on the Top Floor with a Carload Sale and Display of Snyder's Famous Sani-Bilt Moth-proof Chesterfields and Furniture for Dining-room and Bedroom at Moderate Prices

Let us Cut It Open and See how Snyder's Guaranteed Mothproof Furniture is Made

HERE'S a good, typical Sani-Bilt Chesterfield of the best grade, from one of Snyder's famous guaranteed mothproof suites. It looks like a handsome, solid piece of furniture, judging by the outside, beautifully upholstered, Marshall Cushioned, soft, springy and luxuriously comfortable. And you see by the tag it is guaranteed absolutely mothproof.

When you choose a Snyder Sani-Bilt Chesterfield Suite you know that the hidden construction (upon which the durability depends so much) is of a very high order.

Take a Snyder Sani-Bilt Chesterfield and with a sharp knife rip off the beautiful moth-proof covering. Under this is a strong white cotton inner cover, then comes a layer of white felt which is the finishing coat to the inner filling of new, chemically treated, sanitary materials.

Now we come to the springs. A greater number of springs are used in Sani-Bilt Chesterfields than in any Chesterfield on the market. These are double-cone coils of oil-tempered steel wire, firmly fixed in place and cross-tried with heavy cord so as to prevent them leaning over or sagging to one side. The lowest priced Chesterfields have forty springs in the seat and twenty-seven in the back. The frame-work is exceptionally sturdy.

CYCLONIC GALE HITS ALBERTA

Great Damage Done To Wires in Wetaskiwin District.

POLESS LEVELLED.

EDMONTON, June 10 Canadian Press).—Wind storms of a cyclonic nature reaching a velocity of 50 miles an hour at times, visited the districts between Wetaskiwin and Red Deer on Wednesday night shortly before sunset and did great damage to telegraph and telephone poles in the areas affected, according to reports received here. The Alberta Government telephone system was hardest hit and ten miles of police were levelled when they were struck by the gale.

WOMAN'S DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

No Signs of Violence Found on Body of Mrs. Lackner.

SEARCH FOR DRIVER.

KITCHENER, June 10 (Canadian Press).—The Provincial police are investigating the circumstances surrounding the mysterious death on Monday afternoon of Mrs. Fred Lackner of Hawkesville, and they are particularly searching for the driver of the coupe which is known to have been at the Lackner home. Mrs. Lackner was apparently in her usual health on Monday afternoon and her husband attended a meeting of the Township Council while her son was working in a field The latter saw a coupe parked near the house and later saw in the distance the owner drive away. Mrs. Lackner was later discovered dead on the floor. There were no signs of violence and the only marks were a little cut near the right ear and one near the right eyebrow, which could have been caused in a fall.

GOLDEN JUBILEE TO BE OBSERVED

St. Luke's Church Will Celebrate Anniversary at End of Month.

SPECIAL SERVICES.

An interesting programme is being prepared in connection with the celebration here shortly of the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of St. Luke's Church in Ashburnham. Special services, commemorative of the golden jubilee of the church, will be held on two Sundays, June 27th and July 4th, with a garden fete on the church grounds on Monday, June 28, when supper will be served, commencing at half-past five o'clock. There will also be booths on the grounds and a programme of games.

GREAT CHANGES NOT REALIZED

Forke Says Some People Think Still of Days of MacDonald.

HIS OWN HUMILITY.

RENFREW, June 10 (Canadian Press).—"When I went to Parliament first, I imagined that I was going to reform the whole country, but after twelve years of that life, I find that I am very humble and cannot live up to my past expectations." So declared Robert Forke, leader of the Progressive party in the Federal House in addressing the Renfrew Rotary Club here last night.

"Our trouble today is that some of our people do not realize that Canada is no longer the country of Macdonald and McKenzie, but there have been great changes taking place.

"If East and West could get together we should not need to fear the proverb that 'A house divided could not stand'."

'66 VETERANS HOLD RE-UNION

Hold Dinner in Memory of 60th Anniversary of Battle.

VERY FEW LEFT.

The small remnant left of the local Association of the Veterans of 1866 met on the evening of June 8th, in Coleman Bros.' hall, corner George and Brock streets, to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Battle of Ridgeway.

The Veterans and their guests found the new hall cheerful in appearance, well lighted, and up-to-date in all its appointments—an ideal place for entertainments. The few old men left to meet in annual session are well up in years and range in age from 79 to close on 88, but still retain a deep interest in meeting together on these occasions.

The members present were Col. J. W. Miller, (president,) J. D. Collins, H. Nesbitt, H. Rush, G. Stenton and R. J. Sanderson. Comrades R. Tivey and A. Fitzgerald were absent on account of illness. The meeting was opened with a forceful and patriotic speech by Col. Miller, followed by a quartette by Messrs. J. Crane, Major Park, D. Carlisle and C. Browne, which delighted the company.

Major Park and Mr. Carlisle entertained those present with other numbers of high order, J. Crane presiding at the piano. The Rev. J. E. Todd, pastor of the George street church, delivered a stirring address, which was much appreciated.

The inner man was not forgotten—the Veterans and the guests sat around the board and did ample justice to the good things provided after which smokes were indulged in by those who enjoy the weed. A vote of thanks was tendered the guestswho did so much to make the entertainment one to be long remembered by the old men of '66.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

KIWANIANS WELCOMED.

Hon. A. D. David Speaks For Province—Ammerman President.

MONTREAL, June 10.— (Canadian Press.)—The delegates attending the tenth annual Kiwanis International convention here, were formally welcomed by Hon. Athanase David, Provincial Secretary, on behalf of the Quebec Government, yesterday.

In welcoming the visitors, Hon. Mr. David discussed the "sane democracy" existing in this province, and assured the visitors of Quebec's desire to co-operate with other parts of Canada and the United States in the march of civilization.

Ralph A. Ammerman, Scranton, Pa., was elected President of International Kiwanis, in the convention here to-day.

TWO YOUNG MEN ARE DROWNED

Canoe Upsets Near Midland —Rescuer Gets in Difficulties.

MIDLAND, June 10.—(Canadian Press.)—Two young men, William Duddridge, a jewelry store clerk, and Ray Eden, 21, a Western University student, both of London, Ontario, were drowned yesterday by the upsetting of their canoe near here when proceeding towards Port McNicol. Captain A. G. Elson, by whom both boys were employed, swam towards them, hoping to effect a rescue, but was obliged to turn back and reached shore with great difficulty.

Eden's body was found this morning and was taken to Barrie. He was a graduate of Toronto Conservatory of Music.

COUNCIL OPENS.

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon Will Preach at Opening Service —To-night.

MONTREAL, June 10. Canadian Press. — The second general council of the United Church of Canada will be inaugurated to-morrow night, when four hundred delegates will gather in the American United Church, Dorchester street west.

The opening service will be conducted by the Moderator, Rev. Dr. George Pigeon, who will preach.

FIRST ROYAL COURT.

LONDON, June 10 (Canadian Press). — Plumed, bejewelled, and groomed in Gossamer court gowns of dazzling beauty, women of social and political prominence were presented to King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace last night at the first of the season's Royal courts.

The King and Queen entertained nearly nine hundred guests.

RECITAL GIVEN.

Miss G. Collins, Soprano, and Miss K. Sutton, Pianist, Are Artists.

(By Jeanette).

A very pleasing recital took place in the hall of the Conservatory of Music last evening, given by Miss Geraldine Collins, vocal pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, and Miss Kathleen Sutton, A.T.C.M., of Millbrook, pianoforte pupil of Professor Gliddon. Miss Agnes Logan played accompaniments for Miss Collins' vocal numbers. There was a large attendance at the recital, and much interest was displayed in the musical attainments of the two talented young ladies, both of whom received several bouquets of lovely flowers.

Miss Collins' voice is a very attractive mezzo soprano, which was heard to much advantage last night in a programme that was varied, several of the numbers being especially adapted to her range, and very lovely in their rendition. Her programme opened with a recitative and aria by Handel, "Aye! Be it so" and "Mighty Love," in which there was a good deal of difficult vocalization, in repeated, sustained runs. In the group of four songs which followed, "I Love Thee," was very pleasingly rendered, with another brief bit by Greig, "In the Boat," charmingly sung. The "Sapphic Ode" and "The Blacksmith" were further lovely short songs by Brahms.

Two plaintive songs, sung with expressive sweetness, the vibrant, undertone of this singer's lovely voice very apparent in their melodic measures, were Hahn's "If my Songs were only Winged" and Dvorak's 'Songs my Mother Taught Me.' Massenet's "Then Weep, Thou Grief-worn Eyes," which followed, was of a more dramatic type, and was sung very effectively with full voice.

The final group of four songs included Elgar's "Twilight," descriptive and charming, the lovely song, "A Request," by Amy Woodforde-Finden, in which the vibrancy of the soaring cadences was emphasized, Campbell-Tipton's odd composition, "The Crying of Water," with the pianissimo effects beautifully rendered, and Saint-Saens' famous number, "My Heart at thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delila." This was a powerful song, in which was apparent Miss Collins' pre-eminence in the legato, soaring type of music. Every number was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

The playing of Miss Kathleen Sutton was brilliant and very likeable. Possessing a confident ease in execution, a transparent technique that is capable of meeting the most exacting demands, a tone remarkable for its clarity and a smooth, firm touch, facile and velvety in texture, Miss Sutton's numbers, played entirely from memory, were greeted with hearty appreciation, her final selection, the Verdi-Liszt "Rigoletto" composition, receiving a repeated encore.

One of the prettiest things on the instrumental programme was the opening number played by Miss Sutton, the dainty, expressive "Moment Musical" of Schubert, this selection appearing to chime in perfectly with the temperament of the musician. A paraphrase on a theme from one of the Strauss' waltzes followed.

Later numbers were Glazounow's "Gavotte," and a Paganini-Liszt "Etude," played with the artistic ease that distinguishes Miss Sutton's music, the latter number having a good deal of showy instrumentation in swift, trilly cadenzas, that made it very attractive. The final selection was the Verdi-Liszt composition brilliantly played.

MRS. DWYER ON WITNESS STAND

Mat. Little on the witness stand, stated that on one occasion last spring, George Dwyer and his wife and family came to his home, and remained from March till June, until the shack, where the Dwyer family lived at the time in question, was put up. This shack was about ½ a mile from witness' house. George Dwyer worked for witness from time to time last summer until the fall. Afterwards Dwyer was drawing out timber for himself.

He knew that his daughter was afraid of her husband. He knew she had reason to be so. She had come to witness' house and shown him marks on her body which, she said, were the results of Dwyer's ill-treatment of her. He had never actually seen Dwyer beat her. Dwyer, he said, was good outside, but ugly to his own family. She had complained to witness more than half a dozen times of the way she was used. Two years ago, when the Dwyers were living a mile north of his house, she had shown witness where her husband knocked out two of her teeth.

When Dwyer was hauling wood he took the boys with him to the woods; usually the boys went with Dwyer in the sleighs but when he was loaded up the night before the boys walked to the woods alone. He knew that his daughter went to the woods sometimes, in the afternoon. She said she was helping the boys. He did not actually see her working in the woods. The boys returned about dusk as a rule.

When the children came to his house they were always treated alike and Mrs. Dwyer's own children did not get any more food than her step-children. He did not know how the food was divided at the Dwyers' house. The children were all allowed to come to his place until the last, when George and John did not come George Dwyer, the father, stopped them from coming, as he said they were going to witness' house too often. Mrs. Dwyer was sometimes in the woods four times a week with John and George, and on these occasions the younger children were at witness' house.

No Discrimination.

He never saw Mrs. Dwyer discriminate among the children in distributing the food. The children got two pairs of mitts apiece from Mrs. Little. He thought the children wore them. He knew the children were going downhill. He thought this was because of their hard work.

Sent for Doctor.

The girl who worked at his place was at Dwyer's and came back and told witness that John Dwyer was very poorly. Witness went down and saw John. He had not seen John for 9 days. He saw a great difference in the boy, who was more like a dead boy than a live one. Witness told Dwyer that he had better get Dr. Holdcroft. Dwyer said he did not care to go to Holdcroft as he still owed the doctor $25. Witness said he would go to Dr. Holdcroft. He saw the doctor, who said he could not go that day but he would go the following day. Witness did not go back to the doctor then, because a message came to him from Dwyer objecting to his calling on the doctor. Dwyer earned enough money to give the children food but he bought a lot of things. He bought three horses and the money had to come from somewhere. The horses were in good working condition. He had learned from his wife that Mrs. Dwyer was anxious to get medical attention for the children.

Mr. Little was then questioned by Mr. McKay. He said he was in fairly good circumstances. He had given the boys food. He knew they were not being treated well. He saw them going down every day and was sorry for them. He went to Havelock and got the doctor.

He was at Dwyer's one day during December. He got a meal then. It was a good enough meal to work on. He asked George what was wrong with his foot. George said he had a sore toe. He did not see the sore toe. The boys were wearing boots too big for them. The boots were big enough to fit witness. The boys complained to him that they never had enough to eat. The animals belonging to the Dwyer's were kept in good enough condition. They had a cow.

When he was there in December there was a bee on. They had a fairish meal then. It was customary to put out the best food at such times.

Defendant's Mother

Mary Jane Little said defendant was her daughter. There was no difference in the treatment of the Dwyer children. In December, January, and February, George Dwyer was working constantly in the woods. Her daughter went about four days in the week to the woods. She knew food was scarce with the Dwyers. She gave the children lots of food when they came to her house. The boys were welcome at her place. The boys went to the wood about six on some mornings and at other times they went later. They came home about five o'clock.

In the first part of the winter they came into her house for supper. The children told her that their rather stopped them from coming because they stayed too long. She had seen the children wear the clothes that were produced in the court yesterday. She gave the boys two pair of mitts. One of the mitts was burned in the woods and got holes in it. The holes were patched. She had seen her daughter mend the boys' clothes. She had seen Dwyer and her daughter "have rackets." She had seen marks—a blackened leg—on her daughter's body.

Took Them Food

Witness had taken down syrup, flour and butter to the Dwyers during the three months in question. In a family the size of Dwyers, this food would not go very far. Until the last two weeks, the Dwyer's had dinner at her house.

John went down fast. She was in the house and saw him attended by her daughter. The boy called Mrs. Dwyer "Mother." They did not refer to her as their step-mother at home.

She did not visit the Dwyers often except when the boy was sick. She had one meal there. The boys were in the woods at the time. She always gave them what she could.

In speaking of the boys, witness showed great emotional strain. Latterly, she said, the boys did not come to her house. She had noticed at the last that John could not walk straight. It was clear that he was going downhill. When he was ill, she took him some strawberries and some biscuits.

William Dwyer

William Dwyer stated he was a step-son of accused. He was 19 years of age. He was at Mount Pleasant with the family. He said that his father's treatment of Mrs. Dwyer was such as to render her afraid of him. He was very often angry. He was not good natured. He was quick. Witness had often seen his father angry at Mrs. Dwyer. In Dummer, witness said, he had seen his father strike Mrs. Dwyer. He knocked two of her teeth out with his fist. The weight of the blow was such that a man could hardly stand up to it. Witness stated that he had quarrelled with his father, but not with his step-mother. When angry, his father cursed and swore at his step-mother.

In answer to Mrs. MacKay, witness said he left his father's home two years ago. He had been home since. He was there last July. He was there twice after that—before and after Christmas. He stayed two or three days before Christmas. He was in the woods with a number of men sawing wood. The little lads were then doing chores. The other time he was there, in December, he stayed with Mr. Little. With the exception of the three days of the wood-cutting bee, he did not have any opportunity to see how conditions were in the house. When he was there, as far as he could see, the boys got what was in the house.

Accused on Stand.

Mrs. Mary Dwyer took the witness stand. She said she would be twenty-six in August. She was married five years ago to Dwyer, who was a widower with six children. He was about 15 years older than she. They started housekeeping in Peterborough. Before her marriage to Dwyer, she had a child born out of wedlock. She had been keeping company with the young man who seduced her. Dwyer and she lived until that fall in Peterborough, then they went to her father's house. They remained there all that winter. From there they went to Mr. Cook's house. They lived two summers in it. Her husband worked here and there. Her husband deserted her in 1924. She laid the case before the Magistrate on the ground of desertion and non-support. She was left with the three small children. A peace was patched up as a result of the Magistrate's bringing them together. In the fall of 1924, she and her husband with six children, three of the first family and three of her own, went to Mount Pleasant. She, along with her husband and family, worked in the woods. She did not know how much work she did, but she did what she could.

Worked in Woods.

During last fall, she sawed in the woods. Her husband and the two boys went to the woods every morning. It was dark when they came back. The boys had their meal in the woods. She did the best she could in making of the meal for them. They were all in bad shape during the winter from hard work and not enough to eat. She did not think the children had enough to eat. She did not give them more food because she had no more to give them.

When she was in the woods she was a longer time on the saw than the boys. She sawed also with Mr. Dwyer. It was one day so cold that she could hardly stand it. The food was frozen. She lit a fire. Her husband abused her for lighting a fire. He beat her with his fist and his boots. It was not the first occasion he had beaten her.

Beaten Before.

He beat her last winter, and she was in bed for two weeks. In consequence of this beating, she had a miscarriage. Her husband did not get any medical attention for her. When she asked him to do so, he said he had no money. He also beat her at Mount Pleasant. "He pretty near choked her," and he said he would kill them all. As a result of this treatment, she was in fear of him. The blow that knocked out her teeth was too hard for a man. She fell as a result of it. The bruise on her leg, for which Dr. Holdcroft treated her when she got out of jail, was the result of a kick from her husband. It was because she had gone to the woods to meet the boys. She stopped at her mother's house, and they got something to eat. Her husband was at home when she arrived there, and he kicked her. He abused her often. He abused her by using bad language and by beating her. She was scared to disobey her husband. Dwyer would smash all the dishes in the house in his rage. He would throw anything he could get a hold of. She often told her mother and father about the abuse she was getting. She also told Dwyer's eldest son.

In the month of December the whole family had the mumps. Witness had them too. No medical attention was brought in. She had to treat them all herself.

Sewed For Family.

Witness did all the sewing that was on the clothes of the boys. When the little lad was ill, she did all she could do for him. There was no more covering for him, and she had no money to buy more. The children all got the same. They got milk sometimes, when it was there. Sometimes she made jelly cake and biscuits. The children were often hungry.

Treated Boy's Toe

When her attention was attracted by the boy's toe, she found it was frozen. She put a rag on it and some home made salve. The toe was in a blister when she saw it. She had no disinfectant until later. She dressed it once a day. She did all she could to give the boy a square deal. She wanted his father to get medical attention for the boy. He said he had not the money. She also wanted a doctor for John. She told her husband. He said he thought the boy was putting it on. The boy had an earache. Her husband said he thought the boy had just an abscess in his ear.

She told her mother and Kathleen about John. She had no money to get a doctor. Witness told her mother that the wee boy was very ill. In consequence of that statement, her father came down and told Mr. Dwyer that he was going to get a doctor. It was not against her wishes that a doctor was sent for. Either the night before or two nights before Dr. Holdcroft came, she met her husband when he was out with the cutter and told him to get a doctor. He told her to go home, that the boy would get all right. Her husband said he had seen Dr. Sutton who, he said, had declared the young lad would get well. She asked him to go and get Dr. Sutton to come to the boy, but he said Dr. Holdcroft was coming that that there was no need to get Dr. Sutton.

When Dwyer's married daughter was coming, he told witness that she had better get some meat as he did not want her to see what kind of food they had been eating. He gave her three dollars. She bought one dollar's worth of meat. She made some soup. The married daughter and her husband had some soup and meat. The little lad upstairs got some. None of her own children got any. The meat was the first that had been brought in during the winter.

The eggs Mr. Edgar saw were from the hens on their own place.

The cow they had did not give enough milk to fatten one child. It was separated milk that was brought into the house.

Had $20 in Two Months

She got $20 in two months to support the family. It was not enough to supply the family wants for two weeks.

The preserves she made contained no sugar and they would not keep. The apples in the cellar did not keep; they were frozen. They were wizened because she baked them after being frozen. In giving the boy porridge and bread, she was keeping nothing back that she had. When she made up the boy's meal she put in all she could give. When she had cake, she put some in. The butter her mother gave her was used in the home. They all got a share of it.

She earned some money by cutting some wood for her father. She spent this money on bread. She had no money to buy proper boots for the boys. She wore men's boots herself through the winter. She made mitts for the boy out of an old overcoat. She did not hinder the boys from wearing the mitts her mother had given her The children called her "Mother" at home.

Dwyer Earned $250

Counsel stated that it had been ascertained that her husband earned $250 during two months. He bought two horses, paid money to the Massey-Harris Company, and purchased horse feed.

He said he was anxious to pay the money as he did not like to owe anybody. She told him that the family was starving. He said they would have to starve until the horses were paid for.

Mr. Dwyer was angry at her, if she asked her father for anything.

She did not tell Messrs. Maker and Edgar that the boy's foot was all right. It was her husband who said it. After Mr. Maker went away, her husband said she had no right to show the boy's foot. He told her that if he heard of her telling Mr. Maker anything, she knew what she would get.

Did What She Could

When John was ill, she washed the clothes and did all she could for him. She was not a trained nurse. She knew she was on her oath and she declared she had not refrained from doing what she could. She went as far as she had dared to go.

Did you want these children to die? asked counsel. No, certainly not.

Did you want them to suffer hardships?

No. I wanted to send them to school.

Did they go?

Yes.

Who took them away?

Mr. Dwyer.

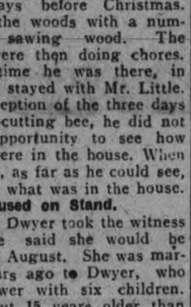
Did you write a note to the teacher to save them from being scolded by the teacher?

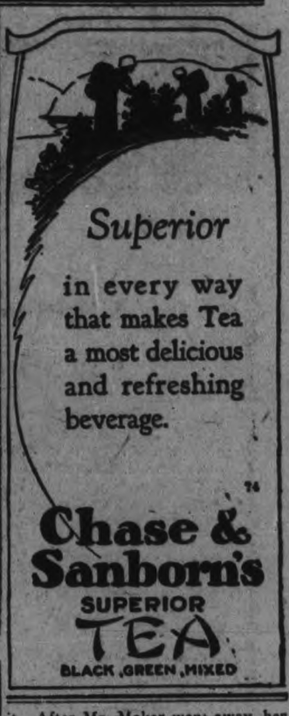
Yes.

If you wanted to get them a whipping all you would have required to do would be to refrain from writing a note, and then the teacher might have punished them.

Work Too Hard

The work in the woods was hard—too hard for her, she said. She tried to keep the home together. She succeeded in doing this until the children took ill. With regard to her own strength, she did not think she could have helped out much longer.





ART EXHIBIT.

Pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards Display Their Work.

An interesting small exhibit of the work of the Art pupils of Miss Cameron Edwards was held yesterday in the entrance hall at the Conservatory of Music. Examples of the pupils' skill in oils and crayons was on view, in small sketches of natural beauty, studies in still life, and busts done in black and white. There were some effective bits in the small oil paintings, with artistic blending of colors, while several of the colored crayon pieces, done in poster style, excited much favorable comment. Vases of flowers, books, fruits and landscape sketches all figured in a very interesting small exhibit.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast Tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "ironized yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.

Sold by druggists at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Fort Erie, Ontario, Canada.

Simple Yet Attractively Designed Frock

Two inverted plaits give to the skirt of this attractive frock, both the smart flare and the practical freedom so highly desirable in a dress of this sort, which can be appropriately worn for sports, as well as afternoon wear. It is delightfully comfortable with its open neck and trim-fitting collar. The sleeves may be long or short—a matter for choice. A strip of plain material, matching the collar, is folded lengthwise and set under the outer edge of each inverted plait, extending from the shoulder to below the hips, and is button trimmed. The back is plain and a narrow belt ties in loops at the center back. NO. 1207 is in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 bust requires 3¾ yards figured material, and ¾ yard plain color for trimming. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

NATIONAL WOMAN'S COUNCIL IN SESSION

Opens With Over 150 Delegates Present—Reports Are Presented.

VANCOUVER, B.C., June 10 (Canadian Press).—The thirty-third annual session of the National Women's Council of Women opened here yesterday in the Central Presbyterian Church, when over one hundred and fifty delegates registered.

Prior to the opening of the general meeting, members of the standing committee met in conference to prepare their reports for presentation. The committee on pensions was convened by Mrs. Horace Parsons, of Toronto, and this report will show the endeavors made through the affiliated societies on behalf of war veterans.

Mrs. Chas. H. Thorburn of Ottawa, presided at the meeting of the committee on household economy, while Mrs. J. N. Wood of Toronto presented the report on films and printed matter. This report deals largely with the censorship in regard to films and with the great influx into Canada of magazines which are not of the best type.

Mrs. J. H. McGovern of Vancouver presented a statement from the committee on housing, and Dr. Margaret Johnson of Toronto dealt at some length with professions and employment for women, involving the Minimum Wage Act. The committee on citizenship, headed by Mrs. A. P. Twidale of Niagara Falls, passed a report in full, while Mrs. Reid of Vancouver, as head of the committee on national recreation, deals with the national parks.

Dean Mary Bollert of Vancouver, convenor of the committee on education, draws attention in her report to the fact that there should be free educational opportunity for all gifted children in the Dominion and equal pay in all professions.

The league of nations committee, headed by Mrs. A. McWilliams of Ottawa, presented a most interesting report through Mrs. J. A. Wilson, also of Ottawa, urging the members to support all movements for universal peace.

A Toronto member of the executive will be chosen to finally read the report on fine and applied arts, prepared by the convenor, Mrs. Dignan of Toronto, who is at present in Paris exhibiting her own work.

Representing Mrs. Adam Shortt of Ottawa, Mrs. J. R. Gilley of New Westminster is handling the report on the committee dealing with mental hygiene. This is devoted to inquire into many problems on imcare of the abnormal child.

Mrs. Ira Mackay of Montreal who is convenor of the committee on immigration and colonization, has recently left for England with her husband, Professor MacKay of McGill University, and while there will inquire into many preblems on immigration before returning to Canada. Her report was accepted by the executive and will be read by another member of the committee.

Mrs. E. M. Murray of Halifax heads the committee on education and her report will be considered at some length by the meeting proper.

While the committee meetings were in progress there was also a conference of provincial vice-presidents and later luncheon was served in the dining hall by the ladies' auxiliary of the Fairview Presbyterian Church.

The Woman's Day

Written by a Woman for Women.

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

YOU DON'T SAY.

Girl stenographers of London receive about $21 a week.

Only one woman out of 30 has perfect feet.

The average woman of today is one and two-tenths inches taller than the average woman of 30 years ago.

YOUR KIDLET.

"My girl wants to make some money for the little extras that we just cannot afford her," writes "A Mother." "Have you any suggestions? She is 13, and, of course, too young to work in a store or office."

Girls of 13 are regular gold mints for the neighbors. They want them to take care of the children afternoons and evenings, run errands, wash dishes, scour silverware, sweep porches and sidewalks.

THE PARTY MENU.

"Something simple," wails a little lady, asking for party menus for the four younglings, each of whom must have a birthday party. Here you are, lady! Toasted cheese sandwiches, coffee, candy. Fruit cocktail, cake, candy. Pineapple and cream cheese salad, saltines, coffee, cookies.

THE RECIPE.

Chop Suey is invading our best homes as a Sunday night supper dish or a party novelty. Do it like this! Cut 8 porkchops into small pieces; also 2 cups celery, 2 cups mushrooms, 2 large onions. Mix 2 tablespoons cornstarch with 1 of sugar in warm water. Fry chops with 3 slices of bacon cut small.

When brown, add mushrooms, onions and celery, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce (3 tablespoons bean sauce, 1 cup bean sprouts. Cook until thick and brown, stirring constantly.

BIT O' QUOTE.

"But do not let us quarrel any more,
No, my Lucrezia; bear with me for once;
Sit down and all shall happen as you wish.
You turn your face, but does it bring your heart?"

From Browning's "Andrea del Sarto."

"HIGH BROW STUFF."

"We have never studied essays in our club programs," writes a club woman of Iowa. "Are there any worth reading? Do you advise a club evening on the essay?" Strange that the essay has been under a cloud, when more beautiful essays are in print today than ever. Your club could profitably spend a month of meetings with such masters of the modern essay as Galsworthy, Brooks, Hudson, Huneker, Mencken, Morley, Maeterlinck and a thousand others. Read Mencken's "Prejudices;" Brooks' "Pippins and Cheese;" Maeterlinck's "Mountain Paths."

WOMEN AND TRAINS.

"I'm going to the smoking room for a few minutes, dear," says many a fond spouse entering a pullman with his frail. And many a woman has moaned at the injustice of life which gives a haven of rest and refuge to male travelers, but not to the female. Miss Myrtle Miles, who holds the unique position of being the only paid woman lecturer for a railroad in the country, tells me that the railroads have been willing for a long time to give women similar accommodation, but that women do not want it.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A STUNNING SPORTS FROCK.

Madame sometimes gives us time off to go to fashion openings in the shops, or to charity fashion shows at smart hotels.

Recently one of the best department stores in town gave a fashion show in which most of the models were debutantes. The sales of the day were to have a certain percentage deducted to go toward the debutantes' pet charity. And a very good success they made it.

However, Madame received a hurried telephone call at the last moment, asking if she would lend two of her best manikins. The debutantes needed some professional aid.

Madame sent Gaby and me to answer the call, and we had a fine time.

Some of the debs were clients of Madame, and it seemed odd to be modeling with them, instead of being manikins while they sat and looked on.

There was pandemonium back in the dressing-room, where everybody was changing into the proper slippers and stockings, and arranging coiffures and applying lipstick.

Gaby and I lent a helping hand here and there in arranging a wisp of bobbed hair or sticking a hairpin into a low knot to hold it properly. I even made up one girl, who said she had always liked my way of doing it.

Finally everyone was ready, and Pam and I were the last to don our frocks.

They both happened to be new types of printed crepe which is having a great vogue at the moment, and we were delighted at what had fallen to our lot.

"To tell the truth, some of these frocks make me want to go back to Madame's this moment." I confided to Gaby.

"So do I," Gaby replied. "I must say though I love this dress I'm getting into."

I stepped back to have a look, for the print was so gay in color I really had to step back to get the full benefit.

This Two-Piece Frock Is of Orange and Black Printed Crepe.

"This orange ground with the black stripes would be loud, but it's so imply made and so effective that I think it's smart instead of loud, don't you?" Gaby asked.

I noticed the varieties of stripings, with the border treatment down one side, and assured Gaby she looked smarter than any of the debs, though not quieter.

SAVE YOUR TEETH

Prepared by the Oral Hygiene Committee of Canada, with which the Peterborough Dental Society is Collaborating.

DRIFTING TEETH.

Perhaps you are skeptical and take with the proverbial grain of salt, the statement that teeth may, and do drift from one position to another in the bony ridge.

And, knowing as you do that the teeth are in health firmly planted in dense bone tissue, your incredulity is pardonable.

But you have had a tooth extracted, and by and by you have experienced the discomfort of food wedging between one of the teeth adjoining the space that was created and its neighbor, so you suspect that there has been tooth movement which you verify by consulting a mirror, and observing a gap between the involved teeth.

Now, picture a tooth as being held in place by myriad Lilliputian threads or chains. These are the fibres that bind a tooth to its supporting structures and to its neighbors on either side.

Following the extraction of a tooth, a scar tissue is formed in the space created these fibres are fastened. The shrinkage of this tissue and the pull of these fibres drags the tooth forward, since, robbed of its contact or support on that side, it must yield in time to the persistent tugging of these tiny ropes. Through the constancy of stress, the solid bone in which the tooth is imbedded, gives way by being absorbed in one direction, and built up in the other, permitting the tooth to move bodily with the pulling force.

Now, occasionally, advantage of this natural process is taken by the dentist. In this wise, where a first permanent molar in a growing child is so badly diseased as to need tedious and uncertain treatments for its preservation, the dentist will more readily sacrifice it to the forceps, knowing that there is a probability that the second molar may drift forward to occupy the space with the third molar following it in turn—thus filling the gap.

But in extracting this tooth your dentist is merely choosing the lesser of the two evils since generally these teeth will merely tip to a considerable degree, thus destroying the normal occlusion, and creating gaps that invite the danger and discomfort of wedging food.

MILBURN'S HEART NERVE PILLS

Mrs. F. H. Miller, 1843-11th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"Five years ago my husband suffered terribly with severe attacks of palpitation of the heart and smothering spells, and two doctors stated that he could not possibly live six months.

A friend recommended Milburn's H. and N. Pills, with the result that my husband is still enjoying life at the age of 84 years.

He has improved so wonderfully that he can now climb the stairs without having those awful pains in his heart."

Even the Young Deserve the Flare in Party Frocks

BUTTERICK 6845

When one is so young that a skirt is nothing but a frill in the face of fashion, it is amazing the amount of style that the French dressmakers can contrive to put in the ripple of its circular cut. A long body, short sleeves, one rose on the shoulder and three on the hip is the Parisian idea of a frock for parties, dancing-school or high tea on the lawn at Armenonville or the Château de Madrid. Taffeta is the newest material, either plain colored or flowered or in changeable shades. Crêpe de Chine sprigged with small flowers is charming with long sleeves of plain Georgette gathered into a band at the wrist and shirred below the drop shoulder.

The Examiner does not sell these patterns.

AN ASTOUNDING TURN.

Miss Meredith took her package, paid her check, and left.

"I'll say for a tenderfoot you are going some," said Angie Horton as she stopped beside me.

"What do you mean, going some?"

"You don't mean to tell me you don't know who that girl is?" she asked.

"Yes, I know. She is Miss Joan Meredith."

"And doesn't that mean anything to you?"

"Not a thing," I answered airily.

"She is the boss' step-daughter."

"Good gracious!"

"Yes, he married a woman much older than himself some years ago. She was an immensely rich widow with two children, Joan and John Meredith. They are twins. Mrs. Robinson, when she was Mrs. Meredith, had made for herself a solid social position. I'm sure that J. D. would never have married her if she hadn't had money and position, for he had an ambition even when he was very young, they tell me, to make a place for himself in society. He must even then have determined that his marriage and his love should be entirely two different affairs."

"Is his wife still living?"

"No. And I'll say this for him. While she was ten years older than he, he seemed devoted to her when they were out together. He paid her a great deal of attention. And he never made her ashamed by foisting any of his illicit love affairs upon her. I think she was probably quite happy with him."

"Well, I'm glad it is not quite as bad as first reported, Angie."

But at that, I thought to myself, J. D. Robinson is quite bad enough. I wondered if he cares anything for his step-daughter. If he did, how could he square himself with his conscience for his seeming determination to ruin another girl quite as young and presumably as virtuous as she.

I was called back to myself by hearing Angie Horton saying

"At that, my dear, I don't see how you can get away with it. If J. D. finds out that you are a friend of his daughter (by the way, they say he just idolizes her), he'll make you give her up."

"How do you get that way, Angie? J. D. Robinson or any other man can't make me give anybody up. I am free, white, and if not quite twenty-one I am able to pick my friends and keep them."

"Now don't get crummy, Judy. I'm not telling you what to do. I'm just putting the case before you. I'm just showing you that you've got to make your choice."

The Home Kitchen

TOMATOES AND VITAMINES.

Tomatoes occupy a large place in the American food supply. They are rich in the three needed vitamines, and retain them all after cooking or canning. It is said that over two hundred million cans are put up commercially each year.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes.

Select as many tomatoes as are needed of like size, hollow out from the stem end with a teaspoon. Have ready a tasty, well seasoned stuffing of crumbs, butter, grated onion, pepper, salt, a little sugar, a teaspoonful of chopped celery leaves and a tablespoonful of minced, cold boiled ham. Fill the tomatoes, butter them over, place on a buttered baking pan and cook in oven until tender and browned over the top.

Sliced Tomato Salad.

After paring as many tomatoes as are needed, slice in medium slices and chill. Make a filling of two buds of garlic minced with one onion, a teaspoonful of celery leaves, three leaves of fresh mint, and moisten with mayonnaise. Place two slices of tomato, sandwich fashion, on the crisp lettuce with the minced filling and mask with mayonnaise dusted with paprika. Garnish with sprays of fresh watercress. One sandwich is a portion.

East Indian Tomatoes.

Cut six bread rounds, and fry them delicately in butter; drain and lay on a hot dish. Cut six large tomatoes into thick slices after paring. Season them with salt, pepper, and a little sugar and curry powder. Place the tomatoes on a buttered baking dish, top each with a tablespoonful of rich cream sauce, sprinkle with dry crumbs, and bake for ten minutes. Lift the tomatoes and place a slice on each toast round, after buttering the rounds with a little anchovy paste mixed with a little fresh, unsalted butter. Serve hot, garnished with a spray of watercress.

WILDWOOD MOVIES

How wise is a bear?

Sometimes ,when we read stories that show how wise men are, we think they have all the brains in the world, and that the wild folks have almost none at all, but I would like to see one of these wise scientists in a game of wits with a bear. I will wager the bear will give them a mental razoo before they finish.

Not long ago I sat in a movie theatre looking at some very punk, cheap comedy. I was beginning to think I had picked a lemon and would not get my money's worth, when on the screen came a wild life reel. I sat up and took notice.

It took us away into the woods and hills, where the place was wilder than a woman at a bargain counter. There were two guides and a movie man. The idea was to get some pictures to show the grizzly bear in his native surroundings.

The party began to go up a hill, when one of the guides pointed out an object on the far side, over the valley, and it was a bear, feeding on berries. So the whole outfit went back down the hill and over the valley and up the other side.

Most of the party remained behind, while the movie man and one guide went up to interview the bear. By the look on the movie man's face, it could be guessed that he was thinking he would rather take a bird than a bear. He had a revolver as big as a cannon, and it shook so when he held it, that he gave it to the guide for fear it would go off.

The guide went up. The big bear saw him coming and then the real exhibition began. There was a huge uprooted tree lying flat on the hillside. The roots were a dense mass at one end, and the limbs the same at the other. The bear ran behind the tree as the guide came towards him.

Now, if you wanted to go behind a fallen tree to catch something, you would naturally go the shortest way, which was around the roots. Well, the bear figured that out! He hid behind the roots and got ready to swat the guide as he came around, but the guide fooled him and went the long way around the wide-spread limbs. The bear looked sheepishly around, saw he was fooled, and ran for the woods.

IDLER.

Now, Jim is the sort of a fella you'd like, just due to the spirit he lends. He's ever been thus, since a wee little tike. His gift is the making of friends.

If something goes wrong, well—he gives not a rap. He smiles away troubles and such. A happy-go-lucky and give-a-dern chap. But never amountin' to much.

To work seems to him like a waste of good time. He'd much rather live on the land. He's pictured no ladder he's achin' ta climb. It's something ya can't understand.

Yes, Jim is a mixer who always gets by, and luck seems to follow him 'round. Of money, and where-with he ever is shy, but spirit just will not be downed.

He's gettin' away with that sort of thing now—but sometime it's all bound ta stop. He's gonna wake up and discover, somehow, some day, that his life is a flop.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Number Ten.—

THE STYLISH ALLIGATORS.

The pink ticket in Nancy's pocket stuck up its head and looked at her with accusing pink eyes. "What did you do that for?" it said

"Do what for?" said Nancy in a bewildered voice.

"Let that giant boy pick you up and throw you over the mountain," explained the ticket. "It's my job and the job of the other ticket in that boy's pocket, to take you places as long as you are in Drowsy Land. We got cheated, so we did. Another thing! We never intended to bring you here. You won't like it a bit! But I'll say this much and then I'll go back into your pocket again. If you get into a predicament, just say, 'A pink trip slip for a ten-cent fare.' That will fetch us both in a jiffy. We can take you out of trouble if you did bring yourselves in. Don't forget the words."

"Yes, don't forget the words," said the other ticket, sticking its pink head out of Nick's pocket. "A pink trip slip—not a pink slip trip."

With that both tickets rolled themselves up again and disappeared and the Twins stood looking at each other, wondering what it was all about.

"Well, whatever this place is," said Nick looking around, "it cannot be any queerer than the one we just left. Drowsy Land has more queer places than any place we've ever been before. No wonder the Fairy Queen said that Inco and Flops had come here. An elephant with pink roses all over him isn't half as queer as—"

"Baa! Maa!" went something behind them. And the Twins turned just in time to see two big black goats.

But before they had time to wink, much less to run, the goats lowered their heads and butted the Twins over a high stone wall. They did not feel it a bit however—it was just as though two large soft sofa pillows had struck them and lifted them off their feet.

"Over the fence is out, boys!" shouted a voice after them and the Twins supposed it was one of the goats.

They found themselves this time in another moon city, and, as the tickets had said, they began to feel right now that they might not like it. For most of the people were crocodiles who walked on their hind legs, wore large bright bows on their tails and carried parasols and canes.

"I think that over the fence is in, don't you, Nancy?" said Nick. "I don't like the looks of this place and I think we'd better ask the tickets to be showing us the way out."

"So do I," said Nancy. But do you know, they couldn't for the life of them remember whether they were to say "a pink trip slip," or a "pink slip trip."

At that minute a large portly alligator with a large white waistcoat on his large round stomach and gold fillings in his teeth, said politely, "Who on moon are you, my dears? Come here, Lumpia, and look at these odd creatures. They must be out of the circus."

A large fat alligatoress with a tenruffled skirt and a velvet basque, hurried to the spot as fast as her long tail would allow her. "How very queer! Did you ask them?" she said, giving Nancy a whirl with her paw. The two alligators kept whirling the Twins around and calling to their friends to come and look.

But you might as well have tried to make out the pictures on two spinning tops.

HERE ARE FACTS ON HOW ELEPHANTS TAKE BATH

ONE OF THE RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY ELEPHANTS RECEIVING A SHOWER BATH

Elephants are funny animals. Every time they take a drink they take a bath along with it. They stick the ends of their long trunks in a tank and draw a deep breath. This fills the trunk. Then they toss the tips of their trunks over their backs and blood. On a hot day they throw water much as you do when your father lets you use the garden hose. It's not half so economical as the tub method. But the circus people could hardly be expected to carry bath tubs large enough to accomodate an elephant. So to conserve water, the keepers do the next best thing—they attach a hose to a hydrant and wash them off as you see them doing in the picture.

There are so many elephants traveling with the great Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows that all are not bathed in one town. Especially is this true since the addition of the two herds of trumpeting, fussy, sputtering baby elephants. They are given turns. Some have a bath in one city and the rest in the next. But all have their faces washed every single day.

No such number of elephants were ever toured before. There is one act in which, standing on their hind legs and with the fore legs of each ponderous fellow resting on the back of the elephant in front of him—the formation extends along one entire side of the great hippodrome track. And these are only the performing elephants. There are many more besides.

Everything about this new circus of 1926 is of gigantic proportions. The great arenic program lasts almost three hours. Hundreds of performers take part in it. Exhibitions are to be given here Friday, June 25.

There are seven companies of high-wire artists in a single display headed by the great Spanish performer, Toledeno Con Coleano and the "staggering" Maximo.

A distinct innovation introduces rings set upon stages and this permits five troupes of performing stallions to be exhibited at one time. Apart from this display is another which calls two hundred splendid Arabian thoroughbreds into action in the biggest things in Equine Ballets ever offered in America. The circus program includes twenty-two separate displays, each of which calls for brute or human actors in sufficient number to fill the mammoth "big top" from end to end.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DICKY MEETS SOME INTERESTING WORKERS.

Dicky threw down his stick and sat down to watch the swarm of bees flying to and fro from the beehive in the fork of the tree.

"I should think they'd get all mixed up, so many of them," he mused. "I'd just like to know if they know what they're doing."

"Of course they do, Dicky," laughed a tiny voice, and Dicky turned around, to see a smiling elfin at his side. "You'd think, to stand out here and watch them, that they were in a terrible mixup, wouldn't you?"

"I should say I would, Happy Giggles," laughed Dicky softly. "Aren't they? I don't see how so many of them can live in such small quarters. These seems to be so much confusion."

"Mrs. Queen Bee wouldn't thank you for that," laughed the elfin. "Here she comes now," as a big bee, much larger than the others, came out of the hive and stretched her gauzy wings in the sunlight.

"Good-morning, Happy Giggles! How are you?" buzzed Queen Bee.

"Oh, Dicky and I are fine," laughed the elfin. "Dicky was just saying there seems to be so much confusion around your place."

"Well, I guess it does look that way to an outsider," laughed Queen Bee. She waved her feelers in the air and Dicky could see very much plainer.

"With all the seeming confusion, you can see for yourself that everyone here has her duties to perform and they lose no time in doing it. Now, with me, I'm just sunning myself for a second. See, how many attendants watch me. They never leave me alone for a second for fear something might happen to me. It's my duty to lay at least eight hundred thousand eggs before I die, and each egg must be placed in a separate cell and——"

"What are they doing?"

"Eight hundred thousand eggs!" Dicky exclaimed. "My goodness, how can you do that in a Summer?"

"Gracious, child, not in one Summer," chuckled Mrs. Queen Bee. "In my whole lifetime, I mean. Queen Bees generally live about four years. Now, the Worker Bees very seldom live longer than nine months. Each one in the hive has her own work to do. Some are picked to go out and gather honey and pollen. Others take it and knead the pollen into a wax for building the cells. When they have it kneaded just right, other workers take it and fashion the cells. Some care for the baby bees; they are called nurses. I guess most folks think when they look at a beehive that it's much ado about nothing, but I'll tell you it's a busy place and everyone does her share to make it a success. I must go back to work now, so come again and see me," and Mrs. Queen Bee crawled back into the hive, followed by her attendants.

"I'd like to go into a beehive some day, Happy Giggles," mused Dicky. "It would be interesting to watch the inside workings."

"We'll go some day," promised the elfin. "But now you must hurry to school." Before Dicky could thank the wee elfin he had disappeared. Dicky went whistling off to school.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, JUNE 11.

An active day is the presage from the dominant astral configurations, but one unfolding many problems and perplexities. The mind should be alert and at high tension, ready for anything, with the nervous strain impelling to restlessness and tumult. Excellent prospects might be jeopardized by impetuosity, false moves or resorting to litigation for adjustment of difficulties. Important change or travel had best be postponed. With proper management and restrained conduct of affairs the financial prospects are excellent.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the threshold of a prosperous and progressive year, if they will but guard themselves against rash, impulsive and headstrong moves and ill-considered change or travel. Shun quarrels and litigation. The faculties may be finely attuned to new enterprises. A child born on this day should have excellent mentality and quiet judgment but may need to be tempered against rash indulgence. It should also conquer its restless and nervous tendencies.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'E CROSSWORD PUZZLE

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

One of the common diseases of infants is known as rickets. A baby may start out apparently well and normal. Pretty soon its plumpness fades away, the tissues grow flabby and soft, and the poor little mortal becomes feeble and helpless.

The weakness of the child is shown by the inability to control its movements and by free sweatings of the skin. The bones grow soft, yielding to pressure and the weight of the body. The ends of the bones become swollen and knobby. This is particularly true of the long bones and the ribs.

The forehead bulges, the abdomen is swollen, and sometimes the glands are involved. The chest is narrow and the breast bone pushes out, as somebody has said, "like the keel of a ship or thee breast of a chicken."

This disease is particularly common among the children of the poor. But not by any means is it confined to the poverty stricken. Some of the children of the rich are badly involved. Their friends and family can hardly credit it, but, in spite of their disbelief, rickets is found in every walk of life.

Canadian children are rarely the victims of this disease, but it is very common in the great American cities. Certain races, particularly the negroes and Italians, are peculiarly liable to rickets.

The reason why the poor are more likely to have this ailment is because of the bad housing, with exclusion of th sun and all its benefits. Any child denied the privileges of fresh air, sunlight, the common hygienic rules of living and good food, is liable to have rickets.

It is a pity that any children of the well-to-do are neglected. But some of them are neglected, it must be admitted. It is bad enough for the kiddies of the slums to suffer this way, but there seems little excuse for it in houses with big windows, opening to the sunlight and fresh air.

There are two pretty sure ways of getting rid of rickets. One is to flood the dwelling places of the babies with sunlight. There is something in the rays of the sun which has the power to impart strength, growth and health.

The baby should be taken into the sun every day. Spread a sheet on the lawn and let the baby crawl and stretch to its heart's content.

There is one medicine which never fails in rickets. This is an old standby, but never in its long history was cod-liver oil so popular as now. This drug, or perhaps we should call it food, is a specific for rickets. No quicker or better way can be found to get rid of the disease.

Of course, old-fashioned cod-liver oil is not pleasant to take. The research men have found a way to extract the good qualities of this remedy and put them up in tablet form, easy to take.

Sunlight, good food and cod-liver oil will do away with the effects of rickets.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT in every community there are business concerns who have for sale products of the best quality merchandise that will give the best of service and reasonably priced, but they do not sell. They become shopworn and out-of-date. The reason for this is due to the fact that the dealers fail to advertise so the public may know.

THAT dealers who fail to give the people of the community they serve the service of advertising, fail to give the service that makes sales.

THAT there also are concerns who carry shoddy goods and substitutes for quality goods that will not stand the light of advertising. They dare not advertise in newspapers. The majority of the public knows that fact, but they have no way to tell the difference between the good and the bad.

Selling is serving.

Advertising is a service due the public.

Petes Defeat Belleville Nine--First Win This Season

HARDILL'S MASTERLY PITCHING GIVES PETES FIRST VICTORY

Bases Full, Nobody Out He Fans the Next Three.

SWANSTON OUT.

Rose Contributes Several Feature Plays—Line-up Reshuffled.

(By F. D. C.)

Masterly pitching in the pinches by Jeff Hardill gave Manager Johnston's Petes their first Central Ontario League victory of the season at Belleville yesterday, the Peterboro crew winning 7 to 4, after a game that was full of interest because of the flock of runners nearly always on the bases.

A half gale blowing straight across the diamond played havoc with the control of the opposing pitchers, Hardill walking nine men and hitting another, while Johnny Ouellet gave five bases on balls and plugged two more batters.

But in spite of this unusual wildness Hardill gave a fine exhibition of pitching in turning back the Gerowmen. In the hole half a dozen times, facing situations where a lusty clout might have meant defeat, the big Peterborough youngster rose to great heights when the going was hardest. The sixth inning, for example, found the bases full with nobody out, but Hardill coolly struck out the next three men. Altogether Belleville had sixteen men left on the runways and they were completely baffled when a hit would have produced runs. Ten strike-outs testify to the effectiveness of Hardill's twirling when in a tight corner.

Manager Johnston re-shuffled his line-up, moving Rose back to second base, sending Fred Batten in to short, and giving young Jack Hall a chance to win his spurs in right field, while Max Swanston was behind the plate for the first time this season, and handled Hardill's delivery in great style. This re-arranged alignment played snappy ball throughout. Rose covered acres of ground around second and contributed several feature plays, while Batten, in spite of two excusable misplays, handled himself nicely at short and game through with two hits.

Johnny Ouellet went the whole route for Belleville and blanked the Petes for the last five innings after they had got to him for seven runs in the first four frames. Like Hardill, lack of control got the Fenelon Falls boy into heaps of trouble but early in the game, unlike Hardill, he was unable to pitch himself out of these holes, and the Petes set up a lead that could not be overcome against Hardill's effectiveness in the pinches.

In spite of the high wind both teams turned in some nice fielding. Harry Mills contributed the feature play when he tore back along the right field foul line to snare a high twisting fly from Harrison and then snapped the ball to Hagerman in time to nip Jimmy Hall at the plate as the Petes' left fielder tried to score after the catch. Rose robbed Palmer of a hit by a great stop and later made a fine running catch of a high fly from Hagerman.

Belleville's new ball park made a hit with the Petes. There is room to spare; the spectators are back off the field and the conditions generally are a wonderful improvement over Belleville's old grounds.

Started Early.

The Petes started with two in the first. Ash walked and went to third on Rose's single to right. On a double steal Ash scored and Rose reached second. Weir knocked down Jack Hall's drive and got him at first, Rose going to third. Swanston's slow grounder to Blakely, on which the batter was retired, sent Rose in. Jim Hall rolled to Gibson.

In Belleville's half Ross got a life when Batten lost his roller. Weir bunted a fly to Hardill and Blakely grounded to the same player. Harry Mills doubled to centre to score Ross. Batten tossed out Latchford.

Two more for the Petes in the second. After Helson had rolled to Weir, Batten beat out a tap down the first base line. Harrison was passed and Hardill was hit, filling the bases. Ouellet obligingly wild pitched Batten home, and Harrison scored, while Blakely was throwing out Ash. Rose struck out.

Belleville came back with a pair. Gibson walked and went to third when Hardill diverted Hagerman's hard single through the b to right field. Hagerman stole second. Palmer struck out. Ouellet walked and the fourth ball was a wild pitch on which Gibson scored, and Hagerman reached third. Ross's hot single through short on which Batten made a beautiful stop, scored Hagerman. Hardill then struck out Weir and got Blakely on an easy bounder to the box.

Another pair for the Petes. Jack Hall walked and Swanston singled past third. Mills muffed Weir's throw on Jim Hall's sacrifice bunt, and Jim Hall scored. Helson singled to short, filling the bases. A wild pitch scored Swanston. Batten fanned. Harry Mills made fine catch of Harrison's high fly back of first and doubled Jimmy Hall at the plate, where he tried to score after the catch.

For Belleville, Harry Mills was hit. Latchford struck out. Mills was forced at second on Gibson's grounder to Batten. Gibson went to second on Swanston's high return throw to Hardill, but Helson threw out Hagerman.

In the fourth Hardill led off with a single over first but was forced at second by Ash. Blakely to Weir. Ash stole second and when he broke for third a little later, Hagerman threw high to Blakely, and the runner came home. Rose struck out, and Jack Hale rolled to Ouellet.

Palmer was tossed out by Rose, a beautiful play. Ouellet fanned. Ross beat out a tap to short and Weir walked. Blakely beat out a slow one to Helson, but Ross, trying to score on the play, was an easy out, Harrison to Swanston.

Swanston grounded to Blakely to start the Petes fifth. Jim Hall singled to left, but was forced by Helson. Batten singled through short. Harrison was thrown out by Gilson.

Hardill pitched himself out of a great hole. He walked Mills to start with, and Latchford and Gibson both scratched hits on slow taps which Hardill couldn't field in time. That filled the bases, but the big Peterboro youngster bore down and struck out Hagerman, Palmer and Ouellet in a row.

In the sixth Hardill rolled to Blakely. Ash was thrown out by Ouellet. Ross was hit, but was forcd at second by Jack Hall.

Belleville got the last run of the game in their half. Ross walked, but Weir fouled out to Swanston, a nice grab by the catcher. Blakely drew a pass. Harry Mills singled to left, scoring Ross. Batten's error on Latchford's roller filled the bases, but Gilson hit weakly to Hardill, and Blakely was forced out at the plate, and Rose made a pretty running catch of Hagerman's fly to short right field.

Swanston fanned to open the seventh for the Petes. Jimmy Hall singled to left, and went to second when Blakely let Latchford's throw get away. Helson walked, but Batten rolled to Weir and Harrison was called out on strikes.

For Belleville Palmer drew a walk. Ouellet flied to Ash. Ross also walked, but Hardill struck out Weir and Rose, and Harrison disposed of Blakely.

In the eighth Hardill got a life on Ouellet's wide toss to Harry Mills. He was forced at second on Ash's tap to Blakely. Rose rolled to Mills, and Jack Hall flied to Palmer.

Mills and Latchford fanned, but Gilson singled to centre, and Hagerman drew a pass, Hardill's ninth. Goyer batted for Palmer and was thrown out by Rose.

Swanston drew a pass when he came up first in the ninth, and was sacrificed to second by Jimmy Hall. Helson rolled to Ouellet and Batten fanned.

Belleville went out in order, the first time by either team throughout the game. Ouellet and Ross both perished on nice catches by Jack Hall, and Batten tossed out Weir to wind up the game.

DELORO JUNIORS LOSE IN MARMORA

Heavier Hitting of Homesters Gives Them Win By 12-6 Score.

MARMORA, June 10.—Marmora juniors were at home to Deloro junior on Saturday afternoon in an interesting game of baseball. The homesters gained the victory by 12-6, chiefly through heavier hitting. Deloro had Clemens, A. Phillips and Skinner in turn as pitchers while Marmora's battery, Brady and G. McInroy, reversed its position at the end of the fourth.

HAVELOCK WIN OPENING GAME

Defeated Hastings 9-3 in First of Series of Hard Ball Games.

HASTINGS, June 10.—Havelock and Hastings are keeping baseball alive in the Trent district this summer, and in their first O.B.A.A. encounter in the Intermediate series here yesterday, the visiting railwaymen hung up a 9-3 victory. The local team has had little or no practice, but they looked good in spots against the steadier, slugging Havelock team, who backed up Jim Hooper's fine pitching with smart fielding and timely hitting. Hooper held Hastings to seven hits with two infield errors, while Havelock piled up 12 hits, sandwiched with five Hastings boots.

Lloyd Scriver deserved a better score than his mates delivered. He fanned twelve, cracked out two singles and counted one run himself and would have made a better showing with stronger support at bat and in the field.

The teams were:

Hastings—L. Scriver, p; Baker, ss; Harrington, 1b; Cassidy, 2b; B. Scriver, lf; Hinds and Crowley, cf; Weir, c; Waye, rf; Howard, 3b.

Umpires — Roy Campney, Havelock, at the plate; W. Wellman, Hastings.

Score by innings:
Havelock. ..... 310010211—9 12 2
Hastings ..... 000002010—3 7 5

Caesar's triple in the first scored Armstrong and Copp, and he completed his debut by stealing home. Havelock added another in the second when Doug. Brennan went home on Hooper's three-base blow to left.

A smart double play in the third, Lloyd Scriver to Cassidy to Harrington, smothered the Havelock attack in the third, and the feature of the fourth was the whiffing of Lang and Quinn.

In the fourth, Albert Armstrong was safe on a drive to right, but was cut off at home on Cassidy's play on Beck Jack's grounder to second. Then B. Scriver, in left, dropped flies by Copp and Caesar, Jack going home.

Barney Quinn in the eighth was safe on Cassidy's hit, and scored on Hooper's single after advancing on several heaves. That was Hooper's third hit in four chances.

Caesar checked in Havelock's ninth run in the last inning. He was safe on Howard's error and crossed the plate on Charlie Brennan's double.

Hastings' Runs.

Hooper yielded his first hit in the third, a scratch infield safety that was slowed up by the high wind blowing toward the plate. B. Scriver nicked him for a single to centre in the fourth, and the first runs came in the sixth. Baker and Harrington singled to right, and Cassidy cleaned up with a double to left, but was run down between second and third. Crowley beat out an infield floater in the seventh, but died at first. In the eighth, Scriver singled to centre, was sacrificed by Baker, and scored on Cassidy's drive to the middle garden; and in the ninth Crowley popped to Caesar, Weir flew out to Lang. Waye was safe on an error, and Howard fanned.

The game was well attended, and marked by fine sporting spirit, concluding with an exchange of team cheers.

BUCKHORN BEATEN IN LEAGUE GAME

Lakefield Wins First Home Game in North Peterborough League.

LAKEFIELD, June 10. — The first Lakfield game of the North Peterboro softball league took place in the Exhibition grounds last night when Buckhorn journeyed to Lakefield and were defeated by the score of 12-10 by the locals in what was one of the fastest softball games ever seen here. Lakefield got their big lead in the first innings crossing the home plate no less than nine times. After that the Buckhorn boys steadied down and from then on it was anybody's game.

The line up was as follows:

Buckhorn: M. Hall, M. Wilson, J. Fulton, R. Montgomery, M. Barr, Sam Wood, W. Shearer, Windover and Smith; subs.,: R. Martin, E. Montgomery, and C. Jones.

Lakefield: Madill, Ridpath, Tanner, Northey, Wagar, Fitzgerald, Wood, Burrows, Dr. Smith; subs., Porter

FIGHTING FINISH BY C.G.E. GIRLS FAILS BY TWO RUNS TO TIE GAME

Pitching Battle Between Two Clever Girls Decided By Breaks.

ONE BAD INNING.

Visitors Score Six in Fifth, Sewing Up Exhibition Contest at Riverside.

(By C. J. B.)

Excitement reigned supreme at James Stevenson park yesterday evening when the C.G.E. Ladies put three runners on in the ninth with two out and two runs needed to tie, but Eileen Edwards got in front of Margaret Todd's hard drive and tossed the runner out to give the Danforth Ladies a 7-5 victory.

The game was an exhibition contest between two evenly matched softball teams. The girls hit well and fielded well and good efforts on either side were heartily applauded by supporters of both teams.

According to all the speakers at the banquet held in Hooper's parlors after the game the breaks were the deciding factor between the two teams, and so it appeared to the majority of the spectators. The home team broke in the fifth inning, contributing some wild pegging just when their game little pitcher was in difficulties through several walks, and before the inning was over six runs had been scored. The visiting pitcher also developed wildness at two stages, and her team mates gave her little encouragement at these times, but she managed to pull out before as many runs had been scored

A Pitcher's Battle.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Babe Vincent and Grace Childs throughout. Both pitchers sent a number of batters back to the bench by the strikeout route and were particularly effective with runners on the sacks. Both were inclined to wildness at critical times and had to bear down on the batters after allowing charities. In the first "Babe" Vincent had three on the bases with one out, and in the second there were runners on first and second with none out, but in neither case was a run scored. In the sixth errors by Elsie Underwood at first put two on with one out and Miss Childs fanned the next two batters. In the final innings Miss Childs forced in a run, but Miss Todd's best effort was a grounder for the third out and three runners were left stranded.

Both teams played well in the field, although their errors came at critical points and made a big difference in the score. Jean McMurray made the feature play on the first C.G.E. batter of the game, when she made a diving catch of Cathie Taylor's fly back of third, rolling over but coming up with the ball clasped firmly in one hand. Some nice stops were made by both infields, while high flies were picked off easily.

Hitting Is Light.

Neither team collected many hits, nor were extra base clouts so common as is usual in girls' games. Miss Childs assisted in winning her own game with a slashing drive, just inside third base, which rolled well down to the track for a home run, the ball being returned to the infield just as she crossed the plate. Miss Todd made a good try for a homer, although told by the coach to stop at third, but was thrown out by several feet on a fast relay from the outfield. Lillian McMurray, with two hits in two appearances at the bat, was the leading clouter, while Miss Taylor had a double and a single in four trips, and Miss Edwards had a pair of singles in five attempts.

The home team opened the scoring. Miss Mortimer walked and took second on a wild pitch to score when Miss Todd slammed a hard one to right for three bases. The batter tried to make it four, but was thrown out on a quick relay, Miss Heaton to Miss Edwards to Miss Bater.

The winners broke into the scoring column with a vengeance in the fifth, when ten batters faced Miss Vincent and secured five hits and three walks. Miss Edwards started it off when she beat out a hit to short. Miss Leslie walked and Miss Underwood came through with a single to advance the runners two bases each, taking second herself on the throw. Miss Childs was passed, filling the bases and two runs scored in Miss Heaton's double. Miss Childs scored on a passed ball and when Miss Vincent missed Miss Mortimer's throw to the plate Miss Heaton also scored.

With the bases empty the situation looked brighter, and Miss J. McMurray aided things by striking out. Miss Gimlett then singled, to be forced by Miss Taylor. Miss Evans threw wide to first trying to complete a double play and the batter went to second. Miss L. Mc Murray, batting for Miss Bater, singled, sending Miss Taylor home, and Miss Edwards, up for the second time, ended the inning by raising one to Miss Greenhalgh.

In their half of the frame the homesters got two of them back. Miss Todd walked and stole second. Miss Vincent also walked. Both runners advanced on an error by Miss J. McMurray, who had gone in to catch, and took another base after the catch by the short stop of Miss Evans' sacrifice fly. Another error by Miss McMurray, who threw badly to third on this play, let Miss Vincent score. Miss Logan rolled to second for the second out of the inning, and then Miss McLaren was passed. Miss Taylor hit for two bases, but Miss Greenhalgh struck out.

The next runs were scored in the ninth. Each team threatened before then but failed in the pinch. The Danforth girls' final run was made by Miss Childs, who shot a hot grounder down the third base line for a homer.

The Exciting Finish.

The situation was tense in the home half. Four runs behind, the C.G.E. girls entered the inning with a do or die spirit. A long fly to Miss Gimlett off Miss Logan's bat and a foul to Miss McMurray from Miss Evans didn't improve the situation. The team got a life, however, when Miss Taylor missed Miss McLaren's fly. Miss Taylor singled and Manager Pilling sent in Mrs. Nixon as a pinch hitter. She came through with a single to send in one run, going to second on the thrown in. Walks to Miss Langton and Miss Mortimer forced in a run and left the team two runs down, with the bases full. Miss Todd swung hard on one but Miss Edwards intercepted the grounds and threw the batter out at first to end the game.

After the Game

The friendly spirit which has always been in evidence between the C.G.E. ladies and the Danforths, and which was shown by their sportsmanlike conduct on the field of play, was shown even more when the two teams with their supporters gathered in Hooper's after the game for a banquet. Before and during the meal songs, laughter, and happy conversation were to be heard, while afterwards felicitous speeches were made by members of both parties, and it was with deep regret the gathering broke up to let the visiting ladies and their friends start for home in their huge bus.

Jimmie O'Brien was chairman, and welcomed the visitors in a short speech. He then called on Alderman W. A. Summerville of Toronto, who had acted as pitcher during the ceremonies which preceded the game, and whose offering was slammed by Mayor Holloway to deep left field. The speaker said that the trip had been a pleasure and that he had enjoyed the game. While giving every player credit, he made special mention of the part played by Dorothy Mortimer, catcher for the C.G.E. girls, in steadying her team mates in critical moments of the game.

Breaks had counted in deciding the winners, said Mr. Summerville, and both teams had put up a wonderful game. He gave great credit to Messrs. Nelson and O'Brien and their executive for the development of the sport in the city, although he claimed it was a game only for girls, and not suitable for men in the prime of life.

Co-operation was offered by the speaker as the reason for the success of the Danforth girls, who have not been beaten this year, and who won the Dominion championship tournament at the Canadian National Exhibition last fall. The girls on the team, he said, had grown up together and were one big family, pals on and off the field.

Sport, whether for men or girls, continued Mr. Summerville, makes good citizens, as the continual striving and giving of ones best all the time develops the best in ones character.

The manager of the team, Mr. Chisholm, also spoke, thanking the local players and executive for the fine time which the team had had, and congratulating them on their good showing. He was followed by "Curly" Bateman, who seized the opportunity to reply to some remarks made by Mr. Summerville about his ability as a ball player by saying that he had been a small boy crawling under the fence when the previous speaker had been trying to play ball. He also ascribed the win to the breaks, as the teams had been very evenly matched, and gave great credit to Miss Vincent for her splendid pitching. Like Alderman Summerville he considered softball as a game for ladies and not for men.

Miss Eileen Edwards spoke on behalf of her team mates, saying that the game had rightly been advertised as being between the two most evenly balanced teams in Canada, and said that the Danforth girls would endeavor to repay the C.G.E. team for the splendid time they had had.

Mr. O'Brien then thanked Miss Littlefield for the co-operation of the Y.W.C.A. in the arrangements for the game, and asked her to speak a few words. She said that she had been delighted with the clean game played and the sportsmanlike way the result had been accepted. "After all," she said, "Although it is very nice to win, the main thing is to play a clean game."

Alderman George Smith of Toronto spoke in praise of the fine game he had witnessed, and said that he hoped the two teams would meet in the finals for the Dominion championship. He advocated plenty of sport as a means of keeping the young people in the country.

A parody which introduced the names of all the Danforth team, with the manager and the executive, was sung by Miss L. McMurray, and much enjoyed.

The president of the Danforth Ladies' League, Mr. Stubbins, said that he had found many good sports in Peterborough and that the C.G.E. ladies had made many friends for themselves by their showing in the C.N.E. tournament last fall. The Danforth girls were also, he said, good sports. He expressed the opinion that the Peterborough team was just as good as the Danforths, and said that if it was in Toronto it could get a place in the league without trouble and would be a team to reckon with.

One of the originals of the C.G.E. team, Mrs. Nixon (Maisie Millard) spoke on behalf of her team mates, wishing the Danforth ladies success in their league engagements.

W. J. Nelson of the C.G.E. referred to the warm feeling with which the Danforth team was regarded, speaking of their great kindness to the C.G.E. girls during the C.N.E. tournament. He said that the local team hoped to meet their opponents of yesterday in this year's finals, but intended to win then.

Phil Moore, business manager of the visitors, said that no other team could have persuaded his girls to make a trip for an exhibition game at the present time, and that the C.G.E. girls were very highly regarded by his team.

DELORO TEAM WINS OPENER

Large Crowd Views One-sided Contest as Smelters Open at Home.

SCORE 15-1.

MARMORA, June 10 (Special to The Examiner) — Deloro played their first home game on Wednesday, Frankford being the visitors. The Smelters showed superiority throughout, and won by 15 to 1. A crowd of over four hundred lined the field, the majority seating themselves in the palatial new bleachers. As an informal opening of the game, S. B. Wright pitched to Umpire Finnegan at bat with the burly A. V. Yates catching.

The game in proper commenced with the veteran Frank Leal twirling and Jimmy Quinn catching. Frankford retired in order. Shultz was the opening batter for the Smelters, facing the pitching of B. Rogers, who with James made up the visiting battery. Shultz reached first on an error and stole second. Jack followed with a clean hit and reached second on an overthrow. Shultz scoring and back following suit before the ball was thrown in. Quinn popped out to short. Boudreau singled and stole second, coming home on an overthrow. Regan fanned, Hughes made first on an error, stole second and third and scored on a passed ball by James. This ended the scoring in that innings.

The second innings was featured by a triple from Shultz which did not materialize. Scoring was further kept down in the third frame. Frankford in the fourth failed to break ice. Deloro in their venture piled on five more runs, following with three in the fifth, but were halted again in the sixth.

The Paper Lads who had played undauntedly, got a lone counter in the seventh innings. Babcock doubled and Rogers, in singling, scored Babcock.

Deloro added one more run in the eighth. Bond reached first, stole second, and came in on a sacrifice hit by Leal. Frankford in the ninth innings again went out in order. An unrehearsed comedy of the game was the grounding of Umpire Finnegan by Jack in the fifth when the latter scored.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR TENNIS STAR

English Girl Loses To Suzanne Lenglen, But Establishes New Record.

PARIS, June 10 (Canadian Press) —Joan Fry, the English tennis precocity, was beaten by the great Suzanne Lenglen yesterday in the international hard court tournament, but she established a tournament record by taking three games from the French marvel. The score was 6-2, 6-1.

Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Fry gave a typical demonstration of their respective methods of play. The English girl drove straight and sure, while the French champion was ever graceful, flicking her placements nonchalantly into unoccupied corners of the court. Joan was even stronger than had been expected, and had it not been for a perceptible wobbliness in her back-hand, she would have given Suzanne a run.

Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the United States Wightman Cup team, earned the right to meet Mlle. Lenglen in the finals of the women's singles by defeating Mlle. Bouman of Holland, 8-6, 6-2.

Jean Borotra, the brilliant Basque, put Howard Kinsey out in five sets. Kinsey carried the battle to the Frenchman, but Borotra's volleying was too much for the American, who went down 2-6, 6-4, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

Rain interfered with the continuance of the tournament when Vincent Richards was leading Baron Von Kehrling, 6-1, 6-3, 3-1.

SOCCER NOTES

The following Massey players are asked to be on hand at the Oval Saturday at 2.45: Montgomery, Grant, Blowers, Mann, Halliday, Westlake, Clark, James, Montgomery, Laidler, Foster, Roberts and Willis.

UNITED STATES' GOLFERS HOLD THEIR PLACES

Walter Hagen, U. S. Pro Champion, Stages Excellent Comeback.

SHARE THE HONORS.

Jim Barnes, Present Holder of Open Title, Ties For Fifth Place.

LIVERPOOL, June 10. Canadian Press. — A day's golf over the Formby Links found one hundred and fourteen of the one hundred and fifty original starters in the Northern British professional champion-ship in a position to continue using their mashies to-day. The others were out.

George Gadd of Roehampton, Jas. Adwick of Olton and "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn of Chicago, shared the honors with totals for two 18 hole rounds of 146.

Invading players from the United States while not showing as well as the British, all maintained their places in the tournament. Jim Barnes, present holder of the British open title, had 148 to tie with four Britishers for fifth place.

Walter Hagen, the present professional champion of the United States, had hard luck the first day, but he came through with an excellent 74 yesterday for a total of 156.

OPENING GAME MIDGET LEAGUE

All Saints' Royals Defeat East City in King Edward Park.

THREE HOME RUNS.

The Midget City League opened last evening in King Edward Park, when the All Saints' Royals outdid the East City Stars 13 to 2.

MacFadden's boys, although still a little stiff from lack of sufficient practice, showed excellent team work especially Bud Goodson, who pitched a creditable game, having eleven strike-outs in all, and also Frank Carroll and Doug. Hatton, who both knocked out three home runs, Hatton bringing in three runs in the first half of the third.

The All Stars' battery was changed in the fifth, Cairns and Payne taking the place of Mongraw and Miller. Payne showed fine judgment in directing the pitcher, and with a little practice this pair will give the Royals and Kiwanis many a hard tussle before the season is out.

The line-ups were as follows:

Royals—Jones, lf; Hollingsworth, 2b; Carroll, cf; Hatton, c; Collins, 1b; McDuffee, Hope, rf; Wilson, 3b; Goodson, p.

All Stars—Adams, c; Ellis, ss; Playford, 3b; Miller, c; Mongraw, p; Collins, 1b; Payne and Cairns in the fifth.

ONE UNMARRIED MAN.

Lorne Chabot Will Be Only Single Man on Port Arthur Team.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Announcement is made of the marriage, to take place shortly, of Alex. Gray and Florence Opie. This will leave Lorne Chabot the only unmarried man on the Port Arthur Allan Cup hockey team.

ENGLISH TEAM WINS.

Touring Soccer Players Beat Lethbridge Team Three to One.

LETHBRIDGE, June 10 (Canadian Press).—The touring English soccer team defeated a representative team from Lethbridge and district 3 to 1 here last night.

VOLCANOES MAR GLACIERS.

In New Zealand are a number of geysers worthy of visiting, and in past years they were more beautiful than to-day. Volcanic eruptions in 1886 destroyed the terraces around the geysers in many instances. Iceland also has some notable geysers and strangely enough their waters are the hottest in Europe.

GATE OF 22,000 SPECTATORS SEE CRICKET GAME

Unemployed Miners Admitted For Half Price On Producing Union Tickets.

LARGEST GATE YET.

Visitors Tour at Bat in the Nature of a Batting Exercise.

SUNDERLAND, England, June 10.—(Canadian Press Cable).) — Yesterday's game between the touring Australian cricketers and an eleven representting County Durham was something in the nature of a practice for the visitors. England's Northernshires, Northumberland, Cumberland and Durham, are not strong for the National summer game and it was not expected that the home side would put up anything of a stand, nevertheless, to such an extent had the fame of the Australians preceded them that they attracted a crowd of no less than 22,000 spectators, the largest "gate" to which the Australians have played so far. A considerable number of these were unemployed miners who had been admitted at half-price on the production of the Union cards.

The game will be completed to-day.

Misfortune has befallen the Australians in their present tour in the sickness of H. L. Hendry of Victoria who was taken to hospital some time ago with scarlet fever, and now W. Ponsford, the sterling Australian Batsman, has suffered an attack of tonsilitis. Whether Ponsford will be seen in action at Trent Bridge on Saturday or not is problematical, but cricket enthusiasts are in the hope that this sturdy run-getter will be sufficiently recovered to enable him to take part in the first test match. The latest news is that Ponsford is resting comfortably.

The gates here today were closed at 1 p.m., so great was the crowd. Durham won the toss and elected to bat first. Their innings totalled 125 of which Brooks, their Captain, scored 32. Ferens had 27 and Nichol 22.

Bowling for the Australians, Hailey had eight wickets for 52 runs and Macartney two for 9.

The visitors tour at bat was some thing in the nature of a batting exercise, and when play was called they had two men down for 252.

Andrews scored 110 not out and Bardsley 33 not out. H. L. Collins was dismissed for 69.

TENNIS GAMES AT CAMPBELLFORD

Tournament Has Been Postponed—Schedule Games Instead.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 10.—It has been decided to postpone the local tournament which was to have been held on Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12. Entries will now close on Saturday, the 12th inst., at 8 p.m. It is to be hoped that a large number of members will enter this tournament and signify their intention of doing so by adding their names to the list at the tennis court or by notifying the secretary.

The preliminary rounds will be played on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of next week, and the finals on Friday and Saturday afternoon and evening.

In place of the above tournament the following schedule games will be played this week:

Thursday, June 10th.

No. 1 Court—4.30 to 6 p.m., J. Townsend and H. Bygott vs. S. Carr and E. Irwin. 6 to 7.30 p.m., O. Weston and H. Tait vs. J. Townsend and D. Linton.

No. 2 Court—6 to 7.30 p.m., H. Beatty and L. Weston vs. C. Watt and E. Weston.

Friday, June 11th.

No. 1 Court—3 to 4.30 p.m., N. A. MacColl and J. Weston vs. S. H. Neale and Mrs. MacColl. 4.30 to 6 p.m., R. W. Scott and Helen Wood vs. Harry Free and E. Ferris.

No. 2 Court—3 to 4.30 p.m., Howard Wood and V. Shore vs. E. L. Brown and D. Linton. 4.30 to 6 p.m., L. Scott and G. Payne vs. J. Callahan and D. Henson. 6 to 7.30 p.m., A. M. Rollo and J. Longmore vs. W. Henson and D. Sauve.

CURVE LAKE AND KEENE TO-NIGHT

Raybestos and Crescents Are Organizing For City Series.

Keene and Curve Lake will provide an interesting game at Exhibition Park this evening, commencing at six o'clock. The two teams had a lively battle in their opening East Peterborough League contest, and Curve Lake, who lost the decision in the last frame will make a big effort to reverse the score in their favor.

Raybestos and Crescents are organizing strong teams for competition in the city series of the league. The two clubs will play an exhibition game tomorrow evening, when numerous players will be given an opportunity of showing their wares before the teas are selected for the league opener next week.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO.

ABE MITCHELL—AVOID SHIFTING FEET.

Golfers have funny tricks with the feet, especially when addressing the ball. Some settle the right foot when they take up their stance, and allow the left foot to find its own position. Some great golfers do this: but all the big players do one definite thing with the feet, and that is, when they actually hit the ball, both feet are firm on the ground.

On the other hand, the handicap golfer too often swings himself on his toes, and from that position, though probably he doesn't know it, tries to hit the ball.

Sometimes he may make quite a straight shot, but he is doing one of the very things that will prevent him doing so on the general run of play.

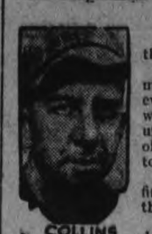
The balance of the body cannot be well maintained when the feet shift about, and the blow must lack the punch that gets speed and distance on the ball.

One cannot hit the ball if the feet shift or if the left heel fails to come down after the turn on the toe.

(Copyright, 1926.)

SECRETS of STARS on INSIDE BASEBALL

as told to BILLY EVANS



COLLINS

BY EDDIE COLLINS.

It is impossible to definitely set down a certain program that should be consistently followed in playing second base.

There are a number of fundamentals that every second baseman should be familiar with. He should know the style of every pitch and have a knowledge of the batter's strength and weakness. He should always cover the bag when that duty is up to him. He should make it a point to cut down the lead of every runner on second by dashing over to the bag as if to take a snap throw from pitcher or catcher.

Always there must be perfect co-operation between the first baseman and shortstop, as to just who is going to make the play.

On attempted thefts of second there are set rules that determine who shall cover the base, shortstop or second baseman. This is decided by a knowledge of the style ball to be pitched and the field to which the batsman is prone to hit.

If the batsman is a left field hitter the second baseman should always cover the bag. If he has a tendency to hit to right field, covering the bag should be up to the shortstop.

Keep your eye on the ball. Concentrate on the game. Carry on no unnecessary conversation. Try to figure what the opposition will do and have your plans mapped out in advance to stop 'em should your diagnosis of the situation prove correct. Make an effort to always conceal the fact as to who intends to cover. This minimizes the chances of the hit and run being successful. Keep your head up.

LEAGUE SCHEDULES TWO FAST GAMES

The NUT Cracker

By JOE WILLIAMS

Babe Ruth predicts the Yanks will win the pennant this year.... You are perfectly safe in stringing right along with this tip because it is absolutely unbiased and free of personal sentiment.

Whenever a team like the Browns cuts loose with a winning streak of four games you don't know whether you out to get excited or suspicious.

Benny Leonard has started training again, and will someone please tell us what we are going to do with all those beautiful mother love stories which were inspired by the young man's retirement two years ago?

Apparently there are times in this business of snout spreading when even the most exalted forms of parental affection grow cold and dim in the face of a $100,00 offer to battle Kid Whoozit.

We don't suppose it would be exactly gentlemanly to suggest that Leonard's comeback is in any way at all influenced by the fact that Mickey Walker has faded to an inaudible whisper.

Can you name off hand the junior featherweight, junior lightweight and junior welterweight champions of the ring? ....If you can't it shows you have been improving your idle moments?

The modern celebrities have all the best of it....For instance, nobody ever named a candy bar or a pair of knee-length balbriggans after Napoleon of John L. Sullivan.

There ought to be a rule compelling golfers to count all their strokes, including the strokes of apoplexy they suffer in the depths of bunkers.

PROGRESSIVE RUNS IN NORTH OXFORD

Argument Centres on Whether Candidate Will Be Straight U.F.O.

WOODSTOCK, June 10 (Canadian Press).—Following a lengthy and at times heated debate, the Progressives of North Oxford, at a meeting held here yesterday, decided to place a candidate in the field in the next Provincial election. The two bones of contention at the meeting were whether the Progressives should seek union with the Liberals in the selection of a candidate, and whether the candidate should be a Progressive or a U.F.O. representative.

On the former question no action was taken.

In the conflict between the Progressive and U.F.O. factions, a resolution was finally passed to the effect that the Progressive party of North Oxford take political action in the next election campaign. A party convention will be called soon to choose a candidate.

BOMBS AND GUNS ROUT STUDENTS

Princeton Police Use Tear Gas and Fire Into Air.

TWO ARRESTED.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 10. — (United Press).) —The police were forced to use tear bombs and fire in the air to disperse 1,500 Princeton students when a student lark ended in near riot early this morning.

Two students were arrested.

Students near Blair Hall, after firing rockets into the air turned in a false alarm which brought the fire department.

As disorder increased the police were summoned. The students refused to disperse and according to the police, tear bombs were thrown at the crowd and shots were fired.

The two students who were arrested were turned over to the College officials but were told to be prepared to report to the police if wanted.

CONFERENCE W.M.S. MEETS AT TRENTON

Mrs. J. T. Daly, of Port Hope, Heads United Church Ladies.

Entering King street church, Trenton in three streams, 150 delegates representing the Women's Missionary Societies of the Uniting Presbyterian ,Congregational and Methodist churches, met last week at the first annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch of the W. M. S. of the United Church in Canada. The new body comprises five Presbyterials: Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Kingston and Renfrew.

The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs T J Daly, Port Hope; 1st Vice-President, Mrs W H Ashton, Campbellford; 2nd vice-president, Mrs R Barbour, Frankton; 3rd vice-president, Mrs F A Larke, Brockville; 4th vice-president, Mrs W J Paul, Kingston; recording secretary, Mrs C A Callery, Cannifton; correspondence secretary, Mrs F k Edwards, Cannifton; treasurer, Mrs. H Irvine, Lindsay; secretary, Christian stewardship and finance, Mrs R G Lawlor, Norwood; strangers' secretary, Mrs W A Bremner, Cobourg; supply secretary, Mrs H J Corkill, Napanee; secretary associate helpers Mrs J W Wagar, Centreville. secretary Young Women's Work; Mrs. M C McKinnon, Perth; secretary Mission and Baby Bands, Mrs W H Garland, Cobourg; secretary Missionary Monthly, Miss D A Beatty, Pembroke; press secretary, Mrs S E Revelles, Kingston; Nominating committee, Mrs F A Larke, Brockville, Mrs. G L Wagar, Cobourg, Mrs J W White, Bayside; Mrs A C Brown, Carleton Place; Mrs J John, Peterboro; finance committee, Mrs Morley Day, Belleville; Mrs. W M Campbell, Kingston; Mrs. J T Field, Cobourg. Mrs H Irvine, Lindsay; Mrs R G Lawlor, Norwood.

The speakers outlined the extensive home and foreign missionary programme of the society, the work of the children's mission circles and mission bands, and of the girls' C.G.I.T. groups, was described by Mrs. M. E. Wilson, (Ameliasburg), Mrs. Callum (Cobourg), and Mrs. H. C. Mackinnon (Perth), respectively.

The fact that Protestant children receive no religious instruction in son for more active interest in such the day schools was given as a reamatters on the part of the church.

Mrs. R. O. Joliffe, Kingston, stressed the need of Christian work among the immigrants, especially in the west, with its Red Sunday schools and with whole sections occupied by non-Christian and non British elements. Miss Effie Jamieson, General secretary of the Dominion board, spoke optimistically of the progress which Christianity has made the world over.

Miss Allen (Japan), spoke of the greater interest being shown by people in higher education for girls.

Miss McHarrie (India), described the work being done by her home for friendless children.

The budget's allocation of $92,000 was readily accepted.

Support only for dry candidates was pledged in the following resodution:

"Whereas, the law granting 4.4 beer licenses, contrary to the ballot of the people, was we fear, only a beginning, and considering that other legislation under similar false pretensions is possible, we place ourselves on record that we will not favor any kind of legislation that gives the people intoxicating beverages under 'Government control' or any other name.

"We further resolve that we express our faith in the Ontario temperance act. We believe that the lack of law enforcement against illicit selling could be remedied, and that instead, the very laxity is being used by those responsible for it as an argument against the O.T.A."

DROUGHT IN WEST.

Rain Badly Needed By Grain Along Prairie Border.

WINNIPEG, June 10 (Canadian Press).—The southern sections of the three Western provinces along the international border are suffering from drought. Rains are reported in many parts of the West, but not in those southern portions, where growing grain needs moisture in the worst way.

OLD PROJECT COMES UP AGAIN

Has Been No Correspondence on Subject Since 1916.

LACHINE CANAL.

OTTAWA, One., June 10.—(Canadian Press.)—An echo of the old project to build a tunnel under the Lachine canal near Bridge street, Montreal, came up in the House of Commons yesterday. Correspondence in 1916 with the civic authorities was tabled by the Government.

Plans submitted by Montreal did not meet with the approval of the Department of Railways and Canals, which could not approve of "any less depth of tunnel than would be required for the Welland Canal standard.' The proposal was for a double tunnel, the side for vehicular and pedestrian traffic to be sixteen feet high and 23 feet wide and the side for street cars to be fifteen feet nine inches high and 23 feet wide. The cost was estimated at $1,209,586 in all. The property encroached upon included 12,500 feet of Dominion government property.

There has been no correspondence on the subject since 1916. It was tabled to-day as a return to an order of the House.

SERIOUS VIEW OF BREAKDOWN

Commons Coal Committee Believes Government Must Soon Decide.

MAY INTERVENE.

LONDON, June 10. —(Canadian Press).)— The Government takes a serious view of the breakdown of yesterday's peace talks in the coal crisis. As soon as the news that the Owners and Miners were unable to come to an agreement was given out the government coal committee met immediately in the House of Commons. It held another session yesterday, reviewing the whole situation, the consensus being that the Cabinet must soon decide whether to intervene in the strike.

DUTY IMPOSED.

Levy on Wrapping Paper Is Passed By British Commons.

LONDON, June 10 (Canadian Press).—By a vote of 186 against 92 the House of Commons last night approved new duties on wrapping paper. An amendment to reduce the imposition period of the duty from five years to one year was defeated by a majority vote of 93.

THEATRE AT THE REGENT

SON READY TO KILL HIS OWN FATHER IN "RUSTLING FOR CUPID."

Comedy Relief Follows Tense Situations in Peter B. Kyne's Ranch Story.

A son ready to shoot down his own father as a cattle rustler is the dramatic punch in "Rusling for Cupid," Fox Films' latest release, which will be seen at the Regent Theatre to-day.

Despite this dramatic high spot, "Rustling for Cupid" has a lot of comedy in it. George O'Brien and Anita Stewart have the leading roles and the comedy starts in the first scene. The young folk are ready to retire on opposite sides of the aisle in a Pullman bound for New Mexico. The girl is under contract to teach school for three years and the young man is the son of a cattle baron, who owns the Swastika Ranch.

When they leave the train, the girl notices by the attitude of the crowd at the depot that the cattle baron is in bad. Later she inherits $10,000, which the son of the village banker invests for her in steers. Soon after one of the cattle baron's discharged cowboys circulates the report that the Swastika owner is a cattle rustler and the son gives the cowboy an awful beating. The teacher sees the fight and after that they merely speak as they pass on the mountain trails.

Later the son sees a man branding maverick calves, but is too far away to recognize him as his father. He tries to kill him but is prevented by the village banker and his son. The banker sees the situation with the rustler's son and the teacher and starts to "Rustle for Cupid." He has his cowboys round up the Swastika calves and put the teacher's brand on them. When shipping day arrives, the banker and the sheriff stage a scene which gives the teacher the appearance of rustling.

The teacher turns to the rustler's son and he grabs her onto his horse just as the cattle in the pens start a stampede. The final clinch is tighter than the pull of a lasso.

Dyspepsia Caused Her Agony After Every Meal

Mrs. M. Caldwell, 2335 Hemlock St., Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"After suffering for years with agony, from dyspepsia and indigestion, after every meal, I started taking and got such relief I kept right on until I had used three bottles and was completely relieved of my trouble. Now, I can eat anything I wish without having any bad after effects."

TAYLOR CHOSEN HEAD OF C.M.A.

Guelph Manufacturer Is Elected at This Morning's Section.

8-HOUR LAW OPPOSED.

TORONTO, Ont., June 10. — (Canadian Press)). — J. M. Taylor, of the Taylor Forbes Company, Limited, Guelph, Ontario, was elected president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at this morning's session of the Annual meeting W. B. Fallis, of the Sherwin Williams Company, Montreal, Quebec, was advanced to the first vice-presidency.

The International Labour Conference held last year at Geneva, eight hour day legislation, workmen's compensation legislation, accident prevention, the industrial disputes investigation act, and the minimum wage legislation, were all dealt with in the report of the industrial relations committee which was presented by Chairman L. J. Anthes, Toronto.

Mr. Anthes said it was impossible for employers of Canada to modify in any way the attitude they have always adopted of opposition to compulsory eight hour day legislation.

Resolutions were adopted to-day by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in annual session, urging immediate and substantial increases in the customs tariff on finished products where necessary and also that when higher duties have been put into effect, Canada should endeavor to increase her export trade by making preferential tariff arrangements based on bargaining principle, with other countries, particularly the countries of the British Empire.

Other resolutions called for Federal legislation to safeguard Canadian factories and their employes until the depreciated currencies of other countries are restored to normal and also that the anti-dumping laws by strengthened. Abolition of sales tax was urged in another resolution.

A delegation will be named by the President of the Association to go to Ottawa to present the resolutions passed at the meeting to-day and to emphasize the importance of immediate action, particularly in matters of depreciated currency and sales tax.

The members of the Association were entertained at Government House this afternoon by the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Cockshutt. To-night the annual banquet of the Association will close the convention.

MUCH FRUIT IMPORTED.

Large Proportion of United Kingdom's Fruit From Foreign Lands.

LONDON, June 10 (Canadian Press). — The Imperial Economic Committee's fruit report, issued today, calls the attention of the British public to the fact that while £48,600,000, approximately $232,000,000, worth of fruit was imported into the United Kingdom during 1924, the consumption of fruit per head is still much less than in the United States. It was also made known in the report that more than three-quarters of the United Kingdom's fruit imports come from foreign countries.

Some men live all their lives in a barrel and look only out through the bunghole.—Rabelais.

WEDDING BELLS.

OKE—BETTES.

A very pretty wedding was held in Century United Church, Toronto, by Rev. Mr. Robinson, when Ida Pearl Bettes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bettes, became the bride of Mr. Percy Thomas Oke, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Oke. The bride entered the church accompanied by the flower girl, Miss Jean Miller, to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Scott.

The bride looked very charming in a white crepe de chene gown, with a bridal veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses and carnations.

The flower girl, who was dressed in blue, with hat to match, carried a basket of sweet peas and roses. After the wedding a luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller, sister of the bridegroom, where many beautiful gifts were received and where an enjoyable time was spent.

The bride and bridegroom left by motor for Chemong Park for their honeymoon. They will reside in Toronto.

BROWN—STINSON.

HASTINGS, June 10.—The marriage of Ruby Elizabeth Stinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stinson, of Asphodel Township, to Herbert Maxwell Brown, son of the late Maxwell Brown, former Reeve of Asphodel and Warden of Peterboro County, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday, June 9, by the Rev. M. L. Hinton of Hastings. The young couple were unattended, except by little Miss Ruby Preston as flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will reside in Asphodel, about three miles south east of Norwood.

OBITUARY.

JOHN MATHIESON.

The death occurred yesterday of John Mathieson, aged 77, a resident of this city for some 40 years. He was a native of Isla, Scotland.

He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. W. G. Henderson, one brother, Duncan Mathieson, of Toronto, and two sisters, Mrs. John Smith, Harrison, Mont., and Mrs. Donald McDougall, of Viking, Alta.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence, 368 Brock street, to the Little Lake cemetery. It will be under the auspices of Otonabee Lodge. No. 13, I.O.O.F., of which he was a charter member and a Past Grand.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. J. W. Gordon of St. Andrew's church, of which the late Mr. Mathieson had been an elder for many years.

Mr. Mathieson was a man of sterling qualities and was highly respected by all who knew him. For a number of years he had been a familiar figure around the Public Library, and his sudden death will be a shock to those who were acquainted with him.

MRS. JAMES MACK.

The death occurred last evening at the Nicholls' Hospital at half past six, of Mrs. James Mack, of 184 Brock street. She underwent an operation on May 31st, from which she never recovered. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, a sorrowing mother, Mrs. A. Peterson, of Blairton, and seven children by a previous marriage, namely, Agnes and Bessie Milligan, at home and Mrs. Howard Rose of this city, Carl, Samuel, Roy and Raymond, all at home, besides a sister, Mrs. H. Moore of California, and one brother, Mr. Arnold Mason of Norwood.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Todd will conduct the service.

WILLIAM HICKSON.

LINDSAY, Ont., June 10 (Canadian Press).—Bobcaygeon lost one of its prominent citizens yesterday in the death of Mr. Wm. Hickson. He was born on the Hickson homestead, Lot 15, on the 14th Concession of Manvers. Leaving the farm he entered the teaching profession. He first taught at Dunsford, then at Mount Pleasant, and for a number of years at Bobcaygeon. Failing health forced him to relinquish teaching, and he decided to go out in the open air.

He associated himself with Government work, and became one of the most expert seed judges in Ontario, organizing and judging innumerable field crop competitions. He was for years one of the keystones in the Verulam Agricultural Society, of which he was secretary. He was the author of many very fine stories regarding animals of the woods and the piscatorial tribe. His stories found a welcome among readers of rod and gun and other similar magazines.

In religion he was a Presbyterian, and in politics a Conservative.

JOHN P. KENNEDY.

A sad event occurred last Wednesday night when Mr. John P. Kennedy died. Mr. Kennedy had not been in good health for the past two years and had been confined to his bed since early spring.

Mr. Kennedy was very highly respected by all who knew him. In religion he was a member of the Methodist church and was also a member of the Orange Order.

Left to mourn his loss are his sorrowing wife, two daughters, Mrs. W. P. Thurston and Miss Laura at home. Three sons, Mansell, Lloyd and Elmer, all at home.

A very large Orange funeral was held on Friday afternoon, when the late Mr. Kennedy was laid to rest in the Dunsford cemetery. The pallbearers were Mr. Sam Sanderson, Mr. Jack Vout, Mr. Ernest Geryman, Mr. James McGahey, Mr. John McGahey and Mr. Lowrey Kennedy.

The many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

JUSTIN JOHN GORMAN.

The funeral of the late Justin John Gorman, of Rochester, N. Y., took place at nine o'clock this morning, from St. Peter's Cathedral, where mass was solemnized by Rev. J. Finn, to St. Peter's Cemetery, where Rev. G. Maher officiated. The pall bearers were Messrs. N. E. Phelan, Hector Clancy, John Hanrahan, Charles Leibers, Senior, Charles Leibers, Junior, and E. Hanrahan, of Montreal.

MRS. J. H. WOLSTENHOLME.

The death occurred last evening of Mrs. J. H. Wolstenholme, widow of the late Joseph H. Wolstenholme, who predeceased her two years ago, at 532 Bolivar street. Mrs. Wolstenholme was the eldest daughter of the late Thomas H. and Mrs. Goldey, and was born in this city 59 years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss three brothers, E. D. Goldey and H. B. Goldey of Toronto, and H. R. Goldey, of Kingston, and three sisters, Mrs. J. A. Wolstenhome and Miss Phyllis Goldey, of this city, and Mrs. O. B. Eaton, of Toronto. The funeral will take place on Friday at 1.45 p.m. to Little Lake cemetery.

Jury Finds Mrs. Dwyer Not Guilty

Dwyer Did Not Supply Money to Buy Food; Wife Tells Her Story

Says She Got Only Twenty-six Dollars To Keep House Going For Two Months — Did All She Could.

WITNESSES TELL OF TRANSACTIONS CARRIED OUT BY THEM WITH GEORGE DWYER.

Further light on the internal economy of the Dwyer household during the fateful months of January and February of this year was shed yesterday afternoon, when the trial was continued of Mrs. Mary Dwyer, charged with child neglect, before His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, at the June Sessions of the Peace in the County Buildings. Crown Prosecutor J. K. Mackay, sent to take charge of the case by the Attorney-General's Department in Toronto, was assisted by Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C. F. D. Kerr, K.C., acted on behalf of Mrs. Dwyer.

Witnesses were examined who swore that George Dwyer had received cheques from them in payment of transactions conducted with him. Others told of purchases made of food for horses, of payment for horses bought, but nothing of his buying food for his family.

There were many clashes between opposing counsel with regard to the relevancy of each other's form of examination. Mrs. Dwyer repeatedly showed emotion during the afternoon, breaking down completely when Mr. Kerr began his eloquent plea for her liberation. As counsel proceeded with his argument, she gradually recovered and nervously worked her fingers one over the other, until Mr. Kerr spoke of her regard for the two boys whose names have figured so prominently in the case, upon which she sobbed, for several minutes. The sitting was continued in the evening, when Mr. MacKay addressed the jury and brought the case towards the closing stages.

The afternoon sitting began with the examination of Mrs. Dwyer by Mr. McKay. She said her husband had told her that it was not necessary to get a doctor. Mr. Little went for Dr. Holdcroft. Before that, she had asked her husband to go to Dr. Sutton. She was prepared to swear that the mark on John's head was caused by her husband with a blow from a stick. It happened in the bush. The boy's head was cut. When they got home she bathed the cut. It was because they had not enough wood cut.

The other boy got a trimming also. She forgot whether the incident happened in the morning or the afternoon. She remembered seeing her husband after he had deserted her. It was on the third of June.

On being asked why she did not procure aid for the children, Mrs. Dwyer said she was afraid. Counsel pointed out that she had not been afraid to go to a magistrate when her husband deserted her.

Do you love your children asked counsel. Yes, sir, I do.

And did you love your stepchildren? I loved them all.

Would you be willing to suffer hardships for their sake?

Witness was silent and Mr. Kerr objected to the form of prosecuting counsel's examination.

As Mr. MacKay continued the examination, Mrs. Dwyer lost her composure and broke down. Several minutes elapsed before she regained her self possession.

She knew to whom she should go when in trouble. She went to the magistrate when her husband deserted her, but she did not go to a magistrate when the children were in danger. She was afraid.

In re-examination, she said she had actually taken a whipping to save the youngest boy of the first family. George Dwyer gave her it at Mount Pleasant.

A. Davis identified cheques tendered him by George Dwyer in payment of a note, and some bills which were due him.

Roderick E. Barrie stated that he lived in the Township of Dummer. George Dwyer bought oats from him and a little more than half a ton of hay. During January and February, Dwyer made some smaller purchases from him, all of which were paid for, except one small bill for $3.50.

During that time, Dwyer did not buy from witness anything for himself or his family.

Norman Andrew, the Peterboro representative of the Massey-Harris Company, identified a money order received on January 11 from George Dwyer, February 7, $30.40. The money was owing from purchases made in 1923.

Charles E. Pakenham stated he was a miller in Norwood. He said that George Dwyer frequently bought horse feed from him. He had no recollection of Dwyers ever having bought foodstuffs. He had no record of Dwyer's purchases, and could not estimate the extent of all his purchases.

Jean V. Edwards, bookkeeper of H. G. Buck and Sons, identified cheques produced by counsel as having been issued by the firm in favor of George Dwyer.

Mrs. Dwyer, recalled, stated that in addition to the money mentioned by previous witnesses, there were also sums which her husband, received from the sale of cordwood. Of the money got from these sources she received only about $26 for household expenses. She herself got a pair of felt boots. Mr. Dwyer brought them. There would be about $10 spent for boots for witness and the children.

She sold Christmas cards among the neighbors and got money which, along with some she got from her husband, she spent on Christmas gifts for the children.

This concluded the evidence and defending counsel addressed the jury.

Mr. Kerr, in a strong plea for an acquittal, said the case was one in which the King, through his representatives, acting on behalf of his subjects and the law, charged Mary Dwyer, one of his subjects, with refraining, without lawful excuse, from providing necessaries for the children committed to her care. The King's justice was merciful, and every citizen, especially every occupant of the jury box, was called upon to see that the person charged got a fair trial. The accused was to be regarded in the minds of everyone, particularly those trying her, as innocent until the jury were compelled by the facts presented to them, to find her guilty. If a proper and reasonable doubt was present, it was their duty to find her not guilty.

BURIED DIVER RESCUED BY FELLOW WORKER

Navy Man Buried By Caving in of Sand Under Sub.

130 FEET DOWN.

Companion Digs Him Out and Freed Man Completes His Work.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 11.—How a diver nearly lost his life while at work on the sunken submarine S-51, 130 feet below the surface of the Atlantic Ocean, was told by naval officials returning from the scene of salvage operations.

Chief torpedo man James Frazer, one of the twenty navy divers engaged in the salvage work, had been sent down with torpedo man E. J. Tibbals, to place under the submarine chains to which the pontoons were attached.

It was Frazer's job to pass a chain amidship under the submarine, which lies flat on the sandy floor of the ocean. To do this he had to dig a tunnel thirty feet under the vessel with the aid of a powerful stream of water that washes away the sand.

Frazer had reached about half way under the submarine when the tunnel he had made gave way behind him. He found himself literally buried in a grave of sand under the ocean. But meanwhile air was being fed him through the air line from the salvage ship Falcon.

Frazer telephoned Lieut.-Commander Ellsberg, in charge of diving operations. Ellsberg from the Falcon telephoned Tibbals to leave his post at the bow of the submarine and go to Frazer's aid.

Goes to Rescue

Tibals, who has been a diver 15 years and has gone to the bottom of the sea at least 1,000 times, moved as fast as he could to Frazer's aid. He turned on another powerful stream of water and forced a path direct to Frazer. But this had a devastating effect, for such a stream of water at that depth hits sledge-hammer blows. The stream knocked Frazer down and the sand again gave way and enveloped him.

Tibbals then forced another tunnel close to Frazer and dug the rest of the way with tools. When he reached Frazer the latter refused to be drawn to the surface. He continued to work until he had dug the tunnel and placed the chain under the sub.

Heavy seas interfered with salvage work again today. Work was continued on lashing chains, to which the pontoons are adjusted, so as to prevent them from slipping from the submarine.

The pontoons, fifteen feet in diameter and thirty feet long, weigh forty tons. When freed of water, through the use of compressed air, they will provide sufficient buoyancy, navy officials expect, to draw the submarine to the surface.

Richard Rees Whittemore To Hang For Slaying Guard.

BALTIMORE, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Richard Rees Whittemore, "million dollar crime trust" leader, and slayer of a Maryland penitentiary guard, yesterday was sentenced to die on the gallows. He killed Robert H. Boltman in escaping from penitentiary in February, 1925.

FASCIST STUDENTS ASSAULT PROFESSOR, CAUSING INJURIES WHICH SEND HIM TO HOSPITAL

Parma University Teacher Refused To Resign His Chair.

POLICE TOO LATE.

Arrive Just After Students Break Down Door of Dean's Office.

CHIASSO, Switzerland, June 11—Fascist law students, their political passions aroused by the fight between Roberto Farinacci and Minister of the Interior Federzoni, have so badly beaten one of their professors that he has been removed to a hospital, according to a story from Italian and Anti-Fascist.

The students demanded that Prof. Lusignani, who occupies the chair of Roman law at the University of Parma, resign. To make their point perfectly clear they boycotted his lectures.

The professor carried on, although his only hearers were two women law students yesterday. He had hardly begun when the Fascist students rushed into the room. Prof. Lusignani ordered them out, but they came at him so menacingly that he got out himself.

Racing down several corridors with the students running at his heels, he dashed into the office of the dean of the university, slamming and locking the door in the face of his pursuers.

Break Down Door.

Unable to open it, the students fired several revolver shots through the door, and the dean, thoroughly alarmed, telephoned the police. Excitedly he told the police chief that he and Prof. Lusignani were besieged. The chief asked for a warrant to enter the University precincts, and while they were discussing this the students broke down the door, seized Lusignani and administered a bloody beating. The police arrived only in time to take the professor to the hospital.

Lusignani was himself until lately a member of the Fascist party. In 1919 he established the Banca Popodare Agricola, and last February made over control to a group of Cremona financiers who are friendly to Farinacci, former secretary-general of the Fascist party.

The bank has now failed in a rather scandalous manner, and the supporters of Federzoni have been making capital of it. Lusignani claims he had nothing to do with the doings of his successors at the bank.

However, despite the charges brought against him in certain sections of the Fascist press, there has been no move to prosecute him, and as a result the rumour has gained ground that Ugo Rocco, brother of the Minister of Justice, is involved in the scandal.

Woman Liquor Dealer Brings Vodka To England

LONDON, June 11. — Mrs. Fisher, the only woman wholesale liquor dealer in England, is introducing vodka, famous for its potency and for putting Russians "under the table," to Englishmen. She recently bought a consignment of vodka from the Soviet Government.

"Russia," she said to-day, "according to all reports is now almost bone dry, and that was why I was able to buy some Russian spirits. I think there must be a large number of Russians in London because I sell so much vodka here. Englishmen are beginning to acquire a taste for it, too."

Mrs. Fisher also keeps the House of Lords supplied with Kummel, the favorite after-dinner drink of the London West End.

Smallpox Case In Jail Sick Prisoner Is Isolated

A case of small pox has developed at the jail in the building in which George Dwyer is being held. Sanitary Inspector Stapleton stated that the prisoner who had the small pox was quarantined recently and it is believed that he is isolated from the rest of the prisoners. Dr. Morgan, the jail physician, would make no statement and Doctor Young is out of the city for the week. Mr. Stapleton stated that the turnkey is the only man who comes in contact with this case.

George Dwyer came up for trial this morning.

HISTORIC EVENT AT CLEVELAND

Canada Day Is Celebrated at American City To-day.

4,000 DELEGATES.

CLEVELAND, O., June 11. Canadian Press. — The celebration of Canada day was held here to-day in commemoration of more than 100 years of friendly relations between this country and Canada, as well as the particularly close social and commercial relations between this city and Ontario.

To-day was considered an historical event inasmuch as it is the first time the Ontario government ever officially recognized any particular city in this country.

The day also marked the first time in history that the troops of another country marched through the Cleveland streets. The Toronto Scottish regiment accompanied the Canadian delegation of 4,000.

CANADA NEEDS MORE PEOPLE

Would Produce National Prosperity and National Unity, Says White.

ADDRESSES C.M.A.

TORONTO, June 11 (Canadian Press).—That national unity could be most quickly and most surely produced by national prosperity which, in turn, was to be secured only by the acquisition of more people, was the opinion of Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, speaking last night at the banquet which concluded the fifty-fifth annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Sir Thomas devoted himself to a presentation of the problems which at the present day beset Canadians. One of the greatest of these, in his estimation, was the national debt. Although he found comfort in the facts that the outstanding bonds were held mainly by Canadians, that Canadian currency was not unduly inflated by the war, and that the Canadian dollar stood at par, nevertheless he must point out that the national debt was seven times its pre-war figure.

Checkers Not Gambling Rules New York Court

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 11. (United Press). —Checkers may be a sport but it isn't gambling Magistrate August Glatz Meyer has ruled. The immediate effect of the ruling was the discharge on Thursday of Julius Brendter, a member of an amateur checker club, who won $9 from Harry Wilson, a real estate operator, on checker bets. Brendter was playing with a friend on a Central Park bench when Wilson noticed the amateur player had two kings to his opponent's three.

Wilson bet Brendter he could not win the game. Brendter not ony won that match but eight others, each of which cost Wilson $1.00.

The Real Estate Operator had the player arrested.

PEACE CRUSADE MADE BY WOMEN IN GREAT BRITAIN

Countesses and Charwomen Unite in Walk to Speak in London.

LAW FOR WAR.

Will Urge Government To Take Lead in Disarmament Conference.

LONDON, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Countesses and charwomen are trudging along country roads together in a peace crusade which will enter London on June 19th, and gather in Hyde Park, where women speakers will demand peace, saying they are tired of the talk of politicians and diplomats. The women stop at the towns on the way, reading their peace resolutions at every halt. The idea started last January at a meeting of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom at Geneva. The movement is led by Mrs. Pethick Lawrence, and many prominent men are lending their support.

The peace resolution states that the supporters of the pilgrimage, believing law should take the place of war in the settlement of international disputes, urge the Government to agree to settle all such disputes by conciliation or arbitration and by taking the lead in the proposed disarmament conference of the League of Nations to show Great Britain does not intend to appeal to force.

Jury Returns Verdict After Over Five Hours Considering Evidence

Defending Counsel Criticizes The Examiner's Display Policy While Lauding Its Splendid Work in the Community—Judge Finds No Contempt of Court in Stories or Headings.

JUDGE COMMENTS ON FOREIGN WORK.

Charitable Activities of Churches and Societies Abroad Are Mentioned By His His Honor in Charge to the Jury—George Dwyer's Trial Starts.

After deliberating more than five hours to-day, the Jury sitting in the case of Mrs. Mary Dwyer, 26, of Dummer, returned a verdict of "Not Guilty" at 2.45 this afternoon. Mrs. Dwyer had been charged with neglect of her step-children.

In accepting a motion by F. D. Kerr, K. C., defending counsel, for the discharge from custody of Mrs. Dwyer, His Honor Judge Huycke spoke kindly to her, saying that he thought everyone is sorry for her and sorry because of the circumstances. He impressed upon her the serious responsibility that developed upon her in caring for the children. She had had hard circumstances, but at the same time it seemed evident that she might have reported the condition of the little boy, and obtained proper attention for him. His Honor spoke encouragingly to Mrs. Dwyer, and as she left the bench she was weeping.

Suggests Contempt

F. D. Kerr, K.C., suggested to His Honor that it might be well if the details of his talk with Mrs. Dwyer were not published in the newspapers, but His Honor, remarking that he had only spoken words of encouragement, said he had no objection.

Mr. Kerr then drew His Honor's attention to yesterday's issue of The Examiner asking him to take cognizance of the front page. The part to which he referred, although he did not read it in court, was a heading on the front page, "Dwyer Child Never Learned a Prayer." He asked the Court to express strongly an opinion of The Examiner, and the reason he mentioned The Examiner was because he believed in starting at home. Referring to it as "that great leader of public opinion, with a wide field of circulation, having wide influence and wide power," he protested the "prejudicing" of cases before or during trial.

"I hope the Court will express the opinion that in future the newspapers should not, with their zeal to do right and their zeal for news, unwittingly prejudice the trial of the prisoner—it is un-British, unethical, and unfair," Mr. Kerr continued. "I refer not only to the newspaper report at the time of the trial. During the last two days we have seen startling, sensational, American journalistic type of headings, tending to pervert justice."

Esteems Good Work.

Mr. Kerr remarked that it might appear unwise on his part to make comment such as this, but after thirty years practice at the bar endeavouring to see fair play and justice, he felt obliged to do it. "I esteem the fact that the Examiner does a splendid work in the community, but I think it might formulate its display plans rather less after the American plan.

BRAZIL TO HOLD AMERICAN IDEAL

Letter of Resignation From Council of League Sets Forth Stand.

IDEALS NECESSARY.

GENEVA, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Brazil's message to the League of Nations announcing her resignation from the League Council, was made public to-day.

Calling attention to the dangers confronting the League, Brazil says she firmly intends to leave to the great powers the responsibility they seek to undertake and for her part to remain faithful to "the American ideals, without which the world would never succeed in terminating the armaments or in obtaining the reign of peace on earth."

"Without these ideals," the message says, "the world would never have force to punish a war of aggression as an international crime, and substitute obligatory arbitration for the violence hitherto followed."

WORLD DESTINY WILL REST HERE

Says I.O.D.E. Speaker, Urging Upholding of British Ideals.

ASKS UNIFORMITY.

SAINT JOHN, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Predicting that if not in this generation, certainly before the end of the next generation the future destiny of the world would rest with Canada, Miss Charlotte Whitton, in a plea before the meeting of the National Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire last evening, urged devoted striving for the upholding of British ideals in this land and evolving of uniformity in the Dominion, especially in child welfare and social legislation.

SAMARITAN WOMAN SUBJECT OF SERMON

Rev. D. N. Cameron Gives Helpful Address at Bethany Tabernacle.

Yesterday afternoon's service at Bethany Taber...le at three o'clock, was a wonderful help to all who were present. The subject was "Walking in the Truth," a study in John 2nd epistle.

The night meeting at 7.45 was addressed by Rev. D. N. Cameron who is conducting a two weeks' series of meetings. His theme was "The Woman of Samaria, taken from the 4th chapter of John's Gospel. "In this Gospel Jesus is giving out a message for the whole world," he said. "The Woman of Samaria is a very striking case, because many people in our day are like her. She came for water to the well to quench her thirst, but Jesus spoke to her of the living water which He could give. Water is a necessity to all, but perilous if poisoned. Yet much of the so-called water of life given out to thirsty souls to-day is poisoned at its source.

"There is a lot of church-going, and a lot of Bible-reading which does not satisfy the soul, because there is a lack of truth in it all. Where do you get the Water of Life? Only from the Word of God, as revealed by Jesus Christ.

"As He knew all about this woman's life, though a stranger to Him, humanly speaking, so He knows every secret of our lives, even to our thoughts. She tried to shield herself by saying: where she and her people worshipped. He said. "I am here to let you know how and when to worship." So many to-day are trusting in their church profession, which is not in accordance with God's plan. Her question was: "How am I to get this never failing but ever refreshing water of life of which you speak When He told her, she said, "You must be the Messiah." He said: "I am."

"What was the result of the meeting in her life? She forgot her water pot and did what every Christian should do to-day. She went and told the people of her city she had met the Messiah. Her message resulted in a great awakening among the people, and later when Philip, the evangelist, went to that city there was a great revival.

"Why is it that there are so many unsaved people in Peterboro They are trying to satisfy the hunger and thirst in their lives by various schemes prompted by Satan. If they were thirsting after the water of life and were anxious for salvation, no building in Peterboro would be large enough to hold the anxious ones. This well of living water would mean many changed lives for all who would partake thereof."

Mrs. E. V. Warne sang very acceptably that beautiful hymn: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus say," at the close of the address.

DUTIES ON CARS PASS COMMITTEE

Stand For Final Reading in House of Commons Now.

OTTAWA, June 11 (Canadian Press).—The budget proposals reducing the import and excise duties on automobiles passed the committee stage in the House yesterday and stand for final reading. The bill reduces the Customs duties on American automobiles valued at under $1,200 from 35 to 27½ per cent.; on those valued at over $1,200 from 35 to 20 per cent. The five per cent. luxury tax on cheap Canadian-made cars is abolished. On the American car it remains.

"BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES"

By MALCOLM DUART

COPYRIGHT 1926

The Characters and Situations in this Story are entirely fictional.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HARRY MORTON, wealthy, middle-aged, attractive to women, and unmarried, divides his time between his home in Peterborough and his expensive apartment in Toronto.

AUDREY, his adopted daughter, loves him.

So does Nona, a Toronto dancer, who has just made a tremendous hit in a new production. She has become friends with Audrey.

JOHN PARRISH, Morton's secretary, who is in love with Audrey, has just quit his position in despair of ever winning the girl.

At the end of the last chapter, Audrey and Morton have come from a midnight supper in Nona's rooms, where her success was celebrated. Arising late, Audrey tells Morton that she hasn't slept well, and asks him why she wouldn't make a good wife for him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIX.

Morton was beginning a quizzical response, when he stopped.

Audrey's face was twitching. A tremor in her arm kept her hand quivering upon his. As he looked, the movements in her lips became a pulsating, convulsive jerk.

He sprang to his feet. She was beginning to sob.

"Nona—everybody has something—something to live for—everybody but me!"

She was in his arms, with her head on his shoulder. He was kneeling beside her, uttering little soothing sounds. Her sobs grew louder.

"Nobody—nobody at all—Mr. Parrish gone—you don't—don't care!"

Her words were barely distinguishable.

"Audrey! Audrey!" His own voice was choked with anxiety and fright. "Don't try to talk! Come on dear, and I'll take you up to your room."

She tried to arise, but her knees crumpled weakly beneath her. He caught her, and lifting the light young body, almost ran with her to the stairway, and up to her room.

On the way, he called loudly for her maid.

Audrey's sobs had resolved themselves into a steady, rhythmic clicking, broken by short, disconnected phrases. "Nothing to do—not worth anything—love you—tired!"

He laid her on her bed, and on one knee beside her, he frantically chafed her wrists, and smoothed her forehead. She was not looking at him. Her eyelids were growing heavy, and her eyes dull.

While the maid was hurrying with ammonia and smelling salts, Audrey's eyes closed entirely, and the sobbing ceased.

Morton arose, and ran down stairs his face dead-white, and his lips drawn to a narrow bloodless line.

At the telephone stand, his hands shook as he leafed over the directory. Once he dropped the book, before he found the number of the doctor he sought. The physician was not at home, nor at his office. Morton tried another number. His agitation was increasing, and his shaking hands scarcely could hold the instrument.

It was nearly an hour before a little plump physician, a stranger, came in answer to Morton's frantic plea. He stopped to listen to the few hurried words of explanation that Morton gave him. Then he trotted up the steps, and went to the bedroom, where Audrey still lay in her morning dress, on top of the coverlet. He placed his hand on her forehead, felt her puise, listened to her heart with his stethoscope, and turned to Morton.

"This is out of my line," he said. "Complete nervous collapse, I should say. I'll recommend a physician who can handle that."

He scribbled a name and address on a piece of paper, and handed it to Morton. "I'll call up the doctor, and ask him to come in as soon as he can. Meanwhile, put the young lady to bed, and don't do anything. There is nothing for you to do."

The girl lay, breathing faintly, her face wax white. Her fair hair was crumpled over her brow, and her hands, as colorless as her face, were relaxed as they lay beside her. Audrey's maid, badly frightened, looked to Morton for instruction.

"Undress her, and help her into bed," he said, dully.

He turned and went out the door, shutting it after him. Slowly and heavily he went down the steps, his head hanging. As he reached the lower hall, he sank upon the steps, and sat there, his hands loose in his lap, his eyes staring vacantly into the room.

The butler asked him for instructions. He shook his head.

"Audrey is very ill," he said. "Do whatever you wish. I'm waiting for the doctor."

It was well into the afternoon before the specialist arrived. He was a stern, pale, spectacled man, who moved quickly and with decision. He examined the slumbering form upon the bed, lifting the closed eyelids, and testing the faintly beating heart.

When he was done, he motioned Morton to follow him to the drawing-room below.

"The young lady should go to a hospital for proper care." He shot a keen glance at Morton. "But if she leaves here, I'm afraid I'll have another nervous patient on my hands. What is your relationship to her, sir?"

"I adopted her when she was a little child, Morton said. Folding his hands tightly together, to restrain their trembling, he went on. "What is it, doctor?"

"She has collapsed, nervously," the physician said. "I believe my colleague told you that. Evidently she has been living for a long time under an unnatural strain. Will you please tell me briefly her experiences of the last year or so?"

Slowly, searching his mind for facts, Morton told how he had kept Audrey by his side, almost the whole of her youth except for two or three winters when she was away at boarding school. He told how she had divided her time between Peterborough and Toronto, depending upon him for entertainment. He related, haltingly, how Audrey had fallen in love with him, and pleaded with him to marry her; how she had run away; how he had found her again; of her determination to go into a cabaret show to learn how other women managed to fascinate him; under what circumstances she had dropped this idea; of her declaration that she was useless in the world.

The specialist, who had been studying him as he spoke, now brusquely interposed. "And so, my dear sir, you have contrived to wreck a very fine and beautiful organism. Mr. Morton, it is you who have sent that little creature to bed there."

Morton strained forward. His eyes were wide and fixed, and deep lines had engraved themselves from the corners of his nostrils down past his mouth. He was the picture of mental agony.

"But, doctor," he pleaded, "I've given her everything in this world that money could buy."

The doctor snapped his fingers. "Except a real and normal life."

He stood up, and walked about the room as he proceeded.

"Young and tender plants require to be left alone, to grow undisturbed in their own soil. If they are transplanted, they often die."

Morton, with his hands crossed, was gripping his own wrists so tightly that white bands showed along the edge of the straining fingers.

The doctor went on. "Miss Morton has not had the kind of a home she needs. She has had no mother. She has had no normal companionship with young people. You did for her according to your lights, the best you could, I suppose. But she should have had a place where, in the absence of a mother, she herself could have been the head of a woman's household. You moved her back and forth, between the two cities. She never has had a chance to take root."

He paused to light a cigaret. Then he went on, coldly professional.

"The soul, or the nervous system, or whatever you choose to call it, has tendrils, just as a climbing vine. She has been reaching out her tendrils, seeking for something to cling to. You were the nearest male—so her affection centered on you. You tell me you repulsed them—insisted on treating her as a child."

The doctor leaned over, and tapped Morton on the shoulder. "She is not a child now. She is a woman. She wants a home. She wants a life of her own. Every one of those movements of hers—her going into that absurd chorus—her calling for the chorus girls to come and visit her—every one of these was a danger sign. Couldn't you see it, man?"

Morton shook his head, slowly. His fingers tightened on his wrists.

"Then," said the specialist, resuming his march around the room, "you threw her into the company of older stage girls. She doesn't understand their lives, nor their philosophy. There is no reason why she should understand it. A rose will die when transplanted to an arid desert soil. In her endeavor to adjust herself, she simply wilted—collapsed."

He pulled reflectively at his cigaret, and from one side, eyed the stricken man who sat before him.

"I will send some nurses here, to care for her," he said. "I would take her away—but you've been living under a great strain yourself."

He stepped over, and bent Morton's head backward so he could look into his eyes.

"You've lived under a strain for a long, long time," he continued. "I don't want you as a patient too. I'll leave the young lady here."

Morton's eyes dumbly thanked him. Then he said: "How did you know I've lived under a strain?"

The physician smiled. "It is the sort of thing that doctors know," he said.

After a moment's hesitation, he went on. "The confessional is a great institution, Mr. Morton. I'm not going to ask you to tell me what it is that you are covering up, in your life You're not my patient. You are stronger than Miss Morton, and you can endure the strain that you have imposed upon yourself. But watch out man—we're none of us such sturdy machinery, after all."

He turned to the hall, to get his hat and stick. Morton followed him.

"The nurses will come very shortly," he said, with his hand upon the door-knob. "They will bring certain instructions, and a very little medicine."

He opened the door.

"But doctor," Morton pleaded. "Will she get well?"

The doctor looked straight into his eyes.

"She will not die," he said deliberately, "but whether she will get well—I cannot tell you."

He passed into the hall, and shut the door.

Quick Relief for Rheumatics

Local Druggists Sell Rheuma on Money-Back Plan

If you suffer from torturing rheumatic pains, swollen, twisted joints, and suffer intensely because your system is full of that dangerous poison that makes thousands helpless and kills thousands years before their time, then you need Rheuma, and need it now.

Start taking it today. Rheuma acts at once on kidneys, liver stomach and blood, and you can sincerely exclaim: "Good riddance to bad rubbish."

Many people, the most skeptical of skeptics right in this city and in the country hereabouts, bless the day when McDermid & Jury and other druggists offered Rheuma to the afflicted at a small price and guaranteed money refunded if not satisfied. If you have rheumatism get a bottle of Rheuma today.

CORDOVA MINES DEBATERS WIN

Defeat Hartley's Team in District Final of Young People's League.

SPEAK AT OMEMEE.

OMEMEE, June 11 — A small audience greeted the debating teams of Cordova Mines and Hartley who met in Omemee on Monday night, this being the central point of meeting. The debaters are connected with the Young People's League of the Lindsay District and are out in an effort to win the district shield.

Each team was accompanied by a group of young people who came to lend encouragement to their respective teams.

After the opening hymn, Mr. F. G. Sandy greeted the visitors with a few well chosen words of welcome. Mr. Harold Weir was critic and Messrs. Benson, of Hartley, Ferguson of Cordova Mines and Rowland of Omemee were judges. The subject under discussion was "Resolved that the Spirit of Co-operation as against the Spirit of Competition is in the better interests of our commercial Life."

The affirmative was supported by Misses Moore and Perdie, of Cordova Mines, while the negative was ably upheld by Messrs. Campbell and Spence, of Hartley.

The subject was well handled and gave evidence of much preparation on the part of the contestants.

Following the debate, Mr. Harold Weir gave in a kindly manner his criticism giving credit to each speaker and at the same time pointing out the few errors. Special congratulations were extended the young men from Hartley on their style of delivery, polish, etc.

The decision of the judges was given in favour of the Cordova debaters they having gained three points over their opponents.

During the evening a piano duet was given by the Misses Race and a vocal solo by Rev. E. W. Rowland.

After the singing of the League hymn, dainty refreshments were served to the visitors by the young people of Trinity League, and the visitors left for their homes well pleased with the kindness shown in Omemee.

The final debate is likely to be held in Omemee within the month, when the winning team of Monday evening will meet here, the winning team from west of Lindsay.

Women Secure

against lost charm this new way of solving oldest hygienic problem

SHEER gowns and ill-timed social or business demands hold no terror for the modern woman. The insecurity of the old-time "sanitary pad" has been ended.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better-class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops ALL danger of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

A MILLION PICKEREL FRY.

Deposited in Rice Lake and the Trent River.

HASTINGS, June 11. (Staff Correspondence.) — One milion pickerel fry were deposited in Rice Lake and the Trent River on Tuesday. They were delivered from the Ontario government's hatchery at Picton, and four tanks of the fingerlings were opened in the river above this town and seven tanks at the east end of Rice Lake.

In addition to this restocking of the river, two cans of trout were transferred to Williams' pond in Percy township, near Dartford.

The large shipment of fry was received in response to the request of Mr. Walter Fowlds, who is a member of the town council, and of the Trent Waterways Association.

Although there is general satisfaction here with the restocking of the local waters, the more ardent fishermen would have preferred bass to pickerel, and in fact are at a loss to understand why bass fingerlings cannot be more easily obtained from the government hatcheries.

The bass is recognized by sportsmen as one of the gamest of fish, while the pickerel responds to the hook with about as much protest as a piece of driftwood.

The world is a comedy to those that think, a tragedy to those that feel.—Walpole.

TRINITY W.M.S. HEARS REPORT

Omemee United Church Ladies Attend Meeting in Spite of Rain.

FINE ADDRESS.

OMEMEE, June 11.—The June meeting of the W.M.S. of Trinity United church was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W.J. Kennedy. The day proved to be a showery one but in view of the report of the Presbyterial, which was on the programme for this meeting. A large gathering of ladies braved the elements and the spacious drawing room and rooms adjoining were filled to capacity. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. E. W. Rowland, who presided in her usual capable manner. Following the devotional exercises, reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. E. Bradburn, the secretary and Mrs. T. C. Ivory. Two items of business were next brought before the meeting, the first being a suggestion that work should be started for the bazaar to be held in the fall. Accordingly a committee composed of Mrs. Robert Williamson, Mrs. Harry Lamb, Mrs. J. Shields and Mrs. F. G. Sandy, was appointed to look after the purchasing and handing out of materials to be made up. The second item dealt with was a request from Rotarian Reesor, of Lindsay, asking that some society of the United church cater for a banquet to be given in Omemee in the near future, to the Peterboro and Lindsay Rotarians and their wives who will meet in Omemee. After considerable discussion the ladies decided to raise in this way money to buy material for their bazaar.

At this juncture of the meeting Mrs. H. Lamb read a devotional leaflet on "Prayer." This was followed by the report of the Presbyterial recently held in Lindsay and of which a splendid report was given by Miss Marjory Connell.

Rev. Mr. Rowland rendered a pleasing solo entitled "My Task," after which Miss Annie Thompson, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, formerly of Omemee addressed the meeting. Miss Thompson told of the work of her sister, Mrs. Cook, and her husband in West China, giving a most interesting account of their work in the foreign field. It was of great interest to the gathering to learn that Miss Thompson, who has been attending the Missionary Institute in Nyack, N. Y., for the past three years, is leaving now to take charge of a home mission near Edmonton. Miss Thompson's address was much enjoyed by all present.

Prayer by the pastor brought a most interesting meeting to a close after which a social half hour was thoroughly enjoyed by all, with Mrs. P. Race, Mrs. H. Lamb and Mrs. Kennedy as hostesses.

BANDIT ROBS MAN IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

Then Makes Auto Driver Take Him Away From Scene.

BRANDON, Man., June 11 (Canadian Press).—At the point of a revolver a lone bandit secured seventeen dollars from Andrew Birmingham in broad daylight just north of the city Tuesday afternoon. The robber also made the auto driver take him a mile west, after which he started walking toward the city. City and Provincial police are searching the district but have not yet located the robber.

Almost like magic

FOR 50 years bluing was good enough—but now comes Whitex. Whitex is not a bleach—nor a dye, nor a bluing—but a scientific compound for whitening clothes. Without harming even the most delicate or fine things—Whitex leaves them pure and white—without blue spots or streaks. To use Whitex simply shake it into what you formerly called your "rinse or bluing water". For restoring the whiteness of fabrics which have become dingy or yellow—Whitex acts almost like magic. You can use Whitex with perfect assurance that it will not injure anything—no matter how sheer or fine or delicate.

Use Whitex next washday—you will not be without it again.

THE HUDSON BAY RAILWAY.

A vote of three million dollars for the Hudson Bay Railway passed in the House of Commons without a division.

It was opposed by a number of Eastern Conservatives, but Western members of the Opposition were strong in their support of the vote.

Western sentiment regardless of politics endorses the Hudson Bay project; here in the East there is very strong feeling that the railway is hopeless as a commercial proposition and that the county is not justified in plunging into any more railway expenditure.

Time will tell which viewpoint is correst,—the only thing that is clear at the present time is that Canada is to be committed to the undertaking because Westerners are almost unanimous in backing the project while Eastern members of the House are putting political obligations ahead of any other consideration.

NATIONAL DEFENSE.

The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire will not be found following the leadership of Agnes McPhail and other Canadian opponents of military training.

The annual meeting of the National Chapter of the organization has unanimously passed a resolution favoring the restoration of Canada's former military status and pledging the Chapter to use its influence towards that end.

This support will be appreciated by those patriotic officers who have been struggling to keep the breath of life in a militia organization that has been well nigh starved to death.

The complete restoration of the militia system, as recommended by the Daughters of the Empire, may not be fully endorsed by the Canadian public, but there is at least evidence of an awakening to the danger of allowing the whole machinery of defense to go to the scrap heap.

The present situation cannot continue.

The militia is not being furnished enonugh money by the Government to maintain even the framework of a volunteer army intact.

The very least in the way of national defense that could be done would be to enable the present organization to function efficiently.

It cannot under the conditions as they exist today, and the whole burden is being thrown upon officers who have already earned the gratitude of their fellow-citizens for their services at home and abroad.

ROTARY'S PROGRESS.

This week the Kiwanis clubs of the continent have been holding their International convention at Montreal.

Next Monday Rotary International will meet at Denver, Col., for its annual convention.

Business and professional men representing thirty-five countries, journeying from Australia, Japan, the Philippines, South Africa, Spain, Holland, Norway, and Sweden, the Balkan States, as well as from all other important countries of the globe will attend the gathering to gain knowledge of the activities of Rotary, and develops new energy for the participation of their clubs in the local affairs of their many communities where Rotary encourages and fosters better conditions, commercial, social and civic among its many benefits.

This gathering of probably 10,000 Rotarians becomes a revelation of the influence of friendship and brotherly feeling among men of experience and position who have found that the elements of Rotary possess a reason for their being—or becoming—natural human beings, expressing their fellowship and comradeship in common intercourse, and with a conceited feeling of service to all humanity itself.

That the demand for the increasing development of the institution of Rotary has been met by the secure supervision of the organization of each new club is shown by the fact that there have never been any paid organizer and that only one charter has ever been surrendered.

The growth of Rotary has been amazing.

Upon solid foundations of practical service well defined and correctly understood, its advance, first from Chicago in 1905 to the West and then to the East, clubs being formed in San Francisco, Seattle, Oakland, New York, Boston, and Minneapolis was followed by a general development which has spread throughout the world.

FLAUNTING THE FLAG.

General Sir Richard Turner objects to American tourists flying their own country's flag on their cars while touring in Canada. His protest is based on the fact that they often forget to unfurl a British ensign as well. Sir Richard would go to the length of forbidding the flying of American flags altogether, according to an interview reported from London.

There seems no need to lay down an absolute ban, but it would be quite reasonable to insist on the British flag in company with the United States colors on such occasions. This flag question reveals a curious trait in human character, quite noticeable in the American complex. Intensely nationalist while they are abroad, most of them, it would probably be found, actually believe they are creating a favorable impression atleast akin to envy and certainly not divorced from admiration, by such practices when in another country. At homes they are continually deluged with tributes and glorified ballyhoo about their own country. Being a young nation, their crowd instincts are easily roused, and they can become intensely patriotic with little cause upon public occasion. Talking with them in private you might easily become amazed at the frankness with which they criticize the so-called liberty and freedom for which they mean their flag to stand.

It is necessary to see it from that viewpoint, if one is not to judge them harshly for flaunting their flags in Canada. They mean no offense. They do not recognize that their patriot rah-rah becomes humbug when paraded here. Courtesy, rather than laws might convince them of their want of tact. Signs at all points of entry might point out emphatically that they are now in another country as independent as their own, whose people are as proud of traditions and as keenly sensitive to the spell of back-slapping as are they. Traffic officers everywhere might help the movement by suggestion rather than by command.

On the other side of the line it is different. One would speedily be corrected if he flew a British flag without the American colors to keep it company. That need make no difference to our attitude. Canadians should deal with the flag question assuming that they, even without flags, would remember their flag manners abroad. Then they can act without prejudice.—Border Cities Star.

SIR RICHARD WOULD BE DRASTIC.

Sir Richard Turner, V.C., has called attention to the exclusive use of American flags by visiting motorists and he would even go so far as to make a law to stop this flaunting of the Stars and Stripes in the face of Canadians, unless the American flag was accompanied by the British Union Jack.

There is no question of the offence. When a Canadian sees a garish Ameriean-made car flying through loaded with trippers flying Stars and Stripes, he dosen't care whether he is a Supreme Court Justice or what not, he is just naturally riled somewhere down in his patriotic soul. That there are so few incidents of trouble over these bad manners by visitors is an evidence of Canadian restraint, patience and courtesy. We are able to look in patronizing fashion on this new-brought American superiority complex. Americans are intensely nationalistic while they are abroad. Most of them, it would probably be found, actually believe they are creating a favorable impression at least akin to envy and certainly not divorced from admiration, by such practices when in another country. At home they are continually deluged with tributes and glorified ballyhoo about their own country. Being a young nation, their crowd instincts are easily aroused, and they can become intensely patriotic with little cause upon public occasion. Talking with them in private you might easily become amazed at the frankness with which they criticize the so-called liberty and freedom for which they mean their flag to stand.

It is up to Canadians not to take flag incidents too seriously. Large signs at the border points requesting visitors to fly both flags or none would have an effect. General courtesy on this side will have its effect in due time. The international amenities will be acquired. It will pay Canadians in the long run to study this angle of the increasing tourist business. A better understanding between the two people, and that means wider knowledge of each other, is well worth while.—St. Catharines Standard.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

An old-age pensions bill has been passed by the Dominion House of Commons, and its passage has naturally led to considerable comment, favorable and unfavorable, in the Canadian press. There is apparently an expectation on the part of the critics—perhaps it would be better to call it a hope—that the measure will never become law. Even if approved by both Houses of Parliament, it is pointed out, it rests with the Provinces to make it effective, since half the cost of the proposed pensions is to be borne by the Dominion Government and half by the Government of the Province, if it is decided to adopt the plan. Seeing that every Province is more or less worried over its existing obligations, it is thought little likely that any arrangement of the kind will be entered into with the Federal Government. But, providing the pensions scheme goes through, it is by no means so certain that it can be so conveniently ignored by the Provinces. Political considerations, if not sentiments of humanity, may conceivably bring the subject prominently to the attention of the electorate. It cannot be said that the proposals are extravagant. To qualify for the pension an applicant must be seventy years of age or over, and must have resided in Canada for twenty years or more. The maximum pension is $20 a month, which works out at less than 66c a day. This amount is to be reduced, however, according to the income of the pensioner, which, in any case, must not exceed $350 a year. The effect of the scheme will be to bring up the daily income to $1—surely a modest enough sum as living costs are at the present time.

What would be the cost of putting such a plan into operation in this Province? According to the census of 1920 there were 40,912 persons of seventy years and over in Ontario. Many of these, of course, would be ineligible for a pension. Some could not meet the residence requirement of twenty years and others would be barred by reason of their financial standing. It is the experience of countries which have adopted old-age pensions schemes that many of those entitled to receive the allowances do not claim them. Australia, for instance, reports that only 40 per cent. of eligibles apply for the pension. For purposes of calculation we will assume that half the old people of Ontario would make application for the pension, and we will put the average sum paid out at $200 per pensioner. The contribution of the Provincial Government, under these circumstances, would amount to about $2,000,000 a year. There would be the cost of administration to be added. It is probable, however, that the actual amount paid out would be very much less than this. In any event, the question is not one which will be allowed to be forgotten. The example of other progressive countries shows the plan does not have the effect of "pauperizing the people," as opponents charge. The prospect of obtaining a maximum of $240 a year is surely not sufficient to deter Canadian citizens from the effort to save for their future comfort. Those who can afford to provide for their old age will do so in their own interests, and those who are unable to do so are worthy of the compassionate assistance of their Province and their country.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

An American paper says Boston was the telephone's birthplace. Boy, please page the Brantford Expositor.

Lindsay and Peterborough are now connected by a motor bus service. The railways are feeling th competition of their gasoline-propelled rivals in every district.

"Shricking automobile horns" complains the Ottawa Journal, "do not add to the dignity of the wedding." Nor are they evidence that the guests are intelligent.

Peterborough is well represented in Cleveland today and a goodly representation of Cleveland people in this district during the summer should follow.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

THANKS R. R. HALL.

Dear Mr. Editor;

Please tell me whose city this is? Is it ous, or is it the Hydro's?

If we can't have the yellow buses on Romaine street and further south, why can't the red buses take that route? We south-enders got a taste of service, and we are not children to be put off with an indefinite answer.

We take this opportunity to thank Mr. R. R. Hall for his valuable information from time to time in your equally valuable paper.

CADET TRAINING.

The Editor of The Examiner:

In your issue of June 8th "Canadian" expresses himself as a supporter of Cadet training in our schools in the following manner: "As to their (the ministers of the gospel) views on military training. If their wishes were carried out, and another war should come, our boys would be sent to war, unfit and untrained, to be slaughtered by the trained armies of other lands."

In the Great War our Canadian soldiers played a part second to none and covered themselves and their country's name with glory. How many of them were trained before enlistment? How much practical use was their Cadet training to such as had taken this course in school? It it is a well known fact that all former tactics known to warfare, had to be abandoned and the old text books thrown away. It is already admitted that should another war break ont the fighting tactics will not be those of the last war. In the opinion of the writer the training given our Boy Scouts is a better course than that of the Cadets. It teaches first af all resourcefulness, and that is the quality the Canadian troops displayed to a very high degree in France.

We have a military college in Kingston where annually a bunch of men are turned out who are capable, or should be, to take charge of a company of raw recruits who have had scout training, and as was done in the last war, whip them into the very best fighting units the world can produce.

Germany in the late war had a magnificently trained army, but without initiative, and we know they were the reed the Kaiser leaned on, and they failed him. The training of a Boy Scout fits him for war or for peace, and it is in the days of peace our country needs him most, if the great unexplored hinterlands of Canada are to be conquered. There are two sides to every problem and no doubt Mr. Burnham and "Canadian" overlooked this aspect of the case.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Sellers greatly outnumbered buyers in the wheat market yesterday and gave prices a material setback Sharp breaks in the premiums obtainable for immediate delivery wheat at Kansas City and Omaha had a bearish effect on future deliveries here, and so, too, did rains widely scattered from Canada south to Kansas

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1 1-4 to 2 3-4 net lower, with corn 7-8 to 1 1-8 off, oats 7-8 to 1 1-4 down, and provisions at 7 to 30c decline.

Right from the outset, buyers shied away from wheat It was generally conceded that the government crop report was a bullish document, but the majority of traders took the view that the report had been discounted beforehand. Notwithstanding that large sections of Nebraska and Kansas sent advices that crop damage was beyond stoppage by moisture, the fact that weather conditions were more favorable northwest did a good deal to stimulate selling and weaken values, especially toward the last, when cash wheat premiums had given way at Kansas City and Omaha.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Extreme dullness again marked the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market yesterday owing to the fact that English importers refuse to pay the higher prices asked here. A firmer feeling prevailed in the ocean freight market for continental room and the rates are now quoted at 14 cents per 100 pounds to Antwerp for heavy grain, to Rotterdam 14 1-2c, and to Hamburg 15 cents.

The volume of business transacted in cash grain on the domestic market was small, but the feeling was steady

The feature of the flour trade was the weaker feeling that developed in the winter wheat situation and prices were reduced 20 cents per barrel.

Prices for spring wheat grades were well maintained under a quiet demand.

While the undertone to the market for all lines of millfeed was easier, prices were unchanged Indications point to a general reduction in values in the near future. The demand for standard grades of rolled oats was again somewhat limited and the market was quiet with prices steady.

A stronger feeling developed in the hay market owing to the continued heavy movement to the United States and prices were advanced 50 cents to $1 per ton.

Prices for potatoes were steady with a fair amount of business passing. The offerings were ample to meet all requirements.

STERLING EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Sterling demand $4.85 5-8.
Sterling cables $4.86 1-8.

The Extra Milling Tells

BY APPOINTMENT TO HIS MAJESTY THE KING

PEERLESS Erasmic Soap outlasts two or three cakes of ordinary soap, because it is more thoroughly milled.

Soap is milled by machines which press out the water. The average soap goes through the pressing machines four to ten times.

Peerless Erasmic is milled from twenty to forty times—its texture is finer—it is smoother and more compact—hence lasts longer. Your money goes farther if you buy Peerless.

Sarnia Ratepayers Reject By-law To Purchase Bonds Of Street Railway Company By a Majority Of 131

SARNIA, Ont., June 11.—(Canadian Press).) —Ratepayers in a special referendum today rejected a by-law by which the city would purchase $50,000 worth of bonds of the Sarnia Street Railway Company. The vote was, for the by-law 808 against the by-law 939. A negative majority of 131. The bond issue was for the purpose of retiring matured debentures of the railway and officials have intimated that defeat of the by-law would bring an end to the street car service. No statement was issued after the result of the referendum was known but it is not expected that the service will be discontinued at once. The total bond issue to redeem debentures is $90,000 the company to raise $40,000 by other means.

CAMPBELLFORD COUNCIL TURNS DOWN R. S. SOUTHWORTH OFFER

Attractive Gasoline Filling Station To Be Erected—Public Lavatories Scheme Off.

BARN DESTROYED.

(Staff Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11. —R. S. Southworth's proposal to provide public lavatories in a new gasoline filling station at Bridge and Rear Streets on condition of certain financial concessions from the town was declined by the Council at a special meeting Thursday afternoon. Last Monday night, he asked for exemption from taxation, but Mr. D. J. Lyuch, town solicitor, informed the Council, yesterday, that such a grant would be illegal.

As an alternative, Mr. Southward suggested that the Council pay him a rental of $100 a year for the lavatories which would be open the enwas turned down on Reeve Davidson's motion, seconded by Councillor MacDonald.

At the regular meeting Mr. Southworth deferred announcing the kind of building he purposed erecting, but yesterday he disclosed his plans for a motorists' service station modeled after the attractive designs in vogue in the large cities. He said, Campbellford needed public lavatories and he was willing to instal and maintain them for the people generally if the Council was willing to strike off all taxes except for schools and local improvements.

Such a concession was equivalent to a bonus which Mr. Lynch reminded the Council was prohibited unless approved by a vote of two-thirds of the Council and a majority vote of the ratepayers. A tax reduction was, therefore, out of the question.

Mr. Southworth countered with an offer to provide public lavatory convenience for which the Council should pay a rental of $100 a year, but Reeve Davidson's motion burked that idea.

The Reeve and Councillor Stone have gas stations and automobile supply shops, and it was felt that concessions granted to one man would probably bring similar requests from competitors.

It is understood that Mr. Southworth will proceed with the erection of the building and improvement of the property which, he promised, would eventually be one of the town's beauty spots.

Begin Sewer Work.

On Mr. Stone's motion, seconded by Mr. MacDonald, work will be started as soon as possible on the Second Street sewer.

Barn Burned.

A huge barn on Dr. George Hay's farm on the 7th concession of Seymour, occupied by Harry Dunk was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon with 14 bushels of grain. Dr. Hay told Examiner the cause was unknown, and the flames were not discovered until they were well advanced. There was some insurance on the building which will be replaced. The farm is about a mile east of the Exhibition Grounds.

Board of Trade.

CAMPBELLFORD, June 11. — Organization of an Eastern Ontario Board of Trade is one of the objectives of the convention of municipal representatives at Belleville Tuesday, June 22, sponsored and promoted by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, Industrial, Electrical and Transportation questions will be discussed among others suggested by the delegates, but a concrete permanent result is likely to be the establishment of a Board of Trade embracing Eastern Ontario from Whitby to Ottawa.

The convention opens with registration at 10 a.m., and civic welcome at 11 and luncheon at the Hotel Quinte at 1 p.m.

RAILWAY OUTLET FROM PEACE RIVER NOT POSSIBLE YET SAYS ENGINEER'S REPORT

Says Best Route is Via Edmonton Over Existing Lines of Railways.

NOT ECONOMICAL.

River in Some Places Has Cut a Channel 1,000 Feet Deep.

OTTAWA, June 11 (Canadian Press).—A railway outlet from the Peace River district to the coast will not be economically possible for some time to come, says a report issued by the five railway engineers who have been investigating Peace River railways on behalf of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways

Discussing the relative merits of the proposed Western routes that is direct to Vancouver or Prince Rupert, the report says:

"Certain interests intimate that the study of the problem is incomplete without proper weight being given to that vast potential territory tributary to the northern part of the Peace River and Great Slave Lake. We fully agree with this. The natural western rail outlet for these potential products must pass through a common point at, or near, Berwyn which is about 15 miles west of Peace River crossing).

"To ascertain the best operating route to Vancouver for these products is to find the best route, Berwyn to Vancouver."

The proposed western routes are the Obed route, the Monkman Pass and Canadian National Railways route, Pacific Great Eastern and and C.N.R. route, P.G.E. and C.P.R. route, the Peace Pass, Canadian National Railway route, and the Peace Pass, P.G.E. and C.P.R. The report finds that the Obed route, with 906 route miles and 410,400 train miles, offers less route miles and the least train miles of any of the alternative routes to Vancouver.

"The studies show conclusively that for a long time to come the most economical route is, not by western outlet, but via Edmonton over existing lines of railways. This statement can not be questioned for the reason that the excess interest charges on the initial investment in the most economical of the proposed routes is over ten times the extra cost of hauling the assumed initial traffic via Edmonton."

Comparing the Obed route with the existing route via Edmonton and Canadian National Railways to Vancouver, the report finds that the former would involve extra interest charges of $548,200 per annum and extras cost of operation $40,683 per annum. The report adds:

"When the traffic develops to an amount of six or eight times the assumed initial traffic "over thirty times the present average) all going to Vancouver or Prince Rupert, the construction of the Obed line would be justified.'

Basis of Computation.

The report takes the Obed route as the basis of its computations of cost and estimate or results of operation. On other routes the results would be more favorable, the report says. On this route, at the best available rate, the loss on operation would be about a million dollars the first year. It might be hoped that this deficit might be gradually wiped out in the first 25 years. To carry this loss would require a present day subsidy (assuming the money was obtained at 5 per cent) of $8,718,824.

Commenting on the geographical peculiarities of the country to be traversed, the report points out that the Peace River is an enormous body of water which has cut a channel which sometimes reaches a depth of 1,000 feet. This means that between Hudson Hope and Peace River Crossing, 230 miles, there is no practical railway crossing of the river.

The tributaries to the Peace also have cut so deep into the aluvial soil that east of Hudson Hope railway crossing would be dificult and ex-

CUSTOMS PROBE CONCLUDES TO-DAY

Auditors Report They Were Unable To Locate Books Required.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Expectation is that the investigation into the administration of the Department of Customs and Excise by Parliamentary Committee will conclude to-day. Yesterday's brief sitting was devoted to the receipt of auditors' reports and the examination of a few witnesses on points raised by these reports. In answer to a question by D. Donaghy, M.P., a member of the committee, the auditors stated that the books of four Toronto firms which they had examined were found to be perfectly satisfactory. These firms were Stapells-Fletcher, Limited, Silks Limited, Doherty Manufacturing Company, Limited, and Prince Manufacturing Company. The remaining firm, A. E. Rea and Company, it was reported, had not been engaged in business for a great many years.

Witnesses yesterday answered a number of questions put by R. L. Calder, K.C,. committee counsel, on the business of the European Silk Company, Toronto, and the Clever Dress Company, of Montreal. In the case of both these firms the auditors reported that they were unable to locate all books and records required.

PLAN TO REDUCE COST OF COAL

Recommends Use of Newly Invented Dumping Cars.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Recommendation that recently invented coal dumping cars, now in use at Toledo, Cleveland and Detroit, should be placed in operation at Montreal and Toronto, to reduce the cost of handling fuel, was made by Thomas Draper, president of the McMurray Asphaltum and Oil Co., Edmonton, at yesterday's sitting of the special committee of the House investigating Canada's coal supply.

Mr. Draper testified that these new dumping cars could unload and load coal at a rate of seven or eight cents per ton, as compared with forty or fifty cents under the crane and bucket method. The installation of these dumping cars would enable the consumer to purchase coal at a reduction of thirty-two cents or more per ton.

Fuel Controller Ellis of Ontario is expected to give evidence at to-day's sitting.

BOOM EXPECTED AT CONCLUSION OF COAL STRIKE

British Industrialists Are Optimistic Regarding Future.

MIGHT BE WORSE.

Sports Do Much To Keep the Country From Brooding.

LONDON, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Although the industrial situation in Great Britain and the unemployment problem are anything but bright at present, British industrialists generally are quite optimistic concerning the future.

The Asquith-Lloyd George family row in the Liberal party, golfing and cricket and other sports are doing much to keep the country from brooding seriously over the situation despite the fact that there are approximately 3,000,000 idle workers, including the coal strikers.

The iron, steel, shipbuilding and various other industries unquestionably have been hard hit by the coal stoppage which began May 1st. Transportation has been reduced fully one-half, and pleasure steamers and trains have been curtailed. Yet the view in many quarters is that the situation might be worse.

"We'll muddle through somehow," was a common saying during the world war, and Britishers have taken to repeating it now. Most manufacturers are optimistic and some actually are visualizing a trade revival, which will develop into a boom as soon as the squabble between the mine owners and the miners reaches some kind of a conclusion.

BOOKS MISSING SAY AUDITORS

Had Apparently Been, Destroyed By Fire on Company's Premises.

GOODS UNDERVALUED.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Report on the affairs of the Royal Cloak Company was tabled in the Customs probe yesterday. It finds that some of the books of the company are missing, having apparently been destroyed in a fire which occurred in the company's premises in 1924, or been lost during the transfer of the offices to new premises.

Comparison of the files of the company's purchasing agents in New York lead the auditors to believe, says the report, that their goods were undervalued on the Customs invoices from time to time. The total of these undervaluations, according to this comparison, was $6,344. In addition, goods valued at about $500 appear to have been shipped but not passed through the Customs.

Because of the missing records, the auditors were not able to establish if all the sales tax has been paid by the company. The company had two subsidiaries, the Continental Cloak Company and the G. and S. Dress Company.

SON SLEW MOTHER DECLARED INSANE

Struck Her Over Head With a Stick of Wood.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Wasyl Kowbel, 34 years old, father of five children, and declared to have the mentality of a child, will not stand trial for the slaying of his 70-year-old mother, clubbed to death at the family farm, near Caliento, Southern Manitoba, February 19, 1926. He was declared insane by a jury at the Winnipeg Assizes yesterday, and will be "confined in custody during the pleasure of the Governor-General."

Mrs. Anniel Kowbel was killed when she attempted to chastize Wasyl for not cutting a supply of firewood for the house. The woman was struck over the head with a stick of wood.

BURNED TO DEATH IN BOARDING HOUSE

Was Trapped on Second Storey—Four Others Injured.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Trapped on the second storey when fire swept through a boarding house adjacent to the Burnett Lumber Company here, Yung Sang, 30, was burned to death yesterday. Of four other Chinese injured, Lee Chung, 35, is not expected to live.

The frame building, which was totally destroyed, was valued at $5,000. The large mill nearby was not endangered.

PATENAUDE HAILS WITH FAVOR DECLARATION OF MR. MEIGHEN CLOSES BREACH BETWEEN THEM

Says He Is Happy To Align Himself With Him.

EXPRESSES CONFIDENCE

Conservative Leader Declares His Intention of Speaking in Quebec Province.

MONTREAL, Que., June 11. Canadian Press. — "I am happy to hail with favor the declarations of Mr. Meighen and to align myself with him in his work for our country."

In these terms the Hon. Esiof L. Patenaude in a statement issued to the newspapers yesterday afternoon definitely closed what was regarded as a wide breach separating him from the right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Federal leader of the Liberal-Conservative party, and indicated that the differences which rent the oppositionists in Quebec throughout the course of the last election campaign have now been composed.

"Remembering the past, and inspired by the thoughts and aspirations of the Fathers of Confederation, Mr. Meighen is endeavoring to gain both unity within his party and unity within the Dominion of Canada. Speaking in my own name," the statement of Hon. Mr. Patenaude says, "I desire to associate myself with these sentiments, and I have confidence that all true Conservatives will do the same."

The speech delivered by Mr. Meighen at the Forum, to which Mr. Patenaude refers, was made last Friday evening in the Forum. In the course of his address the Conservative leader said:

"I would like to allude briefly to the last Federal campaign. I have been told that since the elections, several of my good Liberal friends in this province have been pouring out abundant tears and wasting considerable sympathy on me. They are sorrowful over the 'insult' directed against me at not being invited to speak here during the campaign. I have only one word to say on this. Personally, I regret, and I have always regretted, the divergence of organization and party leadership in this province from the general march of the great Conservative party throughout the country. But I do not desire to blame the organizers of this campaign; I know that they have been guided by the best intentions, but experience as shown that the principal motive which prompted them—that of preventing the resurgence of prejudices which my presence, perhaps, might have revived, has been frustrated, since my absence has served only to intensify them.

"With regard to the distinguished statesman who directs the Conservative forces of this province, I can assure him that I entertain for him the most kindly sentiments. From the beginning of his campaign to the end, Mr. Patenaude preached the same principle of Conservative doctrine, and with great ability he sought to explain to his compatriots here the wisdom of restoring to their former force and authority in Canadian public affairs those principles which, practiced by Cartier and Macdonald, have become the pillar on which Confederation rests. I am convinced that in the direction of this campaign, as in the accomplishments of other important tasks in his career, Hon Mr. Patenaude was animated by a lofty conception of duty towards his country."

Senate Committee Passes Borah's Question About Blockade Damages.

HAS CAUSED STIR.

WASHINGTON, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Senator Borah's resolution calling upon the State Department to tell the Senate how many Americans have claims against Great Britain for damages during the British blockade in the World War and what steps are being taken to collect from the British Government was favorably reported to the Senate yesterday by the foreign relations committee Senator Borah introduced the resolution several weeks ago, causing considerable stir in London and some embarrassment to Secretary Kellogg, who has since been gathering the information sought and is understood to be ready to reply at once.

WEDDING BELLS.

BROWN—STINSON.

NORWOOD, June 11.—The marriage took place on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stinson, Asphodel, of their eldest daughter, Ruby, to Mr. Maxwell Brown, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Brown, also of Asphodel. The young couple left on the afternoon train on a trip to Tonawanda, N.Y. On their return they will reside in Asphodel where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

ALLEN—LOVETTE.

NORWOOD, June 11—Miss Florence E. Lovette, formerly of Norwood, and a graduate of Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro, was married at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Manse, Windsor, on Sunday, May 30, 1926, to Mr. Harry Allen of Detroit, son of Mrs. Alice Allen of Division street, Peterboro. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Paulin. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Powell of Windsor. After the ceremony they left by boat on a trip to Port Huron, Mich., and other points.

HARRINGTON—MURRAY.

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church, Downeyville, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Murray became the bride of Clare, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Harrington, all of Downeyville. The bride who entered the church on the arm of her father was attired in a gown of white crepe with a tulle veil and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and was accompanied by her sister, Miss Ida, of Brantford, who was attired in pink, with hat to match. The groom was assisted by his cousin, Frank Harrington. Miss Loretto Harrington, cousin of the groom, presided at the organ and at the offetory Mrs. Patrick Perdue sang 'O Salutaris." The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Galvin and during the signing of the register W. C. Herlihey sang a solo.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party, with their immediate friends, repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Harrington left on the 3.40 train for Rochester, N.Y., and other points for a short honeymoon and on their return will reside in Emily. We all join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Harrington many years of wedded life.

THOMAS F. CROWLEY.

DOWNEYVILLE, —June 11—The funeral of the late Thomas F. Crowley was held from St. Luke's church, Downeyville, Friday morning and was largely attended by crowds from Lindsay, Peterboro and Ennismore.

The late Thos. F. Crowley was a life long resident of this place until a year ago when he moved to Peterboro with his wife and family. He was born here 61 years ago and received his education at the Downeyville school. He was esteemed and respected by all as was shown by the very large funeral and his death came as a great shock to his many friends here.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John O'Connor of Douro; Ed. Crough of Ennismore; David and William Crowley of Lindsay; Daniel Hickson and Michael F. Crough of Peterboro.

Among those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Messrs. David and William Crowley, Thos. Flynn of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hickson, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Twomey and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Crough of Ennismore; Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Crough, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Thos. Turcott, Miss Jane Crowley of Peterboro; Mrs. Thos. Perdue of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Daniel Winn of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. John O"Connor of Douro.

MICHAEL MULHALL.

GRAFTON, June 11.—A number from this village were at Cobourg on Tuesday attending the funeral of the late Mr. Michael Mulhall, who for twenty years was the genial proprietor of the Mansion House in this village. Mr. Mulhall retired five years ago and moved with his family to Cobourg. He was born at Cobourg, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mulhall, and was married in that town to Miss Rose Dunnagan. Surviving him are his widow, two sons, Arthur of Detroit, and Harold, manager of the Castleton branch of the Standard Bank and seven daughters, Mrs. Richard Heenan, Cobourg; Mrs. Thomas Heenan, Grafton; Mrs. A. F. Allen, Colborne; Miss Annette Mulhall, graduate nurse of Rochester; Miss Gertrude, graduate nurse of Toronto; Misses Patronella and Eileen at home. Among out-of-town friends and relatives present at the funeral were, besides the immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee of Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ford ,Brighton; Mr. Wm. Craig, Colborne; and quite a number from Toronto. The funeral took place to St. Michael's church and cemetery, Cobourg. The pall-bearers were: James Bulger, John E. Quinn, Andrew McGowan, Cobourg; Reuben Lawless and James Timlin, Grafton; Wm. Craig, Colborne.

MRS. R. G. DOBIER.

WARKWORTH, June 11. — Phrone Macfarlane, B.A., wife of R. G. Dobier, local manager of the Canadian Packing Company and daughter of Rev. John F. Macfarland, pastors of the Wesley United church, and Mrs. McFarland died recently at her residence, 271 First avenue, Ottawa.

News of her death will come as a great shock to her many friends and acquaintances in the Capital, for thoug she had been in ill health for some time, her friends had hoped for her recovery. She was in her twenty-fifth year. Born in Dundas county Mrs. Dobie had spent much of her early life there. She came to Ottawa with her parents and in 1921 was married to R. G. Dobier. She was a graduate of Queen's University, finishing her course in 1922, having taking her last year extramurally.

She was a member of Chalmers United church and was active in church work up till the time of her illness. She was the first president of the Queen's Alumnae Association in Ottawa and always took a keen interest in the work of that organization.

Mr. Dobier himself has been in very ill health and returned from the Civic Hospital a couple of days before his wife's death.

Besides her husband she leaves one son, Murray Dobier, four years of age, her mother and father, two sisters, Miss May T. Macfarland, a graduate nurse, who is on the staff of the Toronto General Hospital and Miss Agnes Macfarland attending Queen's University, and one brother, Maxwell T. Macfarland, student at Queen's University. Mrs. Dobier had one brother, Murray Macfarland, who was killed overseas on September 3, 1918. He was twenty-one years of age. The funeral was held Friday afternoon.

Deceased was a former resident of this village during the time Rev. Macfarland was pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church.

MANY FARMERS AT BARN RAISING

Over Eighty, Help William Davis Build New Barn Near Warsaw.

HIRED MEN SCARCE.

WARSAW, June 11.— William Davis has put up a new barn, forty-four feet by fifty feet, to replace the one destroyed by lightning last Fall. The raising was on Monday afternoon. Roland Payne was builder. There were over eighty men at the raising, and everything went off perfectly.

Some went to the raising in hopes of getting a man to hire, but they were disappointed.

Milk is collected at Warsaw factory on Sunday and separated. Those expecting whey on Monday morning get separated milk.

The rains on Monday and Tuesday were very welcome.

Corn and potato planting are the order of the day. Some corn is already showing.

Publisher of Edmonton Bulletin Issues Statement About Charges.

EDMONTON, Alta., June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—The Edmonton Bulletin published yesterday the following statement by its publisher, Charles E. Campbell: "On December 3rd last, in a publisher's statement in the Edmonton Bulletin, and subsequently in an action for damages in the Supreme Court of Alberta, I made certain charges against the Canadian Press, J. H. Woods, of the Calgary Herald, and John M. Imrie, of the Edmonton Journal.

"These charges were made in good faith on information which I believed to be true, but which I have since found was incorrect.

"With reference to the Canadian Press, I have settled my difference with organization and have applied for membership in it. I have found on further enquiry that the directors of the Canadian Press, in dealing with my application for a morning news service last fall, exercised their functions according to their by-laws and are desirous of facilitating newspaper publication in Edmonton to the fullest extent within these by-laws.

"It has been shown to my satisfaction that the Edmonton Journal and Mr. Imrie personally did not oppose, but actually supported my application, also that such conditions as were supposed by Mr. Woods as president of the Canadian Press were suggested in good faith. They were in fact such as to be subsequently approved by the directors of the Canadian Press as proper under the circumstances covering an interim news service in advance of consideration of an application for membership. That part of my statement of claim alleging conditions proposed was based in part on memory and I have since found was incorrect in certain respects. None of the conditions suggested had any relation whatever to trades unions or agreements with the same.

"I desire, therefore, to make a complete retraction of the charges made in December last and have instructed my solicitors to withdraw the legal action then taken against the Canadian Press, Mr. Woods and Mr. Imrie.

Signed) "Chas. E. Campbell." (

HOUSE PASSES RAILWAY VOTES

Three Million For Hudson Bay Line—Money For Canal.

FOR CONSTRUCTION.

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—After discussion again occupying the major portion of Wednesday's sitting, the House late at night passed a vote of $3,000,000 for the Hudson Bay railway. The vote went without a division.

The purpose of the vote is to put into shape for operation the 332 miles of road from Le Pas, Manitoba to Kettle Rapids, on which steel has already been laid.

Immediately after the passing of the Hudson Bay vote, the House, without discussion, passed two votes for the Welland canal, one was $14,000,000 for construction; the other $145,250 for an additional payment to contractors.

HIGH SCHOOL PICNIC VERY SUCCESSFUL

Lowering Skies Fail To Halt Omemee Students' Outing.

OMEMEE, June 11 — The grey skies and cool weather which heralded in the King's birthday failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the High School students who, in defiance of the weather conditions set out in cars for their annual picnic which was held this year at Thurstonia. The sunshine of youth and laughter seemed to have a pleasing effect on the weather man and Old King Sol beamed forth in all his glory about 5 p.m., thus helping to warm up the atmosphere. Ball games and other sports were thoroughy enjoyed and it was a very hungry group who partook of the picnic supper, which was crowned by ice cream and lemonade.

The party returned home when the evening shadows were lengthening, having enjoyed to the fullest their holiday.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR BAD STOMACH GIVES QUICK RELIEF

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet—Famous but Simple Old English Recipe Keeps Stomach in Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meal or overeat of anything, but within reason most folks may eat what they like — if they will keep their stomach sweet clean and active and free from the souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion.

And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a small amount of pure Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless and inexpensive form of Magnesia that promptly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A week's trial of Bisurated Magnesia, which may be obtained from any druggist for only a few cents, will easily convince you of the great value of this old English recipe.

Be sure and get BISURATED Magnesia—not a laxative.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY CONCLUDES SESSION

Decides To Move Record To Toronto—Liquor Resolution.

MONTREAL, June 11. — (Canadian Press.)—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, has adjourned to meet next year on the first Wednesday in June in Knox church, Stratford, Ont. The closing sederunt saw a decision to transfer the Presbyterian record from Montreal to Toronto and a resolution against traffic in strong drink as a beverage, not, however, without a warning from Dr. R. W. Dickie, of Westmount, Que., that the Assembly shoud avoid anything savoring of politics.

DWYER DID NOT SUPPLY MONEY

In some trials, such doubt was a that stood between a person and con viction.

He wanted the jury to come with him to a class of home, into which most of them could thank Providence they were not born. Many of them could say that in their homes, they had experienced closeness, hardship and sometimes, penury. But the sad tale of suffering and poverty that had been unfolded in the Court was one that overwhelmed the strongest. The sympathy of every one of them went out to the poor children.

The charges were that, having the means, she wickedly, wantonly, and selfishly refrained from giving the children what they needed. The jury themselves remembered a time when a mother cared for them, smoothed their pillows, tended them in sickness, and appeared to them encircled with the halo of a saint. It was given to few to do what this mother had done, even to the extent of taking a whipping to save the little ones Providence had placed under her womanly care.

More than that, underfed and harassed, she went out into the woods, working with a cross-cut saw, doing a man's job to help to bring in a little more food for the children.

Counsel dd not want to say much about the husband. He was a poor man, evidently proud. Hood, in one of his poems wrote lines that were applicable to the condition accused found herself in.

Work—work—work:
My labor never flags,
And what are my wages? A bed of straw,
A crust of bread—and rags!

She had struggled. She had failed, in spite of her efforts to keep starvation away.

The same thing had happened in different ages. It was occurring in more than one home in Canada, at the present time. The newspapers had made write-ups of the brutal stepmother, that were like the fairy tales given to children. But instead of a wicked step-mother what they found was a poor, half-starved, broken woman, beaten by her husband, and deprived of the necessaries of life. She was tried for that for which she was no more responsible than was the cork, for the moving of the waves on which it floated.

She can do nothing," said Mr. Kerr. you and I can do nothing, but organized society can do much for the children. If a moiety of the money spent on this trial and on newspaper notoriety had got out to that home in Dummer there would have been no tragedy and no trial."

Counsel went on to say, that on Mrs. Dwyer had been imposed a task which the ancient Egyptians failed to do. When they sought to have the Israelites make bricks without straw, God took the enslaved people away. This woman could not make bricks without straw, and now she was charged with neglect of duty.

Men," he cried, what is duty." You men who live in the city, where there are policemen on the streets, and who are physically strong yourselves, did it ever occur to you what it meant to be associated or living in a lonely district with a man, half crazy, struggling to keep two families growing, perhaps a man of wrathy temper: and you put a half-starved woman there, in an isolated settlement where he could wreck his wrath on her regardless of any physical force put up against him. They had to think of that woman. It was not difficult to picture them. The boy who, it was admitted, had quarrelled with his father, had stated that he had seen him knock her down. And then it was asked why the woman did not show more courage. The woman, who, on another occasion, had taken a beating to save the children, was charged with failure to provide necessaries. This woman had put up a great struggle. She lost. Should she be put up against a wall and shot down because she had failed.

Let them take the story of the children. Children were naturally truthful and naturally imaginative: give them time and their little minds would soon bring up pictures.

He asked the jury to remember that the girl had said that her mother had done the best she could with regard to what she had.

Time went on. The little children had always called her 'Mammy,' and their imagination, and possibly their ambition to prove that they could do things better than anyone else, or to figure as the victims of the cruelty of a step-mother brought them to the point when they called her step-mother. It was Mammy' at the inquest.

It was significant that little George replied Yes,' when asked if he was told to be sure and not to forget to tell about the mitts.

The mother deprived the child of the mitts! The same mother who did the sewing, gave the Christmas gifts, took the beatings, picked up the clothes and made them things not of rags, but of patches!

Dr. Holdcroft came on Little's instance. How did Little get started? By Mrs. Dwyer. It was Mrs. Dwyer who urged the father to get a doctor—and he went to Sutton. It was Mrs. Dwyer who asked the father not to work the boys so hard.

Mrs. Dwyer did not have to go into the witness box. She could have sat there in the court, but she wanted to go and tell at first hand what had never got to the public before. It was the story of a woman who had done the best she could.

He asked the jury to look at the clothes. Was the step-mother doing her duty when she patched and patched, when she got Christmas presents for the children, and when she took a licking to save the boy?

When Nellie was asked, Did mother do the best she could?" she replied, Yes, she did the best she could." Could that be said of them all?

The Township Council of Dummer had met, the Legislature had met, and the City Council had met and the only thing that had come out of it all was the prosecution of the mother who had done her best.

Out in Dummer, this woman had gone into the woods to saw a little wood for the sake of her own children and those of the woman who lay in her grave. In the witness box she said, I loved them all. I loved the little fellow who was dead."

Living with a powerful, bad-tempered man, beaten, bruised, scolded, abused, giving birth prematurely to a child, and allowed to lie like a log, to get well as best she could, this woman had done more than any of them could have done. If that woman sitting there before them did not do her duty, who had done it?

On March 2, before she had seen a lawyer, she had made a statement which was written down by the constable. Counsel read the statement, laying special emphasis on the portion dealing with the lack of proper provision for the family needs.

Dwyer, he said, with a relentlessness that showed more determination than judgment, had declared the horses would be paid for even if the whole family starved. He asked the jury to rise to the height of their position and give the woman the benefit of the doubt.

Mr. MacKay, at the evening sitting, prefaced his address to the jury with a word of congratulation for the attentive manner in which they had followed the evidence. He was much impressed by the able and eloquent address of the learned counsel for the defence.

As counsel for the prosecution, it was his duty to assist in laying before them the facts in such a way as to enable them to come to a calm, reasoned decision.

It was proper and necessary that the Crown should take notice of cases such as the one before them. It was only through trials, vexatious though they might be, that society could be protected. One life had been lost: others were endangered. It was for the jury to determine who was responsible.

The law regarded human life with the greatest sanctity, because only on this was the welfare of society based.

Had it ever occurred to the jury what would happen if the law was not enforced? They could not hold property. They could not walk down the street in safety. Churches and philanthropic institutions would cease to be. No clergyman could preach from the pulpit or officiate at the altar. The strong would oppress the weak. Terror and vice would be rampant.

They could see how necessary it was that the law should be enforced.

He asked them to come with him, for a brief time, to the Dwyer's home in Dummer. He asked them to recall Mr. Maker's evidence. They would remember the evidence which showed the condition of the home; how he found the little boy in a semi-conscious state. When Mr. Maker asked if the boy was suffering, she said she did not think so. When Mr. Maker asked about the boy's feet, both s[illegible]nd her husband said they were all right. [illegible]en the sock was being removed, she said the boy was suffering from a ring on his toe, then she admitted that it had been frozen.

What was the object of these untruths? That was for the jury to decide.

Was it possible or probable that these untruths were told to hide neglect on the part of accused? That was for the jury to decide.

The next evidence was that of Dr. Clark. They would remember that he had stated that the emaciation must be due to starvation. The little boy who should have weighed 75 or 80 pounds, weighed only 30 or less. The marks showed that his hands and feet had been frozen. This was evidence of neglect. Whether that neglect was due to accused, was for the jury to determine.

Then there was the evidence of Dr. Sutton. They would remember that the husband had consulted him about the boy. Two days later. Dwyer called at the house or office of Dr. Sutton and said the boy was better. That was on the nineteenth. On that day, Dr. Holdcroft visited Dwyer's boy and though the husband of accused had reported the boy better, and that the matter in his ear was broken. Holdcroft examined it and found no indications of the discharge of pus from the ear.

Now, from what source did this story originate? That was for the jury to decide.

They would remember the statement of Dr. Holdcroft when, at Mr. Little's instance, he went to Dwyer's house. He said he had been in the slums of New York and Chicago, and had never seen in either of those cities, such evidence of starvation as he had seen in Dwyer's house. He had also said the emaciation was due to starvation. He said, as did the other medical men, that in his opinion, the boy's condition was such as to endanger his life and to injure permanently his health.

The evidence of Dr. Erb confirmed the weight of the lad. He also pointed out that with regard to the frame of the body, the lad's weight should have been about 75 pounds. Yet it weighed only 30 pounds or less.

The boy's death was due to meningitis, but the doctors had said that inasmuch as strepticoccii meningitis was an acute disease, of short duration, the extreme degree of emaciation was not due to that, or any other disease.

Then the evidence of Mr. Edgar pointed out a difference between the appearance of the children. Was there a reasonable explanation of this? That was for the jury to decide. Let them turn to the impressive evidence of Nellie. She emphasized the difference in the treatment meted out to her two little brothers and herself, as compared with that of the other members of the family. She told that when the little lad fell ill at his task, Mrs. Dwyer said that he was feigning. The learned counsel for the defence had brought forward no evidence to explain or rebut this evidence. What did it mean when she threatened to whip the little lad, groaning, unconscious and on the edge of eternity, if he did not keep quiet. Nellie had explained the fact that the little lad was ill fed, ill clad, and that his feet were frost-bitten. It was true that efforts were made to help the little boy at times during his illness, but that looked like locking the stable after the horse was stolen.

Little George was extraordinarily straightforward in giving his evidence. He told everything. He was not in court when his sister gave evidence, but it was absolutely corroborative of the statement that accused treated the children differently. Which member of the family did the jury believe—the child or the mother? Both could not be speaking the truth.

Next came the evidence of Mr. Little, who said he went of his own volition and accord to get a doctor when the boy was dying. Accused said she asked her father to go. Which of them did the jury believe? They could not believe both. It was the jury to decide who was telling truth.

They would remember that Mrs Dwyer said that in the middle of December she was two weeks in bed during the time of her miscarriage. In cross-examination she said that she worked every day in December chopping wood except one or two days in which she was doing chores inside the house. Here were distinctly contradictory statements.

There was one other point. That was when she recognized that the boys were in a starved and dying condition; did she or did she not use all reasonable and proper precautions to relieve them? Did she ever try to lay these facts before the authorities? Did she try to use the services of her father?

It would appear that a husband and wife were jointly and severally liable for the maintenance of their children. Was there sufficient excuse for the omission of accused to provide the necessaries? That was for the jury to decide. A great deal of emphasis had been laid upon the dominance of the husband. Was it so great as to make her forget her vows; the duties she owed to the children? That was for the jury to decide.

His Honor intimated that he had intended to give his charge to the jury that night, but on consideration, he had decided to defer it until the following day. The Court adjourned until 10 o'clock today.

PATENAUDE HAILS WITH FAVOR, ETC.

tics of the Hon. Mr. Patenaude took place during the last general election campaign, when, having relinquished his seat in the Provincial Legislature, he re-entered the Federal arena after an absence of eight years In 1917 he had become Secretary of State in the Union government, but split with that body on the question of conscription.

In the election battle of last year, Mr. Patenaude, who ran for the Jacques-Cartier Division of Montreal against Theodule Rheaume, accompanied his restoration to the Federal field with an address at St. Laurent, wherein he declared himself as "free of Mr. Meighen," as he was "of Mr. King." Mr. Patenaude's position was accepted as an anomaly by his political opponents, who charged him with attempting to create a third party. This Mr. Patenaude denied, declaring that his principles were those of Cartier and Macdonald.

Many Conservative candidates nominated in the province characterized themselves as "Patenaudistes" or "Patenaude Conservatives."

The result of the election saw only four Conservatives, all English-speaking, elected in Quebec province, there being Sir George Perley in Argenteuil, R. S. White, in Mount Royal; Leslie C. Bell, in St. Antoine, and C. H. Canan, K. C., in St. Lawrence-St. George. Mr. Patenaude himself was defeated in Jacques Cartier, and no French-Canadian Conservative was elected in the province, which sent 60 Liberals, one independent, and four Conservatives to the House of Commons.

Following the election the charge had frequently been made that Mr. Meighen had been prevented by the Conservatives themselves from speaking in Quebec during the campaign, and that disunion prevailed in the provincial ranks of that party. The first step of the leader of the Opposition towards answering this was when he took an active part last December in the by-election in Bagot rendered vacant by the death of the sitting member, Mr. Marcil and contested in the Conservative interests by Hon. Andre Fauteux. His address in Montreal last Friday night followed. In it Mr. Meighen stated that he had had several invitations to speak throughout the province delivered through Senator LEsperance, and that he proposed to avail himself of the opportunity of doing so as soon as possible.

The report concludes as follows:

"Our instructions do not call for recommendations. We may, therefore briefly sum up the result of our studies in the following conclusion:

1.—The route vio Bied is the best Western outlet to the Pacific. That is from a national standpoint or from the standpoint of the Canadian Nation Railways. It may not be the best from the standpoint of the C.P.R. as it implies using part of the Canadian National Railway lines.

2.—The minimum immediate outlay will be $13,336,000.

3.—To fully develop the section we have considered, will require a minimum outlay of over $80,000,000 and this does not include any betterments on existing roadways.

4.—There is no hope, even with the existing freight rate of about 39 cents per 100 lbs. for the line to pay even operating expenses on the immediate traffic or on a traffic many times the present traffic.

5—There seems little hope of the line being self-supporting at rates even fifty per cent higher than the present ton mile freight rate on grain to Fort William for similar distance.

6.—It would be more economical to handle the business, regardless of the rate received, over the existing lines until the traffic was many times the present."

A shaving cream that's changing the shaving habits of the world

Palmolive Shaving Cream is a scientific creation. We worked 18 months to perfect it; made up and discarded 130 formulas before we hit the right one.

We started by asking 1000 men what they most desired in a shaving soap. Then met their exactments one by one. It is different in formula, action and effect from any other shaving preparation known.

5 unique advantages over old-type soaps, creams, powders

In 5 distinct ways, this unique preparation excels over all others. You'll note them all first time you use it. It has won millions of men from old-time preparations. Its success is a national sensation. Men are literally flocking to its use.

1—It multiplies itself in lather 250 times.
2—It softens the beard in one minute.
3—The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face.
4—The extra strong bubbles support the hairs for cutting, where weak bubbles let them fall down.
5—The blend of palm and olive oils brings fine after-effects. It makes the cream also a lotion.

DWYER DID NOT SUPPLY MONEY

In some trials, such doubt was a that stood between a person and con viction.

He wanted the jury to come with him to a class of home, into which most of them could thank Providence they were not born. Many of them could say that in their homes, they had experienced closeness, hardship and sometimes, penury. But the sad tale of suffering and poverty that had been unfolded in the Court was one that overwhelmed the strongest. The sympathy of every one of them went out to the poor children.

The charges were that, having the means, she wickedly, wantonly, and selfishly refrained from giving the children what they needed. The jury themselves remembered a time when a mother cared for them, smoothed their pillows, tended them in sickness, and appeared to them encircled with the halo of a saint. It was given to few to do what this mother had done, even to the extent of taking a whipping to save the little ones Providence had placed under her womanly care.

More than that, underfed and harassed, she went out into the woods, working with a cross-cut saw, doing a man's job to help to bring in a little more food for the children.

Counsel dd not want to say much about the husband. He was a poor man, evidently proud. Hood, in one of his poems wrote lines that were applicable to the condition accused found herself in

Work—work—work:
My labor never flags,
And what are my wages? A bed of straw,
A crust of bread—and rags!

She had struggled. She had failed, in spite of her efforts to keep starvation away.

The same thing had happened in different ages. It was occurring in more than one home in Canada, at the present time. The newspapers had made write-ups of the brutal stepmother, that were like the fairy tales given to children. But instead of a wicked step-mother what they found was a poor, half-starved, broken woman, beaten by her husband, and deprived of the necessaries of life. She was tried for that for which she was no more responsible than was the cork, for the moving of the waves on which it floated.

She can do nothing," said Mr. Kerr. you and I can do nothing, but organized society can do much for the children. If a moiety of the money spent on this trial and on newspaper notoriety had got out to that home in Dummer there would have been no tragedy and no trial."

Counsel went on to say, that on Mrs. Dwyer had been imposed a task which the ancient Egyptians failed to do. When they sought to have the Israelites make bricks without straw, God took the enslaved people away. This woman could not make bricks without straw, and now she was charged with neglect of duty.

Men," he cried, what is duty." You men who live in the city, where there are policemen on the streets, and who are physically strong yourselves, did it ever occur to you what it meant to be associated or living in a lonely district with a man, half crazy, struggling to keep two families growing, perhaps a man of wrathy temper: and you put a half-starved woman there, in an isolated settlement where he could wreck his wrath on her regardless of any physical force put up against him. They had to think of that woman. It was not difficult to picture them. The boy who, it was admitted, had quarrelled with his father, had stated that he had seen him knock her down. And then it was asked why the woman did not show more courage. The woman, who, on another occasion, had taken a beating to save the children, was charged with failure to provide necessaries. This woman had put up a great struggle. She lost. Should she be put up against a wall and shot down because she had failed.

Let them take the story of the children. Children were naturally truthful and naturally imaginative: give them time and their little minds would soon bring up pictures.

He asked the jury to remember that the girl had said that her mother had done the best she could with regard to what she had.

Time went on. The little children had always called her Mammy,' and their imagination, and possibly their ambition to prove that they could do things better than anyone else, or to figure as the victims of the cruelty of a step-mother brought them to the point when they called her step-mother. It was Mammy' at the inquest.

It was significant that little George replied Yes,' when asked if he was told to be sure and not to forget to tell about the mitts.

The mother deprived the child of the mitts! The same mother who did the sewing, gave the Christmas gifts, took the beatings, picked up the clothes and made them things not of rags, but of patches!

Dr. Holdcroft came on Little's instance. How did Little get started? By Mrs. Dwyer. It was Mrs. Dwyer who urged the father to get a doctor—and he went to Sutton. It was Mrs. Dwyer who asked the father not to work the boys so hard.

Mrs. Dwyer did not have to go into the witness box. She could have sat there in the court, but she wanted to go and tell at first hand what had never got to the public before. It was the story of a woman who had done the best she could.

He asked the jury to look at the clothes. Was the step-mother doing her duty when she patched and patched, when she got Christmas presents for the children, and when she took a licking to save the boy?

When Nellie was asked, Did mother do the best she could?" she replied, Yes, she did the best she could." Could that be said of them all?

The Township Council of Dummer had met, the Legislature had met, and the City Council had met and the only thing that had come out of it all was the prosecution of the mother who had done her best.

Out in Dummer, this woman had gone into the woods to saw a little wood for the sake of her own children and those of the woman who lay in her grave. In the witness box she said, I loved them all. I loved the little fellow who was dead."

Living with a powerful, bad-tempered man, beaten, bruised, scolded, abused, giving birth prematurely to a child, and allowed to lie like a log, to get well as best she could, this woman had done more than any of them could have done. If that woman sitting there before them did not do her duty, who had done it?

On March 2, before she had seen a lawyer, she had made a statement which was written down by the constable. Counsel read the statement, laying special emphasis on the portion dealing with the lack of proper provision for the family needs.

Dwyer, he said, with a relentlessness that showed more determination than judgment, had declared the horses would be paid for even if the whole family starved. He asked the jury to rise to the height of their position and give the woman the benefit of the doubt.

Mr. MacKay, at the evening sitting, prefaced his address to the jury with a word of congratulation for the attentive manner in which they had followed the evidence. He was much impressed by the able and eloquent address of the learned counsel for the defence.

As counsel for the prosecution, it was his duty to assist in laying before them the facts in such a way as to enable them to come to a calm, reasoned decision.

It was proper and necessary that the Crown should take notice of cases such as the one before them. It was only through trials, vexatious though they might be, that society could be protected. One life had been lost: others were endangered. It was for the jury to determine who was responsible.

The law regarded human life with the greatest sanctity, because only on this was the welfare of society based.

Had it ever occurred to the jury what would happen if the law was not enforced? They could not hold property. They could not walk down the street in safety. Churches and philanthropic institutions would cease to be. No clergyman could preach from the pulpit or officiate at the altar. The strong would oppress the weak. Terror and vice would be rampant.

They could see how necessary it was that the law should be enforced.

He asked them to come with him, for a brief time, to the Dwyer's home in Dummer. He asked them to recall Mr. Maker's evidence. They would remember the evidence which showed the condition of the home; how he found the little boy in a semi-conscious state. When Mr. Maker asked if the boy was suffering, she said she did not think so. When Mr. Maker asked about the boy's feet, both s. and her husband said they were all right. en the sock was being removed, she said the boy was suffering from a ring on his toe, then she admitted that it had been frozen.

What was the object of these untruths? That was for the jury to decide.

Was it possible or probable that these untruths were told to hide neglect on the part of accused? That was for the jury to decide.

The next evidence was that of Dr. Clark. They would remember that he had stated that the emaciation must be due to starvation. The little boy who should have weighed 75 or 80 pounds, weighed only 30 or less. The marks showed that his hands and feet had been frozen. This was evidence of neglect. Whether that neglect was due to accused, was for the jury to determine.

Then there was the evidence of Dr. Sutton. They would remember that the husband had consulted him about the boy. Two days later, Dwyer called at the house or office of Dr. Sutton and said the boy was better. That was on the nineteenth. On that day, Dr. Holdcroft visited Dwyer's boy and though the husband of accused had reported the boy better, and that the matter in his ear was broken. Holdcroft examined it and found no indications of the discharge of pus from the ear.

Now, from what source did this story originate? That was for the jury to decide.

They would remember the statement of Dr. Holdcroft when, at Mr. Little's instance, he went to Dwyer's house. He said he had been in the slums of New York and Chicago, and had never seen in either of those cities, such evidence of starvation as he had seen in Dwyer's house. He had also said the emaciation was due to starvation. He said, as did the other medical men, that in his opinion, the boy's condition was such as to endanger his life and to injure permanently his health.

The evidence of Dr. Erb confirmed the weight of the lad. He also pointed out that with regard to the frame of the body, the lad's weight should have been about 75 pounds. Yet it weighed only 30 pounds or less.

The boy's death was due to meningitis, but the doctors had said that inasmuch as strepticoccil meningitis was an acute disease, of short duration, the extreme degree of emaciation was not due to that, or any other disease.

Then the evidence of Mr. Edgar pointed out a difference between the appearance of the children. Was there a reasonable explanation of this? That was for the jury to decide. Let them turn to the impressive evidence of Nellie. She emphasized the difference in the treatment meted out to her two little brothers and herself, as compared with that of the other members of the family. She told that when the little lad fell ill at his task, Mrs. Dwyer said that he was feigning. The learned counsel for the defence had brought forward no evidence to explain or rebut this evidence. What did it mean when she threatened to whip the little lad, groaning, unconscious and on the edge of eternity, if he did not keep quiet. Nellie had explained the fact that the little lad was ill fed, ill clad, and that his feet were frost-bitten. It was true that efforts were made to help the little boy at times during his illness, but that looked like locking the stable after the horse was stolen.

Little George was extraordinarily straightforward in giving his evidence. He told everything. He was not in court when his sister gave evidence, but it was absolutely corroborative of the statement that accused treated the children differently. Which member of the family did the jury believe—the child or the mother? Both could not be speaking the truth.

Next came the evidence of Mr. Little, who said he went of his own volition and accord to get a doctor when the boy was dying. Accused said she asked her father to go. Which of them did the jury believe? T v could not believe both. It was the jury to decide who was telling truth.

They would remember that Mrs Dwyer said that in the middle of December she was two weeks in bed during the time of her miscarriage. In cross-examination she said that she worked every day in December chopping wood except one or two days in which she was doing chores inside the house. Here were distinctly contradictory statements.

There was one other point. That was when she recognized that the boys were in a starved and dying condition: did she or did she not use all reasonable and proper precautions to relieve them? Did she ever try to lay these facts before the authorities? Did she try to use the services of her father?

It would appear that a husband and wife were jointly and severally liable for the maintenance of their children. Was there sufficient excuse for the omission of accused to provide the necessaries? That was for the jury to decide. A great deal of emphasis had been laid upon the dominance of the husband. Was it so great as to make her forget her vows; the duties she owed to the children? That was for the jury to decide.

His Honor intimated that he had intended to give his charge to the jury that night, but on consideration, he had decided to defer it until the following day. The Court adjourned until 10 o'clock today.

4.—There is no hope, even with the existing freight rate of about 39 cents per 100 lbs. for the line to pay even operating expenses on the immediate traffic or on a traffic many times the present traffic.

5—There seems little hope of the line being self-supporting at rates even fifty per cent higher than the present ton mile freight rate on grain to Fort William for similar distance.

6.—It would be more economical to handle the business, regardless of the rate received, over the existing lines until the traffic was many times the present."

VERY FEMININE.

The use of ribbon, particularly grosgrain and the watered effects is seen repeatedly on chiffon and georgette frocks. There is a tendency to have the ribbon a shade lighter or a shade darker than the frock.

—Accept This Remarkable Gift Offer

This Silver-Plated GENUINE

Gillette Safety Razor

(complete with blade)

FREE

With a full-size 35c tube of

Palmolive Shaving Cream

Full-size tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream, price 35c, plus a silver-plated genuine Gillette Safety Razor—

Buy a 35c Tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream at any dealer named below—the Razor will be given you. Offer expires in few days—strict limit of one to a customer

35c for Both

WE RACKED our brains for a way to win every man that shaves to a trial of Palmolive Shaving Cream, regardless of expense to us. That's because 8 in every 10 men who once try this unique creation become regular users.

So come today. Get a SILVER-PLATED genuine Gillette Safety Razor, complete with blade, FREE with a full-size 35c tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream.

You've probably often wished for a genuine Gillette. Now accept one as a gift. No matter how many razors you have, you ought to have a Gillette.

All you need do is step into any store named below, put down 35c—the regular retail price of Palmolive Shaving Cream—and take away a tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream and the razor. No red tape. Nothing to sign.

But—don't delay. We've limited every dealer's stock. Don't blame him if you come too late. When his present supply is exhausted, we can't give him more. Every dealer is instructed to sell ONLY ONE to a customer.

Palmolive Shaving Cream is a scientific creation. We worked 18 months to perfect it; made up and discarded 130 formulas before we hit the right one.

We started by asking 1000 men what they most desired in a shaving soap. Then met their exactments one by one. It is different in formula, action and effect from any other shaving preparation known.

5 unique advantages over old-type soaps, creams, powders

In 5 distinct ways, this unique preparation excels over all others. You'll note them all first time you use it. It has won millions of men from old-time preparations. Its success is a national sensation. Men are literally flocking to its use.

1—It multiplies itself in lather 250 times.

2—It softens the beard in one minute.

3—The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face.

4—The extra strong bubbles support the hairs for cutting, where weak bubbles let them fall down.

5—The blend of palm and olive oils brings fine after-effects. It makes the cream also a lotion.

Accept TODAY

Now to win you over to a trial, we make an offer which we believe is the most remarkable any manufacturer ever made to gain a fair trial for his product.

In your interest and in ours, please accept it today. Go now to one of these stores. You'll thank us for the gift today—and for many days—for the new shaving comforts our cream offers you.

TO WOMEN

These supremely fine razors, together with a large tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream, make excellent gifts for husbands and brothers—a complete shaving comfort.

Take advantage of this now. ONE to a customer only. Please do not ask for more. No dealer is allowed to give you over one on this special offer. Lasts only a few days, so come now.

OFFICIAL PROBE INTO LOSS OF SEALER "SEAL" IN ICE FIELD

Witnesses Tell of Gasoline Explosion in Engine Room.

TAKEN FOR KEROSENE.

Night of Terror on Ice Pans Before Rescue is Described.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland. — By Canadian Press. — "The stowaway, Yetman, called me, and said the Chief wanted to see me; when I got to his cabin the Chief was there with no clothes on; he was badly burned; the skin on his hands had to be cut away with scissors." It was in such casual language that Wilfred Bishop and others told of the tragic loss of the old sealing steamer Seal, which caught fire and blew up a mile and a half off shore last April, taking two men to a horrible death, and injecting a note of sadness in the general rejoicing in Newfoundland in the most successful sealing season in recent years.

The story of the Seal disaster was told at an official inquiry into the accident in the matter of fact, uncolored words of the men of the sea.

Chief Engineer Edward Perez was the man who "was there with no clothes on.' His clothes had been burned off, all but the collar and the neck bands, and according to some witnesses they were still ablaze as the officer walked to his room notifying his ship mates. according to a witness, that "oiler James Brewin put gasoline in the bunker lamb instead of kerosene."

A few minutes later, Brewin, a blazing torch from head to foot, struggled out of the inferno thathad been the engine room, groaning "My God, I am burned to death." Brewin was an oiler, and only he and the Chief knew what had happened in the engine room. Brewin died that night on an ice pan, and Perez lived to reach shore.

The Seal was starting on a second trip to the sealing grounds and had sailed from Trinity early in the morning, making slow progress through the closely packed ice. She was eight to ten miles from the harbor, but less than two miles from the land, according to witnesses when the explosion of a bunker lamp in the engineroom started the blaze about noon. At eight minutes past one the crew of some 80 men were huddled with their dories on the rapidly shifting ice floes, watching the last of the Seal disappear, and with the two men who had been practically roasted alive, dying. All they could do to help the sufferers was to put ice in their mouths and pile clothes over them in a vain effort to keep them warm.

From noon until three thirty the next morning, the marooned seamen were there on the ice, without food and without water, scantily clad, and forced to be constantly on guard by the shifting ice on which they stood knee deep in snow and slush. It was snowing too. They kept their dories ready in the event of the ice pans on which they stood, breaking under them. All the time the dying men called for relief which could not be given them. At ten thirty Brewin died and his body was laid in a dory. Somebody broke up a dory and contrived a fire over which an attempt was made to brew tea. with some success. But an hour later the Eagle had arrived and all the survivors and the dead were picked up. The dory that had become Brewin's coffin was hoisted on the deck and the steamer headed for St. John's.

Perez received careful treatment on the Eagle but he had suffered too much and passed away soon after.

In the Central District Court Judge Morris heard men tell of this tragedy of the ice in the emotionless, cruelly truthful language of the seamen who talked of men walking the decks with no clothes on, asking for oil to pour over their roasting bodies, of flames leaping through every port and companionway of a staunch ship and of a mad scramble over tipping, snow laden ice cakes, in a north Atlantic snow storm with the same nonchalance they might display describing a Sunday morning walk in the park.

FEAR DIMINISHED.

Resolution To Be Presented at Liberal Federation Meeting.

LONDON, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Fear lest a quarrel between the Liberal factions headed by Earl of Oxford and Asquith and David Lloyd George and division among the Liberal members of House of Commons may lead to final cleavage in the party at next week's meeting of the Liberal federation has been much diminished, if not wholly removed. This is due to the formulation of a resolution for submission to the federation meeting which, while expressing unbated confidence in the Earl of Oxford as leader of the party declares it is desired to retain the "cooperation of all Liberals" in the party's political work.

LAKEFIELD BOARD REGULAR MEETING

High School Trustees Accept With Regret Resignation of Miss Corkery.

LAKEFIELD, June 11.—The regular meeting of the High School Board was held on Monday evening, in the Council Chamber.

There were present: Trustee J. L. Ridpath in the chair and trustees W. Cox, S. J. Gibson, E. H. Northey and H. R. Wagar.

The finance committee presented these accounts and recommended their payment.—

A. W. Moyer, Ltd., uniforms for cadets	$61.53
T. L. B. Marling, stamps, etc	3.58
	$65.11

A communication was received from the Department of Education, re publishing examination results.

Moved by Trustee Wagar, seconded by Trustee Cox—that the department be advised to communicate with T. W. B. Marling, secretary, Board Examination results.

A letter was read from Miss Corkery resigning her position on the high school staff.

Moved by Trustee Gibson, seconded by Trustee Wagar—that the Board accept Miss Corkery's resignation with sincere regret. The Board fully appreciates her past work in the school, and will re-engage her at the first opportunity, but the necessity of making definite arrangements for the coming school year necessitates the acceptance of her resignation. Carried.

The Principal's report was received, and on motion of Trustees Gibson and Wagar was adopted.

The Board adjourned.

Miss Camilla Park, of New York, is spending a couple of weeks at her home in Peterborough, prior to leaivng on June 16th, to spend the summer vacation with her sister, Miss Nora Park, in Japan.

Miss Camilla Park was for three years assistant in the Lakefield High School, and has many friends in the village who will be interested in her summer trip.

In the daily "Mail and Empire" of Tuesday the following announcement will have considerable local interest as Rev. A. Ketterson was locum tenens at St. John's Church for three months after Rev. H. A. Ben-Oliel left for overseas' service in 1915. Mr. Ketterson left Lakefield to join the 80th battalion as its chaplain. The following is the notice:

"Rev. Canon D. Russell and Mrs. Smith, of Oakville, Ontario, announce the engagement of their youngest sister, Lulu Rositta, to Rev. Alexander Ketterson, of Brooklyn, N.Y., the marriage to take place quietly in June."

The annual picnic of the Junior W.A. of St. John's Church was held on Wednesday afternoon on the school grounds, under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. C. C. Stenner. The wee tots had a delightful time.

The soft ball game between Buckhorn and Lakefield in the North Peterborough soft ball league was postponed from Tuesday 'till Wednesday, because of rain.

PREPARING FOR ORANGE WALK

Celebration Will Be Held in Marmora—Petes To Play.

BLEACHERS GOOD.

MARMORA, June 11.—Arrangements still hold good for the holding of the joint 12th of July celebration in Marmora under the auspices of Harmony L.O.B.A. 600 and Marmora L.S.B. 177.

Those promising to address the gathering include Hon. J. R. Cooke, M.P.P., Dr. A. T. Embury, M.P., John Sexsmith, ex. M.P.P., and Warden G. B. Airhart.

Much interest is being manifested in the attractive fixture on the Deloro Baseball grounds on Saturday afternoon, when the Senior Petes are advertised to play manager Elliott's Black Caps. The pleasure of witnessing the game is greatly enhanced by the comforts of the new bleachers, constructed to accommodate five hundred spectators.

It is understood here that the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, which emcamped on the Fair Grounds last summer will again do so this year.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Foster were in Trenton over the week-end attending the funeral of the former's uncle, Mr. [illegible]

Are Your Nerves On Edge?

"I know of nothing better as a tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I can highly recommend it as such," said Mrs. Jessie Chapman who resides at 12 Frichot St., Toronto, Ont. (Picture above.) "I had become in a run-down state of health, my nerves gave way and I could not sleep. I grew very weak and my back ached severely. But, after taking just a few bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I was feeling excellent, my backaches disappeared, my nerves were in splendid condition and my general health was improved in every way. There could be nothing better for the ailing woman than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

All dealers. Extra large bottles, liquid $1.35; Tablets $1.35 and 65c. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free advice.

BRITISH GOOD WILL NEEDED BY EGYPT

Necessity of Good Feeling Emphasized in Speech From Throne.

CAIRO, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—The necessity of creating good feeling between Egypt and Great Britain in order to pave the way to the complete independence of Egypt was emphasized in the Speech from the Throne read at the opening of parliament by the new Liberal Prime Minister, Adly Yaghen Pasha.

It was announced in the speech that Egypt will apply for membership in the League of Nations.

STRANGE BLAZE IS INVESTIGATED

Fire in Thornbury Store Burned Itself Out Undiscovered.

FIRE HALL KEY GONE.

THORNBURY, Ont., —June 11. —(Canadian Press). —D. H. Saville of the fire marshall"s department, was last night investigating the circumstances attending the mysterious fire which yesterday morning destroyed the contents of the Jewelry store of James Rogers in this town. Although the store is situated in the very centre of the Thornbury business block, the fire was not discovered until after it had burned itself out. Incendiarism is suspected and the fire brigade regard as a very suspicious fact that the key of the fire hall disappeared during the night.

MODIFY LAWS FOR FUR FARMS.

Minister Announces Permission To Take Animals in Closed Season.

FOR STOCK ONLY.

TORONTO, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—A radical modification of the provineial game laws in the interests of the rapidly growing fur farming industry of Ontario was announced at the parliament buildings by Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Fish and Game who stated that the government had approved a regulation permitting the taking of fur bearing animals during the closed season for stock purposes. Hitherto fur farmers had secured their stock during the regular open season.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Explosion in Mine Entrance Causes Deaths at Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 11. — (Canadian Press).—Four men were killed in a gas explosion in the worked-out entrance of a mine owned by the Alabama By-Products Co. at Majestic, 23 miles from Birmingham, it was learned last night, when one of the victims, F. L. Barnet, aged 23, was brought to an undertaking establishment here.

ROBBER ARRESTED.

Hungarian Accused of Beating Woman and Robbing Till.

HAMILTON, June 11—(Canadian Press).—After brutally assaulting Mrs. Cook, clerk in a store at 659 Barton Street east, Joe Barcy, a Hungarian, was captured by Inspector Cruickshanks yesterday.

Barcy, according to information gathered by the police, entered the shop owned by Sam Needle and attempted to rob the till. Mrs. Cook ,who was in charge of the store, interfered and the bandit turned and struck her on the head with a hammer. A ten-year-old boy who was nearby saw the struggle and rushed to the East End police station nearby. He told the story to the Inspector who ran to the store and found Barcy bending over the woman's unconscious form. He immediately grappled with the Hungarian and clubbed him into submission. In Barcy's pockets were found money alleged to have been taken from the till. He would make no statement. Mrs. Cook is seriously injured. Barcy is married and has three children.

SECOND ROYAL COURT.

First Night's Scenes Are Duplicated at Buckingham Palace.

LONDON, June 11 (Canadian Press).—The second Royal court was held at Buckingham Palace last night. It was characterized by the same scenes as the first court, with a great gathering of spectators around the Palace gates and the privileged holders of "commands" to the number of 900 lining up in automobiles and carriages for the opening of the Palace gates.

UNITED CHURCH COUNCIL OPENS

Sessions To Last Two Weeks and Complete Union of Churches.

700,000 MEMBERS.

MONTREAL, Jupne 11. —(Canadian Press). —Representing 700,000 members of the United Church, the Council commenced deliberations which will probably continue for 2 weeks and during which the completing of the co-ordination of the united bodies of Presbyterians, Methodists, and Congregationalists of Canada will proceed. The date is the Anniversary of the accomplishment of the Union and the Council is the first to meet with the experience of a year of Union to guide their decisions.

BAIL REFUSED.

Renewal Opposed By Crown in Case of Attempted Suicide.

TORONTO, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—Percy P. Ham, 37, well known in Toronto musical circles, was arraigned in Toronto police court yesterday on a charge of attempting to commit suicide and was remanded one week. Application to be admitted to bail was refused and Ham was removed to Toronto jail. He failed to answer the charge, a bench warrant was issued.

Ham was out on $10,000 bail, half of which was provided by himself and half by his father. He, it is alleged, attempted to end his life on May 29 by inhaling illuminating gas. In asking that bail be refused, Edward Murphy, for the Crown said: "There are a lot of other things pending in this case. Small bail might mean the disappearance of this man."

HEART BEATS RECORDED ON PHONOGRAPH RECORD

Physicians and Mechanical Experts Accomplish This Task.

BOSTON, June 11. — (United Press).—After eighteen years study, physicians have recorded the sound of heart beats on phonograph records. The task was accomplished by Richard C. Cabot of this city and Dr. Clarence Gamble of Philadelphia, assited by electrical and phonograph company experts.

Physicians from various parts of the United States and Canada, at a meeting here, heard the phonographic reproduction of heart beats, which had been recorded so perfectly they served as studies in diagnosis.

The inventor of the process believes it will be of material aid to the development of medical science.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Evening Examiner "Ideal Fashions" by Jean Betty Hamilton

For Graduation

Such a frock as the one pictured here is at once delightfully girlish, and an excellent choice for either graduation or party wear. It is a demure model, and may be of white crêpe de chine or georgette crêpe. It has a round neck, and short puff sleeves that are very new. The full skirt is shirred several times before being joined to the straight little bodice, and a sash of wide silver ribbon ties in a large flat bow at the center front. NO. 1271 is in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 14 years requires 3 yards 36-inch crêpe de chine; sash 2¼ yards ribbon 5 inches wide. Price 20 cents.

Every woman's desire is to achieve that smart different appearance which draws favorable comment from the observing public. The designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book are originated in the heart of the style centers and will help you to acquire that much desired air of individuality. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

PLAIN WOMAN SPEAKS.

All females of the species raised to believe that virtue is its own reward and that happiness awaits the good girl, will appreciate the irony of Roxana B. White's "A Plain Woman to Her Rival."

"Yes, you are beautiful. I, who would rejoice at any flaw in the perfection of your loveliness, admit your beauty. They told me, 'character and soul are all that count.' And so I cultivated soul.

"But when I smilingly perform some sacrifice he passes it unnoticed, while your demure pout entrances him. And when I suffer, I smile and leave unshed the tears that sting against my lids. He does not notice. But you weep and with his handkerchief he dries your eyes and kisses them!

"Yes, you are beautiful. But you will weep when time threads gray into your hair and weaves your cheek with wrinkles. And I shall laugh! For plain women have no fear of Age!"

SALAD IN RHYME.

"Two boiled potatoes, strained through a kitchen sieve.
Softness and smoothness to the salad give;
Of mordant mustard take a single spoon—
Distrust the condiment that bites too soon;
Yet deem it not, thou man of taste, a fault,
To add a double quantity of salt.
Four times the spoon with oil of Lucca crown,
And twice with vinegar procured from town;
True taste requires it, and your poet begs
The pounded yellow of two well-boiled eggs.
Let onions' atoms lurk within the bowl,
And, scarce suspected, animate the whole;
And lastly, in the flavored compound toss
A magic spoonful of anchovy sauce.
Oh, great and glorious! Oh, herbaceous meat!
'Twould tempt the dying anchorite to eat.
Back to the world he'd turn his weary soul,
And plunge his fingers in the salad bowl."

Prepared by the Oral Hygiene Committee of Canada, with which the Peterborough Dental Society is Collaborating.

THE DENTAL X-RAY.

What may seem to be but a fad at its inception, may, in the onward march of progress, prove to be an inestimable boon to the human race.

So with the dental X-ray; and nowadays, the radiogram having proven its uncommon worth, is employed daily as a most necessary adjunct in the realm of dental science.

You are familiar with the process. A small rectangular film is placed within the mouth, the lens is adjusted, and the current is turned on. You experience no sensation whatsoever and wonder possibly, if that is all to the operation.

But on your return visit to your dentist you find him supplied with a small film showing some of the teeth, with their supporting bony structures in silhouette as it were.

This process is made possible owing to the discovery that the X-rays are penetrating in a varying degree to matter of different densities. Thus it is that the teeth and bony structures are cast as bold shadows on the sensitized plate while the softer tissues, having offered but small obstruction to the rays, are scarcely outlined.

The purpose of employment of a dental radiogram is to reveal conditions about the teeth and jaws, not discernible to the eye, and in chief, to verify suspected disease conditions in the bony structure of the jaws.

But do the searching eyes of the X-ray actually detect disease? Not so! But they do reveal areas of greater or less density of bone tissue from which the dentist is able to deduce with greater accuracy, his diagnosis of the case in hand—and without which information a true knowledge of the conditions in the deeper structures would be impossible.

WHOLESOME AND NUTRITIOUS VEGETABLE SALADS.

Vegetable salads are wholesome, hearty, economical, and may be varied in many ways. First, by new combinations of the vegetables, and by new and unfamiliar dressings. A vegetable salad should be cold but chilled, attractively arranged on a salad platter, or very shallow dish and appropriately garnished.

A mealy vegetable should have a crisp companion and a sharp dressing. A juicy vegetable should have a dry companion and a boiled dressing, or a heavy mayonnaise. A mayonnaise without mustard should accompany all vegetable salads, for the mustard brings out a bitter taste that is not agreeable. An alligator pear salad should be dressed with lime or lemon juice, salt and red pepper only. It is too oily itself to have an oily dressing added. Boil the vegetable for a salad separately until done but not soft, drain and cool thoroughly before using. Be sure the lettuce used is well washed, dried, and chilled before using. When using bunched watercress, separate and wash it well, drain, cut the rank stems and pick it over carefully. Chives washed, then cut in short lengths, make a delightful addition to a crisp salad or to a modern salad sandwich.

Green Pea, Onion and Cucumber Salad.

Take a cupful and a half of well-cooked, drained and cold small green peas, a cupful and a half of thinly sliced fresh young cucumbers that have small and tender seeds, and a cupful of thinly sliced Spring onions. Mix and heap in lettuce leaves, dusting with paprika an a little salt. Make a dressing of a half cupful of double cream, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a tablespoonful of sugar, a half teaspoonful of salt, and a saltspoonful of red pepper. Mix well an pour enough over the salad to moisten it well. Garnish with radishes cut rose fashion and a few sprays of crisp watercress.

Lima Beans and Celery Salad.

Take two cupfuls of boiled and drained, cold lima beans. Add to them a cupful of carefully washed and sliced green celery, unbleached, and two teaspoonfuls of grated onion. Make a boiled dressing of three quarters of a cupful of water, a quarter cupful of vinegar, two heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, a level teaspoonful of salt and a saltspoonful of red pepper. Dissolve a heaping teaspoonful of cornstarch in water, add it to the mixture with a tablespoonful of butter. Cook gently, stirring constantly until the sauce is thickened to the consistency of cold honey, then turn it onto the yolk of a fresh egg and beat until cool and smooth. When cold, add the sauce, or enough to moisten well and arrange the salad on crisp lettuce leaves. Garnish with hard boiled eggs cut in thin eighths and crisp cress.

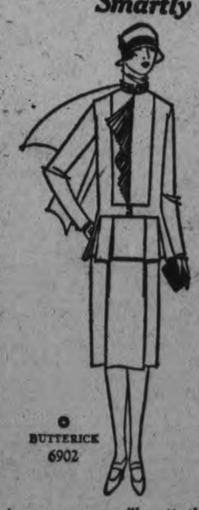
The Young Girl Combines Two Silhouettes Smartly



AN ENTIRELY new silhouette that apes the tunic of the medieval page combines the straight line with the flare and puts the latter in an entirely new place on the fashionable map. Box plaits give the blouse a decided spring at the hip, while a corresponding plait in the skirt keeps it narrow as well as straight. FRENCH is written all over it in large letters and Paris makes it of the Summer silks—flat crêpe, Canton crêpe, heavy crêpe de Chine, taffeta and satin, with the jabot of Georgette or lace. It was worn at a wedding at the Madeleine made of matelot or sailor-blue flat crêpe with the jabot of string-colored lace.

Two of the Season's Large Hats—Showing Flower Trimming.

The vogue for large hats has brought in such models as the two above, rather dressy affairs with flower trims, which are appropriate for any smart afternoon occasion and for dinner wear.

HER OWN WAY
A GIRL of TODAY

ANOTHER'S TROUBLES.

"I don't see it that way at all," I said to Angie Horton when she told me I had to make my choice. "I don't see where Mr. Robinson comes in. In the first place I don't want anything to do with him anyway. I only want to work in this store and get paid for it. I wouldn't have anything to do with him if he were the last man on earth."

"That, Judy, is because you have never earned your living before."

"But I have, Angie."

"Where?"

"As hat checker at the Beaux Arts."

"Then you must know Mamie Riley."

"Mamie Riley? Of course, I know her. She is my very best friend. I live at her house."

"If that's the case you are all right, Judy. I know Mamie is as straight as a string. No man can have her just for the asking, or for the price of a job either. But, young lady, I say to you that you better be looking for another place for you are not going to stay in this store long."

"Do you mean to tell me, Angie Horton, that I have got to become a sweetie of the boss if he wants me to hold my position in this store?"

"It looks like that to me, Judy."

"You're looking cross-eyed."

"Well anyway, you have more courage than I, Judy," Angie whispered. "I might as well tell you that if Mr. Robinson had beckoned to me I would have gone to him."

"Why, Angie Horton, you know you would do no such thing. You're not in love with him, are you?"

Instantly I put my arm about her. "Surely, dear, you don't mean what you said just now. You don't care for that big bluff, do you?"

"I certainly do not, but at the present moment my brother is in Arizona in a tubercular hospital. My little sister who should be in school is an errand girl in the millinery house of Madame LaMont, and my mother is old, too old and crippled to work. Most of the time she has to scuff around in a rocking chair. Her knees will not hold her up."

Tears came into the somewhat hard little eyes. "I'm so tired, so tired, Judy, that honestly I envied yous chance to have luxury and leisure ar well as money for those you love when I saw the boss talking to you this afternoon.

"I said to myself 'I'd be willing to pay the price'."

HOME-MAKING HELPS

THE HOME NURSE.

Mothers are frequently called upon to do some home nursing and do not always know how to approach the job. The first duty is to prepare the room. Remove fancy spreads and lingerie pillows from the bed and use a dimity spread that is easily washed. A hair pillow is often an added comfort to the bed. Move the bed out from the wall so as to be able to reach all sides.

A table beside the bed for medicines should be covered with a simple linen cover. Arrange the light so it does not shine in the patient's eyes. Peg rattling windows, use well made screens and ventilators instead of direct draught. Those with muslin cover will do if the more expensive ones are not available. Oil noisy door knobs or hinges.

Wear white linen apron dresses and low-heeled, comfortable shoes with rubber heels. Allow as little confusion in the room as possible. Do not stand over the patient and talk or try to work them up into taking a lively interest in their surroundings. Rest, sunshine, air and simple treatment are often half the battle. Don't read and rattle newspapers, or cards or anything that makes a noise which jars upon the nerves.

In freshening the bed, make one de fresh and clean, roll the sheet toward you, leaving the half roll in the middle, then work the patient over onto the clean half, then make the other side, drawing the rolled sheet towards you again. Should circumstances require a draw sheet over, see that it is fastened firmly at the corners with tape and clasp pins so that it does not get into a wrinkled and uncomfortable condition.

If flowers are placed in the room, remove them at night and the instant they fade dispose of them. Remove soiled linen and dishes instantly. In removing a night dress, work it up slowly under the shoulders and take it off over the head, putting on the fresh one the same way, over the head and slip on the sleeves, then work it down slowly under the shoulders and hips.

Sick room appliances are very reasonable in price nowadays, so one may have all that seem necessary. The tray is always of interest. It must be always immaculate. A fresh flower added makes it seem daintier. Invalid cookery is an art in itself and the foods must be most carefully made and perfect after their kind.

Plenty of fresh handkerchiefs, good cologne of standard make, talcum powder, and a good atomizer that really works are all comforts to the patient, old or young.

SAVE YOUR HANDS.

The new vegetable brushes make the preparing of vegetables much lss arduous since they have handles and protect the hands as well as being considerably more sanitary.

A BIT DIFFERENT.

To make Russian dressing add two tablespoonfuls each of chili sauce, catsup and Worcestershire sauce to one cup of mayonnaise dressing. This is delicious in sandwiches as well as on vegetables.

WILDWOOD MOVIES

"Baldy" Thomas was a movie actor. He was called "Baldy" because he had no hair. He had been a gold miner in the bad old days, and he maintained that the hardships worried him bald.

Well, the story which was being acted before the camera was being taken up north in the deep woods. It was a story all about bold bad men and gold and wolves and gamblers. "Baldy" was playing the part of one of the bravest and boldest of the bad men. He wore a backwoods suit of leather, plus a muskrat cap made up in one piece, so that the head acted as a peak. This hat was a wel made headgear, and the glass eyes and stuffed head of the muskrat made it look as though a live animal was lying on "Baldy's" head. All the hair that this hero should have had on his head was on the evil looking ace.

Now for the story!

The movie machines were all set up and the scene was to show "Baldy" coming along a path in the woods, a gun over his shoulder, a six shooter in his belt, and evil intentions in his mind, judging by the look on his face.

Well, every care had been taken to make sure nothing would go wrong, because it costs money to waste film on mistakes, and the director called "Camera," and the camera men began to grind. Out from among the tall trees stepped "Baldy", into the narrow trail. He advanced down trail, swinging along at a husky gait and all looked well for a successful picture, when things began to happen that were not on the programme.

A Great Horned Owl had been sleeping above the trail, when to his hungry and savage eyes appeared a live muskrat walking along the path of a man's head. The idea of that moving animal being a stuffed hat on a bald head never troubled the owl. He swooped down from the tree in silent rage, striking "Baldy" with some force, and sinking his talons through the hat and into that shiny pate. "Baldy", scared almost to death, ran for cover, the owl riding on his head. And so, for the rest of that picture in the wild woods, bad Mr. Thomas wore a tin kettle on his head and became "Tin-kettle Thomas."

No Corns now

Go about it in the right way, and even the most obstinate corn can be got rid of. Cutting, or so-called corn solvents allow the corn to reappear, painful as ever. The right way to get rid of corns is to dip your foot into a footbath containing Radox Bath Salts. Radox forms a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This so softens the corn that it can be lifted out bodily. Radox Bath Salts do not affect the living skin—it is only the dead skin (the corn) which it dissolves. Your druggist stocks Radox Bath Salts. Half pound pink package 60 cents.

INCOME TAXES ARE CHANGED

Bill Gets Final Reading in House—Only One Amendment.

ON DIVIDENDS.

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—The income tax changes announced in budget were given third reading in the House last night with one amendment. This was a substitute clause touching on personal corporations proposed by the Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs. The new clause provides, "dividends actually declared by a personal corporation after December 31, 1924 shall be deemed to be paid out of income earned after said December 31, 1924, so far as the same is available and to that extent shall not be liable to further taxation in the hands of the shareholders."

Wealthy American Lady Krim's Financial Backer

PARIS, June 11 (United Press). — The charge that a wealthy American woman who is now dead and who was known as "Miss Z. K.," contributed large sums of money to the cause of Abd-El-Krim in Morocco is made in Thursday's edition of the newspaper El Temps.

"Miss Z. K." is alleged to have been a daughter of a former president of an American bank. El Temps says that she drove an ambulance for the Riffians and organized a hospital service for them. Her death followed an operation in London in 1924, the newspaper story says.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Number Ele-en.—

THE BATHTUB TOYS AND A DUCK.

The alligators kept spinning the Twins around until you couldn't have told them from tops.

"Oh, dear!" gasped Nancy.

"My goodness!" cried Nick.

"Aren't they cute!" laughed the fat alligator with the ruffles and the velvet basque. "Let's take them home to our children. They would make lovely bathtub toys. I wonder if they float."

But before Mister Alligator could answer, an enormous duck, quite as large as an elephant, waddled up.

"What are they?" he quacked.

"We don't know," said the alligatoress putting her hand, or whatever it is alligatoresses have, and stopping the Twins as they twirled. "But we think they are what you call people."

The duck bent over and looked at them closely—so closely that the Twins thought he was going to gobble them up. "Queer—very queer," he quacked. "They are neither frogs, worms, nor turtles. So I suppose you are right. I shall take them home to my ducklings for playthings."

But before the alligators had time to say that he would do not such thing and that they intended to take them home themselves, a very large fish hopped up on his fins.

He put on a pair of eye-glasses and gazed at the Twins as though something weighty lay on his mind. Finally he turned to the duck and the alligators. "Do they squeak if you push on their heads?" he asked. "Have they whistles about them anywhere? Have you tried?"

"Why, no," said Mrs. Alligator, showing all her teeth. "I never thought of such a thing." And before anyone could stop her, she grabbed Nancy with one paw and Nick with the other and pushed hard.

"Ouch!" cried Nancy.

"Ouch!" cried Nick.

"That's fine," said the fish. "I shall take them home to my children."

"I just guess you won't," quacked the duck. "They're mine."

"Just listen," said Mrs. Alligator indignantly. "They belong to us, my dear sir. We discovered them."

"Why, you're only an old bathtub toy, both of you are!" said the duck. "You're made of rubber, and so is this old fish here. I've got real feathers, I'll have you know."

"You're only a Christmas-tree toy yourself," retorted Mister Alligator. "Your feathers are all pasted on and your bill is made of paper and your feet are made of wax and wire. So are your legs."

At this Mrs. Alligator grabbed the duck by the tail and Mister Alligator grabbed him by the neck and the feathers began to fly in all directions.

"I think I'll be going," said the fish uneasily, putting his eye-glasses away in his pocket. "I'm not sure about my scales. I think they are only painted on, but if they should come off like the duck's feathers, I'd be a remarkable sight."

He hesitated a minute as he looked at the Twins, as though he had a notion to tuck one under each fin and walk off with them.

But he changed his mind and disappeared.

"Let's run!" whispered Nick.

"Stop them!" shouted the alligators.

But although dozens of hands and paws reached out for them, the Twins kept on going. At last they reached the end of the town and sat down on a stone to rest.

New York Market Strong Many Stocks Make Gains

NEW YORK, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Constructive forces were again at work in to-day's Stock Market, which gave an impressive demonstration of strength after an opening period of irregularity. There was nothing in the day's news to account for the buying movement, although considerable emphasis was placed on the strong demand for United States Steel Common and General Motors, the so-called "Morgan stocks." United States Steel crossed 134 for a gain of three points, and General Motors sold above 136, a new high level for the year, and within 1½ points of the record high established in 1925. Oils gathered strength as the session progressed, Atlantic Refining quickly climbing over two points, while Pan-American B, Maryland, and Independent Oil and Gas sold a point above yesterday's final figures.

Rain In Wheat Fields Eases Values In Chicago

CHICAGO, Ills., June 11 (Canadian Press).—Rain in the West and North-West, affording relief from drought, tended to ease down wheat values to-day during the early dealings. Starting 3-4 cents off at ¼ cent up, the wheat market later showed moderate declines all around. Corn and oats were weaker, corn opening unchanged to ⅝ cent off, and then sagging all around. Provisions turned stronger. With the harvest expected to be general in Southern Kansas at the first of next week, reports were received that some Kansas wheat is being bought every day for last of June and first of July delivery. On the other hand, advices were also current that farmers are not keen about offering the new crop wheat on the basis of present bids when old wheat is bringing in 25 to 35 cents over July delivery.

Inactive Trading To-day On Toronto Mine Market

TORONTO, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Trading was rather inactive on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, sales totalling 120,215.

The market was featured by the decline of ten cents per share in Dome and a rise in the Hollinger quotation of 15 cents above the previous close. Dome closed at 13.75 and Hollinger at 19.50. Vipond opened up one point at 1.64, and closed at 1.65 for a net gain for the day of two points. Gold Hill closed up a half at 49½. Barry Hollinger, after opening one point down, recovered during the trading and closed at 44 1-8 for a net decline of a half.

Brazilian Leads Trading Quiet To-day At Toronto

TORONTO, June 11. Canadian Press. — Trading was quiet and featureless on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, with Brazilian Traction always an active stock, leading the way in the volume of sales. Brazilian opened at 97 7-8, 1-8 down from previous close, but rallied near the close of the market to 98 1-4, a net gain for the day of a quarter.

C.P.R. opened up a ½ at 162 and after going fractionally higher closed at the same quotation for a net gain of ½. Consolidated Smelters opened ½ up at 124, declined fractionally and then closed at the former figure. British Columbia Fishing showed a net decline for the day of 1-8 closing at 6⅝ 1-8.

In the unlisted stocks Barry Holly declined one point to 45 while Noranda was unchanged at 15.15. In the mines, Hollinger was strong, registering a net advance of 10c in the day's trading, while Lake Shore was down 5c to 11.30.

CARDINAL WELCOMED.

Large Gathering at Pier To Meet Cardinal O'Donnell of Armagh.

NEW YORK, June 11 (United Press).—Patrick Cardinal O'Donnell, Primate of Ireland, stood in the dignity of his robes and his seventy years on a Hoboken pier as he landed from the liner President Roosevelt to-day and spoke deprecatingly as a crowd of churchmen and laymen joined in welcoming him to America.

"I am but a humble man," the aged prelate said, speaking of the impressive welcome being accorded to all the foreign church leaders arriving for the coming Eucharistic Congress in Chicago.

Six feet tall, broad shouldered and genial, the Cardinal, who comes from County Armagh, had played deck golf and joined in other deck sports on the trans-Atlantic voyage. He was interested particularly in telling of Ireland's affection for America, and in meeting an uncle, John Breslin, of Brooklyn, N.Y., whom he had never seen.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT AFTER OVER FIVE HOURS

No Contempt

His Honor Judge Huycke said that personally he did not think he could do or say anything. "I don't know of any contempt of court shown by the newspapers," he remarked. "and I don't think I can interfere.

"I make it a rule never to read the newspaper reports, and I can't tell what the newspapers have said. I asked the jurymen, you will remember, not to read the newspapers, but to be influenced only by the evidence they heard presented in court.

"The newspapers should be very careful indeed, because sometimes unintentionally they are guilty of contempt of court. I hope that all newspapers in Canada will keep a high standard."

The Charge to the Jury.

His Honor said the jury had listened for two days to a great deal of evidence. He was sure that they had been impressed, as he had been, during the past few days by the curious commentary on human nature which has been revealed. They all lived in a comparatively prosperous city or in a fairly prosperous community. Out of the city went every year a large amount of money for benefactory and philanthropic purposes. The people who gave this money meant well, and he believed often acted rightly in so doing. In addition large sums were spent by the Christian churches in preaching the Gospel abroad, founding churches and building hospitals and colleges. All this was done, and done with a good heart.

There were also schemes of so-called social reform, which sometimes became Socialism. Some of these schemes were bad and some were good, but they were mostly good. All these sums were paid for the advancement of that which they believed good, helpful and humane.

They had heard of this family of little children, some of whom they had seen. These little children never said a prayer, never knew what it was to kneel at their mother's knee and address their Creator. They had little to eat. It was terrible to hear of the little boys. One of them the jury had seen. The other was laid quietly away to his eternal rest. These little boys were out at early dawn, out at 9 and 10 years of age, in the woods, sawing timber. And they had each only one piece of bread to eat. His Honor said he was not blaming anyone unduly at the present time—he was speaking from the public point of view. We were spending vast sums in work abroad; we forgot the beam in our own eye, while we were extracting the mote from the eye of the other person. "Charity," said His Honor, "begins at home, and it seems about time that some of us were beginning to think of that."

His Honor proceeded to say he was not blaming Dummer. Dummer was indignant, rightly indignant, he thought, at some of the contents of the papers. If Dummer had known, if Peterborough had known, the circumstances, food and clothing would have been taken to the children. There was no doubt of that. People generally had kind hearts. The question arose, should not Dummer and Peterborough have made some effort to know this condition of affairs, as they made efforts to know the condition of affairs among the Chinese?

The woman was charged with a serious crime, and the jury was called upon to determine whether or not she was guilty. He had learned that at the time of the discovery of the affair the papers were full of the tragedy. If the jury had read anything or heard anything about it, they were to forget all about it, to blot it out of their minds and memories and to come to their conclusion solely on the evidence they had heard yesterday and the day before.

They were twelve men of intelligence and common-sense. Let them bring that intelligence and commonsense to bear on the consideration of the case before them. He urged them to bring in a verdict in accordance with their oath and consciences and all would be well.

It was not for him to say what the verdict should be. That responsibility was theirs, and they must assume it. If they thought the woman was guilty, they must not allow their sympathy with her sex and with her poverty to influence them.

On the other hand if they thought she was innocent or that the Crown had not proved its case they were to let her go.

Before they could convict her they had to ask the Crown, 'Have you made out your case? Have you proved it?" If the Crown had not proved its case they had to find her not guilty. The learned counsel for the defence had said the accused must get the benefit of the doubt. His Honor preferred to put it another way. It was incumbent on the Crown to prove that no doubt existed of her guilt. If they had a doubt, a reasonable doubt, not one that they had conjured up in their minds they were to let her go.

His Honor read the charge against the accused and proceeded to review the salient points. Was Mary Dwyer the parent or the guardian of the children? Did the responsibilities she assumed place her in the same position as that of parent or guardian? He said that so far as civil law was concerned he thought she was not. The parent was the sole guardian from that point of view. But perhaps in the opinion of the jury she had assumed the responsibilities of guardian and was to a certain extent the parent of the child.

That was not the chief matter. If she was the guardian, it was her duty to provide for them, as far as she could, food, clothing and other necessaries. What were necessaries? There were many degrees of wealth and many grades of society, not only here but in other countries. Many people of vast wealth, thought of as necessaries, things that other people would regard as luxuries. When considering necessaries, the jury had to bear the condition of the family in mind. They had to consider the circumstances when determining what were necessaries.

Then there was the other consideration—without lawful excuse. Suppose they found that there were necessaries in the house, which should have been given, and yet were not given. If food was there, was there lawful excuse for omission? There were two lawful excuses which were suggested. If they found one of them present they must acquit the accused. One was that she did not have the necessaries there to give them. That was for the jury to determine.

Another excuse was suggested. A great deal of stress had been laid upon the alleged dominance of the husband. Counsel had argued "I have tried to show that the woman was under the domination and control of the husband, and that she did not do any more, apart from what she had done, because of that dominance of the husband over her." There was a time when women were the property of their husbands. That day had passed. But the jury had to determine if that day had passed for the woman who was before them. Was she constantly under the overmastering domination of her husband?

Further, they had to consider, was the neglect such as to endanger life. They had the evidence. One little fellow had gone. Medical evidence had shown that the alleged starvation was not the primary cause, but the medical evidence also showed that the wastage of the body was due to lack of food, clothes and other necessaries.

There was no doubt that in some respects, accused was a good mother to the boys. She worked for them. She had done a great deal for them. But she might have done all that, and still having failed without lawful excuse to give them the necessary food be guilty of a crime.

They had heard the evidence. They were the best judges. To judge was what they had been brought there for. He had told them the burden of proof was on the Crown. He would also tell them their verdict must be unanimous. He had never heard evidence so harrowing, and in some respects, so contradictory.

His Honor concluded by eulogizing the efforts of the Crown Prosecutor and the counsel for the defence. No matter how the verdict went, no blame could be attributed to them, and he hoped that no miscarriage of justice could be laid at his door.

The jury retired at 10.35 to consider their verdict.

After they had retired, Mr. Kerr rose on a point of explanation. He stated that he had purposely refrained from cross examination of witness, on the subject of young George Dwyer's statement that he had never learned a prayer at home.

George Dwyer Arraigned.

While the jury was out George Dwyer was arraigned on a charge of neglect and pleaded not guilty. He is being defended by J. F. Strickland and B. E. Park. The hearing of evidence was started.

The following jury was empanelled: G. Tremaine, Peterborough, T. J. Crough, Peterborough, G. Graham, Peterborough, C. Knox, Asphodel, W. Crowe, Dummer, H. Flood, Ennismore, J. D. Walmesley, Peterborough, H. Girven, Douro, J. Walsh, Douro, J. Tedford, Peterborough, G. Stenton, Peterborough, S. Ivey, Smith.

Dr. Sutton.

Dr. N. F. Sutton recounted once more the story of the visit he received from George Dwyer on February 17. He did not think Dwyer asked him to go to Dummer. From what Dwyer told him, witness got the impression that the boy was suffering from an abscess in the inner ear. When, two days later, Dwyer told him the boy was better, witness said the matter must be running from the ear. Witness had suggested that if the boy did not get better, he should be taken to the hospital.

Dr. Holdcroft.

Dr. J. Holdcroft said he had never been consulted by Dwyer with respect to John. He went to the boy at the instance of Mr. Little. Witness described the boy's condition. There was no discharge from the boy's ear. He never saw anyone in such an emaciated condition as was John, not even in the slums of Chicago or New York. He had seen much more filthy homes. He thought Mr. Little had said the boy had been in bed for about a week. It would be a matter of months for the child to get into such an emaciated condition. It could not possibly have been done in 8 or 9 days. He notified the authorities and a Provincial policeman and a man from the Children's Aid Society came down to the Dwyer home.

In examination by Mr. Strickland, Dr. Holdcroft said he did not go so thoroughly into the case as he would have done if the lad could have had a nurse and proper treatment. He had resolved to get the lad into a place where medical instructions could be carried out. He saw indications of cerebral trouble, and even then he suspected the boy was suffering from meningitis. He had not made a positive diagnosis, but he formed a pretty good idea from the general indications.

Dr. Clark.

Dr. J. W. Clark said he saw little George Dwyer in Nicholls Hospital four hours after arrival. The boy had ulcerated sores on both feet. The big toe of one foot was off, and the bones were protruding. On the heel of the other foot, was a circular sore about 2½ inches across. There were sores on his head and forehead. The boy was quite thin and ravenously hungry. He thought the boy was in the hospital for six or eight weeks. The boy gained flesh during the time, his sores became healed, and the bone was cut off. He was in good shape when he left the hospital, and was taken to the Children's Shelter, where the treatment was continued. Witness thought the boy's condition was due to lack of food. Witness attended John from February 24 until March 2, when the boy died. He described John's condition. The boy groaned as if in pain when he was moved. John was more emaciated than George. Witness had seen one person who was without food for a month. The emaciation of that person's body was less than that of John Dwyer. The condition of the boy's body was such as to render him very susceptible to disease germs. It was possible, but highly improbable, that a boy could, after getting into such a condition, regain his former state of health.

He did not find any trace of infection in the middle ear. He believed George had now thrown off the effects of his state of body, except for the loss of his toe, there was no permanent injury.

Dr. Erb.

Dr. J. H. Erb stated that the results of the post mortem showed the boy had suffered from meningitis—an acute inflammation of the covering of the brain. In addition, he had suffered from acute inflammation of the ear.

He thought the reason for the wastage was under nourishment. It was generally understood that the body of an under nourished individual was more liable to disease than that of a well nourished person. He was of the opinion that the boy's life was likely to have been endangered by his condition of body.

In cross-examination, witness said that it was possible that a great deal of wastage would take place in the period from the time at which the boy was first affected by the meningitis until he died on March 2.

He had seen infants a few months old who were as thin as John, but he certainly never had seen a boy of his age who was emaciated to that extent. The young children he mentioned were those who had been unable to assimilate the food they ate. There was a considerable degree of wastage in another type of meningitis—tubercular meningitis—which the boy did not have.

Minicolo Case Held Over.

The appeal of D. M. Minicolo from a conviction in the police court was traversed to the next assizes, Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C., and J. A. O'Brien, defence counsel, agreeing.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D., Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Not long ago I attended a dinner to celebrate the one hundredth birthday of the New York Central Railroad. It was an interesting occasion, because it brought together a great group of men, representing the leaders in finance and the leaders in American labor.

A hundred years is a long time for an American institution to survive. It makes us realize that our continent is advancing far on the road of civilization.

I was impressed by the active participation in this celebration of two old men. As years go, they are old, but in spirit, in energy, in devotion to duty, they possess perennial youth.

One of these men was Mr. George F. Baker. At eighty-five years of age he continues his control of great affairs in the financial world. Ruddy and red cheeked, he looks to be good for another score of years.

The hero of the occasion was Senator Chauncey M. Depew. He says he is ninety-two years of age, but his address of forty minutes was given with the spirit and enthusiasm of a man of forty.

A few days ago I had a letter from a civil employe of the Government complaining that the age limit in the proposed pension bill is too high. He said: "It is all very well for Senator Depew and other men of his type to approve the bill, but they never worked in a blast furnace or fired an engine. They would not have lived to be old and yet to be active if they had."

I am not defending the proposed bill, because I agree that seventy years is too old an age to put on such a measure. Personally I favor a retirement bill rather than a death benefit. The public servant who has slaved all his life for the Government is entitled to generous treatment, as I see it.

But I am likewise certain that men who live to a ripe old age in an active business life would live just as long in any other calling, provided the same care is exercised in preserving the health. Mr. Baker and Mr. Depew had vigorous bodies to begin with, but they were sensible in that they gave heed to the trifling defects which are capable of developing into serious ailments.

Watchful care of the teeth, tonsils, digestive organs and organs of elimination had much to do with the present vigor of these old men. They had such tremendous affairs on hand that the doctor was called upon as soon as any ailment developed. Sickness was nipped in the bud and no opportunity was given for serious disease to get a start

Q.—What do you advise for catarrh of the throat and stomach?

2—What will help soften dry and scaly skin?

3—Please give symptoms of Bright's disease.

A.—This requires special attention. A nose and throat spray is very beneficial. For full information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—You might apply a cold cream to the hands and face nightly.

3.—Swelling of the feet, hands, eye lids, frequent urination or suppressed urination. Sometimes spots appear before the eyes. It would be wise for you to have a urinalysis made to determine the cause. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q.—What do you advise for stammering in a five year old child?

A.—You might apply to the local Board of Education for information concerning classes for speech defect.

Q.—What treatment do you advise for varicose veins?

A.—If the varicose veins are slight, bandaging or wearing an elastic stockings is often effective, but in most cases surgical procedure is necessary. Applications of warm witch hazel are beneficial in some instances.

PICTURE PURCHASED BY NEWSPAPERMAN

H. V. Jones Buys El Greco's Portrait of Spanish Nobleman.

NEW YORK, N.Y., June 11. — (United Press.)— Purchase of the "Portrait of a Spanish Nobleman" of El Greco, Spanish portrait painter, by Herschel V. Jones, owner of the Minneapolis, Minn., Journal, was announced here to-day by the Reinhardt galleries. The price was approximately $75,000. The picture is described as an unusually brilliant and daring example of the art of El Greco. A handsome Spanish nobleman is shown three-quarter length, against a grey back. ground, dressed in black doublet with a white ruff and cuffs.

The picture was recently discovered in Spain and brought to this country by the Reinhardt galleries.

BETHANY PERSONALS

BETHANY, June 11.—The June meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Miss Lily Weatherilt on Tuesday. The attendance was not as large as usual owing to the wet day, only eight ladies being present. Mrs. Jackson, the president, presided. It was decided to ask the Mission Circle girls to give the programme at the next meeting, to be held in July, at the parsoage, on invitation from Mrs. Poulter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanna motored from Gelert on Sunday to visit with friends in the village and vicinity.

Mr. Hynes, C.N.R. agent, spent Sunday with Campbellford friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lee were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sandfield Staples on Friday, it being Mr. and Mrs. Staples' silver wedding anniversary.

Mr. Bruce Ryley was a visitor to Peterboro on Monday.

Mr. Francis of Cannington is acting manager of the Bank of Toronto during the vacation of Mr. and Mrs. Waram.

Mr. Milton Weatherilt visited his uncle, Mr. Chris Weatherilt at Nestleton on Sunday.

Ryley's general store is being treated to a coat of paint by Mr. W. Hunter, which improves the general appearance of the building.

Mr. Campbell Darroch, who has purchased Mrs. Jane Poreous' house on Main street is having it renovated. He intends moving there in the near future.

DUCK EGG FLAVOR IMPROVED.

As a result of work done by the British Duck Breeders Association the flavor of duck eggs has been greatly improved, it is said. The process of breeding out the strong flavor took years, but now eggs are being produced that are just as delicately flavored as those of the hen.

AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS HAVE ENCOUNTERED RUN OF BAD LUCK

Three Men on Sick List Leaving Only Two Subs.

FIRST TEST GAME.

Summary of Games Previously Played Between Two Countries.

LONDON, June 11. —(Canadian Press Cable). —With three players, H. L. Hendry, W. H. Ponsford and J. M. Gregory on the sick-list, the touring Australian cricketers have encountered a run of bad luck on the eve of their first test match since these casualties have whittled down the number of possibles to thirteen, leaving a margin of only two active players to take care of all eventualities. Hendry is suffering from scarlet-fever. Ponsword from tonsilitis, and Gregory has had to undergo medical examination for leg trouble.

Having had an easy passage at Sunderland, when they engaged in what was little more than batting practice against Durham, the Australians were speculating on the really big game of their tour, the first test match which commences at Trent Bridge, Nottingham, on Saturday. In accordance with the recent decision of the Imperial cricket conference, the test matches will go the full route, being extended beyond the third day should this be necessary to reach a definite result.

Of the 109 games played previously between the Australians and England, the Commonwealth batmen have won 47 and England 41, with 21 being left drawn, out of the last sixteen, Australia has captured 12 and England 4, and until England triumphed at Melbourne in 1925 by one innings and 29 runs, the old country had not been victorious since 1912. At the moment, the "Ashes," mythical emblem of the cricket supremacy, rest with the Australians by virtue of their victories during England's 1924-1925 tour to the Antipodes. England's task, which will begin on Saturday, is to bring them back by taking the best out of five games.

"The Ashes" is a historic term, and the invention of a London sporting journal which, back in 1882, published an "In Memoriam" on the dedefeat of the English team: "In Affectionate Remembrance of English Cricket, which died at the Oval on 29th August, 1882, deeply lamented by a large circle of sorrowing friends and acquaintances, R.I.P.

"N.B. The body will be cremated and the "ashes" taken to Australia."

What eleven the Australians will line up against England is not yet known but in view of the fact that only thirteen men are now available it is not improbable that J. H. Ellis, the reserve wicket-keeper will be seconded to W. A. Oldfield, and Everett of New South Wales may be the thirteenth man. This would leave Australia playing H. L. Collins the captain; Warren Bardsley, vice-captain; W. A. Oldfield, wicketkeeper; J. N. Tayler; C. G. McCartney; T. J. E. Andrews; J. S. Ryder; A. A. Mailey; A. Richardson; G. V. Crimmett and W. M. Woodfull.

Macartney, Ryder, Mailey, Richardson and Grimmett are the Bowlers, with Woodfull, Andrews, Taylor, Bardsley and Collins depended on to accumulate runs. In this department Woodful and Andrews are especially strong. Woodfull has already scored three centuries, 201 against Middlesex. He fell two runs short of the hundred against Cambridge University.

Andrews record shows him with one century against Middlesex, 164, and another against Durham, 122. His other scores are 78 against Yorkshire, 68 against North of England, 74 against South of England, and 50 against Oxford University. Macartney has one to his credit, his 149 against Essex, while Ryder had 108 not out against South of England, thus indicating that both of these players are as proficient at bat as they are in bowling.

England fields a strong eleven, nine of which have already taken part in test matches. These are A. P. F. Chapman (Kent); J. B. Hobbs (Surrey); H. Strudwick (Surrey); M. W. Tate (Sussex); E. Hendren (Middlesex); H. Sutcliffe (Yorkshire); F. E. Wooley (Kent) and J. W. Hearne (Middlesex). The newcomers to the test match game are A. W. Carr, England's captain (Notts), and Root of Worcestershire. It was announced from Hull, where Sutcliffe resides, that he had recovered from his injury of last week and that he would be available at Trent Bridge on Saturday. England's twelfth man is Sandham of Surrey.

NEW PITCHER WINS FOR LEAFS

Pile Up Four Run Lead in First Innings—Two Homers.

INTERNATIONAL.

NEWARK, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Toronto made it four straight over the Bears yesterday, when Vic Sorrell, in his first start for the Leafs, turned in an 8-2 victory in the farewell game of the series. The visitors got to Hankins in the first inning to pile up a lead that was never in danger of being overtaken. Burns and Carlyle hit homers out of the park. Score:

C.G.E. DEFEAT BELMONT TEAM

Belmonts Were Leading 5-0 at the End of the Fifth.

GOOD SUPPORT.

A blow up in the ninth innings gave the Belmont's their first defeat of the season in the Men's Softball League last night. The C.G.E. team played a very tight game, making two errors and giving their pitcher wonderful support. At the end of the fifth the Belmonts were leading 5 to 0, but in the seventh the winners got five hits and five runs, and in the ninth after the first man up struck out and the next was flied out to short stop, the next man was walked and the next three got hits. Holyman then took McLean's place in the box and he walked the first man and the next batter flied out. Howell allowed 22 hits and McLean allowe 23 hits and walked 2; Holyman walking one.

KIWANIS LOSE TO LAKEFIELD

Fastest Juvenile Game Played This Season—Blew in Sixth.

GOOD PITCHING.

The Lakefield Juveniles defeated Jack Deannard's Kiwanis team last evening in one of the fastest Junior games that has been played this season. Special credit is given to the battery of Doc Gibson's team, Madill having 14 strike-outs and allowing two walks and Payne who caught a remarkably good game, also doing himself credit at the bat.

Owing to the lack of practice, the team work of the visitors was a little weak but promises to tighten up and to the Rotarys and Kiwanis in the remaining games of the league

Guiry held the Juveniles down to four runs and five hits when he was replaced by Query in the sixth who allowed 7 hits and 1 walk, bringing in six runs which brought the score well in the lead of the Kiwanis.

The line-ups were as follows:

Kiwanis. — LeBarr, ss; Murray, 2b; Graham, 1b; Hutchinson, 3b; Guiry, p; Hall, c; Allen, rf; Gillespie, cf; White, lf.

KEENE LEADING WITH TWO WINS

Otonabee Team Out in Front By Defeating Curve Lake By 8 To 2.

GOOD FIELDING.

Keene supported Max Robertson's good pitching and hit hard in the fourth to defeat Curve Lake at the Exhibition Park, last evening, by the score of 8 to 2. The game was won and lost in the fourth when the Otonabee team mixed some lusty clouts with the Indians misplays and scored six runs. Up to that frame the contest was a real battle with Curve Lake in the lead, with a pair of runs scored in the second. These tallies followed some extra fine work by centre-fielder L. McCue for Curve Lake, who retired Keene on three long flies, the last one by E. McCarthy giving McCue an opportunity to make a pretty running catch. A Fletcher at second, featured Keene's fielding with an unassisted double play and Charlie Robertson did some fine back stopping for his team. Muskrat who relieved Taylor in the sixth panned a quartette of Keene batters in the seventh, Johnston missing the third strike on the third batter.

Manager McCarthy's' team are leading East Peterborough League with two wins and no losses. They play Cognawags here next Tuesday and in Keene on Thursday.

U.S. AND FRANCE IN WOMEN'S SINGLES

Captain of Wightman Cup Team Will Meet Suzanne Lenglen.

PARIS, June 11. — (Canadian Press). — Miss Mary K. Browne, captain of the United States Wightman cup team, will have one of her long desires fulfilled to-day, when she will meet Suzanne Lenglen the incomparable French tennis champion, in the final of the women's singles in the hard court championships.

Suzanne revealed some of the secrets of her play yesterday, when, paired with Jasques Brugnon, in the mixed doubles, she exchanged volleys with Miss Brown, who had as her partner, Baron Von Kehrling. Suzanne was on the winning side, but the match did not end until the French pair had dropped a set to their opponents. The score was 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Browne, who takes the place of Helen Wills as the hope of the United States, is right on edge for her meeting with the French ace. She admitted that she had been aching to play Suzanne ever since the French girl became the bright and particular star of the tennis world.

"I just want to see what I can do against her", remarked Miss Browne earnestly to-day, "and incidently learn some tennis."

Miss Browne characterized Suzanne as the most wonderful player in the world and therefore modestly put aside any idea that she might defeat the French champion.

Miss Browne is the last remaining United States representative in the single events. Richards, who until the finals yesterday loomed large as a contender for laurels, could not match the play of Henri Cochet, and lost in straight sets. Richards could not get going at any time, while the Frenchman, who is already hailed as the coming champion of the country, played a rounded and accurate game that carried all before it. He won 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Rene Lacoste, by defeating Jean Borotra, 8-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, went into the finals, and will meet Cochet for the championship.

SOCCER FIXTURES AT THE OVAL

Masseys Vs. De Laval at Three O'clock; Auburn Vs. Vets Two O'clock.

A league fixture is scheduled for Saturday afternoon between the De Laval seniors and the Masseys, at the Oval. Kick off at three o'clock.

In the previous games, these two elevens have made an interesting tussel and this was demonstrated in a draw of one goal each was the decision.

Up-to-date, the De Laval have been very unfortunate in the encounters played so far, in as much that injury to players many a time failed to prevent them from having a complete team, but to-morrow afternoon they intend gaining a brace of points in the league.

According to playing form, the Masseys would have been chosen as the favorites but their unsettled method of Saturday week ago places them in a poor category to gain goals, because their shooting was very inaccurate around the goals, but the fans may view them back to condition against their opponents.

Juvenile Game.

At the Ovan, at two o'clock, the Auburn and Young Vets, meet in a juvenile league fixture. The two teams were scheduled for a game two weeks ago but weather conditions did not permit them playing. T. Montgomery is the referee.

BURNBRAE WINS LEAGUE OPENER

Defeats Rylstone 13-0 in the First Game of Seymour Circuit.

RYLSTONE OFF FORM.

BURNBRAE, June 11. — Burnbrae made a good start on their 1926 baseball season when they trounced their old rivals, Rylstone, by a 13 to 0 score in a five-inning game on Wednesday night at the Fair Grounds. The Rylstone team was away off form, both at bat and in the field. Burkitt got the only real hit, a triple to right field, but was out trying to stretch it to a homer. Although only four errors were chalked up against them, several misjudged flies and freak throws gave the game away. Heath and Kerr, who pitched two innings, each were in fair form, and with better support would have made things interesting. Heath fanned four and Kerr two.

Eggleson struck out two in the two innings pitched, while Haig fanned three in the last three frames. Both were in good shape for the game and did not exert themselves, trusting to the fielders, who turned in a splendid game. Hay and F. Little made good catches in the outfield, while the infielders were all good. The team looks stronger at bat than in former years. Haig is a good both in the box and at short, while his batting leaves nothing to be desired. Hume played his usual steady game behind the plate, and shared batting honors with Craighead at two singles each. L. Little, Haig and Johnson each contributed a double. Burnbrae look for a hard game when they face Trent River next Friday.

The line-up:

Burnbrae—Eagleson, ss and p; Hume, c; Shillinglaw, 1b; L. Little, 2b; Johnson, 3b; Haig, p and ss; Rannie, lf; Craighead, cf; F. Little, rf; Hay, sub.

YOUNG STRIBLING BADLY BEATEN

Pounded Unmercifully By Champion Berlenbach in Title Bout.

DECISIVE DEFEAT.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Paul Berlenbach easily beat back the challenge of "Young" Stribling for the light heavyweight title, battering the young Georgian into decisive defeat in a 15-round match that fell far from the spectacular heights expected of it. A colorful crowd of 56,000 spectators saw the bronzed, rugged champion give Stribbling an unmerciful pounding almost from start to finish, forcing the battle in nearly every round and piling up a margin on points that made the judges' decision at the finish a mere formality.

MATCH POSTPONED.

Rain Prevents Play To-day Between Lenglen and Browne.

PARIS, June 11. Canadian Press. Rain caused a postponement in the final match of the International hard court championship between Suzanne Lenglen and Mary K. Browne, of the United States, to-day.

HELPFUL HINTS GOLFING STARS

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH GOLFERS MAGAZINE, CHICAGO

CECIL LEITCH—CURE FOR SOCKETING.

Looking up is often the cause of that terrible complaint called socketing. The very word is hideous, but it is nothing compared to the results of the disease. I can truthfully say that I very seldom fall a victim to this complaint, but I have socketed quite enough shots to be able to realize the agonies one can suffer when in its grip. There is no bad shot in golf which flurries a player so much as a shot off the socket and this accounts for the repetition of the mistake.

The more socketed shots I see played, the more I am convinced that the cause is to be found in the arm action.

The club is taken back in a hurried manner, and on the forward swing the player throws out her arms, with the result that the club-head is thrust too far out at the moment it meets the ball.

The player who is suffering from an attack should go to a quiet corner of the course and try the following cure

Put a handkerchief under the left arm-pit, take a firm stance with the weight wel on the heels, keep the head still and the left arm close to the body throughout the shot. If the handkerchief remains in the position in which it was placed, is it almost impossible to socket.

SECRETS of STARS on INSIDE BASEBALL

as told to BILLY EVANS

BY RAY SCHALK.

Most catchers make the mistake of calling for too many waste balls.

Often I feel that I am guilty of such a blunder, which, if overdone, has a tendency to upset the pitcher, particularly one not strong on control.

The strength of a catcher's arm must be considered in the calling for waste balls. The receiver with a strong arm should not call for nearly as many pitchouts as the backstop with just a fair whip.

The waste ball often helps the catcher with just a fair arm by breaking up the hit-and-run play, also giving the catcher the edge on the runner because he receives the ball in such a position that little or no time is wasted in getting it away.

It is my observation that a lot of players never run bases unless sent down by the manager. Few try to steal on their own initiative. Baserunners like Ty Cobb and Max Carey are the exception. They run on their own judgment and put it entirely up to the catcher to stop 'em by making the better guess as to their intent.

A great many managers have a set sign for a steal. If some player on your side gets it, the rest is easy. A great many players tip their intention to steal by their actions. They take a different lead and assume a different posture when going to attempt a steal.

It has also been my experience that most batters, when intending to put on the hit-and-run play, do so on the first pitch. With some batters it is practically chronic. The calling for a waste ball usually spoils all the inside stuff.

BROWNTON ALL STARS.

Team Rapidly Rounding Into Shape For Bantam Opening.

The Browntown All Star Bantam team is getting in shape for the League opening. The team is in fairly good shape, and has signed a bunch of lively ball tossers. With a few more practices they will be at top form.

The pitching staff consists of one right-hander and two port siders, although any new pitcher will be welcomed to the ranks if he tries out at the next practice.

Hard work-outs have put the infield into shape, and at bat they hammer everything.

All players who were fifteen and under on the first of May are requested to be at Prince of Wales' School to-morrow at 1.30.

SWIMMING MEET.

Good Programme of Races Run Off in Y.W.C.A. Pool.

There was a good crowd of interested spectators at the swimming meet held in the pool of the Young Women's Christian Association last evening. A programme of races was run off by many of the Association's best swimmers. Mrs. Chapman won the highest points in the senior competition for speed and diving and Miss Rhoda Cullen won the junior contests in both classes.

These swimming meets will be held weekly, at 8.15 every Thursday evening. A swimming championship cup and other special prizes will be presented at the close of the season. All swimmers are allowed to participate in all of the events.

TENNIS NEWS

Vincent Richards has just finished a short series of articles on tennis in a popular American magazine and a number of local players have been a bit confused over some of his advice.

In speaking of grips, he refers to the English grip as old and awkward. He is either confused as to names or his advice must be considered carefully.

It has always been conceded that the English first adopted and developed the side grip which gives most popular freedom to the wrist on either side. It is also conceded that at the time this grip was first introduced tennis was a slower game and more stress was put on form and style than on winning—that is the English way.

It is probably true that on the service and fore hand drive more power can be developed with the hand more around at the back of the handle, making a straighter line from shoulder to racket tip, but it leaves the back hand very awkward and uncertain and is not so good for volleying.

If a player is very fast of foot and has lots of power, he might win a lot of matches on a good serve and a fore hand drive, but to get to the top he must have a well developed allround game. To do this he must have the hand shake grip as the very foundation of his game.

The Peterboro Tennis Club goes to Oshawa for the first match of the season Saturday afternoon. A strong and representative team has been chosen which should win a good percentage of the events.

SECOND COUNCIL BEGINS ITS WORK

United Church Body Receives Greetings From Other Churches.

REPORTS RECEIVED.

MONTREAL, Que., June 11 (Canadian Press).—The second General Council of the United Church of Canada got down to business this morning with hearty greetings from other congregations and the reception of committee reports. The churches and bodies expressing pleasure at the consummation of the Union and wishing it all success were the Wesleyan Methodist Church, the Presbyterian Church in England, the United Methodist Church, the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Australia, the Congregational Union of England and Wales, and the Eastern and Western Sections of the Ecumenical Methodist Conference. The reports of commissions on the permanent organizations of the church were received and will come up for discussion later.

DIES FROM BURNS.

Five Year Old Girl Passes Away in Toronto Hospital.

TORONTO, June 11 (Canadian Press).—Seriously burned on May 31 last, when her clothing caught fire, five-year-old Annie Struk died in hospital last evening. The tragedy was due to the child locking herself in the bathroom of her home and striking some matches which she had found in the house.

BUSHES RUINED.

Branches Cut Off Rose Bushes and Left on Ground.

Yesterday morning somebody went into the rose beds of Alex. Weddell, of 338 Park street, and deliberately cut off four branches from two of Mr. Weddell's rose bushes and left the branches lying on the ground. The branches were cut off with a knife, as Mr. Weddell showed them to several, and everyone agreed that it was the work of some person with a knife.

Lawn Bowling Tournament Will Be Held This Evening

The Lawn Bowling Club will hold their usual weekly tournament tonight. Rinks will be drawn for sharp at 7.30. The Executive has arranged something new, and it is hoped that all new bowlers will turn out. The greens are in fine shape.

FORTY YEAR TERM FOR TWO ROBBERS

Kraemer Brothers, "Brains" of Whittemore Mob, Are Sentenced.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 11. — (Canadian Press). —Leon and Jacob Kraemer, the 'brains' of the Whittemore million dollar jewel robbery mob, convicted of first degree robbery as second offeders, were sentenced to-day to forty years each in state prison.

The Kraemers are the first of the Whittemore gang, except the leader, to be sentenced, although three other members have pleaded guilty. Richard Reese Whittemore, the gang leader, was sentenced yesterday in Baltimore to be hanged for killing a prison guard during a prison escape. Anthony Palladino, William G. Unkelbach and Milton Goldberg have pleaded guilty to robbery charges and are waiting sentence.

French Premier Would Want Leaders of All Parties To Enter.

PARIS, June 11 (Canadian Press). — Premier Briand would favor a coalition Cabinet, he said to-day before the opening of the session of Chamber of Deputies, provided the leaders of the important groups in the Chamber from Socialists to Modernists would accept portfolios.

The 1926 championship tournament of the Michigan State Bowling Association will be held at Detroit early in April.

DISTILLERS HAD CAMPAIGN FUND

Sums Contributed Are Found Entered in Firm's Books.

AUDITOR REPORTS.

OTTAWA, June 11.— (Canadian Press). — To-day's sensation at the sitting of Customs Inquiry Commission arose from the declaration of A. E. Nash, commission auditor, that he was informed that certain amounts appearing in the books of some of the Distilleries were for contributions to campaign funds. Mapor Nash told the commission that in auditing the books of some of the distilleries his associates found amounts for which no explanation was given. Some of these had apparently been paid to directors or officials of the companies involved. On asking a direct question, his associates were informed that they were used, in part, for campaign funds.

SOVIET DENIES BRITISH CHARGE

No Government Money Contributed To Aid General Strike.

FOR ANY STRIKE.

LONDON, June 11.— (Canadian Press).— The Soviet Embassy, issued statement this afternoon reitterating its former denials that the Sovie government had sent money to Great Britain to support the General Strike, the charge added.

"I categorically declare that no money whatever has been contributer to any British Strike fund at any time by the Soviet Government.

NICKLE ASSIGNS CASE TO CUDDY

Will Investigate Bond Scandals Involving Over a Million.

SEEK HIGHER-UPS.

TORONTO, June 11. —(Canadian Press). —Attorney-General W. F. Nickle, to-day, assigned investigation of the bond scandals, involving sums that are stated to be in excess of $1,000,000, to Alfred Cuddy, deputy ocimmissioner of Provincial police.

His action is taking in order that everything possible is done to protect the dignity of the criminal code and to clear the mystery surrounding what was done with the money obtained.

Mr. Nickle intimated that he desired to discover exactly what was done with the money. Possibility that the one man known to the police was only an agent for well-posted principals is one angle which the Attorney General desires to be cleared up.

THREE YEAR TERM ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Man Identified as Partner of One Slain By Farmer.

WELLAND, Ont., June 11.—(Canadian Press). — Three years in the Penitentiary aws the sentence to-day, passed upon Earl Cooper, by Judge Hopkins, in Coupnty Court. Cooper was yesterday definitely identified as the partner of Oliver Gilson, who was shot dead by Frederick Palmer, last winter, after Palmer had himself been shot by Gilson, and convicted by Jury. Cooper was charged with attempting to break into Palmer's premises and steal chickens and honey.

HAM EXAMINED.

Sanity of Man Charged With Suicide Attempt Is Tested.

TORONTO, June 11. Canadian Press. — Percy D. Ham, now in jail here charged with attempting to commit suicide, and who was yesterday remanded for one week without bail, will have to stay in jail another day pending investigation by the Attorney General's department and the police, it was stated this afternoon. Ham was found "mentally fit" by the jail physicians, following examination to-day.

TWO GOOD GAMES WILL BE PLAYED

Double Header at James Stevenson Park To-morrow Afternoon.

To-morrow afternoon at the James Stevenson Park there will be two games of softball. At 2.30 the group leading De Laval team, which has not lost a game this season, will play the Firemen, who are in second place, and who will go into first place if they win. At 3.45 the Triple Link, who have also been playing splendid softball, will play the Brintons, who are determined to win this game.

COOLIE KILLED AFTER MURDER

Man Who Killed Mrs. Sibley Wounded During Capture.

MOTIVE UNKNOWN.

PEKING, June 11 (Canadian Press).—The coolie who murdered Mrs. W. E. Sibley, the wife of the Rev. W. E. Sibley, Canadian United Church missionary at Chengtu, early this week, was armed with a heavy sword with which he severed his victim's head from her body, according to a report on the murder submitted to the United States Consul here. The murderer was wounded by soldiers and died shortly after.

A motive for the crime has not been established. Mrs. Sibley, a native of Nelson, Man., is survived by her husband and one daughter, at present a student at Alma College, St. Thomas, Ontario.

SHARP NOTE SENT BY GREAT BRITAIN

Protests To Moscow About Money Sent During General Strike.

LONDON, June 11 (Canadian Press). — The British Government has sent a sharp note to Moscow, protesting against the endeavors of the Soviets to send money to Great Britain during the recent general strike. The note sets forth the belief that this money was intended to foster a movement to bring about a change of government in Great Britain.

The note declared that definite proof now is in the hands of the British government that a share of the money offered the Trades Union Congress from Moscow during the general strike, came from the Soviet government itself. This action, the note says, is regarded as unjustifiable interference in the internal affairs of the country, and a violation of the Anglo-Russian trade agreement. A second note, dealing with money the Soviet is sending to the British Miners' Federation, is being considered by the Cabinet and will be forwarded to Moscow soon. The British government in this case also contends that a part of the money is contributed by the Soviet government, and not as claimed, by Russian miners.

GRANTED MEMBERSHIP.

Edmonton Bulletin, Evening Paper, Admitted To Canadian Press.

TORONTO, June 11.—(Canadian Press).—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Press the application of Charles E. Campbell on behalf of the Edmonton (Alta) Bulletin for an evening paper membership in that city was grant-unanimously. The president, J. H. Woods, presided, the other directors present being E. H. Macklin, honorary president; John Scott, first vice-president; E. J. Archibald, W. J. Wilkinson, W. B. Preston, A. R. Ford and W. J. Tayolr.

CARS DERAILED.

Traffic Held Up For While on C.N.R. Belleville Line.

Two cars of flour were derailed this morning at Birdsall, on a freight train going east. Very little damage was caused to the flour and it is expected that the road will be open for the noon train to-day to Belleville. The passengers coming from Belleville this morning had to be transferred around the derailment. The C.N.R. is at present ballasting the whole line between Lindsay and Campbellford.

Twenty years ago ten thousand dollars a season was the highest salary paid to any baseball player.

THEATRE

AT THE CAPITOL.

NORMA SHEARER IN "THE DEVIL"S CIRCUS"

Posters depicting the action of "The Devil's Circus" leave a mental impression of a picture that is jazzy in the extreme. Regarded with a mental anticipation of this sort, it is disappointing. There is a good deal of excitement in "The Devil's Circus," but it has a moral, which, although a trifle obscured, has a very definite part in the production. The haziness of the moral is caused by the fact that, while the bad people in the picture suffer a great deal, their victims, who have at least tried to go straight, suffer almost more. Perhaps the inner meaning, if the writers of such scenarios think much of an inner meaning, is the fact that one who treads the straight and narrow path must tread it all the time, not looking backward. The youth who came out of the penitentiary with scorn of the Bible and of God on his lips, but who later tried to go straight because of the love of a good girl, turned aside to try a last big burglary to rain money to take her away from evil surroundings, and got caught. The girl who believed in God and wanted to be good was weak enough to fall into the clutches of a bad man, and stay there. It is just a little incongruous, this presentation of the country girl with the angelic face and expression, whose sole ambition was to become a circus performer and do aerial stunts on a flying trapeze. However, an element of logic is not necessary in a movie production, and rarely appears in any of them. It is sufficient that the story be entertaining, which this one certainly is, and that the acting be good, another strong attribute, also, of "The Devil's Circus."

The atmosphere of the sawdust ring and the action behind the scenes of a big circus makes it very attractive. Norma Shearer enacts the role of the unbelieveably innocent country maiden, who later becomes a star performer in the ring, and the in amorata of Hugo, the gentleman who takes the part of the villain, and the rival of the jealous and extremely good-looking Yonna (Carmel Myers). The hero is Charles Emmett Mack, the oddly-featured youth of the movies, who always gives the impression that he is capable of great things, but does not come quite up to expectations in the roles assigned him. He is a jailbird who falls in love with Mary, and then gets sent up for another stretch after failing to put through a burglarizing effort.

The big scene is the one where Yonna causes the accident to the ropes which keep Mary suspended on the flyinz trapeze above the cage where lions are doing their act. The girls falls to the floor among the wild beasts, and is crippled by the accident. But Fate overtakes Hugo and Yonna also with swift punishment. The youth who has tried to go straight is the only one who really emerges victorious in the final scene.

It is a dramatic and impressive picture, with some big moments, and a quality of excellent acting on the part of the principals and supporting cast. The introduction is an extremely horrible and striking presentation of His Satanic Majesty, pulling the strings which cause his puppets to dance to his measure. "He who dances to the devil's music must pay the piper" was probably the thought in the mind of the author of "The Devil's Circus."

The comedy which accompanies the production, with Charley Chase in "Dog Shy" is a funny effort of a very good comedian.—Jeanette.

SON READY TO KILL ..... HIS OWN FATHER IN "RUSTLING FOR CUPID"

A son ready to shoot down his own father as a cattle rustler is the dramatic punch in "Rustling for Cupid, Fox Films latest release, which is now playing at REGENT Theatre from now to Saturday.

Despite this dramatic high spot, "Rustling for Cupid has a lot of comedy in it. George O'Brien and Anita Stewart have th leading roles and the comedy starts in the first scene. The young folk are ready to retire on opposite sides of the aisle in a Pullman bound for New Mexico. The girl is under contract to teach school for three years and the young man is the son of a cattle baron, who owns the Swastika Ranch.

When they leave the train, the girl notices by the attitude of the crowd at the depot that the cattle baron is in bad. Later she inherits $10,000 which the son of the village banker invests for her in steers. Soon after one of the cattle baron's discharged cowboys circulates the report that the Swastika owner is a cattle rustler and the son gives the cowboy an awful beating. The teacher sees the fight and after that they merely speak as they pass on the mountain trails.

Later the son sees a man branding maverick calves, but is too far away to recognize him as his father. He tries to kill him but is prevented by the village banker and his son. The banker sees the situation with the rustler's son and the teacher and starts to "Rustle for Cupid.' He has his cowboys round up the Swastika calves and put the teacher's brand on them. When shipping day arrives, the banker and the sheriff stage a scene which gives the teacher the appearance of rustling.

The teacher turns to the rustler's son and he grabs her onto his horse just as the cattle in the pens start a stampede. The final clinch is tighter than the pull of a lasso.

CHURCH BOARD CONSTITUTIONS

Committee of United Church Makes Recommendations To Council.

MONTREAL, Que., June 11. — (Canadian Press).—The Commission on "the other departments of the Church" included in its report to the United Church of Canada to-day constitutions for boards of foreign missions, evangelical and social service, religious education and other bodies. The Executive Committee of the General Council, with 40 members, is provided for with a view to promoting and protecting the general interests of the Church, taking legal and legislative action to safeguard the Church's rights, and supervising and controlling the maintenance and extension fund.

The commission on benevolent funds recommended that the present systems of the several benevolent funds be continued for the present.

The appointment of a board of publications was recommended to the General Council of the United Church of Canada to-day by the commission on publishing interests. For purposes of close supervision of large operations under its purview, the board would have an executive and advisory committee. Executive responsibility is to be vested in a general manager.

College situations in every portion of the Dominion were dealt with in the report of the commission on colleges and higher education to the General Council of the United Church of Canada to-day. The commission recommended "no changes in centres of theological work in Ontario."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.
"Be not deceived, God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Gal. 6, 7. These words, and those connected with them, go to show who are of the "little flock," and who are not. Apart from this significance the above words express a self-evident truth: "Tribulation and anguish upon every soul of man that worketh evil, but glory, honor and peace, to every man that worketh good, ... there is no respect of persons with God." Romans 2:9. Again we read: "Come now, ye rich, weep and howl, for your miseries that are coming upon you." James 5:1. The context explains why they are asked to weep and howl. Speaking of the final day of judgment (trial), God says: "The wicked shall be turned back to (sheol), the death condition." Psalm 9:17. They had gone down to death once, and through the ransom price paid by Jesus, were reconciled to life again, and then, having every available chance to turn from wicked ness, and wilfully refusing to do so, they are returned to the death condition, which will be everlasting; there being no second resurrection. The Judge of all the earth shall do right. Genesis 18:25. Men can by their course of action in this age make it more tolerable or otherwise in the day of judgment (trial). Matt. 10:15 In this life men are rewarded for their actions. Luke 6:38. "Blessed are they who consider the poor; Jehovah will deliver him in the day of evil." Psalm 41:1.—M. T. Butcher. 1d137 3309

IN POLICE COURT.

Edward Quinlan pleaded guilty this morning to having drugs and a needle in his possession which he knew to be stolen. In his explanation he said that he was intoxicated and that he went into a local doctor's office and picked these up to ease some pain which he had. He then went home to sleep his spree off, and when he woke up he found these things in his pocket; he then went back to the doctor's office and was picked up by police constable. In sentencing him the magistrate said he could not overlook the stealing offence, so he gave him three months in the common jail with hard labor. The prisoner stated that he was satisfied with the sentence.

A Peterboro car owners appeared before Magistrate Campbell of Port Hope in Newcastle Police Court on Tuesday, charged with having collided with another car and failing to stop to see what damage had been done and to give his name and address.

After hearing evidence for a period of nearly two hours, it appeared that little damage had been done to the plaintiff's car and a settlement was reached between the two owners. The charge was dropped. — Port Hope Times.
